The Interdenominational Ministers Alliance of greater New York and vicinity will present the soul-stirring cantata "Son of Man," a musical meditation in the Negro idiom with text and music composed and arranged by Hall Johnson. An interracial festival chorus of 500 voices will be presented featuring Juano Hernandez as narrator and Carl R. Diton as organist on Good Friday evening at Carnegie Hall in New York City.

West-Side CME Church

Rev. John W. King will speak at the West-side CME church, Jefferson and Normandie (upstairs), next Sunday morning. In the afternoon Rev. S. R. H. Banks from South Los Angeles will speak and his choir will sing.

Rev. Phillip N. Moore, San Pedro, spoke at the morning services last Sunday. Rev. F. J. Nelson is pastor of West-side CME church.

Celestial Choir Has Anniversary

The Celestial Choir of the Victory Baptist Church, 48th street and McKinley ave., will celebrate the choir's third anniversary on Palm Sunday, March 21, at 3:45 p.m.

Among the special guests and participants will be: Miss Agnes Moreland, winner of the $1000 prize in the recent inter-high school oratorical contest; Miss Celestine Shambray, pianist-director; the R. L. Hatter A Capella Singers; the Choral Ensemble of the Triinty Baptist Church, Mrs. Virdes Shortridge, director, and Andre Greene, accompanist; several professional artists including Mrs. A. C. Bilbrew and Jester Hairston, and a representative group from The American Woodmen.

Other musical groups of Victory Baptist Church will also be guest-participants, including the widely famed Smith Jubilee Singers; the Cathedral Choir directed by Luther Carpenter; the Peteis Radio group, Prof. F. E. James, director; and the Youth Choir.

The anniversary program will also mark the debut of the choir's new acting director, Clarence grave, who will present some of his original arrangements.

At the regular eleven o'clock service, Sunday morning, the Celestial Choir will present as guest soloist, Miss Maudie Bilbrew, singing the traditional "Palms" in one of her rare local appearances since her successful tour of Japan.

Mrs. Anna Perdue is president of the choir; Mrs. Helen Williams, organist; and Samuel Carroll, pianist. Mrs. Moore is chairman of the program committee, and Rev. Arthur A. Peters, founder-pastor of the church.

Announcement

The Antioch Baptist church, 1567 East 55th street, presents the Singing Star ensemble, Sunday, March 21, at 3 p.m. Don't miss this Gospel treat. Rev. A. L. Walton, pastor; Lucille Giles, sponsor.

REV. JEANETTA O. W. CHINN reads daily, healing by laying hands on the sick. Receive your message as you enter. Rev. Chinn may be contacted through her secretary, Mrs. Sylvester Lenwood, 1862 East 41st Place, or by telephoning AD. 1-8292 and AD. 6060.

Labor Day Services In Two Churches

"Labor Day" services which were held jointly by the Canaan and the Second Calvary Baptist churches at 1182 East 35th street, were pronounced a grand success by the pastors and the congregations of the two chaurches. Many members gave the equivalent of one day's labor to carry on the work.

Rev. S. B. Franklin is the pastor of Canaan Baptist Church. He delivered two powerful Gospel sermons during the day. Some of the best Gospel singers in the city appeared in a song fest in the afternoon service.

Rev. F. K. Leath is pastor of Second Calvary Baptist. Both churches wish to thank their visiting friends and well-wishers for their presence. They urge all to come every Sunday to hear "some of the best singing and Gospel singing in the city."

Antioch Baptist News From Phoenix, Ariz.

PHOENIX, Ariz.—Rev. R. N. Holt, pastor of Antioch Baptist church, gave a demonstrated sermon at the Sunday morning service, on the subject "The Well Armed Soldier." Text. Eph. 6: 13-18. Sunday school was held before the regular service, with the lesson on "The Worth of Christian Character."

On the sick list at present are: Sisters Walson, Jones, Washington and Bagby; and Brothers Haughton and White.

B.P.P.U. was held at 6 p.m. with Sister J. Watson in charge. There was a 20 minutes "Distinguishing" and a Bible drill. The evening message was brought by Rev. Wilson, from the Mt. Olivet Baptist Church, Douglass, Ariz. Subject: The Place for the Bible. Text: Ps. 1:19.

Electra Celebrates 50th Anniversary

Electra Chapter, No. 3. O.E.S., celebrated its 50th anniversary last Sunday at the Masonic Temple, 1050 East 50th Place, from 3 to 7 p.m.

A very interesting program was given. The grand march was led by the matron and the patron of Electra Chapter—Mrs. Lucille Porter and Mr. Stewart R. Simpson, respectively. All of the chapters of the Eastern Stars took part in the grand finale.

Mrs. Marie Sheffield was chairman of this 50th Jubilee, and its huge success was due in large part to her efforts.

Antioch Baptist News

PHOENIX, Arizona—A heart-warming sermon, "Why I Love Jesus," was brought to the members of Antioch Baptist church last Sunday at 11 a.m. by the pastor, Rev. R. N. Holt. There were quite a few visitors, and everyone seemed lifted up and determined to love his fellowman as much as himself or better. There were two additions to the church.

The Sunday school before the morning service was well attended, and enjoyed by all.

Supt. Walters and Mrs. Walters celebrated their 28th wedding anniversary last Sunday. The church gave them a vote of appreciation and confidence.

Sister A. L. Lawrence left on Sunday night to visit her sister in Oklahoma. From there she plans to go to New York City to make her home. Antioch Baptist will miss her very much and hates to see her go, but prays the Lord will continue to use her in her new home as He did in Antioch.

The B.T.U. was opened at 6:30 p.m. by President Watson. The Antioch Baptist B.T.U. is so arranged that each class has a program once a month. Last Sunday was the evening for the "True and Tried" class. Mr. Robinson, principal of the high school, and Miss Richards, teacher in the high school, gave a talk to the young people, enjoyed as much by the adults as by the younger people. Rev. Holt closed the B.T.U. with some very appropriate comments.

A testimonial service was held at night, followed by the Lord's Supper.

Sunday was a most enjoyable day at Antioch. "Come with us," they say, "and we will do thee good."

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere appreciation to everyone who helped in any way to share our bereavement. Your kindness during the illness and passing of our devoted mother, Mrs. Mary E. Sarabia, will never be forgotten.

The beautiful floral offerings, inspiring remarks by Rev. Clayton D. Russell, solos by Miss Hazel Chatman, those who acted as pallbearers, and the fine services of Angelus Funeral Home—all will linger in our memory as a loving testimony from our many friends. Again we thank you.

Mrs. Daisy Malakas (daughter) and Mr. A. E. Malakas (son-in-law).

The strength and the happiness of a man consists in finding out the way in which God is going, and going in that way, too. — Henry Ward Beecher.

Funeral Rites for Mrs. Clara Saffold

Funeral services for Mrs. Clara Saffold, pioneer resident of Los Angeles, were held last Saturday morning from Connor-Johnson mortuary. Rev. Frederick D. Jordan, pastor of the Eighth and Towne ave. First A.M.E. Church, gave the eulogy.

Although Mrs. Saffold had been in failing health for more than a year, her passing came as a distinct shock to her family and host of friends, as it was not apparent that her illness was so critical.

The deceased was a native of San Antonio, Texas. She came to California more than 40 years ago. She was active in many religious, civic, and cultural organizations in the city where her qualities as a leader and organizer won her many plaudits.

Surviving the deceased are her husband, William Bartlett Saffold; her mother, Mrs. Lizzie Boyce; a daughter, Rosalia Smith; a son, William Saffold Jr., two grandchildren and several cousins.

Many lavish floral tributes bespoke the love and high esteem of numerous friends.

Interment was at Rosedale cemetery.

Mrs. Marie Bloodworth, of El Paso, Texas, arrived in the city Thursday to attend the last rites of her childhood friend, Mrs. Safford.

Mr. and Mrs. James W. Harding, of Berkeley, former residents of this city, also attended the funeral.

Langston Garrott Rites in S.F.

Dr. A. C. Garrott and Capt. H. L. Garrott returned recently from San Francisco, where they attended the funeral of their brother, Langston E. Garrott, a resident for many years in San Francisco.

Mr. Garrott had been ill over a long period of time. A veteran of the Spanish-American war, he was interred in the National cemetery at his own request.

In addition to the brothers living in Los Angeles, he is survived by his wife of 37 years, Mrs. Lavinia Garrott; three sisters, Mrs. Emma Benjamin, Cleveland, Ohio; Mrs. Alberta Lang, Montgomery, Ala.; and Mrs. Edith Emerson, Louisville, Ky., nieces, nephews and a host of friends to mourn his passing.

Holy Week Services at Bill Robinson Theatre

Rev. Clayton D. Russell, minister of the People's Independent Church of Christ, will conduct Holy Week services at the Bill Robinson Theatre, located at 4319 South Central avenue, beginning Monday, March 22, and continuing until Good Friday. The services will start at 12:00 noon lasting until 1:00 p.m. Everyone is welcome to attend these services.

Christian Science Lesson Topic 'Matter'

The Golden Text of the Sunday Lesson-Sermon on "Matter" in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, will be this verse from I John: "Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him."

In Mark's Gospel it is related that a "woman, which had an issue of blood twelve years, And had suffered many things of many physicians, . . . and was nothing bettered, but rather grew worse, When she had heard of Jesus, came in the press behind, and touched his garment. . . . And straightway . . . she was healed." And Jesus "looked round about to see her that had done this thing. But the woman fearing and trembling, . . . fell down before him, and told him all the truth. And he said unto her, Daughter, thy faith hath made thee whole; go in peace, and be whole of thy plague."

Mary Baker Eddy says in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures:" "Mortals entreat the divine Mind to heal the sick, and forthwith shut out the aid of Mind by using material means, thus working against themselves and their prayers and denying man's God-given ability to demonstrate Mind's sacred power."

Mrs. L. A. Hubbard

"Remember me, my deeds count
one by one;
Not just for me—but for the work I've done."

To remember such a religious character as the late Mrs. L. A. Hubbard is a source of joy tinged with sadness; for she was a faithful and courageous leader both in the Pleasant Hill Baptist church and the Providence Baptist Association. She finished her course March 20, 1946.

Mrs. Mabel B. Rozier, Mrs. Pearl Taylor, Mr. William Chapman, children.

Macedonia Baptist

If your soul thirsts for the Gospel, come to the Macedonia Baptist church, 87 South Vernon ave. Rev. D. Demry, pastor.

The angel said unto them, Fear not: for, behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people.

New Era CME Church on Air

The New Era CME church of South Los Angeles visited the West Side CME church, 1840 W. Jefferson blvd., last Sunday afternoon. Rev. S. R. H. Banks, pastor, gave the message and the choir furnished the music. Other visitors were Rev. Lewis, Dr. G. L. Hays, and Rev. and Mrs. Phillip N. Moore.

Rev. Earl Johnson will bring the message Sunday morning, and in the evening Rev. John W. King, from King Chapel, will speak.

The New Era CME choir will be heard each Saturday from 8:30 to 9 p.m. over KKLA, owned and operated by Angelus Temple. Rev. Banks will bring the message. Rev. Moore, the oldest radio pastor, will narrate. The choir will sing spiritual, jubilee, gospel numbers, and the anthem, "Lift Up Your Heads."

Author to Lecture At 1st Unitarian

Mrs. Sophia Lyon Fahs of MARTIN AND JUDY, CHURCH ACROSS THE STREET, editor of curriculum material for the Division of Education of the American Unitarian Association and member of the editorial board of Parent's Magazine, will give two public lectures March 18 and 19 at 7:30 p.m., at the First Unitarian Church, 2936 W. Eighth Street. Subjects of the lectures will be "The Ministry of Children" and "The Use of New Techniques in Religious Education."

Mrs. Fahs, author of eight best-seller children's books on religious subjects, the latest being JESUS: THE CARPENTER'S SON, is touring the United States to meet with religious educators of several liberal denominations. She has for many years been a professor at Columbia University and The Union Theological Seminary, and is recognized as America's outstanding leader in the field of religious books for children. She is herself the mother of five children.

The public is cordially invited to attend both lectures.

Choir to Appear At Philharmonic

Probably the most notable American chorus today is the world-famed Wesminster Choir of 40 voices, which will give two concerts in Philharmonic Auditorium on April 9 and 11, under the sponsorship of Mary Bran.

The Wesminster Choir's most notable recent achievement was its singing in the American premiere of Honegger's "Joan of Arc at the Stake," with the New York Philharmonic-Symphony, under the direction of Charles Meunch. The performance was later repeated and nationally broadcast.

Who that has felt the loss of human peace has not gained stronger desires for spiritual joy? The aspiration after heavenly good comes even before we discover what belongs to wisdom and Love. — Mary Baker Eddy.

Reviews History Of Jewish State

"Palestine has become a focal point of antagonisms in the Middle East," Harry Sazaer, executive secretary of the American Jewish Labor Council declared this week. Sazaer, who appeared as the main speaker at the Peoples Educational Center's Forum held Sunday at 462 N. Western ave., warned that the disposition of Palestine bears sharply on the fate of the United Nations Organization.

"The fact that the Assembly took a decision to create Jewish and Arab States does not signifying that the Jews will finally achieve their homeland," Sazaer pointed out. Reviewing the history of efforts made to establish the Jewish State, Sazaer ended his talk with an analysis of current developments in the UNO Security Council.

MACEDONIA BAPTIST

"If your soul thirsts for the Gospel, come to the Macedonia Baptist church," urges Rev. D. Demry, pastor. Macedonia Baptist is located at 87 S. Vernon (?) ave.

Easter Star Tea

The Eastern Star Chapter No. 1 gave a tea last Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Taylor, San Pedro. It was well attended, and everything was handled beautifully. The chapter is increasing rapidly.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The Senior Choir of Zion Hill Baptist church is presenting a Passion Week Musical of an immortal cantata on Good Friday, March 26, at 8 p.m., W. C. Daniels, director of music.

Frat Cagers Aren't Only Ones Deserving Credit

Bandkhead, Doby Shifted to Outfield; The Middleweight Picture

By Stanley Robertson, Eagle Sports Editor

THE 1948 INTER-FRATERNITY BASKETBALL SERIES opens this week at Loyola High School Gym on Venice Avenuu, and with the opening of the "Series", all the talk will be about the lads who go out there in the scanty uniforms and play their hearts out for dear old Lush Phi Pie . . . Yes, the young men who spend their time and energy on the court do deserve a vote of appreciation and admiration, but how about the guys behind the scene; the men of the Inter-Fraternity Basketball Council that make the "Series" the success they have been in the last couple of years . . . don't forget them . . . it was just about 10 years ago this month that due to bickering and disagreement among the various frats that the Series was called off, and it looked as though they never would be resumed . . . but the Council was organized and since that time, the United Nations could take a few lessons from these men of various fraternities and backgrounds who run off the Inter-Fraternity Basketball Series in the fine manner that they are . . . My hat goes off to these gentlemen . . . MARCEL CERDAN, THE HARD PUNCHING FRENCHMAN, REALLY PUT BOXING BEHIND THE EIGHT BALL when he put the stops on Texas Lavern Roach Rriday night at Madison Square Garden . . . By his showing it's very evident that the middleweight Champ of Europe deserves a shot at the title held by Thomas Barbella; Rocky Gracaninno . . . But right now, it is very unlikely that Cerdan will get a chance at the Rocky one . . . The Eastside Kid has been under suspension by the N.Y. boxisg board for quite some time for allegedly haveing taken a bribe . . .The scene was also made more confusing when it was rumored the Ray Robinson the Suggared lad with the sour punch, would dessert his Welterweight crown to go after the middleweight title . . . Also there's a guy named Tony Zale who still thinks he's got a right to a return match with the Rocky kid coming, but if New York still bans Rocky, neither Zale, Robinson or Cerdan will eevr get a chance at the middleweight throne. . . . The talk talk around the east this week is that Rocky will be reinstated in N.Y. providing he fights Zale there, and that Sugar Ray and Cerdan will tangle to see which gets a crack at the Winner of the Zale-Rocky battle. If Cerdan and Robinson ever do come to blows, I want to be there . . . DAN BANKHEAD, ROOKIE BROOKLYN DODGER PITCHER IN '447 has been shifted to the outfield where his tremendous speed and heavy hitting will do the Dodgers more good than his doubtful pitching ability . . . Bankhead who's base running was a high point in the '47 World Series, may take the place vacated by Dixie Walker when he was traded recently . . . If Bankhead does go to right field, what of Roy Campenealla who Branch Rickey said was a logical choice for the right field patch? . . . I think Campenella will haev to sweat out another year with Montreat before he'll get his major loop back . . . Larry Doby of the Cleveland Indians has also been shifted to the outer garden . . . you remember he was a infielder last season . . . WE THINK THAT BABY DUTCH CULBERTSON could develop into a number one heavyweight contender if his managers don't take him along to fast . . . The Babe just started fighting in the bigtime in December and got his first main event break Tuesday night at the Olympic when he scored a T.K.O., but we still don't think he's quite ready to be widely heralded . . . But take notice of this slim good looking kid, he may be a champ . . . someday . . . NOW THAT TURKEY THOMPSON IS DEFINITELY NOT HEAVYWEIGHT CHAMPION MATERIAL, I wonder what his backers who claimed he could murder Louis any time they met are saying? . . . We never did think much of Mr. Albert Turkey Thompson . . . To much fat in the wrong places to be a good puncher . . . HENRY WILLIAMS, FORMER 880 CITY CHAMP from Belmont High School crossed up a local sportswriter by entering Pepperdine instead of San Jose State . . . If Hawk can regain his form after an unfortunate accident, there won't be a better halfmiler in these parts, bar none . . . OF THEI RSHOWING FRIDAY AGAINST JEFFSON, it looks as though those Jefferson Democrat Spikemen have just about clinched the 19448 Los Angeles City High School Track and Field crown. . . . Too much all around power for the rest of the preps it looks like.

Labeach Equals World Century Mark; Kappas, Omegas Choice in Frat Opener

JAMAICA ACE RUNS 9.4s 100

LONG BEACH—Long legged Lloyd LaBeach, the jet propelled Jamaican formerly of the University of Wisconsin, raced to a world's record equally time of 9.4s for the 100 yard dash here Saturday in the annual Long Beach Relays held at Woodrow Wilson High School.

Officials of the meet said that the ex-Badger's time would be accepted as tying the meet record set by Clyde Jeffrey of Stanford in 1940, but Starter Kinter Hamilton said that the mark would not be applied for exceptance as a record tying mark because he claimed LaBeach got a "rolling start (the runner's body is in a rolling motion before he starts even though his feet are still, giving him an advantage over the other performers.) However Assistant Starter G. G. Sedgwick said he did not recall the start because he didn't think LaBeach got a start before the gun.

Mit. LaBeach, who will probably perform for Panama in the Olympics this summer at London, was chased across the tape by Billy Mitchell of LACC (second) and Bob Ursery, Arizona State, Third.

Los Angeles City College with Billy Mitchell, Jeff Starks, Walter Thompson, and Fred Simms leading the way, won the 440 yard relay and the 4 man mile relay.

Due to rain, most of the meet was cancelled.

DANGEROUS DOUGLAS SHAW will lead the strong Phi Beta quintet against the 1947 Champion Kappa Alpha Psi squad when the two teams meet Saturday night at Loyola High school gym in the second game of a double header that officially opens the 1948 Inter-Fraternity Basketball series. In the opener, George Crowe and his Omega Phi Psi mates run head-on into the Alpha Phi Alpha team headed by Joe Oliver.

Capacity Crowd To Witness Series Opener: Shaw-Williams Duel Looms

By Stanley Robertson, Eagle Sports Editor

The underdog Alphas and the vastly-improved Omegas officially open the 1948 Inter-Fraternity Basketball Series when they clash in the first game of a double-header Saturday night at Loyola High School gym. Although the Alpha-Omega fray promises to be a real ding-dong battle, all eyes in the Southland will be on the second game of the twin bill which pits the "dream team" of the Kappas against the Sigma's "team to beat" outfit in a game that will probably go a long way in deciding the '48 series winner.

OMEGAS CHOICE

Probably minus the services of their three greats — Don Barksdale, Dave Minor and Emerson Chapman—the '46 winners, Alpha Phi Alpha, will go into the first round encounter with the greatly improved Omega Phi Psi team, a definite underdog. The boys along the betting alley are giving away five points on the Black and Gold. The Omegas, last year's series door mat, have been down "in the corn" practicing deliberately and quietly, setting their sights on the '48 flag. Back in the Purple and White fold are veterans Lloyd Courtney, Ernest Kilgore, Winston Wright, Frank Eagleson and Ralph Kaufman. Add to this array of stars George Crowe, the lad whom I'm predicting right now will turn out to be the No. 1 player of the series, and you've got a team that could easily trod down victory lane come that seventh-game playoff. The Alphas will field a team anchored by veterans Joe Oliver, Ray Bartlett, the former Bruin great, Bill Terry, also of Bruin fame, and the perennial standbys, Julius Hibbler and Bill Lacefield. But without Barksdale, Minor and Chapman, who are in Denver, we don't see how the Black and Gold can take this one. We like the Omegas, but after a hard-fought contest.

WE LIKE THE KAPPAS

In the game that should be a real "Pier 6" affair, we'll have to stick with the champs, the Kappas. The 1947 winners will have their hands full, however, and may even get upset when they tangle with the much revered but untested newcomers from Sigmaville. The Purple and Gold will boast a formidable array of casaba material when they take the floor for the first time. From SC comes Lawrence "Zacky" Pleasant and Couprey Collins. From Wiley comes Niel Collins, and Santa Barbara State contributes classy Howard Holt. Kenneth Ingam, from Southern, Fred Blewitt, ex-Xavier star, and UCLA's Joe Mayfield will also see plenty of action for the Sigmas. But the man we think will give the Kappas the most trouble is center Douglas Shaw, lanky ex-Univer-

Doby Seen Locally

Local fans will get their fi look at Larry Doby, the fi Negro to ever wear an Americ League uniform tomorrow nig (Friday) when headman L Boudreau sends his Clevela Indians against the Pittsbur Pirates at Wrigley Field. Ga time is scheduled for 8:15 p.

Doby came up to the India last year as an infielder, h didn't do too well, but this y Manager Boudrea has shift the 23 year old Jersey lad the outfield to bolster the dians outer garder defen From early season reports ceived from the Indians hea quarters, Doby is rounding in top form already, and has i proved a great deal over his la year's form. Doby has develop into not only a fine outfield with plenty of natural spe but has become a heavy m with a Louisville Slugger.

Annual "Junior Olympics" At Coliseum Next Tuesday

The annual "Junior Olympics" will be held in Memorial Coliseum March 23, 25 and 27, under the sponsorship of the County Department of Parks and Recreation, it was announced today. Co-sponsors are the Helms Athletic Foundation, Bullocks and Signal Youth Foundation.

Junior preliminaries will start at 9 a.m. Tuesday, March 23. Senior preliminaries will start at 9 a.m. Thursday, March 25, with finals in those two divisions and unattached division starting at noon Saturday, March 27.

The junior division will compete in the 75 and 100-yard dashes, 660-yard run, high jump, and 8-pound shot. The seniors and unttached will compete in 100 and 220-yard dashes, 880-yard run, high jump, broad jump, and 10-pound shot. Both senior and junior 440-yard relays will be run.

Pepsi-Cola, the most liberal soft drink firm, is meeting great success with its "Treasure Hunt" contest in Harlem areas. Both dealers and buyers are excited over grand prizes.

Whizz Kids To Bay Area

The Whizz Kids, victors in the recent Jordan Invitational Basketball Tournament, will entrain for Northern California late this month, where they will meet two of the finest teams in that area on April 1 and 2 at the Berkeley YMCA, it was announced this week by Carl D. Wills and Harry J. Thompson, directors of the team's public relations department.

In making the announcement, Wills and Thompson said that the squad which is composed of local college and university stars, will probably take along a traveling squad of 10 men when they go north to continue their winning ways.

The "Kids," who haven't tasted defeat in more than 20 contests, will scrimmage with some of the local Frat teams in preparation for their northern junket. Last night (Wednesday) the high scoring outfit locked horns with the strong Alpha Phi Alpha quintet in a non scoring scrimmage.

Second Baptist in Twin Cage Victories

Second Baptist's fancy shooting Cross wearing cagers, hit the charmed circle of winners twice last week when they took the Immanuel Presbyterian Church team into camp, 97-26, Tuesday night on the losers floor, and bounced right back Friday night to down the strong Omega Phi Psi casaba team, 47-22 at Jefferson High School Gym.

Against the Presbyterian lads, the Blue and White clad Baptists warriors put on an "Iron man" show when they used but five men to easily and thoroughly rout the outclassed Immanuel lads. Henderson Pratt was high scorer with 26 points.

With wild Bill Elkins, the Kappa Alpha Psi's favorite son leading the way with 20 points, the Second Baptist team out shot the Omega Frat team with surprising ease. Ralph Kaufman led the losers with 12 points.

MITCHELL AGAIN SPARKS CUBS

Bounding Billy Mitchell, Los Angeles City Colleg ace sprinter, continued his early season herculean efforts on the track Tuesday afternoon when he highlighted the Cubs 107½-20½ victory over coach Eddie Leahy's Loyola University cinder team by stepping the 440 in 50.7. Mitchell has a 9.7 hundred and a 24.8 220 yard low hurdle times to his credit. He finished second behind Lloyd LaBeach when the Jamaican ace tied the world century mark Saturday at Long Beach.

Gertrude Gipson's CANDID COMMENTS

I've never loved but once,
And I'll never love again.
Because when I was loving you,
You were loving my best friend!

THE MAD-CAP MERRY-GO-ROUND:

That was Willie Smith playing all that Tenor out at Billy Berg's the other Sunday matinee. His Be-Bop blowing is terrif . . . Dancer Sammie Hopkins has been riding so many horses lately he now walks like this: () . . . Teddy Morris counted his birthday candles Sunday last, and Birdie Bowles surprised him with a dandy dinner party. The only other thing he got was a year older . . . Ella Fitzgerald's sudden exit from Billy Berg's is the talk of the town. It's being widely cocktail-roomered in the sin spots of Hollywood that she closed (a week ahead of schedule) because she and the management just couldn'e see eye to eye on certain matters of great interest to her . . . The Anita Turner-Duke Williams wedding reception is set for Sunday next . . . Overheard in one of the nite spots: "Do clever women make good wives?" . . . "Clever women don't become wives!" . . . If you've missed Gus Patterson, he recently returned to the Stem following a major operation for stomach ulcers. "I didden know you suffered with ulcers," a friend said, to which Gus flipped: "Sure, what else can you do with them!" . . . Our pet answer to those who say "People will help you if you help yourself" routine is to remind them if you help yourself you don't need people to help you! Jimmie Atkinson and Barbara Ann Williamson are Ou-La-La. She's a Pasadena deb, and he could easily go down in the History books as the next best thing to Tyrone Power! . . . Plug here for Cecil Waters. He's an artist and paints those maad ties! He rates a column salute if only for the fact that his designs are the greatest we've seen around these parts in ages! ! ! . . . Sudden Thawt: Wouldn't it be nice, and profitable too, if those Washington Dumb-o-crats would spend half their time trying to improce "the American way of life" as they do accusing other Americans of trying to destroy it? . . . Rev. Grant Harris has recovered from a cold that kept him feeling below par the past several days . . . The Echos of Eden choir is a listener's delight.

NOTES FROM A NEWSGIRL'S NOTEBOOK:

That was Betty Jean Arthur doing the nite spots the other evng with her favorite uncle. Motherhood becomes her. She's still pretty as a picture . . . And Vee La France had all the guys on the avenue applauding with their eyes when she walked into the Last Word with a Candid Commentator. Everyone says she oughta be in pictures, which is what we've been saying all these months ! ! . . . The new show at the Congo rates your patronage. Ceelle Burke (his recording of "When the Swallows Come Back etc" sky-rocketed Leon Rene to the top brackets), handles the music dep't, and Leroy Broomfield is charge d' affaire of the "show" presentations . . . Speaking of the Congo, Lester Young (the Tenor sax star) didn't click as was expected. But so wot? Same thing happened to Diz Gillespie at B. Berg's months ago. People just didden savvy his style of playing . . . In case you've wondered what ever happened to drummer Oscar Bradley, he's stopping shows nitely at the Bal Tabarin—where Fannie Buford stages shows in grand style, and Evelyn Myers sings those delightful melodies . . . Sportsman Artie Graves is back from Frisco, and all that noise you hear is the various debs straining their necks to get a peek at the handsome Artie as he cruizes down the stem in that "Kitty" convertible . . . Boyd Pinkston (you know him as "Mac," and he's a grand guy) is taking daily golfing lessons in the hopes of being another Byron Nelson. Plays a terrific game, too! . . . A few columns ago it was just a rumor, but Lynn George and Florist Willie Brown ackchelly slipped down to Yuma and became Mr. and Mrs. . . . Have any of you seen Jimmy Pitts' new car? It's a sight for tireless orbs! . . . And Ernest Forrest (his Cadillac was stolen on a recent trip to Mexico), is now driving one of those new Hudsons . . . Paul Robbins is doing too fine at General hospital, following a recent illness. Good luck to a good guy! ! . . . Dorothy Donegan opens at Ciro's any day, and she also has her eyes on a San Francisco nitery . . . Harold Nicholas (one of the famed dancing brothers) ring-siding at the Cricket club the other nite and applauding the songs of B. Eckstine . . . Freddie Webster is back in town, and scouting the downtown "car" sectors for a new automobile . . . A comforting thawt for you who bet on Turkey Thompson: His hands were sore. (Ouch, who threw that?) . . . Passing By: Dynamite Jackson, the number one heavyweight of a few seasons ago. He still looks in the pink. Enough, so, to beat any of the present day crop of pugs now showing at the Olympic! . . . The Party for Louis Jordan and Roy Milton t'other 2 a.m. was very groovy.

ALL AROUND THE TOWN:

You'll be listed as a No. 1 Boob if you miss the Les Dames "Night on the Bowery" Saturday, April 3rd at the Lavada . . . One of the brightest stars to come over the musical horizon in many a moon is a dynamic little song stylist named Ernestine Anderson. Who is she? You probably have never heard of her, but before the year rolls into oblivion she'll be a musical click. At present she toys with ballads (in a sing-sational style) at one of the Eastside spots. And what she does to a song is something that should happen to other singers! In short, when it comes to singing, what "aint" got she don't need! ! . . . Oklen Levy (the popular host at the L. Word) is one of the most popular fellos in town! And no wonder. The guy make you feel at home and gretts (and meets) you in a big time style . . . Jimmie Johnson sompletes his "cinema" course at USC in June. He'll enter the Hlly'wd field as the frst Negro producer! . . . Time out now for a paragraphical pat o nthe back to Buddy Banks and his rhythm at the Cricket Club. Buddy has one of the top musical combos around today, and some Hollywood scout oughta scout out to the C. Club and "discover" his ear-resistable rhythms! He plays the kind of swing other swingsters used to play—before they took up Be-Bop! ! . . . Finger Snap: There may be other florists in town, but the Bilmore is the one place where hospitality rules supreme! And then, too, the flowers are (to be frank) BEE-YOO-TEE-FUL! ! ! . . . And with that, I leave you with this: "The reason the road to ruin is so easy to travel is that it's downhill all the way!"

Hazel Scott Receives Plush European Offer

Hazel Scott has been offered $60,000 to appear in London and Paris this summer. Miss Scott is already committed as the guest soloist with the world famous New York Philharmonic Orchestra for Saturday night, June 12, at the Lewisohn Stadium. Other symphony appearances have been booked at $2,500 per appearance.

These symphony appearances will probably prevent Hazel Scott from accepting the European offer unless they can be sandwiched in before she starts her 1948 concert tour on October 1.

Dootsie Williams Recording at Hit

From all evidences of Eastern sales, it looks as though "Blues Ain't Nothin'," by Dootsie Williams and his orchestra with vocal by Cliff Holland, will be an outstanding hit! It is being released locally this week, and record stores are putting in heavy advance orders on the disc.

DOOTSIE WILLIAMS

Williams is the versatile band leader and composer who wrote the juke box rave, "Bobby Sox Baby," and collaborated with Jessie Mae Robinson on "Money's Getting Cheaper."

Suzette Harbin Signed to Jordan Film, 'Lookout'

Suzette Harbin, pretty screen actress, who scored such a fine success in the recent 20th Century-Fox film production, "Foxes of Harrow," last week won the much-sought-after feminine lead role opposite Louis Jordan in the all-sepia cast hoss opera "Lookout." The film piece stars Jordan.

Miss Harbin is expected to soar on to newer heights in the Jordan picture, because the role opposite the famed musical comic affords her, perhaps, the greatest opportunities to emote in her entire screen career.

"Lookout" is based largely upon a song hit by Jordan of the same title. Much of the scenes and actions take place on a dude ranch, sepia cowboys in all their western regalia, provide the background rodeo thrills. Besides Miss Harbin, the cast includes Monte Hawley, Bob Scott, Tommy Sothern and eight year old Renne Beard.

Negro Starred In Italian Film

CHICAGO—Actor Dots Johnson is starred in the Italian movie "Paisan" (meaning countryman) previewed in April Ebony as a moving story of friendship between races and a sure-fire box office hit in this country.

Produced in Italy by Rod Geiger, who low-budget, no big names production of "Open City" grossed millions, "Paisan" is the story of the American 5th Army's relations with Italians told through the medium of six episodes, Ebony says, and adds:

"The most imaginative episode is the story of a Negro GI who is befriended by an Italian shoeshine boy. When he tells the colored serviceman his troubles as a homeless street urchin, Johnson boasts of how wonderful things are back in his home in America. Suddenly shamed by the urchin, the GI then admits his home is a dirty shack in Mississippi."

Johnson, who was appearing with the road company of "The Hasty Heart" and flew to Rome for his role in "Paisan," is being touted now as the lead in Geiger's planned production of "Native Son," screenplay for which has already been drafted by Richard Wright.

SWINGING THE NEWS:

The whole town's raving about: Billy (the King) Eckstein's rejuvenated dish of swing and romantic melodizing at the CRICKET CLUB out W. Washington way . . . I will add that it's a tempo that will linger in your musical memory . . . but . . . in some "circles" a few murmurers are "murmuring" THAT Ecky is diving in "class" by taking an engagement at this "jumpatorium" . . . well, as for my opinion, if I may have one . . . that's not the way to view the situation . . . especially in times like these, bands are not pickin' their spots for exclusiveness . . . they're looking for the "price" and anyone able to meet it gets their services . . . and on the other hand it's better to disn out good American music in a club that exercise a "real American custom," than play in snooty or second rate joint that is so proud of "lily-whitism" that it would rather cater to a "select" crowd of prejudiced "jerks" . . . such was the case of "THE RED FEATHER" nite club on Figueroa st., where Billy left because of its racial policy . . . hey, where are all these "un-American Activity committees" that's been wasting so much time and tax-payers money on reactionary-engineered "witch-hunts," here's a real service they could give the American people for a change instead of picking on everybody that wears a red necktie, or a maroon cuff-link a "communist."

Everybody can't be perfect, SO, Bobbie (the gal with the twi-light mood) Caston goes on imitatin' IVE ANDERSON. Can't for the life of me understand why these "new look' chirpers don't try "originality" for a change, they might be better than the voice they try to imitate . . . and oh boy, there's scads of upstarting "baritones" just singing themselves into "TB" trying to imitate BILLY, how "futile" can "futility" BE??? . . . just suppose the RAVENS would've tried makin' a career "imitatin' the INK SPOTS? that's right, they'd still be out on a limb!! Oh well, carry on, my stupidoops, and don't be original, who cares. . . . Word comes from across the "pond" that Champ Joe Louis moved out've his 360 a smacker a week apartment in London's

Spencer Hailed As Music Giant

Los Angeles born, Kenneth Spencer, brilliant bass-baritone, who will be heard in Philharmonic auditorium, Easter Sunday afternoon, March 28, at 3 p.m., uses his extraordinary beautiful deep voice to sing with a dignity and dedication that brings back memories of the musical giants of other days. The spencer concert is presented by Irwin Parnes and sponsored by the Losangeles Musicians association.

Kenneth Spencer has been high ly acclaimed for outstanding vocal artistry by newspaper critics throughout the United States. Following his last Town Hall recital, the New York Times reviewer said: "Mr. Spencer not only proved the possessor of a voluminous voice of unusual richness of timbre, but also made known interpretive gifts of no mean order."

Glen Dillard Gunn wrote in the Washington (D. C.) Times Herald: "His is a magnificent voice, rich in power and beautifully controlled in every vocal and dynamic range."

Ella Fitzgerald Nixes Opera Bid

NE WYORK—Ella Fitzgerald has given a flat refusal to a newly formed operatic group here on their request that the Tisket Tasket singer be available for roles in projected production during the coming fall and winter opera season. Miss Fitzgerald expressed her appreciation for the consideration given her but declined because she felt it was impossible to give the sort of exacting performances that opera singing demands.

The famed "First Lady of Song" said that she felt flattered by the offer, however, she felt not only a freference for but an obligation to the popular idiom since it was in that vein that she has achieved her singular success.

MYLIA, beautiful Detroit Chinese girl, is currently being seen in "To the End of the Earth" starring Dick Powell and Signe Hasso.

Burl Ives Appears At Wilshire-Ebell Tonite in Concert

Burl Ives, Richard Dyer-Bennett, and Earl Robinson, America's foremost minstrels, will sing almost 60 folk ballads covering seven centuries in their forthcoming Los Angeles recitals sponsored by Irwin Parnes. Burl and Dick will appear at the Wilshire Ebell theatre March 18 and 31, respectively. Earl, supported by the brilliant Albert McNeil Choir, will sing April 8 and 9 at the Assistance League Playhouse.

His cross-country singing at church socials, barn dances, and folk festivals has taken him to the remote spots of the United States, Canada and Mexico that are richest in old-time ballad heritage. He has one of the West's most complete collections of folk music records and song books. The song books, numbering over 700, are the finest collection of early Americana in the country.

His last Town Hall concert in New York required stage seats to accommodate the huge crowds, and over 1500 people were turned away from the box office. His autobiography, "The Wayfaring Stranger," which has been his radio theme for many years, is being published by Random House.

CAROL BRICE, great contralto, is one of the finest German Lieder singers currently treading the concert stage. Her recordings of Mahler's "Song of a Wayfarer," and her matchless performance of Brahm's "Alto Rhapsody," and "Four Serious Songs" has established for the young singer a huge following from coast to coast.

Sharps And Flats

By ALBERT J. McNEIL

William Kapel, 25 year old pianist, was guest soloist with the Los Angeles Philharmonic Symphony last Thursday evening. The pianist possesses a warmth and fire that is unusual in an artist of such youth. The ovation he received for the rendition of Rachmaninoff's Second Piano Concerto was sensational. Mr. Kapel's encores were seemingly limitless. It is thrilling to witness such a grand performance by so youthful a pianist.

Frederick Marvin, a local pianist, is destined for success as a concert artist. His program of last Monday evening in the Wilshire Ebell Theatre left no room for incompetency. Included on the program were: Two sonatas by Padre Soler, both interesting fragments in the Scarlatti style; Bach's Chromatic Fantasy and Fugue, Chopin's Ballade in F Major, two etudes, Nos. 5 and 10 of Opus 25, also by Chopin, and Schumann's Phantasie in C Major. Unfortunately, the concert was so late in beginning that we were forced to leave before the program was over.

Coming weeks are busy ones for Eugene Ormandy, music director of the Hollywood Bowl Orchestra and Philadelphia Orchestra. With the closing of the regular Philadelphia season, the noted conductor will take the celebrated ensemble on a nation-wide tour. Ormandy and the Philadelphians will be in Southern California in mid-May and will be heard in Shrine Auditorium May 18 and in Pasadena the following night. After he returns East with his orchestra the conductor will have a short respite then head for Hollywood to complete plans for his first season as music director of the Hollywood Bowl Orchestra. In June the dynamic conductor will complete the selection of his Hollywood Bowl Orchestra and will finish plans for the opening of the 27th season of Symphonies Under the Stars. In addition to the monumental Mahler Eight Symphony (which will be a new milestone in the history of the Bowl), Ormandy will conduct at least 17 concerts including symphony programs and concert featuring distinguished vocal and instrumental soloists, the roster of which now is being filled.

In early February a schedule of rehearsals was set up for the two adult choruses which will form an important part of the monumental Mahler Eight Symphony, the Symphony of the Thousand. The colossal Mahler work will be performed in Hollywood Bowl in late July under the direction of Eugene Ormandy. The single task of recruiting the choruses is a major project. With the valuable assistance of the Los Angeles Bureau of Music, J. Arthur Lewis, coordinator, a screening was made of the leading choral singers and singing groups in this area.

There are 300 in each of the adult choruses. After greeting the singers, Dr. Hugo Strelitzer, chorus director for the Hollywood Bowl Association, divided his choruses into groups. Adolph Heller, who accompanied Roena Savage recently, is the accompanist and the assistant choral director. Forty rehearsals will have been held for the choruses before the actual performance in July, according to Dr. Strelitzer. In addition to the two adult choral groups the symphony by Mahler calls for a boys' choir of 150, an orchestra of 125 and seven soloists; two sopranos, two altos, a tenor, a baritone and a basso.

Don't forget that Kenneth Spencer, basso, will be presented in vocal recital on Easter Sunday afternoon, March 28, in the Philharmonic Auditorium at 3 p.m. Tickets are on sale at popular prices at any Mutual Agency or at the California Eagle office. Patron reservations are still available.

The Cathedral Choir of People's Independent church presents Wolfgang Mozarts' "Twelfth Mass" on Palm Sunday afternoon at 4:40 p.m. in the main sanctuary of the church. Admission by invitation, which may be secured by calling the church office. There will be no charge or offering.

Next Thursday, Holy Thursday, March 25, the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra and a choir of 600 singers will present MBrahms "Requiem." There are a limited number of seats available.

DILLARD SETS HURDLE MARKS

CHICAGO—High stepping Harrison Dillard, ace hurdle man from Baldwin-Wallace College fast developing into "the World's number one timber topper," cracked the American indoor 70-yard low and high hurdle marks here last Saturday at the 17th annual Illinois Tech Relays held in the University of Chicago Field House.

Dillard set a new hurdle mark when he tipped the sticks in the record time of 7.8. He came flying back to set another record when he flew over the high barriers in 8.4.

Michigan's Chuck Fonville and Wayne's Lorenzo Wright contributed to the breaking of records when they set new shot and broadjump records respectively. Fonville, who holds a claim on the World's indoor shot mark, set a new meet record when he tossed the shot 56 ft. 2⅜ in. Wright leaped 24 ft. 5¾ inches to set a new meet record in the broadjump.

Ex-Jeff Stars at Fisk

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — With Henry Jones, flashy forward from Los Angeles, Calif., leading the way, the Fisk University cagers ended a mediocre season here this week by downing the Louisville Municipal College, 40-32 before a large crowd in the Fisk gym.

Jones, former star from Los Angeles' Jefferson High School, not only was high point man with 13 markers, but his clever team work and cat like defending made him a thorn in the Muny cagers side all night.

That was the final game of the year for Fisk. The Nashville team won 11 and dropped 8 throughout the season.

Baseball Season Opens in April

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The Howard University Varsity Baseball Team will open its 1948 season in competition with North Carolina State College at Durham, North Carolina, April 8, according to an announcement today by Coach Tom Johnson.

This season will mark the second year the Bisons have entered a team on the baseball diamond after a lapse of 20 years, the sport having been revived only last season. The Bisons lost 14 games out of 20 games played.

sity of Arizona sensation, who was a member of those great U. of A. teams of a few years back that held a virtual monopoly on Madison Square Garden. The high point of Saturday's game should be the center play between Shaw and the Kappa's Gene Williams. The Sigmas have the stuff to do it with, but the big question is can they work together as a team? If they can, they can turn back the Kappas, but it'll take an awfully good team to send the Red and White down. With Lowell Stewart, a guy who seems to get better as the years go by, and his perennial sidekick from the days when they played the games before 250 at Patriotic Hall and thought they had a good crowd, Johnny Brewer, ready to outrun everybody with their fancy dribbling. Nate Shaw to spell Gene Williams at center, and newcomers like Sherrill Luke, up from the Scrollers, we don't see how the Diamond Wearers can be stopped. We like the boys in the Red by at least 8 points. If anybody will bring the Kappa Karavan to a halt, it will be the Sigmas and only the Sigmas, but not Saturday night.

First game Saturday night is at 7:30 p.m.

TROTTERS RETURN TO OLD HAUNTS

CHICAGO, Ill.—On Sunday, March 21, the Harlem Globetrotters come back to the scene of their top triumph of this, their greatest season, when they face the New York Celtics at Chicago Stadium. It was in the Stadium on Feb. 19, before a record crowd of more than 20,000, that the Globetrotters defeated George Mikan and the Minneapolis Lakers, 61-59, to definitely establish themselves as the greatest basketball team in the nation.

ON THE TURF

— Geo. A. Ramsey

CALIENTE, Old Mexico—Mudlarks had their day at Caliente last Sunday and the formplayers took a beating when only three of the favored ones were able to visit the charmed circle of Presiding Steward and Racing Director Judge George Shilling. The first favorite to win was in the seventh race when the fans made Missy Van 3 to 2. The daughter of Riskulus-Mightdo scored by eight lengths to pay in the mutuels $5.60 straight. Vain Actor followed in the eighth as favorite to score by a neck paying $4.60 for two. And then Boncho in the tenth made a show of his field to win by ten lengths to pay $6.20. These were the only favorites to win on the muddy track. The feature event was won by Timber Tac an outsider to pay $14.40. The favorite Corneida after laying close to the pace fadely badly and finished sixth. What appeared as one of the best bets of the day was in the last race. Pacifier, a good mud ruunner looked all over a winner when his jockey started pulling him up after thinking that he had the race won. It was overconfidence on the part of Jockey Wagner that lost him the race. The daily double backers of Major Mike winner of the second race and Frances L. winner of the third received $114.00 while the quiniela holders of the combination of Andrea Louise and Pacifier who finished in that order received $14.80. For the two dollar investment. This Sunday General Manager Walter C. Marty announced three feature attraction to support the twelve race program. "The Palm Sunday" handicap will be the main event. "The Spring Valley" secondary and "The Rancho La Gloria" for good measure. More new horses will make their appearance at the border course for the spring meet and some of the best jockey now riding at Bay Meadows will fly down with Judge George Shilling to accept mounts on the Sunday card. E. O. (Easy) Johnson the only Negro jockey on the West Coast had to mount Sunday and made a great impression with the fans. He finished unplaced with his first mount and finished third with his other. More will be heard about this Negro rider in the future. So until this Sunday? Drive careful. So-long.

GEORGE.

OLD MAN RIVER STRIKES AGAIN . . . Heavy rains and thawing snows once more have brought Midwest rivers to the flood stage. Rivers in six states swept over their banks, inundating thousands of acres of farm lands and forcing the evacuation of an estimated 6,000 persons. In Shelbyville, Tenn., 150 families were made homeless when the Duck river spilled over into low portions of the town. Another small community (inset) was left entirely dependent upon the meager stock of supplies on hand as rising flood waters severed all highway access to other towns.

How women and girls may get wanted relief from functional periodic pain

Cardui is a liquid medicine which many women say has brought relief from the cramp-like agony and nervous strain of functional periodic distress. Here's how it may help:

1— Taken like a tonic, it should stimulate appetite, aid digestion, thus help build resistance for the "time" to come.

2— Started 3 days before "your time", it should help relieve pain due to purely functional periodic causes.

Try Cardui. If it helps, you'll be glad you did.

Because of shrinking gums, Dental Plates may in time become loose, causing discomfort and irritation, many times affecting needed and important chewing power. If this has happened to you, visit your dentist right away for a check-up. To restore plate comfort, it may be necessary to reline your old plates or to make new plates. If new dentures are necessary for you, ask your dentist to show you samples of plates made from Transparent Plastic Material, and set with Translucent Trubyte Teeth. Notice their remarkable resemblance to Natural Teeth and Gums . . . learn how they are individually styled and fitted to your personal requirements.

Prominent Americans Condemn Political Deportation Threat

Stella Adler, Zlatko Balokovic, Rabbi J. X. Cohen, Libby Holman, Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, Dr. Gene Weltfish, and 43 other prominent Americans have condemned the arrests of non-citizens "as endangering American democracy and the rights of all of us" in an Open Letter to President Truman made public this week by the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born, 23 West 26th Street, New York.

Excerpts of the Open Letter to President Truman follow:

"The attempted deportation of 30 non-citizens on the ground of political opinions is a violation of the Constitution of the United States and of the Bill of Rights. The activities of the Justice Department in carrying out these arrests, and their attendant newspaper publicity, are therefore political in character and not legal.

"We call upon you, as President of the United States, to order the Attorney General to discontinue immediately his practice of planned political arrests of legally-resident non-citizens. We are opposed to any attempt to use the immigration laws of the United States for the purpose of hounding or persecuting non-citizens in the United States."

Galaxy of Stars For Benefit Show

An outstanding array of talent will be on hand to stage an impressive show Monday evening, March 22 at the Ambassador's Cocoanut Grove when the Merchants Club presents its annual dinner for the Mt. Sinai-Duarte National Medical Center, Joseph Berman, president of the Merchants announced today.

Eddie Cantor, Dinah Shore, and Jessel will headline a galaxy of stars in the benefit performance before the 1,000 guests who are expected to attend.

Retail Food Chains, Corporations Make High Profit in '47

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17 — Retail food chains and corporations have been earning the highest rate of profit on investment since the Agriculture Department started keeping records in 1935, the department reported today.

The rate of operating profits, less provisions for Federal taxes, as a percentage of investment, rome from 8 per cent in 1945 to 18.3 per cent in 1946 for a group of eight retail chains, the department said in a marketing report.

The profit rate for 43 food processing corporations rose from 8 per cent in 1945 to 12.7 per cent in 1946, the report said, adding that there has been little to indicate any change in 1947.

The department said operating profits averaged 9.9 per cent of investment for four tobacco corporations in 1946 compared to 8.9 per cent in 1945. These rates were said to be considerably lower than the companies earned earned in the 1936-40 period.

Among fo dprocessing corporations, the highest rate of profit on investment in 1946 was said to have been 20 per cent for baking companies, or nearly double the rate in 1945. The 1946 and apparently the 1947 profit rate was said to have been 13 per cent fo, grain-mill product companies, 10 per cent for meat packers, 16 per cent for canning companies and 14 per cent for dairy companies.

Looking ahead into 1948, the department said the farmer's share of the consumer's food dollar is expected to hold at or near the 1947 level of 53 per cent. Before 1943, the highest farmer share was 51 per cent.

The department said it is possible that food marketing costs will increase further this year. Likewise, higher transportation costs were foreseen.

HAPPINESS

For centuries men and women have been searching for true happiness. They have asked themselves over and over again in what it consisted. And no doubt you, too, have often questioned what you would really need to enjoy life.

The things God offers to you so that you may enjoy life are the things you can find right in your life—things which are freely open to whether you are rich or poor—no matter what your age or race or creed or color. They are work, play, love and faith. Why not take advantage of them and enjoy the happiness that is rightfully yours.

R.R. Dear Prof. Herman: Will you please help me to make an important decision in my life. You have helped me before and I have great faith and confidence in your work.

ANSWER: Concentrating upon your problem, I find that the plan you have in mind will prove quite beneficial. It will mean, however, that you will have to sacrifice your time and money for the next few months, but if you make this decision, you will not regret it.

L.W. What is the cause of the change in my friend ?

ANSWER: Probing into the matter I find that your friend has been listening to idle gossip, hence the change in his attitude toward you. If you talk to him he will see his mistake and give you a chance to explain.

Miss E.M.B. My mother is is swell, but refuses to let me have company or go out after 9 o'clock in the evening. What should I do?

ANSWER: Your mother is right, and knows best. Remember, she doesn't prohigit your going out or doing some of the things your friends do, because she wants to. She has your BEST interest at heart, and feels that at the age of sixteen you still need to be careful.

A.S.P. When is he coming to visit me?

ANSWER: A careful analysis of your question indicates the fact, that he plans to make definite arrangements to stay there when he does come, hence the delay. It is also revealed that you are engaged, and it will not be very long before the date for your wedding will be set.

D.M.B. Dear Sir: I love to read your column. Will you please help me by answering my question. Will I meet a nice man and get married soon?

ANSWER: It seems to me that you have scorned many of your admirers, some of which may have proved to be suitable companions, if only given the chance. In order to judge a person, you need to be in their company for a period of time. In your discussions you will find out what you have in common, and what the possibilities are for the future. It is pretty hard to do this at a glance, however, or just by meeting someone. I would like to help you, but space does not permit. If you will write in for a private reply, shall be glad to do so.

Wants Negroes On GA. Juries

ATLANTA, Ga.—Dan Duke, a white attorney of this city and former solicitor-general of the State of Georgia, has made a motion to compel his state to place Negroes on juries.

In his motion he stated that, no Negroes had been placed on juries in twenty years. Duke said: "We in Georgia must accept the law as it is legally interpreted by the U. S. Supreme Court. Today, in Georgia there are 120 counties that have legally qualified Negro citizens eligible for jury service, which do not have the names of any Negroes in their grand jury or trial jury boxes. This simply means that any indictment for a felony returnable by a grand jury in these counties against a Negro is fatally defective. Whether we like it or not ,it is the law, and we claim to be law abiding people."

Legal Suit Extends Fight For Equal Teachers' Pay

JACKSON, Miss. — The Southwide fight for equalization of teachers' salaries was extended to this city with the filing of a suit against the Jackson school officials by Mrs. Gladys Noel Bates, science teacher in the Smith Roberts school here.

The suit brought by Mrs. Bates was filed on March 4 in behalf of herself and of all Negro teachers and principals in Jackson. It followed failure to obtain equal salaries through petition to the local board of trustees. The board, rejecting the petition, declared it was impossible to grant the request for pay raises at this time.

State Superintendent of Education J. M. Tubb expressed the opinion that equalization of salaries was a matter for legislature action. However, the Mississippi House of Representatives, within a week after filing of the suit, sidetracked a teachers' pay scale bill because some legislators protested that passage of the bill would result in equalization of salaries for Negro and white teachers.

Condemns Slash In Vets Budget

Mrs. Mary McLeod Bethune, founder-president of the National Council of Negro Women, recently sent a letter to President Truman protesting the budgetary restrictions placed on the Veterans Administration, especially in the South.

The letter reads, in part:

Unless something is done to prevent what we consider an unjust action, thousands of Negro veterans now in the midst of instruction will be deprived of supervision of the Veterans Administration. To me, such an unfortunate occurence would be in direct opposition to the intent and purpose of the Servicemen's Readjustment Act, which was calculated to give every veteran equal rehabilation opportunity under the law, regardless of race, creed or color.

Acts to End Bias In National Guard

ST. PAUL, Minn. — Governor Luther W. Youngdahl sent a letter to Secretary of Defense James Forrestal last week urging that the Department of the Army approve a policy of integrating Negroes into the National Guard as was approved by the department for New Jersey.

The Governor said that his veto had been taken on the recommendation of his interracial commission.

NEGRO CONGRESS RAISES $600 FUND FOR MRS. INGRAM, SONS

L. A. Backs Fight for Freedom of the Ingrams

Over 600 persons who assembled at Phillips Temple CME church Sunday heard screen actress Lena Horne, Rev. J. J. Hicks, and labor leader Al Caplan voice the condemnation and protest of an indignant nation over the death sentence imposed by an all-white Georgia jury on Mrs. Rosa Lee Ingram, 45, and her two teen-age sons, Wallace, 17, and Sammie, 14.

The rally, held under the auspices of the Los Angeles Negro Congress, went on record demanding of President Harry Truman and Gov. Melvin Thompson of Georgia, the unconditional release and safety of Mrs. Ingram and her sons. The Ingrams were sentenced to die in Georgia's electric chair for the self-defense killing of John Stratford, a white farmer, who threatened them with a rifle.

INTENSIFIED DRIVE

Responding to a call of the Negro Congress, which scheduled March 19 through 29 as "Save the Ingram Family Week," individuals and groups throughout Los Angeles have been conducting an intensified drive to rally support for the Ingrams.

"Street demonstrations and the circulation of post cards in churches, on street corners, in labor unions and at public meetings has resulted thus far in the sending of over 3,000 post cards of protest to President Truman and Governor Thompson," John Forrester, executive secretary,

On The Sidewalk

By C. A. B.

So determined are those who hold the balance of political power to stay in the driver's seat, that already they have started a campaign to win the 1948 election at any price.

Hitler's fight to take over control of the world was, I imagine, but a little more desperate than will be our oncoming political battle of 1948.

Just a few weeks ago the Governor of Virginia led the parade of Southern Governors against President Truman's proposed Civil Rights program; meaning that in his estimation Negroes are not the equals of white persons.

Across the street in West Virginia is a beautiful magazine, "Color," I presume published for and by colored people.

Incidentally it's the April, 1948, issue I have before me. The front page calls attention to two feature articles: Unseen Broadway and Why Negroes Must Fear Communism.

This magazine, Color, is a thing of art, and I enjoy looking through its pages.

But my sense of the artistic in Color is blurred by what I read in another less artistic magazine—a release on Rosa Lee Ingram and her two minor sons' death sentence decreed by a Georgia court under circumstances which Henry Wallace said, "clearly indicated a gross miscarriage of justice." The Ingrams were condemned to death by an all-white jury for daring to defend themselves against the rage of a white farmer.

I have not read Color through yet, but as far as I have seen, no mention is made of the Ingram case or any of the other evils that dog the heels of 15 million Americans denied categorically their Civil Rights.

On page six of Color a cartoon depicts the plight of the Negro people being herded into Siberia by Stalin.

Color has enlightened me on this point of sending Negroes to Siberia. I have neither read nor heard of such a movement.

The drawing also illustrates the doom of those in Russia who fight to save their freedom, but says nothing about those Negro citizens in Georgia, Alabama, and Mississippi who for 83 years have been lynched for desiring to be free.

"In the United States and other democracies, we tolerate differences; we encourage free speech. This is possibly only because in America we have a free world," Color declared.

In my opinion Color is the forerunner of things to be in the 1948 campaign. It outlines 5 reasons why Negroes must fear Communism.

1. Communism is atheistic. It outlaws God. However according to Hewlett Johnson, dean of Canterbury, "Every citizen in Russia is free to express his or her religious views and convert others to them."

2. Communism takes away Freedom and the right to own property. If the editors of Color would consult

Hughes Labeled 'Communist' by Sen. J. Tenney

State Sen. Jack B. Tenney this week protested the appearance of poet Langston Hughes at Occidental college, March 31, on the grounds that his Senate Committee on Un-American Affairs considers Hughes a "Communist."

Although Dr. Arthur G. Coons, president of Occidental college said he "knew of no protest by Sen. Tenney," the board of trustees in a meeting Monday, decided that cancellation "would be best for all concerned."

Frank N. Rush, president of the board of trustees, said there had been no protest received from Sen. Tenney.

"At this particular time," Dr. Coons said. "It is considered unwise to present anyone at a public meeting on the campus whose views are apt to be socially and politically divisive."

Groups Demand FCC Hearing On Station KMPC

A decision will be made soon on whether hearings will be held on several complaints lodged with the Federal Communications Commission against station KMPC here, it was learned today.

The Congress of Industrial Organizations, in the meantime, has added its name to the growing list of organizations who have charged the station with "mishandling of the news."

It is believed that the KMPC hearings, if they are ordered, will be combined with the commission's hearings on whether its rule against editorializing by radio stations should be revoked.

Hawkins Files For 3rd Party Nomination

Assemblyman Augustus F. Hawkins, D., this week became the first candidat in Los Angeles County to file nomination papers to run on the Independent Progressive Party ticket.

Hawkins, veteran legislator of the 62nd District, cross-filed with Registrar of Voters M. J. Donoghue to run for reelection on all three party tickets.

In other assembly district moves, Walter R. Hinton, R., incumbent, 42nd, who previously filed as a Republican, submitted Democratic papers, and Edward E. Elliott, D., incumbent, 44th, who previously filed on his own party ticket submitted Republican papers.

James L. McDermott, D., 1729 E. Pacific Coast Highway, Wilmington, filed as a Democrat in the 68th; James H. Crum, D., 6924 Compton Ave., filed Democratic papers in the 52nd, and Lorne D. Middough, D., former assemblyman in the 70th, cross-filed for Democratic and Republican nomination in an attempt to regain his post.

IPP Charges Bowl Censorship; Shifts Sen. Taylor to Gilmore

Senator Glen Taylor will speak to the people of Los Angeles from the Gilmore Stadium Monday, March 29, despite the announcement that the Hollywood Bowl has granted permission for the meeting.

The new Independent Progressive Party of California, one of the sponsors of the meeting, charged the Bowl with attempting to impose "onerous conditions amounting to censorship," and shift the place of the rally to the Gilmore Stadium, where, it said there are no restrictions on freedom of speech.

The Bowl notified IPP, the pro-Wallace party announced, that it must submit all

HPA Meets Friday

The Home Protective Association will meet Friday, March 26, at 8 p. m. in the home of Mrs Virginia Alexander, 4073 South Central ave (upstairs).

The HPA was organized more than two years ago to fight restrictive covenants. It has been especially interested in the case of the family of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Laws, ordered out of their home, 1235 East 92nd street, because they are Negroes. For refusing to obey the order, Mr. and Mrs. Laws and their daughter, Mrs. Pauletta Fears, were sent to jail. The HPA immediately went to bat for them, and has taken the case through the municipal courts, the county courts, and is now awaiting a decision from the California State Supreme Court.

All who are interested are urged to attend the meeting, and to join in the fight against restrictive covenants.

Third Party Opposes Truman's Proposals

"The complete bankruptcy of the bi-partisan, monopoly inspired Truman Doctrine was fully exposed by the President's speech last week," Hugh Bryson, chairman of the organizing committee of the newly qualified Independent Progressive Party, said today. "Truman's use of lofty words such as 'freedom' and 'justice' can no longer cover up the fact that his policies have led our nation to the very brink of another disastrous war," Bryson added.

Pointing out that the first time Truman addressed a joint session of Congress he asked for anti-labor legislation to break the strike of the railroad workers; and that another time he asked for support of his program of armed aid to the corrupt king of Greece and the despotic Turkish government, Bryson charged that Truman now asks congress to impose a virtual military dictatorship on the people at home.

"The people of many devastated lands need food and clothing," the IPP chairman said,

EASTER BRIDE—Lovely Ruby L. Walker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cicero Walker will become the bride of Mr. Jordon Allen on Easter Sunday at 3 o'clock at Zion Hill Baptist church. Miss Walker is the very efficient secretary of the Zion Hill Baptist church. A reception will follow in the social hall of the church.

American Jewish Council Wires Protest to Truman

Alarm over President Harry Truman's demand for compulsory military training and the draft, coupled with his failure to discuss lifting the embargo on arms for the defense of bleeding Jews in their struggle for a democratic Jewish state in Palestine, led the American Jewish Labor Council, Los Angeles chapter, to send a telegram of protest to the White House last Thursday.

An excerpt of the telegram follows:

"As positive contribution to peace symbolized by struggle for democratic Jewish state in Palestine, and to effectively implement decision of UN in which our nation participated, we ask you issue presidential order lifting embargo on arms for defense of Jews in Palestine; that you instruct American delegation to UN to request recognition Haganah as Jewish peoples militia in Palestine; that you urge establishment international police force under UN to prevent invasion of Palestine by Fascists in neighboring states; and that you impliment UN decision with loans and arms to the Jewish state so that long suffering people there may have opportunity to build anew a productive life in a democratic Palestine."

Other groups signing the telegram include: Fur and Leather Workers, No. 87; Fur and Leather Workers, No. 213; International Longshoremen and Warehousemen's Union, No. 26; Marine Cook and Stewards; News Vendors Union, No. 75; United Electrical Workers Union, No. 1421; UOBWA, No. 9; Furniture Workers Union, No. 276; Painters Union, No. 1348; Mine, Mill and Smelter, No. 700; and Emma Lasarus Division, No. 141.

AUDIENCE APPROVES—The first $100 donation made at the Ingram Rally, held Sunday at Phillips Temple CME, under the auspices of the Los Angeles Negro Congress, won the enthusiastic approval of those attending the meeting. Photographer snaps section of the church as audience demonstrates its appreciation.

Plan Town Meeting

Charles Collingwood, C.B.S. commentator, will serve as moderator at a Town Meeting Wednesday, April 7 at 8 p.m. in the auditorium of the First Unitarian church, 2936 W. 8th st., on the topic: "Which Party should the Independent Voter Support?"

Participants on the program include Dr. Hyman Englebert, Independent Progressive; Bob Finch, Republican; and Carl Deisenroth, Democrat.

Admission is free and all civic minded citizens are urged to attend.

Dr. Seymour Kaufman To Open New Offices

Dr. Seymour H. Kaufman wishes to announce to his friends and patients that he is opening new offices shortly in the 55th and Central Medical Center, 5425 South Central ave., so that he may accommodate those who are unable to come to his office at 1st and San Pedro st.

The 55th and Central Medical Center is the former Public Health Clinic. In this same building is also located the Golden State Life Insurance Co. Dr. Seymour H. Kaufman has spared no expense in modernizing this building so that it will be the "showplace" of Central Avenue.

He is contacting specialists in the various fields of medicine and dentistry so that their services will be available for those who need them. It is Dr. Kaufman's endeavor to develop a Clinical Group which he hopes will in the near future be referred to as one of the foremost Clinical Groups.

Arrangements are being made with one of the foremost Laboratories in this city to establish in the New Professional Building a branch so that the finest Laboratory facilities will be available for Diagnostic purposes.

Dr. Kaufman is arranging his hours so that he will be available in both of his offices on alternate days, and in order to accommodate those patients whose only available day for services is Sunday, he will be open at 55th and Central every Sunday from 3 p.m. to 6 p.m.

Hours at 1st and San Pedro are daily from 4:00 p.m. to 8:00 p.m. The telephone MI. 3759.

Hours at 55th and Central Professional Building are daily from 10:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. and Sundays from 3:00 p.m. to 6:00 p.m.

Mass Protest Meeting Next Thurs. on Police Brutality

A mass meeting protesting the brutal slaying of 17-year-old Augustine Salcido by trigger-happy policeman William Keys is being called for Thursday, April 1, Moose Hall, 300 S. Olive st., it was learned today.

Plans for the rally were made following the refusal of District Attorney William Simpson to see more than three members of a large protest delegation that called on him Tuesday morning at the Hall of Justice. Rejecting Simpson's offer, the delegation immediately laid plans to marshall wide support in its fight against police brutality.

Young Salcido, a Mexican, was killed when four bullets were pumped into his head by policeman Keys. Although witnesses refuted the main points in Keys' explanation of the killing, the coroner's jury took only 10 minutes to reach a whitewash verdict of "justifiable homicide."

Oscar Delcampo, a witness against Keys, has been jailed and beaten. A second witness, Guillermo Gallegos, only eyewitness to the shooting, was beaten, arrested and then told to get out of town, it has been reported.

For the past two weeks, Gestapo-like police terror reigned in the Temple-Grand area where the killing took place, as plice cruised up and down Temple street after dark ordering all Mexicans off the street and threatening them with jail.

Organizations, unions, churches and individuals throughout Los Angeles have been urged to write or telephone District Attorney Simpson demanding the immediate suspension and prosecution of Policeman Keys.

Thursday's rally will be held under the auspices of the L.A. CIO Minorities Committee, American Youth for Democracy, the Civil Rights Congress, and the Mexican-American chapter of CRC.

Ruth Esther Home

The Ruth Esther Home for Women, 2406 South St. Andrews st., corner of West Adams blvd., is extending an invitation to all to come and see the beautiful home for women Friday afternoon, March 26, Good Friday, from 3 to 6 p.m.

There will be speaking, singing, the latest fashion show, and a free luncheon served on the grounds. A cordial invitation is extended to all. Rev. J. A. Alexander is the founder of the Home.

HOUSE COMMITTEE OPPOSED BY CRC

NEW YORK—Fund raising activities for the Civil Rights Congress will be climaxed here this season by a dinner which will launch a renewed offensive against the House Committee on Un-American Activities, it was announced today.

The affair, to be held at Essex House on April 28, will be chaired by Paul Robeson.

FEMALE DISORDER
PREMATURE OLD AGE — REPRODUCTION — NERVOUSNESS

"Many women suffer from genital derangements. There is undoubtedly no clas of disorder which has so far-reaching an effect upon the nervous system as derangement of the genital organs. Chief among the irritating sources are:

1st. A sluggish state of the blood stream which is productive of congestion in the womb and ovaries, and creates an engorged state which interferes with the normal functioning of these organs.

2nd. The pressure of prolapsed abdominal viscera upon the reproductive organs and the distention and irritation of intestinal gas.

3rd. Repression of the normal instincts and function through psychological resistance, physical malformation, or misplaced position of organs.

4th. Rectal disorders, Piles, Hemorrhoids.

In each individual case you may look for one or more of the above causes, which must be removed if the patient is to enjoy perfect health. The digestive disorders may be corrected through proper attention and the prolapsus caused by weakened muscles of the abdomen may be overcome through development of muscular tone."

"Women who suffer are unhappy. They refelct their entire attitude and in many instances destroy the happiness of their home and family. Those who suffer from painful, scanty, irregular, or profuse periods—uterine fibroids; prolapsed, sagging or misplaced organs; childless, complexes—you would do well to take steps to correct the cause immediately.

It is impossible to estimate the amount of evil caused by an engorged colon (pot-belly), monopolizing several times its allotted space, crowding and hampering other organs in their work."

Dr. Chas. A. Tyrell, M.D., eminent physician, says:

"The most rational and practical manner of dealing with this . . . breeding place of disease is to wash it out. With me it has passed beyond the theoretical stage, for I have in my office fully 15,000 letters from grateful patients who have used this process, under my direction, with the most astounding results; scarcely a disease known to humanity, but has been relieved, and in ninety-five per cent of the cases, cures effected, while tens of thousands of gratifying messages have reached me from time to time; nor is the testimony in its favor confined to the laity, for hundreds of physicians (including some of the most prominent authorities) testify to the wonderful beneficial results achieved by its use."

Daniel C. Munro, M.D., says: "If I were to write the story of all the cases in which colonic irrigations seem to lift the patient from the very jaws of death, it would fill volumes."

Residents of Los Angeles are fortunate in having the New Yorker, a haven for those who suffer, where the cause may be removed. New Yorker specializes in thoroughly cleansing and eliminating from the colon all waste matter causing toxic poisons. Rid yourself of toxic poisons. If suffering, come to our office at once. Job Opportunities Open For Persons Trained in Marketing

How to get more white and colored personnel trained at our colleges and universities for about 3,500 agricultural marketing jobs which Federal and State agencies expect to fill within the next five or six years was a problem discussed here last week by a committee representing Land Grant Colleges and th U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The committee's recommendations, which will be made to the colleges and universities, will include the need for placing greater emphasis on some courses now being offered, and for introducing new courses.

E. A. Meyer, administrator of the Research and Marketing Act, pointed out at the committee meeting that the Federal government, State departments of agriculture, State extension services and experiment stations, and private industries are looking for men who can do marketing jobs. The demand will continue, he said. Federal and State agencies receiving R&MA funds expect to hire about 700 trained men and women each year for the next five years, or a total of 3,500 persons.

"Soviet Power," written by the Dean of Canterbury, they would understand cooperative ownership is the order in Russia, which differs from the American democratic way in that there are no Ghettoes for the poor and mansions for the rich. Nor are restrictive covenants permitted in Russia.

3. It permits class war.

Nationality is a personal attribute in Russia; like religion it may be enjoyed to the full, but not imposed on others.

4. The Communists are using the Negroes for their own purposes.

According to the arguments produced by the editors of Color, as yet Negroes know little about Communism, except the wild rumors tacked unto everything and everybody not in accord with reaction and oppression.

5. Communism is a world leader in Discrimination.

According to Stalin there shall be no racial exclusiveness in Russia.

I have observed that the Americans no doubt described by Color are those whites who frown on Black and White marriages, social and industrial intercourse, and consider everyone edvocating equality, as in the case of the 10 Hollywood producers, Communists.

My fears concerning the price 15 million Negroes, will be called upon to pay for this deception of the real and disturbing issues in our national life, have been increased many fold.

I wonder why Color attacks Communism, instead of the Ku Klux Klan; why it attacks Wallace.

Henry Wallace is the only aspirant for political office who has declared his position on race prejudice.

The Negro people want freedom, and they will accept whatever leader or "ism" that points the way to that goal. Slick paper and fiery oratory can be bought on the Negro market. But may I say to Color and all who are peddling hate, we the people want freedom. You may call it by any other name, but that is what we want, and what we must have.

NAACP Adopts New Policy For Ingram Defense Fund

At a special call meeting of the executive committee of Georgia States Conference Branches held Monday with Walter White, national executive secretary, National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, the following procedure was agreed upon regarding the defense of Mrs. Rosa Lee Ingram and her two teen-age sons:

1) To notify the public that legal defense is exclusively in the hands of NAACP and no other organizations are authorized to raise funds for legal defense.

2) All funds raised in Georgia should be sent to Attorney at Walden Building, 28 Butler St., Atlanta, Ga., for deposit to account of Ingram Defense Funds. Contributions from outside Georgia should be sent to NAACP National Office, 20 W. 40th St., New York 32, N. Y.

Official receipts will be issued for all contributions and certified public accountant's audits of all receipts and disbursements will be made periodically to the public

Argument on motion for new trial will be had Thursday, March 25, at Americus, Ga., by Colonel Walden and associate counsel.

The committee heartily voted its appreciation for the contributions rendered by branches and the general public and particularly the Americus Committee.

Shaw Players Add 16 New Members

RALEIGH, N. C. — The Shaw Players added 16 new members last week at ceremonies held in the Women's Recreation Building at Shaw university. The new Thespians were chosen after showing promise in dramatic tryouts and in regular University stage productions.

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y. — A statement signed by 300 prominent citizens calling for a world-wide investigation of slave labor, was presented to Trygve Lie, secretary general of the United Nations, recently. It charged that the number of slave laborers in the world has increased to an estimated 20,000,000, and urged the complete information regarding this condition be given the entire world.

TRENTON, N. J. — The New Jersey supreme court has reversed the convictions of eight members of the Committee of Racial Equality who were arrested last summer in their campaign to end the ban on Negroes at the swimming pool of the Palisades Amusement Park.

The eight were manhandled and arrested last August after protesting the jimcrow policy of the management of the pool, which refused them admission. Their lawyers had asked for trials by jury, but were denied.

Supreme Court Justice Wachenfeld based his decision upon the fact the law requires jury trials in cases where the fine exceeds $20 or the jail term seven days. This law had been violated by the lower court.

Martin McManus has filed nomination petitions for congress in the 14th congressional district on the Republican ballot.

HEADACHE

Read what this famous doctor says: The cause of headache seldom can be found in the head itself, but must be understood to be the symptom of some other disorder located in another part o fthe body, which affects the nerves in the head by reflex action. If the ache seems back of the eyes, it is either caused by constipation or eye strain. If the ache occurs only on sunny days it indicates suitable glasses should be worn. If not manifested in this way, you may expect that constipation is the cause, and often you will find a pressure in the rectu mof impacted feces.

Bilious "sick" headaches is accompanied by nausea, and can only be cured when biliousness is overcome. Anemia produces a peculiar dizzy feeling in the head, and will persist until the proper changes are made in the blood. Low blood pressure headache is caused by fatigue. High blood pressure headache is usually evidenced by a feeling of pressure around the head, as if a band of iron were being drawn tightly round the skull. Headache at the top of the head is caused by some disorder of the bladder.

The form least understood is that which occurs at the base of the brain, and is always brought on by uterine congestion. The principal causes of this congestion in women are troubles of menstruation, prolapsed uterus, constipation (which makes pressure against the uterus), and congestion in the womb.

MIGRAINE is a form of headache which makes habitual visits at certain definite times. I have never treated a case which could not be cured by the methods used in the ordinary form of headache. Cases of many years' standing, which have resisted all medicinal remedies used, are often cured as quickly as an ordinary bilious headache.

Dr. Chas. A. Tyrell, M.D., eminent physician, says:

"The most rational and practical manner of dealing with this . . . breeding place of disease is to wash it out. With me, it has passed beyond the theoretical stage, for I have in my office fully 15,000 letters from grateful patients who have used this process, under my direction, with the most astounding results; scarcely a disease known to humanity, but has been relieved, and in ninety-five per cent of the cases cures effected, while tens of thousands of gratifying messages have reached me from time to time; nor is the testimony in its favor confined to the laity, for hundreds of physicians (including some of the most prominent authorities) testify to the wonderful beneficial results achieved by its use."

Daniel C. Munro, M.D., says: "If I were to write the story of all the cases in which colonic irrigations seem to lift the patient from the very jaws of death, it would fill volumes."

Residents of Los Angeles are fortunate in having the New Yorker, a haven for those who suffer, where the cause may be removed. UPW Demands End Of U. S. Jim Crow System In Panama

The United Public Workers of America, CIO, recently urged the abolition of the Jim Crow "silver-gold" system on the Panama Canal and called for increased housing appropriations for "silver" employees on the Canal.

The Union also urged general wage increases and increased pension funds for the thousands of so-called "silver" workers employed by the United States government to service and operate the Panama Canal.

The union's program was presented to the sub-committee of the Senate Appropriations Committee by Thomas Richardson, international vice-president of the United Public Workers, who stated:

"Favorable action on the union's recommendations will go far towards convincing the "silver" workers, the peoples of Latin America and decent people everywhere that the United States does mean what it says in its official statements on the rights of racial minorities. We are confident that the average American will look with disfavor upon the continuance of the present situation of racial discrimination."

Child House to Offer Courses In Psycholoy

Parents and physicians get major attention in the third series of courses titled "Psychology as Related to Present Day Problems," which Child House will present beginning April 7, at 2225 West Adams boulevard.

The classes, which are held once a week in the evening at Child House Nursery School, consist of fifteen sesions for each group. Subjects offered include "The First Six Years," General Problems of Parenthod and Marriage," and the "Dynamics of Personality Underlying Psychosomatic Symptoms."

Size of the classes will be limited in order to allow full participation of all students, Sylvan Pasternak, Executive Secretary of Child House stated in announcing the courses. Registration will remain open until the new series begins on April 7. For further information, those interested may call Child House at ROchester 0740. Some scholarships are available.

Seeks to Clear L.A. of Slums

In aspecial message to the City Council this week, Mayor Fletcher Bowron said immediate action is needed to eliminate sub-standard sections of the city.

The Mayor submitted a detailed study of the central 70 square miles of the city. Prepared by the City Planning commission, the report revealed that one out of every ten youths between the ages of 10 and 17 in the area bounded by Figueroa, the Los Angeles river, Aliso street and Olympic boulevard, had, in 1945, a delinquency record.

Watts was also listed as an area of high delinquency. Where areas are blighted, the planners reported juvenile delinquency to be seven times higher than in neighborhoods of adequate housing.

Six times as much health service is required for these neighborhoods with disease rates soaring above properly planned communities. Limited tax returns from these sections, coupled with the high cost of police and fire protection, the report said, places an increased tax burdens on all residents.

Grants Request to Extend Art Exhibit

"Modern Artists in Transition," one of the most important exhibitions of contemporary paintings ever shown in Southern California, will be extended through Sunday, April 11, at the Modern Institute of Art, 344½ N. Rodeo Drive, Beverly Hills, it was announced today by Kenneth Ross, director.

The museum's initial exhibition, scheduled to end March 28, was prolonged at the request of community groups, art schools and individuals wishing to see the famous assemblage of art befort it is redistributed among the owners. The next exhibit is now being assembled.

JOHN GARFIELD, STAGE AND SCREEN STAR, is shown (center) with officers of Negro Newspaper Publishers Association and actors participating in National Broadcasting Company network program in observance of National Negro Newspaper Week. Garfield denounced intolerance and prejudice. He was introduced by N N P A president Thomas W. Young (second from right), president of the Journal and Guide, who also announced the first Russwurm Awards. These citations were given to individuals and institutions for outstanding service to the cause of democracy. Dowdal D a v i s Jr. (second from left), general manager of the Kansas City Call, is chairman of the Newspaper Week committee. Others in the group (from left) are Avon Long of Porgy and Bess fame, Juano Hernandez and Maurice Ellis, both w e l l k n o w n radio personalities, and Canada Lee, a seasoned star of the Broadway stage.

Cites Role Of Negro Press In American Democracy

At the Lincoln University Assembly on Thursday morning, Furman Templeton of the Afro-American Newspapers spoke to the students on the role of the Negro Press in American Democracy. The speaker said that the Negro Press has made a place for itself i nthe democratic life of the nation. He divided the Press' activities into three phases: the pre-Civil War phase which was devoted to the freeing of the slaves; the Post-Civil War period which was concerned with the granting of Civil Rights; and the Post-World War I period which was an intensification of the Civil Rights fight.

Templeton reviewed in brief the history of the Negro Press from Freedom's Journal in 1827 through Walker's Appeal and Douglass' New Era down to the newspapers and periodicals of today. He said that the Press has shown a marked development in news gathering, news printing and news distribution techniques, and cited the progress in editorial policy as an evidence of growth.

L.A. Post Offices Open Till 5 P.M.

Postmaster Michael D. Fanning announced this week that postal service throughout Los Angeles would be expanded during the next two weeks in a return to prewar service to the public.

Service at nine carrier stations including East Los Angeles, will now be resumed on Saturday afternoons. This service had been curtailed last year with the stations closing at 1 p.m., but they will now remain open until 5 p.m.

Warns State Taxes Will Be Increased

"The $920,000,000 California state budget proposed for 1948-49, even without any of the legislative increases now being discussed, is $135,000,000 more than estimated receipts for the year," California Taxpayers' association said today, pointing out that state revenue at present are at unprecedentedly high levels.

"For the state to carryon a spending program far in excess of current revenues ultimately means increased state taxes," A. C. Hardison, president of the association warned.

'Step-Up' Red Cross Campaign Urges Chairman

Progress must be accelerated in the current fund-raising program seeking a goal of $2,409,000 "so that the American Red Cross will be prepared to meet all eventualities," William T. Sesnon jr., chairman of the Los Angeles Red Cross chapter, warned today.

He was referring to the latest reports from campaign headquarters showing Los Angeles Red Cross has the "poorest percentage-wise showing of any major chapter in the country."

The apparent "lassitude" is jeopardizing our nationwide system of blood banks—geared to serve a civilian population as well as the military—in peace or war, Sesnon commented. "Especially in this time of national emergency, our blood donor program must be preserved at all costs. Blood saves lives in peacetime, its miracles on battlefields are legion, and it is one of the few recognized treatments for victime of atomic explosions."

Sgt. J. Wilson Wins Promotion

KITZINGEN, Germany — Sergeant James Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jodie Wilson, 995 East 49th Street, Los Angeles, was recently promoted to the grade of Staff Sergeant, headquarters Kitzinken Basic Training Center announced today.

An educational instructor in the education section of the training center, Sergeant Wilson enlisted in the Army October 31, 1945. He first served in the Pacific Theater of Operations. In April, 1946, he arrived in the European Command.

Colorado River Issue Pending In Congress

The way has finally been opened to resolve peacefully a states' rights controversy that has raged for more than 25 years between Arizona and California, just as the North and South were divided over a states' rights issue more than 80 years ago.

"This peaceful settlement can be brought about by a supreme court decision," asserted Raymond Matthew, chief engineer of the Colorado River Board. "The important legal issues involved can be resolved finally and effectively only by the highest court in the land."

California - sponsored legislation to obtain approval of a supreme court suit is pending in congress. Senate Joint Resolution 145 and House Joint Resolution 226 are the twin bills which, if passed, will send the interstate water dispute to the high tribunal.

The long-standing water controversy between the two states has been brough tto a head by the proposed $700,000,000 Central Arizona Project, which would divert a large volume of water from the lower Colorado river.

Sing Yourself to Sleep, Says Sims

NEW YORK, N. Y. — Having trouble dropping off to sleep? Then reach for a song instead of a sleeping pill!

That's the latest advice to insomniacs offered by Blackburn Sims in the April Journal of Living.

Sing yourself to sleep—but not out loud, says Sims. These voiceless lullabies have the advantage of keeping no one else awake at the same time that they ease you into slumber.

Civil League Head Predicts Large Minority Group Vote

OXNARD—A huge "awakening" of the minority groups voters here was promised yesterday by Dick Abrams, head of the Civic Progressive League, who pointed to the huge registration the Spanish-speaking people and other races and the interest taken by them in the forthcoming city election, April 11.

Having a candidate that they are rallying behind, the league head said that it was "high time that they took an active part in their government, and began to seek things for themselves."

Riginald Vela seems to be the favored candidate, with Fredrick H. Baily and Romer Bell also coming in for much consideration from what Abrams termed "minority groups," who, he explained, are "large in numbers as far as population is concerned, but small in civic activities."

The final check of all citizens who registered was 5,179, the highest in all histor yof Oxnard. Only 738 persons voted at the last city election. The candidates seeking the council posts are Fred Baily and A. Elliott Stoll for the short terms, or the unexpired term vacated by former Police Commissioner Henry Paulman. In the race for the four-year "long" term are C. Hubert Catlin, incumbent seeking re-election; and Romer P. Bell, who is vice-president of the Oxnard Chamber of Commerce; Harvey K. Pollack, and the surprise darkhorse who filed at the last minute, Reginald Vela, who is a leader in Latin-American activities here.

Third Verdict Against McGee To Be Appealed

The case of Willie McG Negro GI, who was convicted a frame-up rape charge for t third time by an all-white ju this month, will be appeal again, the Civil Rights Congr announced today. McGee's ex ecution has been stopped tw by the Mississippi Supre Court.

Defending him since 194 CRC attorneys now believe that this third lynch-court ver dict will establish the fa that a fair trial for McGee impossible and every lega avenue for now winning h unconditional freedom will b explored.

A change of venue was deni in the third trial and no Neg served on the trial jury. T state high court threw out t two previous convictions these grounds.

Natural health giving herbs have been used in China for thousands of years to rid the human body of toxic matters which hinders the function of practically all the organs of the body. They are known to relieve ailments that have been slow to respond to other forms of treatment.

THE BIBLE STATES HERBS WERE PUT INTO THE GROUND AS AN AID TO MAINTAIN AND RESTORE HEALTH—CAN THERE BE A BETTER AUTHORITY OR RECOMMENDATION?

So regain health nature's way which is slow but sure. Try our pure Chinese herbs for natural results. Feel once again the vim, vigor, vitality of a normal functioning body. Why live just a half a life when nature intended you to have a full, rich, healthy, enjoyable existence free from aches and pain. When other methods fail do not give up hope of getting well. Your case may respond to herbs when everything else fails. Why continue to suffer when others are regaining health daily. A fair trial will convince the most skeptic unbeliever.

U. S. Attorney General Strong Gives Impressive Talk to Reed Students of Christian Education

The appearance of United States District Attorney William Strong drew a very splendid audience last Sunday afternoon at the St. Paul Baptist church. The meeting was held under the auspices of the Reed School of Christian Education's Student Body of which the Rev. Dr. G. W. Reed is dean.

Mr. Strong seemed to have been at his best. He spoke for more than an hour without any apparent loss of attention by his audience, on the subject "Minority Races and Their Rightful Place Within a Nation." The address was highly edifying and was eagerly listened to by both the Student Body and the others who made up the audience.

The students of RSCE under keepsETAOIN TAOI TA OIAOIN the leadership of Dean Reed keeps abreast with all worthwhile current issues, each month presenting an outstanding speaker who is an authority on a subject of interest to and benefit for the students and any others who wish to attend. The Students of the school were conspicuous in their neat attire and school colors of blue and gold. More than 50 students were present. The school has two departments. Ministerial and Leadership Training in Christian Education. The School meets in the Avalon Community Center, 43rd street and Avalon boulevard.

Westminister Choir At Philharmonic

The famed Westminster Choir, which will appear under the leadership of its founder and conductor, Dr. John Finley Williamson, Friday evening, April 9th and Sunday afternoon, April 11 in the Philharmonic auditorium under the auspices of Mary Bran, has toured throughout America, Canada and Europe; made eighty-six orchestral appearances in six years with major symphony orchestras, including the New York Philharmonic Symphony, the Philadelphia Orchestra and the NBC and sung in Walt Disney's "Fantasia" and "Hymn of the Nations" under Toscanini and Honegger's "Joan of Arc at the Stake" under Charles Munch.

It has been described by Arthur Rodzinski as "The Stradivarius among choruses."

The regional college plan compact was introduced by southern congressmen at the behest of the southern governors. The House Committee, unlike that of the Senate, endorsed the plan without public hearings or any attempt to ascertain pertinent facts.

Ada Sipuel Fisher Reopens Fight To Enter Law School

NEW YORK.—Mrs. Ada Sipuel Fisher's fight for admission to the law school of the University of Oklahoma will be reopened on Monday, April 5, with a new trial in the District Court, Thurgood Marshall, special counsel for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, announced here today. Associated with Mr. Marshall in conduct of the case is Amos T. Hall, attorney of Tulsa, Okla.

"At the trial on April 5," Marshall said, "we expect to produce even more expert testimony than we presented in the University of Texas case to demonstrate clearly that it is impossible to get equal educational facilities in a separate law school. We will have experts not only in the field of legal training, but also in the fields of sociology and anthropology."

As a result of the supreme court ruling in Mrs. Fisher's case, a jimcrow law school, consisting of the temporary use of three offices in the State Capitol building, was established for the exclusive use of Negro pupils. No library was provided other than the library for general use in the State Capitol. Mrs. Fisher and other qualified Negro students refused to attend the jimcrow law school and continued to insis ton their right to attend the law school of the University of Oklahoma.

speeches and passes in advance for the Bowl's approval and post a bond of $500 before it can hold the anti-draft rally with Senator Taylor as the main speaker.

Taylor is arriving by air in Los Angeles, Monday, March 29, for the mass meeting to protest President Truman's call for compulsory military training and the draft. The IPP is sponsoring the meeting jointly with the PCA, California Democrats for Wallace, Students for Wallace, and other groups.

Harper Poulson, local IPP executive, further charged that the Bowl also stipulated a 10 percent "take" on all proceeds including collections, and the $5000 bond to assure that these conditions are met.

"No self-respecting organization can accept these conditions, and the Bowl knows it," declared Poulson. "That is why they set this most unusual procedure at this time." Poulson further charged that the Bowl's terms represent a "thinly disguised attempt to cover up for its un-American action in banning Henry Wallace last spring."

The Independent Progressive Party of California this week released the text of telegrams received from Congressional representatives Helen Gahagan Douglas and Chet Holifield in response to a request from IPP for a meeting with the Congressmen to discuss the 1948 race.

The Southern California Organizing Committee's wire pointed out that "unity around an anti-war, anti-depression and strong civil rights program is desirable," and asked the Congressmen to meet with its committee "for the purpose of exploring possible agreement on issues and relationships."

Excerpts from Mrs. Douglas' wire follow:

As you must know pressure of important work now before Congress makes it impossible for me to be anywhere except in Washington at this time. . . . I believe that peace is essential if our civilization is to survive. All my efforts have been directed toward the end that we may secure a permanent and lasting peace. If the issue in this campaign is the ERP which is now before us in Congress my stand in support of this program is also clear. I campaign for election and reelection on a program of keeping America strong, for peace, and prosperity and for keeping alive the civil rights of all our people and as guaranteed by our constitution. I shall continue to support that program.

An exceprt from Mr. Holifield's wire reads:

My six year record of opposition to legislation inimical to labor civil liberties and inflation is well known to the people of my district. My future votes on domestic and international issues will be guided by my best judgment as to what course is most beneficial to the people of my district and nation.

Watts Tabernacle Offers Easter Breakfast-Service

The Soul Winning Tabernacle, 1741 East 108th street, will celebrate its first Easter service at sunrise Sunday morning. The Mt. Pilgrim Baptist church, Rev. L. Davis, pastor, will join the Tabernacle in the services, and a glorious time is anticipated. An Easter playlet, "He Is Risen," arranged by Mrs. Hattie Crooms will be presented at this service.

A tasty breakfast will be served to all, and everyone is welcome to worship and for breakfast. "May the rich blessings of our resurrected Savior inspire all who read this to honor and love Him more. He that winneth souls is wise."

Hattie M. Crooms is pastor of Soul Winning Tabernacle.

Okla. Student Poll Indicates 50% vs. Jimcro

A student poll at the University of Oklahoma, where 23-year-old Ada Lois Sipuel Fisher was refused admittance as a law student, shows that at least 50 percent of the students there favor admitting qualified Negro students to that institution.

This statement was made by Howard Furlow, a psychology major at Oklahoma university, in a talk given in a symposium on interracial cooperation at Langston university last week. The inter-religious council at Oklahoma university has organized a speakers' bureau to work with religious and civic groups as one means of effecting better interracial understanding.

"Segregation laws prevent me from knowing many fine people," said Furlow. Because of Oklahoma's geographic location, another speaker maintained, the state is in a strategic position to penetrate a new frontier in race relations.

The program at Langston was sponsored by Beta Kappa chapter of Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity. James Roy Johnson, member of Alpha Phi Alpha and president of Langston's Student Christian Association, presided at the meeting.

"but they have shown the world that they will not accept such aid from us, great as is their need, if it means bowing to the will of Wall Street financiers and monopolists who now control our State Department."

The Independent Progressive Party will fight any attempt to restore the draft of our young people to fight in an unnecessary war for profits; oppose the enactment of universal military training labeling it un-American and the forerunner of a police state; and demand replacement of the Truman Doctrine of monopoly domination of the world with a really democratic foreign policy a foreign policy which will stand for aid to needy people with no political strings attached, a policy which will stand for the self-determination of all nations without outside interference.

Los Angeles Negro Congress, declared yesterday.

At the Sunday rally, which was a highlight of the intensified drive, Lena Horne pointed out that "any normal son would rush to the defense of his mother when she was threatened." Miss Horne called upon the Negro people to ally themselves with all people and organizations willing to help free the Ingrams.

URGES CHURCH TO HELP

Rev. J. J. Hicks, of St. John's Methodist church, who lived in Georgia, painted a vivid picture of the terrorism to which Negroes are subjected. "The church must begin to play its role in fighting for civil rights of all groups and persons, as well as carry on a struggle for christianity," Rev. Hicks declared.

Al Caplan, Warehouse and Longshoremen's Union, CIO, urged white Americans to help the Negro people in their fight for liberation.

MONEY FOR DEFENSE

In response to an appeal from Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, president of the Negro Congress, donations exceeding $600 poured in from individuals, labor, church, the Communist Party and from civic and social groups. Included in the collection was a $100 check from Miss Lena Horne. Money raised at the rally is being sent to the NAACP of Americus, Ga., to be added to the Ingram Defense Fund.

Other speakers at the rally included Rev. C. E. Cleaves, pastor of Phillips Temple CME church, who delivered the welcoming address; John Forrester, executive secretary of the Negro Congress, who chaired the meeting; Francis Williams, 63rd A. D. candidate, who presented a resolution for adpotion; and Rev. J. Conquest, who gave the benediction.

Spirituals in keeping with the spirit of Palm Sunday were rendered by the Phillips Temple Junior Choir, under the direction of Clifford Holland.

Dr. E. R. Hambrick Opens Practice In San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO—Dr. E. R. Hambrick, who has successfully practiced medicine in Memphis, Tenn., the past two years, has opened his office at 2006 Sutter st., this city.

Dr. Hambrick is the youngest brother of Oliver G. Hambrick, W. A. Hambrick, and Mrs. Gretchen Martin, prominent figures in business and social circles here.

He received his pre-medical education at Tennessee State College, his medical and surgical education at Meharry Medical College, and spent his internship and residency at Kansas City (Mo.) General Hospital in 1944.

DR. E. R. HAMBRICK

He is an active member of the Christian Church, the NAACP, YMCA, Negro Junior Chamber of Commerce, Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, and of the Bluff City Medical Society.

Mrs. Hambrick, the former Vivian Walker, of Boston, Mass., and their two lovely babies have accompanied Dr. Hambrick to this city. They are staying for the present with the Doctor's brother, Aliver G. Hambrick.

Students of Higher Religious Education Graduate in June

The Providence Baptist Theological Seminary, the only Negro seminary of its kind on the west coast, is very proud to approach its 16th year of steady marching up the ladder of intellectuality.

The class known as "The Ambassadors for Christ" are receiving various degrees; B.Th., B.D. and D.Th. and there will be conferred degrees upon some ministers that have made outstanding achievements. There will be also diplomas awarded to women that have prepared themselves for home and foreign missionary work.

The recent purchase of a $25,000 estate located at 5309 S. Main street, Los Angeles, with accommodating dormitory for ladies; chapel, library, study halls and other necessary facilities offers greater opportunities for students in and out of the city.

The president, Dr. L. B. Brown, dean, and faculty of the Providence Baptist Theological Seminary are calling the public to attend the commencement exercises, June 1, 6, and 13.

Pardon Sought

Supreme Court in a decision handed down on March 8.

Attorneys for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, who conducted the defense of the 32 accused men and women, prepared this week to ask for a pardon for Kennedy following the Supreme Court decision.

Of the 32 persons indicted, only Kennedy was convicted. He received a sentence of not more than five years in the state penitentiary.

Prosperity is the touchstone of virtue; for it is less difficult to bear misfortunes, than to remain uncorrupted by pleasure.

He's wise because he's learned to utilize the convenient transit facilities near his home.

Here is how you too can take advantage of the fast network of efficient transit lines in Los Angeles.

GET acquainted with the routes near your home. If you live in a central area you probably live no more than 1300 feet from a line. There are major arteries which will carry you through town and afford almost unlimited transfer opportunities. For instance, the "P" line with its fast streamlined street cars furnishes transportation from the east to the west of Los Angeles over Broadway in the downtown district. During the peak periods there are cars every two minutes, which means that if you miss one car there will be one in sight providing no traffic delays have tied up the line.

The "J" line, which operates from Huntington Park, bisecting the downtown area over 7th St. and serving the southwest, also has fast convenient schedules with streamlined street cars.

The new No. "4" motor coach line, which operates from Melrose and La Cienega down Melrose and Third over one-way streets through the downtown area to the southeast section as far as Florence and Main, offers an effortless trip for those traveling from Hollywood downtown or to the southeast. It bisects the lines operating north and south on Main, Spring, Broadway and Hill, and offers transfer priviliges at numerous other points along its route.

From the northeast the "W" line and the "5" bring patrons through the downtown area. The "5" continues into the extreme southwest. This is the longest line in the City. This is a line which you can use when you wish to take a street car tour, just for relaxation.

Crosstown lines offer you the opportunity to skirt the downtown area. The Florence-Soto bus skirts the rim by way of Soto from North Main St. to Huntington Park, and then via Florence to Crenshaw Blvd.

The "V" car on Vermont bypasses the congested area, operating from the Vernon factory districts to Vermont and then north to City College.

Yes, get acquainted with your transit system. Be wise and utilize this network in smooth-rolling vehicles reaching into all parts of the area.

If you are in doubt as to which vehicle to take, call our Information Department, PRospect 7211.

Take Care of Home First

"The first step in any job of community betterment is clearing the ground. Whether you are going to build a freeway or an opera house, or whether you are going to build higher standards of social hygience—ground clearing comes first."

This is a very significant statement published in the Wednesday Daily News. It is significant in that it applies to what is happening in our world today.

Fear of what may happen next is our daily food for thought. A tide of unrest and uncertainty is sweeping over us.

And yet what is needed to establish confidence and peace is within our reach.

Most citizens of this nation know that what it takes to stop the so-called advance of Communism is an adjustment of our vexing labor problems, a halt on our racial hate programs, and an honest presentation of facts.

For instance Langston Hughes, an outstanding Negro poet, has had an engagement at Occidental College cancelled because one Senator Jack B. Tenney objected.

While Dr. Arthur G. Coons, president of Occidental College, and other members of the Trustee Board, declare Senator Tenney's protest had nothing to do with the cancellation, according to what is happening all over the nation, we understand.

The Hughes situation is the same as what has been happening to Paul Robeson, and in a manner to Claudia Jones and Ferdinand Smith. Negroes, as some are wont to do, always pipe the thoughts of their political bosses, but not so with these — Robeson, Hughes, Smith, and Miss Jones, while they are loyal Americans, have politicla ideologies all their own. They believe that the voice of the Common Man should be heard and respected. And this is the stuff that makes men and women, Communists, according to Sen. Tenney.

Someone has said, "Only God can make a tree."

Let us, the people of this nation, and all the people in all our world unite in the one hope that God will raise up honest men who will lead us out of the cauldrum of hate and superstition into the light of a better understanding, and a willingness to face facts and to hear the voice of truth.

The attack that is being made on poet Hughes is a nation-wide attack on all liberals, but especially on Negroes who are expected to be subservient and docile.

While the idea of cleaning up Europe is occupying the attention of the people who levy and spend the tax money gathered from all workers without regard to race or color, there are those Americans like Henry Wallace, Paul Robeson, Langston Hughes, and Ferdinand Smith who are striking the blow for freedom for all mankind.

They are taking the first step to build higher standards of citizenship. Who will follow?

Give Us The Facts!

"We ask for the facts," said a statement recently presented to Trygve Lie, secretary general of the United Nations, asking for an investigation of slave labor conditions in every part of the world.

This statement was signed by 300 prominent American citizens—some of them recognized as liberals. Others, like Eugene Lyons, definitely in the conservative or pro-Fascist class.

They said, these 300 signatories, that slave laborers have increased in the world to an estimated 20,000,000 "at least half of them within the orbit of Soviet Russia."

That last statement, of course, accounts for the signatures of any conservatives on the list.

But whether or not they signed in order to have the Soviet Union investigated, we surely hope the UN will grant their request, and investigate slave labor everywhere. In the Deep South where both white and black American citizens are held in bondage through the share-croppers system of labor. Where working men and women are forced to labor day and night to pay their landlords overdue bills which never seem to grow less.

Yes, we certainly hope the UN will "investigate and publicize the facts about slave labor" whatever they are, and wherever they find such labor. Give us the facts, as those 300 asked.

The Voice of the Church

The Southern California Association of Liberal Ministers has gone on record as opposing President Truman's program of universal military training and the revival of selective service, and has called upon Congress to repudiate this plan.

These ministers do not accept the President's theory that "one nation" is responsible for all the woes of the world. "Morally speaking all the nations, certainly the larger powers, must share the blame for our present failures," says the Association.

"We cannot gamble with the lives and health of our young men who have returned so recently from the battlefields of war," the Ministers Association continues. "Our world is 'One world—or none' whether or not we recognize that fact."

This Association is comprised of protestant ministers of the Gospel.

From the Deep South comes another Voice stressing the need of the Church to work for equal education for Negro and white children. This is from Rev. John A. McShane, S.S.J., of the Society of St. Joseph of the Sacred Heart in Louisiana. This is a Catholic institution.

Father McShane speaks of the "pitiably small budgets per capita allocated by the Southern States for the education of Negro children as compared to the sums spent to educate the white child," and calls this "The Southern Tragedy."

"The dreams and hopes of most Negro young people for an education, for deliverance from ignorance, confusion and frustration, are crushed early," declares Father McShane. In the separate schools they are forced to attend, their politically-ridden teachers dare not speak out against 'white supremacy' for fear of losing their jobs. The young Negro who emerges from this sort of 'education' generally leaves with greater resentment towards the white overlords than when he or she embarked upon it."

Father McShane sees in the education of Negro youth on a par to white children, and their conversion to the Christian church, the solution of Jimcromism in the South. He and his congregation have acquired a small piece of land in Houma, La., and are planning to build a combination of elementary and high school that will accommodate 500 pupils, and will give to the Negro young people of that community a chance for a high school education — something they have never had before.

Father McShane urges all interested to help by contributions and prayers. The Association of Liberal Ministers urges those who wish to preserve America free from the guilt of involving the world in another war, to write to President Truman and to members of Congress telling them to refrain from this military program.

It is heartening to know that at long last the churches of the country are waking up to the fact that they are a part of the government of our country—as all the people are. That mixing in "politics"—so often considered a rather shady operation—is in reality the height of American patriotism.

If America is to be saved from Fascism, if we are to retain the freedoms we have won or our forefathers won at such fearful cost, if we are to go forward to accomplishing greater things that will unite us into "one world"—then the churches of America, representing the spirit of Christ on earth, must take a more active part in our governmental affairs. They must not wash their hands of "politics." They should and must be our political leaders instead.

The Voice of the Church must be heard in the politics of the United States of America and of the world.

Need a Home? Here's How To Get One

A cry comes across the country for each and everyone who believes in more homes for more familes to get behind the Taft-Ellender-Wagner bill, S.866, now before Congress.

This bill has been kicked around for the last two years. It died in the last session of Congress because the people did not speak up often enough nor plainly enough. It now has been reported favorably by the Senate Banking Committee, but a companin bill is still in the Banking Committee of the House.

This bill, if it became a law, would build 1,250,000 homes per year with Federal leadership and aid. Every home would be available to every American family, regardless of race or color or creed. It would provide money to tear down slums. It would encourage families to build their own homes, by lending them money at low interest rates. It would offer the same help to families who wish to build together, on the co-operative basis. In short, it will provide homes to millions of Americans now living with their in-laws, or in shacks, garages, and what-have-you.

Write or wire Senator Taft, urging him to bend every effort to see that the bill is passed. Write also to Congressman Jesse A. Wolcott, chairman of the House Banking Committee; and to Speaker of the House, Joseph Martin. Get your friends to write. Work to have it passed.

THINGS I SEE

By Marian Inglewood

Said Walter Winchell in a recent broadcast supposedly speaking to Joseph Stalin, "We fought together in war. We can work together in peace."

Of course. That is what we've been contending for a long, long time. We fought side by side, and we can work side by side, even if the Russians are Communists and we are not. It is truly heartening to hear such an outstanding conservative as Walter Winchell—if you're very radical you'll call him a Fascist—admit that the USA and the USSR can be friendly.

That's quite an about-face from his suggestion of a few weeks before that we should drop several bombs on Moscow! Pronto! Perhaps the fact that Russia may have some bombs, too, is beginning to penetrate into the consciousness of our warmongers, and is making them feel that discretion is the better part of valor.

Friendly cooperation with Russia was the keystone of the foreign policy of Franklin Roosevelt.

"President Roosevelt and I saw alike with regard to Russia," says Cordell Hull, formerly secretary of state, in his Memoirs. "We both realized that the path of our relations would not be a carpet of flowers, but we also felt we could work with Russia. There was no difference of opinion between us that I can recall on the basic premise that we must and could get along with the Soviet government."

Cordell Hull was never called a Communist. President Roosevelt was, sometimes, but that was only when he was advocating some basic principle for the welfare of the whole human family—like seeing to it that the third of the nation, ill-fed, ill-clothed, and ill-housed should be lifted up to a well-housed, well-clothed, and well-fed level.

"As I left office," continues Secretary Hull, "the policy I advocated toward Russia rested on two bases. The first was: Continue in constant, friendly discussion with the Russians. Consult them at every point. Engage in no 'cusssin' matches' with them . . . Make it clear to them that we did not object to a nation's preaching the merits of its form of government, whether communism or democracy, but that we did object to a nation's interference in the internal affairs of another."

It's just too bad the little man in the White House today, and his general of the army whom he has appointed as Secretary of State, don't read and digest these observations of Cordell Hull. The only thing President Roosevelt and Secretary Hull evidently did object to, was "interference in the internal affairs of another nation"—the very thing we, Big United States of America, are so assiduously doing in the affairs of the little nations of Europe!

The second policy of the USA towards the USSR, according to Mr. Hull, was: By our own actions give Russia a concrete example of how we thought she should act! Putting this theory into practice, Secretary Hull opposed our taking the Pacific islands we had won from Japan. "Our acquisition of these islands," says Mr. Hull, "stopped us from objecting to similar acquisitions by other nations."

Similarly Mr. Hull objected to the Treaty of Chapultepec, whereby the American republics agreed to intervene militarily in any of their number under certain circumstances. "Once we had agreed to this new position on intervention, Russia had more excuse to intervene in neighboring states and we had less reason to oppose her."

Truly we needed to be told to take the beam out of our own eyes, before we attempted to pluck the mote out of the eyes of our neighbor across the seas, even in the days when FDR was in the White House! But today! The hypocrisy of our prating about freedom and liberty, even while we are sending cannon and guns to keep the people in bondage; of our protesting about Russia interfering in the affairs of other nations, while we are meddling in the affairs of other nations right on Russia's doorstep, and thousands of miles from our own shores—that is so colossal that it beggars description.

Do you know, I almost wish Russia would decide some day to "get tough with us!" And would send us a few notes telling us in pretty salty language of some of our misdemeanors. Couldn't she hold us up to the mirror of world public opinion in such a way that not only the Walter Winchells, but perhaps even Harry in the White House would not only turn about face, but would fairly crawl to get away from the jibes of their fellowmen and the stings of their evil consciences?

STORIES FROM THE WORKINGMAN'S BOOK by Marian Inglewood will make a splendid Easter gift for anyone. Try one and see. For sale at the office of The California Eagle, 4071 South Central Ave. The STORIES are taken from the Bible, the Workingman's Book, and interpreted from the point of view of the worker. Proceeds from its sale are used to fight restrictive covenant cases, especially that of the Laws family, ordered out of their home because they are Negroes.

BOOKS & AUTHORS

"American Woman's Cook Book," edited by Ruth Berolzheimer, is an attractive recipe book for the modern housewife. There are 32 exquisitely colored illustrations which fairly make your mouth water and many other photographic illustrations showing the processes described. The unique Thumb Index beside the Alphabetical Index and Table of Contents and list of illustrations under subject headings all go to make this book invaluable. There is also a table of calories and a section on vitamins. Special chapters tell how to buy food and plan meals and set the table for different occasions. The book is a veritable encyclopedia of everything pertaining to cookery with over 5000 recipes.

"Mortal Coils" is Aldus Huxley's new play in which he dramatizes one of his best short stories, "The Gioconda Smile." It concerns the life of a handsome, middle-aged man and three women. The reader is held absorbed as the action develops with witty dialogue, suspense and philosophical implications.

"Chemistry in Action" by George M. Rawlins, college professor of chemistry, and Alden H. Struble, high school chemistry teacher, is designed to help understand the role of chemistry in your lives and to help you to reason scientifically. It is a thorough one-year course giving the fundamental principles of the subject and gives examples taken from everyday experiences. The mathematics section is presented step by step. Many modern developments are discussed, such as atomic energy and new methods for controlling insect pests, synthetic rubbers and plastics. The chemistry of man's body, food, clothing and shelter are included. Especially helpful features are the carefully chosen illustrations and the tables and charts.

"The Professor's Umbrella" by Mary Jane Ward, author of the recent popular novel, "The Snake Pit," is the story of a mid-western college town — a realistic picture of life at Tamarack University. Gregory Kitner, English Instructor, has been fired from his job on a trumped up morals charge which is a cover for prejudice against him as a Jew. On his last evening he goes through the rain to clean out his office and a young botany instructor who is carrying Professor Peeble's fabulous umbrella, a gaudy, tent-like affair, sees his light and offers to share the umbrella with him. While together she helps him to make his decision regarding his future. The book is well-written and full of understanding and delicate humor.

"Handbook of Radio Writing: An Outline of Techniques and Markets in Radio Writing in the United States" by Erik Barnouw, Radio Writer and Director, Columbia University, a completely revised edition, is an invaluable tool for anyone wishing to take up this profession. Beside the routine techniques and requirements the author gives a section on trick devices. In an Appendix is a radio apation of "Macbeth" which may be used without royalty payment by non-professional groups. A second Appendix is a combination Glossary, Guide and Index which lists and defines technical terms, identifies companies explaining their functions and operations. It is useful for all radio writers. There is a survey of the radio script market which answers such questions as, "What type of material is needed; what kinds of programs are needed; what sort of money is paid."

"Unconquered" by Neil H. Swanson is the book from which Cecil B. DeMille's big technicolor production starring Gary Cooper and Paulette Goddard was taken. It is a long exciting story of the Pontiac Conspiracy, laid in the 18th century along the Ohio River. Martin Garth gets control of more than seven and a half million acres and the leaders sweep the little people along in the huge conspiracy. There are

"The Case of the Lonely Heiress" by Erle Stanley Gardner, is another Perry Mason story. In this one, Perry Mason and Della Street are writing love letters to a girl they have never seen and whose name they do not know. They have seen a letter she wrote to a Lonely Hearts Magazine and according to it she is an attractive heiress who is tired of people who love her for her money. Mr. Mason thinks she is lying and that there is something phony about the Lonely Hearts business — including Mr. Caddo who runs it. But there is nothing phony about the beautiful corpse which almost puts Perry Mason behind bars for life.

"Featherbrain" by Peggy Dern Gaddis is the story of Frances Leslie, a widow left with five children and nicknamed "Featherbrain" by her husband's proud family. She sets out to prove that she is quite capable of supporting her family. Untrained for any special work, she has a struggle until Jay MacGregor offers her a job in his law office and the job leads to real friendship and a sense of security and happiness. But the eighteen-year-old daughter, Ruth, who remembers most vividly the handsome home when her father was living, finds it hard to like people for themselves and not for their money and social standing. It is a wholesome and amusing story, though at times heart-breaking.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

I wish to take this opportunity on behalf of the officers of Nevin Ave. P.T.A., and myself, to express our sincere appreciation for your splendid cooperation. We honestly feel that much of our progress is the result of our articles getting such a swell send-off in your fine publication.

The Eagle is a "must" on our list, not only because our P.T.A. news appears, but because of the complete variety it carries.

We thank you and your very capable staff for such swell support. We extend to you our best wishes for your continued success.

Very truly yours,
MRS. CLAUDE C. McADAMS,
President and Press Chairman.

Dear Editor:

As Jewish people and as mothers who have for centuries suffered the indignities of racial discrimination and brutal terror, we feel very deeply about the terror and persecutions directed against the Negro people and all other minority groups. As such, we associate ourselves with the struggles of the Negroes and all other oppressed peoples in their fight for freedom.

We pledge to do all in our power to arouse the Jewish people and all others to rally to the cause of the Ingram family and prevent this illegalized murder now attempted by the Georgia authorities. With our protest, we have already raised and are sending $60.00 to the Defense Committee in Georgia. This is not too much but it is a least a token of our feeling. We believe that we will be able to do still more in the future.

Dear Editor:

This is to say I was very impressed with the cartoon on the front page of March 4 EAGLE. I make reference both to the picture and the subject matter. The expressions on the faces of all four characters are particularly interesting. The guilt that both parties feel is certainly brought out on these faces as Wallace interferes. Such cartoons add "spice" to the paper. Let's have more of them.

Sincerely,

W. J. Wheaton Says

The table is cleared and everything is shipeshape—because we must say that Mary Ann is a meticulous person when it comes to ehe most trivial detail of orderly housekeeping. Having arranged to her satisfaction, she drew up her chair for our usual after-dinner chat.

"I didn't know that there were so many newspapers published by our folk 'till the other day, when little Mary Ann and May Wong, the Chinese girl friend, talking about the different newspapers that colored folk, and Chinese folk printed.

"Do you believe they do any good?" Mary Ann asked. For an instant she had us stumped. We tried to marshall in our minds the century of Negro striving for a place in the sun and the part played by Negro papers. We visioned such papers as the North Star, published by Frederick Douglas, during the dark days of Negro bondage, and its potency in oblstering the cause of Emancipation; Tom Fortune's N. Y. Age, which fought segregation in the earlier fight for equal privilege in that State; of Joe Franklin's Colorado Statesman, which fought Jimcro to a standstill; of Nick Child's Plain Dealer which, like Carrie Nation, fought like tarnation for the cause of universal justice; and of John Neimore's EAGLE, which helped win a place in the sun which the Negroes of Los Angeles enjoy todya.

Those were the pioneers of Negro journalism. There were two others who fought the Hydra-Headed monster of racial prejudice, and with personal sacrifices.

Today there are any number of papers that have reached a national, and inter-national status; have carried throughout the world the slogan of Universal Justice.

"Yes, Mary Ann," we said, "the Negro newspapers have in the past, and are today, a powerful influence in the struggle being made to root up the intolerant and biased conditions imposed on groups that for reasons of religion, origin or color, are classed as a minority. Of course, some of the Negro papers have fider circulations, and are more widely read, but the most obscure paper, if it serves the community with unselfish sincerity, and a purposeful ideal, can be a factor for good, and a cog in the wheel of progress.

"We often wonder if we fully appreciate, or have a realization of the benefits derived from the challenge give the Negro press to racial discrimination. The fight for economic, and political rights, equality before the law, and every right which the Constitution of the Government assures all its citizens—without regard to race, color or religious belief. Too little thought is given to the importance of telling the world . . .intelligently.

Yes, the Negro papers are fighting, not only against the unjust practices which prevail in the United States, but against injustice everywhere throughout the world where people, unjustly, suffer. Of course there are unprincipled Journals which, for selfish or ambitious motives, will subordinate the best interests of the people t o obtain their own objective. But in the main, they are loyal to the cause of pustice and right. The Negro papers have a greater responsibility than most folk can imagine. Aside from fighting injustice at home, it has esayed to take the fight for Freedom and Justice wherever the iron heel of the Despot aims to crush little people.

"I am going to pay more attention to what our own papers say, Mary Ann declared, "and I don't mean them hifullutin things about society and such but about our struggle for right. The best I can do is try to get my people to register for the vote, and then find out who's the best one to vote for."

"Yes," we replied, "the party label is nothing. Democrat or Republican means nothing. Some of the most ardent, and outspoken champions for citizens rights are registered Democrats, and there are Republicans who care nothing about justice and equal opportunity for all.

"Just recently a Republican senator suggested that the Republican party form a coillition with the Southern Democrats who had threatened to bolt the Party because President Truman had petitioned Congress to enact laws against lynching citizens, against the Poll Tax, for Fair Employment.

"What I am afraid of, Mary Ann, is that the new voters, coming mostly from the South, fear the Democrat, and will fail to note the difference between Democrat and democrat. There are several California congressmen elected as Republicans, who have voted with the southern bloc, and their are several men and a woman elected as Democrats who voted consistently for all anti-discriminating measures affecting minorities. Such Democrats as Mrs. Helen Douglas and Frank Havenner.

"Try and convince your folk Mary Ann, that party label don't mean anything: It's the candidate that matters."

This is an important year for minority groups. Much depends on the way they cast their ballot as to whether or not they will hold their gains or lose them.

Africa to Be a Victim of Marshall Plan Imperialism

By Paul French

As this is written, the 16 "Marshall Plan nations" are meeting at Paris, and, since the Marshall Plan is now showing the war-like features which this writer predicted months ago, the remarks of Carlo Sforza, foreign minister of Italy's present "anti-Communist" government who is attending the Paris conference, proves that Africa—as well as the Soviet Union—is the target of world imperialism headed by the United States.

A "properly organized Europe," meaning a capitalistic imperialist Europe, said Sforza in an Associated Press dispatch on March 15, "will become one of the most independent units in the world, ESPECIALLY iF ALLIED TO AFRICA."

Leaving aside, for the moment, Sforza's fiction of "independence" for a Europe that increasingly becomes a colony of Wall Street dollar imperialism, we see that he plainly says that an imperialist Europe can thrive "especially if allied to Africa." The people of Ethiopia, indeed of all Africa, know already what it is to be "allied" to Italian, and other European imperialisms.

The Marshall Plan schemes hatching in the minds of such European imperialists as Sforza of Italy, should be considered in the light of the growing struggles of Africa's oppressed nationalities for freedom from imperialist oppression. British, French, Italian and Portuguese i mperialists hopefully expect American imperialism to be the "arsenal of imperialism," backing up their secondary and crippled imperialist machines. Strengthened by a Marshall Plan military alliance, they will be able to intensify the exploitation and oppression of the peoples of Africa.

On March 5, the San Francisco Chronicle carried dispatches of both the Associated and United Press, telling how the people of Britain's Gold Coast colony were being shot down at Accra by order of Sir Gerald Creasy, in rioting which the phony "Labor" government at London said was due to "Communist incitement."

The United Press reported that there had been a demonstration "against the high cost of living and unemployment," led by the Ex-Servicemen's Union. According to Associated Press, when the demonstrators "converged on the residence of the Governor, Sir Gerald Creasy, to present a petition," police fired upon them. And it is admitted that at least 25 were killed. As a result, the West African Student's Union and the West African National Secretariat (the latter being London residents), demanded "immediate self-government" for the Gold Coast.

But, obviously, if British imperialism declares the trouble due to "Communist incitement," and, if the American people do not violently protest against the insane idea that it is Wall Street's heaven-sanctified mission to help European imperialism "stop Communism," Messrs. Truman and Marshall will back up not only Bevin and Sir Gerald in denying self-government to the Gold Coast, but will also help Signor Sforza in his scheme for Italian participation in the exploitation of Africa.

British imperialists have been busy for some time scheming to recoup the Empire's losses in other parts, by intensified exploitation of Africa. They not only want to make Africa pay but to pay more than before. They also want to make Africa serve as a huge military base and battle-ground.

In the July 1946 issue of the newspaper, "Crown Colonist," Brigadier G. S. Brunskill, writing on "British Africa: Key to Commonwealth Security," suggested a thirty-year plan for British "development" of Africa. By following the plan, ritain would not only recoup her economic deficits by robbing the African people, but also restore British military strength. Africa can supply the "security" that can no longer be guaranteed by naval and air power by providing what the British Isles cannot provide—space and depth in defense.

The "defense" argument was advanced by a British imperialist journal inaptly named "The Irish Independent," which

To Secure These Rights

The Report of the President's Committee on Civil Rights

(Installment No. 16)

The Committee has found that relatively few cases have been prosecuted by the Section, and that in part this is the result of its insufficient personnel. The Section simply does not have an adequate staff for the careful, continuing study of civil rights violations, often highly elusive and technically difficult, which occur in many areas of human relations.

Big Mail—Few Cases

On the other hand, there is much misunderstanding about the discrepancy between the very large volume of mail received by the Section and the number of cases it takes to court. An analysis has shown that approximately 22 per cent of the agency's incoming mail contains complaints of civil rights violations and that these complaints number from 1500 to 2500 each year. The Civil Rights Section has prosecuted about 178 cases in eight years.

There are a number of possible explanations of the small number of cases prosecuted. In the beginning of its existence, the Civil Rights Section was required to move slowly in order to find cases which would be most useful in delineating the scope of the civil rights statutes. Although the period of legal experimentation is substantially over, the case law developed in this period in certain respects hampers forceful prosecution. In addition, it must be realized that investigation of many "complaints" shows that they do not present a basis for prosecution. With due regard to these points, however, it is our judgment that the number of cases prosecuted merits some criticism.

3. Adequacy of Co-operation by United States Attorneys

Whenever a complaint of a civil rights violation appears to merit prosecutive action it must, under the organization of the Department of Justice, be processed through the office of the United States attorney in the district where the prosecution is to be brought.

The Civil Rights section frequently seeks the advice of those Attorneys before deciding whether a complaint should be investigated. The opinion of these men will often determine whether the case will be prosecuted. Intelligent and sympathetic co-operation of the United States Attorneys is, therefore, crucial to effective federal enforcement of the civil rights laws. Many United States attorneys extend such co-operation. However, a staff survey of a random selection of the Section's case files disclosed serious shortcomings in the work of some United States Attorneys.

Mores of Town

It should be remembered that these men are local lawyers appointed by the President, subject to confirmation by the senate, for a term of four years. To them is entrusted the task of initiating proceedings where there has been a civil rights violation, and of prosecuting the actual cases. This often places the United States attorney in the unenviable position of having to take a public stand in court against the ingrained prejudices nad mores of his own community. There have been outstanding examples of United States attorneys, whatever their personal beliefs, courageously and vigorously assuming this position; there are indications that others have been less willing to set themselves up against local public opinion.

In one case involving interference with the rights of Negroes to vote, the United States attorney insisted that the evidence developed by the investigation did not make out a case under federal law and recommended that the file be closed. Noting the "clear admissions" of the public officers against whom the charge of interference had been filed, the Civil Rights Section promptly overruled the United States attorney, who then wrote the Section:

"Assuming that you will direct prosecution, I wish to suggest that inasmuch as you have a unit set up within the Department for the prosecution of these cases that you assign an attorney for the trial of this case and for drawing the bill of indictment; in other words, take charge of the case with all the assistance our office can give. . . . The reason I am requesting this is because I have a deep conviction that I cannot win it. We have had several of these cases and had not yet had a true bill."

Similarly, in a case in which a local constable had brutally killed a Negro, the local United States attorney was asked for his views after an FBI investigation had been made. He expressed grave doubts as to the advisability of proceeding under Section 52. In the same letter, he expressed his personal belief that Section 52 was unconstitutional, quoting liberally from the arguments of the dissenting justices in the Screws case. The Civil Rights Section prosecuted anyway, and obtained a conviction.

Delays Are Serious

In another case involving the killing of a Negro by a deputy sheriff, the Civil Rights Section sought the advice of the United States Attorney on July 30, and referred him to the FBI report of its investigation in the case. On September 13, the Section again asked for the advice of the United States Attorney. On October 10, it repeated its request for the third time. On October 14, the United States Attorney wrote that he had not received the FBI report, but would express his views to the Section as soon as he obtained it. On October 17, he advised that he had received the report and he thought the matter should be closed. He gave no reason for his opinion. The Civil Rights Section closed the case, apparently because the Civil Rights Section attorney in charge reported, according to a note in the file, that "X— will not go on anything."

These delays are very serious, for they may have a fatal effect upon the prosecution of cases. Public interest in the case dies and it becomes increasingly difficult to persuade a grand jury to indict. Witnesses scatter, evidence grows cold, and a conviction, always difficult to obtain in a civil rights case, may become impossible.

All too frequently, United States attorneys are allowed to become the final arbiters in the disposition of civil rights cases. The Department of Justice should make more vigorous use of its authority to stimulate, educate, prod, and even overrule United States attorneys in the handling of cases in this area.

4. Civil Rights Section's Dependency Upon FBI for Investigative Work

The FBI handles virtually all of the investigative work in federal civil rights cases. It is unnecessary to comment on the remarkably successful record of the FBI in the general field of law enforcement. In the civil rights field there are many cases where high caliber investigative work has been done by the Bureau. However, there are also indications that upon occasion investigations in this very difficult and highly specialized area have not measured up to the Bureau's high standard in the handling of other types of cases.

There is evidence in the civil rights case files in the Department of Justiee that the Bureau has sometimes felt that it was burdensome and difficult to undertake as many specific civil rights investigations as are requested. Moreover, investigations have not always been as full as the needs of the situation would warrant. Such shortcomings should be remedied by streamlining the somewhat cumbersome administrative relationships among the Civil Rights Section, the Criminal Division of the Department of Justice, the Office of the Attorney General and the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

The tendency of FBI agents to work in close co-operation with local police officers has sometimes been detrimental to the handling of civil rights investigations. At times, these local officers are themselves under suspicion. Even where this is not so, the victims or witnesses in civil rights cases are apt to be weak and frightened people who are not encouraged to tell their stories freely to Federal agents where the latter are working closely with local police officers. In ordinary crime detection work, it is highly desirable for the FBI to co-operate closely with the local police. Having in general established such a wholly sound relationship, it is sometimes difficult for the FBI agent to break this relationship and to work without, or even against, the local police when a civil rights case comes along.

A second difficulty which explains investigative shortcomings in some civil rights cases is the fact that the FBI agent must be trained broadly in law enforcement work and must be active on a wide front in enforcing the great variety of Federal criminal statutes which now exist. Accordingly, the agent is not always prepared to cope with the elusive and difficult aspects of a civil rights case. More highly specialized training of agents in this field would overcome some of the occasional shortcomings which are now present in the Bureau's work in cases of this type.

5. Hostility of Local Officers, Communities

The prejudices of communities where civil rights violations occur often defeat Federal law enforcement. Evidence of this is found in the behavior of juries. A recent example was the 1946, Minden, Louisiana, lynching when two Negroes were released from the local jail into the hands of a mob and so unmercifully beaten that one, a veteran, died. Mr. Hoover called it "the best case we have ever made out; we had clear-cut, uncontroverted evidence of the conspiracy." Five of the mob members were indicted by the federal government and promptly acquitted by the jury.

The Minden case was at least partially successful. It survived the grand jury stage and went to trial. In other cases federal grand juries simply refuse to return indictments.

A case in point is the 1946, Monroe, Georgia, lynching. Four Negroes had been killed. Twenty agents were assigned to the case, 2790 individuals interviewed; and 106 witnesses presented to the grand jury—which failed to return an indictment.

Mr. Hoover also stated to the Committee:

"We have had cases involving civil rights where we have had no co-operation from local authorities. In one instance, the sheriff boasted that he intended to take no action. Another law enforcement agency made a perfunctory inquiry. We worked on the case by ourselves.'

Local prejudice also interferes with the efforts of federal law enforcement officers because of the fear it instills and the silence it inspires in government witnesses. In 1945, an alleged police brutality case was reported to the Civil Rights Section. The affidavit of the complainant, a Negro minister, suggested a clear-cut case. The minister, who was an eyewitness to the incident, had fled from his southern home to Chicago because of threats by both the local police and citizenry. When interviewed by the FBI, he confirmed his allegations, but positively stated that he would not be willing to testify in the community where the offense occurred. The FBI, in the same investigation, met similar evidences of intimidation of Negro witnesses. Some of them flatly refused to sign statements, or, if called as witnesses, to testify in court.

6. Position of Civil Rights Section in Department of Justice

The Civil Rights Section's name suggests to many citizens that it is a powerful arm of the government devoting its time and energy to the protection of all our valued civil liberties. This is, of course, incorrect. The Section is only one unit in the Criminal Division of the Department of Justice. As such, it lacks the prestige and authority which may be necessary to deal effectively with other parts of the Department and to secure the kind of co-operation necessary to a thoroughgoing enforcement of civil rights law. There have been instances where the Section has not asserted itself when United States Attorneys are uncooperative or investigative reports are inadequate. As the organization of the Department now stands, the Section is in a poor position to take a strong stand in such contingencies.

It may easily be a direct result of the Civil Rights Section's subordinate position that the total picture of work derived from the staff survey is that of a sincere, hard-working, but perhaps overcautious agency. Its relative lack of prestige in the Department of Justice, the legal and constitutional difficulties which confront it, the problems caused by its administrative relation to the FBI, the hostility of some United States attorneys, the force of local prejudice, and the size of its staff all combine to make the Section less effective and less self-assured than the challenge of its assignment demands.

'An Iron Curtain'

Similar local prejudice thwarts the efforts of the FBI to obtain information from local citizens—even including local law-enforcement officers. Speaking of the problems encountered by the FBI in civil rights cases, Mr. Hoover stated: "We are faced, usually, in these investigations, with what I would call an iron curtain, in practically every one of these cases in the communities in which the investigations have to be conducted. Now we are absolutely powerless, as investigators, unless the citizens of a community come forward with information. In other words, our function is to go out and get the evidence. We have to have sources of information, we have got to be able to go to citizens and have them talk freely and frankly to us, so that we may prepare the case for the prosecuting attorney."

American Riviera

By ROBERT E. WESTON

(In Six Articles, Article 3)

Subject of earthquakes and hurricanes, Antigua, least attractive of the islands, is low and bare-an endless array of dull gray-green hills rising to higher hills of brighter green, but with little of tropical luxuriance or vegetation as viewed from the sea. Antigua is actually flat only lifty neighbors. Its highest point is more than 1000 feet in height; but, being of limestone formation it has none of the rugged grandeur, the steep mountain heights, the flashing streams and islands of volcanic origin. Moreover, it long ago was stripped of its original forests; as a result it has become dry and largely sterile, and what arable land there is has been under cultivation for centuries.

The visitor does not even have the pleasure of seeing an attractive little part nestling at the edge of the sea for St. John, the capital, is nearly five miles from the ocean, and its harbor and harbor entrance are too shallow to permit large vessels to enter. So the steamships drop anchor several miles off shore, with barely a glimpse of the distant towns, and passengers are conveyed to the city by means of launches or government tugs. Usually a heavy ground swell is rising and the steamer rolls badly.

Antigua is mainly of importance as being the seat of the government of the Leeward Islands. Unquestionably the most interesting feature of St. John, nothing more than ancient mud its capital, is the great gray Anglican church, the most prominent land mark to be seen. The gateway is flanked by two columns surmounted with statues taken from one of Napolean's ships, and the churchyard contains many ancient tombstones bearing wonderfully quaint epitaphs. But, the real feature of the place is the church itself, for it is literally a church within a church. Outwardly, the building is a massive stone construction, but within, it is of wood, a unique form of architecture designed to protect the congregation from the effects of earthquakes. About the only other place of interest in Antigua are the petrified forest in the Valley of Petrification, and English Harbor wherein Lord Nelson refitted his fleet before sailing forth to the Battle of Trafalgar.

Barbuda is a little dependency of Antigua some 30 miles north of the latter island. Though small and flat and consisting of less than 75 square miles of dry land and with a population of about 1000 souls, Barbuda is worthy of visit if one has the time and can secure a permit from the proper authorities. For Barbuda is private property—a sort of island manor belonging to the Cordington family. Today, it still abounds with wild game, and the person fond of hunting, and who can obtain the coveted permission to do so, will find rare sport upon Barbuda.

Fifty miles or so southwest of Antigua is a lovely island seldom touched by the regular steamers of the winter cruise route. Yet it is an island well worth seeing, one of the most lovely of the Caribbeans, and holding interests aside from its natural beauties. The island is Montserrat, one of the British Leeward Island group, a small spot in point of actual area, for it is barely 12 miles in length by seven miles in width. Yet its mountains tower for 3000 feet above the sea, and within its confines is at least one active crater. For that matter Montserrat is practically all crater for its hills and lowlands are and ash floors from the immense volcano that, in ages past, burst into violent eruption again and again. Eruptions which sent the land with vast cracks and fissures and with its pent-up furl finding vent in numerous smaller craters, until, exhausted by its own terrific efforts, it quieted down and fell into a slumber from which it may never again awaken. On the other hand, this vulcano may wake any day, and like long-slumbering Marne Pelee, could conceivably destroy Montserrat in the space of a few minutes, but that is a contingency so remote that no one ever gives it a moment's thought.

Of all the islands, Montserrat is perhaps the most perfect in its composition, as an artist might express it. In fact it is so admirably proportioned, so delightful in its highlights, its half tones and its shadows that it appears almost artificial, more like a painting than a reality, though no pigments laid on canvas could glow with such light, such color and such atmosphere.

Dominating the picture is the pydramidal, flat-topped mountain, flanked on either side by immense bowl-like craters, seamed and scarred by ancient eruptions, and the whole hidden under a mantle of glorious green. Heavy forests clothe the higher slopes but on the lower hills and mountain sides are endless groves of cacao, lime, oranges and other trees. Neat terraced gardens extend downward to meet the fields of golden cane stretching to the black beaches outlined by a steamer of creamy surf. Gleaming in the sun like ribbons wind the roads half hidden among countless palms and peeping from shade trees, flowering shrubs and nodding foliage. The little town of Plymouth nestles beside the turquoise colored sea. One has but to step ashore in Montserrat to realize its most outstanding feature. And, although, it is one of the few West Indian Islands with no ice plant and no electricity, the people as a whole seem as happy and carefree as the peasantry of Erin.

As far as scenery and other interests are concerned, Montserrat can boast of but a single one, aside from its network of charming roads, its lovely vistas, its fascinating forests and its pleasing panoramas of mountains, valleys, and fields; this is the soufriere or crater within easy reach of the town. Here are steaming hot beds of sulphur and sand, streams of boiling water, hot springs and geysers, the whole forming a miniature inferno in a setting of tropical verdure. But to tell the truth, it is little to boast about when one considers the soufrieres of the larger islands and the geysers of our own Yellowstone Park.

Trail Blazers:

Evelyn P. Burwell

By PHYLLIS SCOTT

Evelyn P. Burwell wears her laurels well. In noiseless tenor and heartwarming sincerity she has won a lasting place in the hearts of thousands of war-wounded veterans.

"She has never let us down, in fact she volunteers for extra assignments," Beatrice Weber, director of community service to camps and hospitals for American Red Cross, declared of the talented pianist.

Evelyn P. Burwell

"Miss Burwell is now starting her fifth year as volunteer entertainer for Red Cross shows to hospitalized veterans in and about the Los Angeles area. Her terrific personality and her ability to answer all requests from Bach to Boogie have made her one of the most popular entertainers on the Red Cross circuit." And she doesn't limit her work to entertaining for she is one of the most active workers in the present fund-raising drive.

From a glimpse into her background it is no small wonder that her talent has been paid such signal honors. She is a native of Richmond, Virginia, where she attended the public schools and was graduated from Virginia Union university majoring in music and psychology. Upon graduation she accepted a position as supervisor of music over the public school system in Winston-Salem, N. C.

After serving two years in that position she went to New York to continue her musical education at New York university. It was at this time that she embarked upon a theatrical career. In the middle '20's she entered the famed Cottos club as private tutor and pianist to the Berry Brothers. During her appearance there another up and coming musician moved into the famed nitery. That musician was Duke Ellington.

Yet her choir work did not go unheeded. When she joined the Eva Jessye Choir, she participated in all the activities of the renowned choral aggregation . . . from the weekly broadcasts over WOR to personal appearances at the Roxie and Capitol theatres.

She was convalescing in a hospital after an auto accident when she received news that she had been selected by King Vidor for "Hallelujah." And so the year 1929 was to mark her for the first BIG professional break of her life . . . to be one of the stars in the Hollywood MGM prduction.

Upon completion of the picture she returned to New York to go into the stage production of "Green Pactures." As the first assistant director to Hall Johnson, she directed most of the choral selections. The company toured the country and parts of Canada until it was called from the road to Hollywood to make the picture.

In 1936 she returned to New York to do a 10 week personal appearance tour with Mae West. And she lifted herself up another notch when she scored in the Broadway hit "Showboat" with Paul Robeson.

It wasn't until 1938 that she decided to make California her permanent home. And with added success she appeared in all the Hall Johnson assignments on the Coast including radio, screen, and two seasons in Light Civic Opera and one majestic Hollywood Bowl engagement.

At most of the leading Hollywood niteries her piano-singing arrangements were exceptional . . . and her appearance in the Duke Ellington show "Jump For Joy" was received with equal delight.

But five years ago she joined the ranks of stellar entertainers offering their services to disabled veterans. And she has distinguished herself in this, capacity, for her services did not end with the war . . . because she remembered and continued . . . to VOLUNTEER. At Sawtelle she is now doing musical therapy work.

Evelyn embraced the Catholic faith seven years ago. She is an ardent worker in Catholic charities and organizations. She organized the first adult choir in five years at Holy Name church, Monsignor Patrick J. Dignan, pastor. She was recommended by Ted LeBerthon to the Third Order of St. Francis and she contributes to the City of St. Jude Hospital for the Poor, Columban Fathers Missionaries in China, and Franciscan Missions. She is on the staff of Bureau of Music and devotes considerable time to children and animals.

Constitutional Crisis In Monrovia, Liberia

MONROVIA, Liberia—News that the resignation of President William V. S. Tubman in favor of Senator Dash Wilson is impending, has created a constitutional crisis in Liberia. The constitution of Liberia provides for the vice-president to succeed in case of inability, demise, or resignation of the president. The constitutional provision, however, is circumvented by a disputed statute which provides that: "The government of the republic shall be conducted by the cabinet under the direction of any member thereof whom the president shall, by letters patent, designate."

Senator Wilson recently returned to Liberi afrom the United States, where he conferred with former United States Secretary of State Edward Stettinus and others, whose newly-formed Liberian Company has been granted a blanket mining and business concession in Liberia for 80 years.

The Singing Measure

THE NIGHT

The night is black like the faces of my people
The night is long like their continuous struggle
The night is mysterious like their persecution
But it's sweet sad music like their songs of deliverance.

I love the night because it hides the tears of my people
I love the night because it stands alone like their many cries
I live the night because it is so strange and fascinating
Strange and fascinating like my people's love of laughter.

There's a solitude in the night like my people meditating
There's a drama in the night like my people fighting for freedom
And there in the night is a pulse beating . . . beating like the Heart of my people; who march forward bravely as by the Drums of destiny.

Africa To Be

predicted (in December 1946) that South Africa would become the fortress of British imperialism.

In June 1947, British reports from Cairo said "British circles" expected East Africa would soon be made into a huge naval and air base. Already in September 1946, a dispatch from Nairobi, Kenya, to the London Daily Express said:

"East Africa is expected to become a MAIN ATOMIC-AGE TRAINING GROUND of the British Army and a main support base in the new Empire defense system."

Of course, atomic warfare is not "defensive," but aggressive. And aggression against the African people is, first of all, necessary for such scheme. Not only in Kenya, but also in Nigeria, a huge military base is planned, according to British Colonial Secretary Creech-Jones, in an Associated Press interview in October 1946. Also, in Libya, the British are erecting military bases, though Libya is a former Italian colony. In addition, America has recently reopened a huge air base there.

Fascism's plans for enslavement of the colored peoples, is identical to those of imperialism which—in words—declares itself anti-fascist. Oswald Mosley, head of British fascists, speaking in London on November 15, 1947, declared:

"If we link the union of Europe with the development of Africa in a new system of the two continents, we will build a civilization which surpasses, and a force, which equals, any power in the world."

Three days earlier, Sir Stafford Cripps told a conference of African colonial governors:

"Further development of African resources is of the same crucial importance to the rehabilitation and strengthening of Western Europe as the restoration of European productive power."

And now, in Paris, Count Sforza, joining the world imperialist military alliance "against Communism" under the Marshall Plan, looks hopefully for an Italian share in the loot of Africa. The Marshall Plan very clearly develops as an aggression not only against the Soviet Union, but also against the Negro peoples of Africa.

Calls on Truman To Grant Amnesty

Protesting President Truman's Christmas pardoning of only 10% of Selective Service Act violators, Dr. Henry P. Van Dusen, president of Union Theological Seminary and all 22 of the Seminary faculty members have written President Truman urging a general amnesty.

"Contrary to the hope and expectation of many citizens in all walks of life, the President's Amnesty Board in its Christmas pardons included less than 10% of the 15,805 Selective Service violators," said their letter to President Truman. "Out of about 6,000 who might generally be described as conscientious or religious objectors, not more than one-fifth have received pardons."

21 Africans Killed

Disabled Veteran Crusades To Sell Youth Democracy

CHICAGO—Harold Russell, the ex-GI who won two Academy Awards for his role as the handless veteran in "The Best Years Of Our Lives" says that loss of his hands has led him into a crusade to sell American youth on democracy and equal rights.

"An infantryman who lost a leg at Anzio said to me, "Look, chum! Why don't you reach the teen-agers who are still in high school with a message from us? Tell them that we guys flat on our back don't like what we hear about lynching, race-baiting, segregation, all that kind of stuff.'"

Two weeks later the Anti-Defamation League made Russell the same proposition with the request that he make his talks for all religious, all races, "Make Harold Russell a crusader for all men of good will."

....Since that time Russell has been speaking regularly at high schools all over the nation and the response and cooperation he has received have convinced him that he is on the right track.

Lela Murray Ill

Mrs. Lela O. Murray, of Murray's Dude Ranch, writes that she had been ill for more than a month, but is getting better again. Mr. Murray attended the Paul Robeson meeting in the Second Baptist Church, and "was thrilled" with the program, she said.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Murray want all their friends to be sure to attend their Sunrise Easter Service Sunday, March 28 Mr. Murray will have to bear the brunt of preparing for it.

Co-op League Issues New Film Catalogue

NEW YORK—A new film catologue listing films, film strips and recordings on the cooperative movement has recently been issued by the Film Department of The Cooperative League of the USA, 23 West 45th Street, New York 19. The catalogue gives complete information on audio-visual aids available through the League and its affiliated regional cooperative dramatizing the co-op principles, telling the story of consumer-owned oil wells, refineries, feed mills, and factories.

Langston Teacher Attends Confab

LANGSTON, Okla.—Miss Lenouliah Gandy, assistant professor of home economics and itinerant teacher training at Langston university, will attend the Inter-Regional Teacher Training Conference to be held at Washington, D. C. March 31 through April 6.

Following the teacher training meeting, Miss Gandy will attend a meeting of the advisory board of the New Home Makers of America on April 7 and 8 also to be held at Washington.

U. S. Specialists Urge Consumption Of Easter Eggs

Plenty of eggs will be on markets this Eastertime for the traditional dyeing and decorating, marketing specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture reported today. The supply of eggs is ample for all parts of the country because this is the heavy laying season.

But to prevent waste especially in the present world food emergency, Easter eggs colored with harmless dye should be used for food after being used for fun the specialists advise. The hard-cooked eggs under their fancy shells can fit into family meals in many ways—deviled, in salads, creamed or served in cheese sauce. However, eggs, even when cooked, are perishable food and should be used promptly as possible after Easter.

"No Smoking' On Job, City Warns

Restaurant kitchen workers were warned today that they would be hustled off to court if they are found smoking among their pots and pans by city health inspectors.

The warning, coming from Dr. George M. Uhl, city health officer, said that violators face a possible fine of $500 and a jail sentence of six months if they are convicted of this charge.

Says Americans Ate Heartily Last Year

People in the United States ate heartily last year—so hearily that food consumption was the second highest on record, the U. S. Department of Agriculture announced today.

Figures of the Bureau of Agriculture Economics show that this country produced more food in 1947 than in any previous year and ate more food than in any year except 1946. Food crops reached a new high and the quantity of food from livestock was surpassed only in 1944 and 1945.

The consumption of some foods last year was the highest on record. The average American ate more beef, cheese, evaporated milk and margarine than ever before.

"MARCH CLUB" debutantes were more beautiful than ever this year as they took their formal bow at the annual club formalon Friday night, March 19, at Elks Hall. Only eight debs were presented. At left, HARRIETTE FLOWERS, daughter of Mr. and Mrs.Orlando Flowers was caught by photographers as she stepped down the floral lane. Pretty JANICE FORTIER, daughter of Mrs. Mamie Fortier was one of the youngest debs to be presented. She is a senior at Los Angeles High school. In same photo, waiting to take her bow, is MARVELLE HENDERSON, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Henderson. Miss Henderson's gown was of white eyelet. ARTYENE THOMAS, made one of the most beautiful debs in the formal presentation. Her gown was of yellow brocade with net inset. Her shoulder length hair was combed simply parted at the side. A recent grauate of L.A. High school, she is now attending L.A. City College and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas. Her mother is Mrs. Betty Thomas of the LaJovial Girls. Old Pals Have 12th Palm Sunday Gathering

With President Garner Grayson officiating, the Old Pals with a good representation of their membership met Palm Sunday, this Sunday, being one of their scheduled meetings.

The meeting was held in the residence of Mrs. Walter Early, 1143 E. 45th street.

The program was conducted by Ella Traylor with readings by Mary Stovall and Maude Johnson.

Writings, historical, by the late John Fowler, were read by Mrs. Mattie Nelson. Accompanied at the piano, by Lauretta Butler, Madame Jessica Grayson sang one of her excellent solos and was encored roundly as usual.

The refreshments were served by the resident hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Early with the cooperation of the Graysons.

Considerable business was transacted at this meeting, the next will be held in the next two months.

Two of the Pals are leaving the city. Mrs. Mattie Nelson for Boston, Mass., as a delegate to the Methodist Conference.

The noted actress, Mrs. Grayson, is also leaving for San Francisco, for her fine interpretation in the stage success, "Deep Are the Roots."

Charge them that are rich in this world, that they be not high-minded, nor trust in uncertain riches, but in the living God, who giveth us richly all things to enjoy.

WHAT'S DOING IN THE SOCIAL SET

By JESSIE MAE BROWN

Lord help me live from day to day,
In such a self-forgetful way,
That even when I kneel to pray
My prayer shall be for—OTHERS

Help me in all the work I do
To ever be sincere and true;
And know that all I do for you,
Must needs be done for OTHERS

Others, Lord, yes, Others;
Let this my motto be;
Help me to live for OTHERS
That I may live for thee

THE SPIRIT OF THIS EASTER Tide is well put in the little aforementioned poem taken from the Woman's Missionary Guide. As we join in Christendom's greatest spiritual festival next Sunday, whether it be the Sunrise services which have become an institution of the southland, or the regular church services throughout the city, we will hear prayers asking for the continuance of peace throughout the world, and that consideration be given others. The gayer side of Easter will be highlighted with weddings, elaborate fashions and an onrush of parties.

On Good Friday, at 6:00 p.m. the Scott's Methodist Church in Pasadena will be the scene of marriage for Jacquline Bunch and Harrison Bailey. On the heels of the service, the couple will hie off to Redwood City, where they will spend part of their honeymoon, then on to San Francisco before returning to Pasadena. At 5:00 p.m. Easter Sunday Lenora Trunnell and Willie E. Johnson will recite vows in an elaborate wedding ceremony at Wesley Chapel M. E. Church. The reception will follow at the home of the bride's parents. Another Easter bride will be Ruby L. Walker of Zion Hill Baptist Church. Felicitations will be showered upon the couple at the reception that will be staged in the social hall of the church.

For the parties scheduled space does not permit the mention of all, however the return of the Social Knights to the Easter array of affairs must be brought to the front. Before the war, the Social Knights Easter Promenade went hand in hand with Easter bunnies and candied eggs as significant motifs of the key Spring Holiday. This invitational matinee affair, at one time, held sway annually in the Pasadena Civic auditorium, in fact the Social Knights were the first club group to rent the first floor of the Civic for a community social gathering. Speaking of fashionably late entrances, believe me, a 'must' at the Knights affair. Milady, wearing the latest in spring bonnets and dresses definitely has the limelight at the Easter Promenade. This year's affair is slated for the Elks Ballroom, and the smart silver and blue invitations have been issued to many an Angeleno. The Social Barons and the Altruistic Social club will also be entertaining at big dances on Easter Sunday.

Before bringing '30' to the Easter Chatter of the week, must mention the kiddies Easter Egg Hunt listed for Saturday at 1 p.m. at Sojourner Truth home. Joyce Stewart and the Turnabout Charity club members are filling baskets and outlining a party program for youngsters between the ages of 7 to 10 years of age. Melonee Blocker took charge of the invitations that were distributed to children attending the Pilgrim House center. The Saturday Egg Hunt will mark the club's first kiddies party of the year. Many other charitable gestures have been planned.

California's offering in sport attire will be the lead this week on the opening of the Inter-frat basketball series Saturday night. Arrived in time to get a seat and watch the folks walk by. Oh yes, the basketball game was very interesting too, the Omegas look like plenty trouble this year, however judging the chatter around me, the run off will be between the Kappas and Alphas. One never knows though. The bow of the Sigmas in the frat series was a very interesting one, all done up in blue and white satin trunks. The frat enthusiasts who filled the bleachers were quite familiar with players on the new Sigma team. In Neal Collins, Fred Bluett, and Howard Holt, they recalled good basketballers who will help bring the Sigma team up to the playing standards displayed by other fraters on Saturday night. Too bad there isn't a neutral seat for the press, owing to the fact that the rooting must be for all or none. Believe me Yours Truly had a grand time, yelling for Alphas, Kappas, Omegas and Sigmas.

Took note of the new Theron Kirk whose chosen air is one of quietness, refinement etc. Just what brought on the sudden change one will never learn from Mr. Kirk, however methinks the lovely Nellene Russell has much to do about it. Anyway, Esquire did his bidding on many of the gents attending. Including Kirk who sported the latest in suede jackets, Samuel Strain, in complete new outfit from head to foot; Stan Malone, who casually strode about the hall during intermission in a suit that Leonard Beavers raved about, and we do mean loudly. Emerson Chapman, Joe Oliver and Dave Minor emerged from the dressing room following the game in which their team won, dressed fit to kill for the dance that followed. The debs of course were looking very smart, in fact

Surprise Dinner Fete Welcomes Vacationer Back

Mr. and Mrs. Felix Meadows of 1750 East 102nd St., and Miss Jeraldine Perry were joint host and hostesses to a belated birthday dinner party honoring Mrs. Ella Perry, Sunday afternoon, March 14, who recently returned home after a fourteen months stay in Brooklyn, N. Y.

The occasion was a surprise to the honoree, who is a sister of Mr. Meadows and the mother of Miss Perry. Also sharing the honors were Mr. Bolton Ford of Pittsburgh, Penn., who also recently celebrated a birthday. The Meadows came in for congratulations also, as it leaked out that this was their 35th wedding anniversary date.

Each honoree received a birthday cake adorned with candles and many lovely gifts. Flowers and good wishes were presented the Meadows. Covers were laid for 24. Those present were: the honoree, Mrs. Ella Perry, Mr. Bolton Ford, Miss Jeraldine Perry, Mrs. Hattie Phillips of Birmingham, Ala., Mrs. Mable Howard, Mrs. Georgia Hunt, Mrs. Jessie Fletcher of Pittsburgh, Penn., Mrs. Mattie Abercrombie, Mrs. Sadye Hunt and daughter, Mrs. Eula Mae Ward and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hunt, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Martin J. Dinkins, and Master Johnny Perry.

March Club Presents Eight Debutants in Annual Formal Dance

The exclusive "March" club held its annual "Pisces-Aries" formal dance on Friday evening March 19, at Elks Hall Auditorium. More than 500 guests attended the affair that was held from 10 until 2 with music played by the McVaye orchestra.

The annual highlight of the formal is the presentation of the debutants to the L. A. society. Under the careful guidance of Mrs. Daisy Williams the following little ladies made their formal bow to society. Miss Hariette Flowers, Miss Artyne Thomas, Frances Pickingpack, Betty Jean Aldrich, Janice Fortier, Marvell Henderson, Norma Lee Winston and Sylvia James.

The debs beautifully gowned in bouffant formals walked alone down the beribboned lane up to the stairway that led to the flower bedecked stage. At this point they bowed to the honorable gentlemen of the March Club and were escorted to the platform while the spotlight played upon them. The first to enter was Miss Aldridge, her gown was of white marquisette and lace. She was followed by Miss Arteyne Thomas, in yellow brocaded satin; Miss Hariette Flowers in white marquisette with taffeta and gold sequin trim; Francis Pickingpack in blue marquisette; Janice Fortier in delicate pink taffeta; Marvelle Henderson in white marquisette ,Sylvia James in pink marquisette, and Norma Lee Winston in pink taffeta.

At the end of the presentation the debs danced the debutant waltz with the members of the March Club.

On the March Club roster this year are, Mmes. Guy Houston Anderson, Gertrude Bartlett, Grace Boswell, Vassie Brown, Edna V. Elgin, Edith Kemp, Sadie Sheffield, Grace Tickett, Huldah Wall, Helen Watkins, Arizona B. Watson, Saidy Williams, Miss Jessie Mae Brown and Messers. Wilfred Charles, Thomas J. Duckett, Thomas L. Griffith, Eugene W. Hardimon, Raymond J. Knox, Thomas Randall, Dennis McMatthews, Archibald S. Parker, Earl Parker, J. H. Sykes, Willie Williams and Thaddeus J. Winston.

For 30 years the March Club Formal has been one of the outstanding events of the social season. The debutant presentation was derived from the presentations of the "Illinois Club of New Orleans, from which Mrs. Daisy Williams was presented when a debutant.

Among out of town guests attending were, Mr. and Mrs. Fouche of Oakland, and Mr. and Mrs. George Baughn, of Oakland; Mr. Barington Tate of San Diego.

Mrs. Pearl Taylor was a charming hostess to the Emanon club Saturday at her home in S. Hobart blvd. Club prizes were won by Mrs. Beatrice Kelley and Mrs. Reatha Beck. A lovely gift was given Mrs. Lena Handis.

June 27 Wedding Date For LeRoy Beavers-Jessie Brown Guests Told At Party

The "Anchor" home of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Portwig was the setting for a very gay "hen" party last Thursday evening, March 18, honoring the birthday of Jessie Mae Brown, EAGLE Society Editor. More than 70 young ladies were invited to the affair that was held between the hours of 7 to 11 p.m. During the early part of the evening, singing star, Mable Scott led the familiar "Happy Birthday" song.

The evening's entertainment was led by Althea Warren, Lucille Boswell and Ernie Mae Maxey. Promptly at 10 p.m., Miss Maxey gained the attention of the group when she read a unique poem that told of the wedding date set by the honoree and LeRoy A. Beavers Jr., for June 27, at 3 p.m. at the Second Baptist Church. The inscription of June 27, was presented each guest on individual cakes served by Gloria Bunch, Leola Beavers and Phyllis Scott. Marcela Miller and Winifred Allen presided at the appointed table. Assisting were, Laura Smith and Marion B. Jackson.

Among those enjoying the affair were, Corine Kemp, Ann C. Johnson, Puffy Hill, Gloria Shaw, Phyllis Allen, Dolores Bell, Jessel King, Marilyn Hudson, Mary Coleman, Florence Williams, Gertrude Gipson, Lillian Lomax, Dorothy Nicholas, Ruth Kenner, Ramona Robinson, Eddie Mae Armstrong, Nita Hippard, Barbara Lambert, Paulette Coleman, Annette Taylor, Carolyn Hennington, Norma Green, Josephine Birch, Evelyn Brown, Blanche Groggs, Emily Jones, Jewell Lockett, Jean Brown, Odessa Jones, Benzell Graham, Jane Hampton, Gloria Vaughn, Florance Nukes, Hariette Johnson, Betty Alston, Joyce and Jerry Stewart, Nita Philpot, Barbara Lambert, Sarah Lumpkin, Dorothy Redd, Gloria O'Neal, Sis Russells, Helen Steward, Nita Williams, Rebecca Farrington, Marion Allen, Shirley Rakestraw, Norma McDaniel, Haroldine Browning, Maethilde Kenner and others.

Mrs. Arnetta Brown, the bride elects mother and Mrs. Lilyan Beavers, her future mother-in-law, were presented to the many guests. The party lasted well past the appointed time with all having a very enjoyable evening.

Little Yolanda Payne of Monrovia, Calif., will remain in Val Verde over Easter, where she will enjoy the egg hunt Easter Sunday at the clubhouse at 3:30 p.m. with her sister Yvonne and brother Howard, along with 150 other children who are expected to search for 50 dozen eggs which will be hidden in the foliage.

40 Take Part In Fashionable Glover-Polk Wedding Ritual

A capacity congregation witnessed one of the most beautiful and largest wedding ceremonies of the season when Miss Augustine Marie Polk daughter of Mrs. Emordra L. Polk and granddaughter of Mrs. Lillie Throphy Hague, became the bride of William J. Glover Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William Glover, noted tailor instructor of this city.

The vows were spoken at Zion Hill Baptist Church at three o'clock with the Reverend Harris presiding. The church was transformed into a picture of Spring with a profussion of white flowers used throughout the decoration theme. The wedding was all white, with some 40 participants taking part.

Preceeding the actual marriage, a group of young children wearing formal dress took part in the ceremony. This was followed by the entry of the brides-maids, who wore gowns of the Martha Washington style and carried muffs centered by a corsage of red roses. They wore sweetheart bonnets. The gowns were made of white taffeta and tulle. The matron of honor differed slightly from the others in that she wore a gown of white brocaded taffeta with tulle trim. All of the grooms ushers wore full dress suits with grey gloves. The little ring bearer wore a full dress white suit.

Serving as matron of honor was Mrs. Zerles Campbell. The maid of honor was Miss Emargoline Nell Polk, the bride's twin sister. The maids were Misses Katherine B. Kimbell, Marella M. De Bose, Irene Lynch Elizabeth Lynch, Carlyn Wright Barbara Irby, Maudester Owensy, Verta Collier.

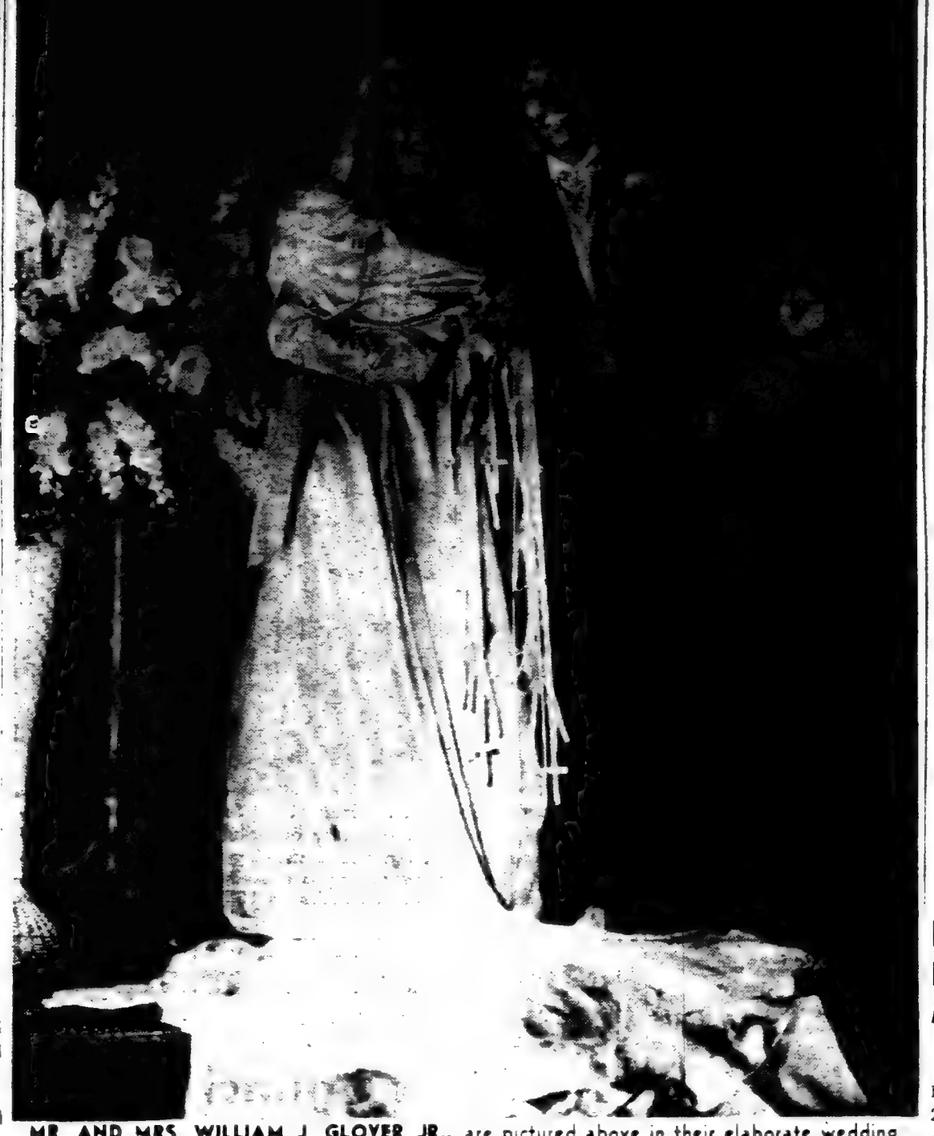
Mr. Robert Moody was best man and ushers included Preston Kelling, Duncan Osborn George Osborne Jr., George Williamas, Joseph Keeps Eliah Moore, Alonzo Williams and Henry Calhoun.

The flower girls were, Jane Cunningham, Brenda Ross, Antoinette Mitchell, Elane Lloyd. The ring bearer was little Arnell Lloyd. The background flower girls were, Minnie Ann Bowles Connie Zollie, Marjorie Ann Earls, Georgia Mae McKinsey and Marie Stiene.

The flower Girls escorts were John D. Rynolds Jr., Peter Bowles, Arnold Reyles, Joe Banks Jr., Raymond Roberson, Theodore Ramsay. The Ushers for the day were, Elizabeth Bullocks, Audrey Jean Hale, Varie Potts, Betty Jean Taylor, Yvonne Taylor, Dorothy Kimpell and Carmaline Kimpell.

Simplicity in Gown

Following the huge procession, all eyes were on the bride who was lovely in a gown of traditional white satin with full length train and sweetheart neckline. She carried a white orchid streamer on a prayer book. The gown was a gift from her grandmother, Mrs. Hague.



Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the brides grandmother, Mrs. Lillie Hague. The couple received many beautiful and useful gifts. The bride and groom will reside at their own home 1122 E. 59th street where they are now at home to friends.

The bride is a graduate of Jefferson High school and attended Compton Junior College. She is a member of Les Petite, Madams club. Her husband, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glover is a graduate of Jefferson High School. He served overseas with the U. S. Army before returning to L. A. City College. He is a member of the Glover and Sons Institute.

Mrs. S. Brewington Arrives From Detroit to Attend Ford-O'Neal Reception

A host of friends gathered at the smart home of Mr. and Mrs. William Woodward on Sunday March 21, to felicitate the newly married couple, Mr. and Mrs. Robert O'Neal. The bride, formerly Miss Gloria Ford, daughter of Mrs. Helen Woodward was married to Robert O'Neal, son of Mrs. Sadie Brewington of Detroit, Michigan, on February 14, by the Rev. L. C. Cleaves. The marriage came as a surprise to the many friends of the young couple.

At Sunday's reception, the bride was beautifully gowned in a white Marquisette formal, featuring a peplum and sheer bodice. She wore a corsage of gardenias and a string of pearls. Receiving was her mother Mrs. Helen Woodward who wore a gown of blue crepe with yellow accessories and a corsage of yellow roses; her mother-in-law, Mrs. Sadie Brewington, wearing a gown of acqua blue with lighter blue gloves and a corsage of yellow roses. Mrs. Brewington came from Detroit especially to be at the reception.

Throughout the affair that lasted from 4 until 7 p.m. Miss Nita Hippard played and sang familiar wedding songs. Assisting as hostesses were, Mmes. Adelaid Bibb, Charlotte Lambert, Irma Durham, Maethilde Holt, Georgia Brown, Barbara Herndon, Beatrice Dorsey, Helen Jane Steward, Lela Brown, Beverly Abner, and Misses Mildred Hailey, Annie Fry, Frances and Ramona Wilson, Janice Fortier, Jessie Mae Brown and Lorita Brown.

UCLA GRADUATE

The bride, choir directress at Holman Methodist Church, is a graduate of UCLA, where she held membership in Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority. She holds her teachers credential in the field of music. Her husband attended Wynne University before entering the U. S. Air Corp and serving in overseas duty. At present he is an employee of the L. A. VOWS SPOKEN—The popular Mr. and Mrs. John R. Jackson were caught by photographer shortly after they had spoken marital vows in a quiet ceremony Sunday afternoon witnessed by members of the families and a few close friends. The bride, the former Mary Elizabeth Coleman is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Harold Coleman. The newly wed couple may be seen in center. Standing at right is the bride's sister, Mrs. Willianna Washington, matron of honor. At far left is best man, Mr. Otis Greer. (see story)

Les Vaillantes Initiate New Member

Les Vaillantes Club met at the home of Mrs. Kathryn Chapel, 229 E. 54th St., Wednesday evening, March 17.

Mrs. Marion Jones, vice president, presided at the meeting. Reports were given on the recent raffle.

Mrs. Minola Carrington was given a cordial welcome by the vice president. Initiation followed and a hilarious time was had by all.

Miss Ruth White won the prize for the evening.

Mexico Chosen for Jackson-Coleman Honeymoon Following Ceremony

In an impressive ceremony performed before members of the family and a few close friends, the former Miss Mary Elizabeth Coleman became the bride of John R. Jackson, at the home of Rev. and Mrs. R. Washington, with Rev. F. H. Prentice of Mt. Zion Baptist church officiating.

Miss Coleman chose a beautiful ballerina length gown of heavy ivory satin with a bodice of lace. She carried a bouquet of white Mystery Gardenias tied with Ivory satin streamers. Mrs. Willianna Washington attended her sister as matron of honor. She wore a gown patterned after the bride's in a delicate shade of blue satin. Her bouquet was of roses and blue Iris. Both of the gowns were created by Mrs. Marion Coleman, modiste.

Mr. Otis Greer, stood with Mr. Jackson as best man. At the close of the ceremony, Rev. Russell Washington, the bride's brother-inlaw, offered the bridal prayer. Mrs. Jessie Cofield played the bridal music and Miss Mary Martin Young sang "Because."

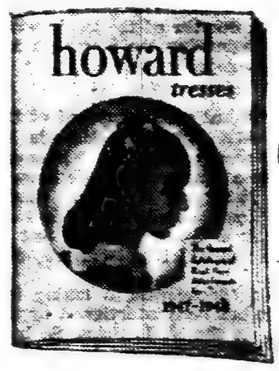
The vows were spoken promptly at 4:00 p.m. A reception followed shortly after. The bride's mother, Mrs. James H. Coleman, received in a gown of early Spring print. Hostesses at the reception were: Henrietta Hariston, Ida Mae Boulit, Bernice Ashley and Ruth Scott. During the reception the couple slipped away on a honeymoon in Mexico. They will be away from the city for a week.

The former Miss Coleman is a teacher in the local school system and is advisor to the undergraduate chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority. Her husband, formerly of Richmond, Va., is purchasing agent and coordinator of affairs for the Outdoor Life and Health Association.

The Coleman family has been living in this city for many years and are highly respected in social, religious and civic circles.

Unitarian Auditorium New Scene of Allied Arts'

The League of Allied Arts has each year attempted to give to the Cultural Club world of the West Coast outstanding presentations. This year, beginning the twelfth year of organization they are offering to Los Angeles Patrons of the Arts, Langston Hughes, Negro poet, Sunday April 4, 1948.



Certain complications as to hour and date have entered into the former arrangements made for the recital to be held at Pepperdine College, therefore it has been necessary for the change of place and hour to be made and the league takes great pleasure of announcing at this time that sponsored by the Unitarian Fellowship For Social Justice the presentation will be held in the Unitarian Auditorium, 2936 W. 8th St.

Because the league offers scholarships in the various art fields to qualified students wishing to further their study, the group feels that the regular patrons as well as new ones will feel justified in making this a "must" on their calendar. Then too, because it is a rarity to meet one so celebrated personally the league wish to urge, urge the invitation upon all students, either upper grade elementary, Junior High, Senior high school and College levels. There will be special student rates at the door.

Langston, as we love to call him and he likes it too, gained fame nationally when but a youngster and while doing menial labor. His poems were read in 1921 by Vachel Lindsay at the Little Theatre of the Wardman Park Hotel in Washington. While studying at Lincoln U. he received the Palms Intercollegiate Poetry Award and in 1931 the Harmon Gold award for Literature, he has been included in the "25" most interesting personages with a socially conscious attitude of America, by Dr. Charles A. Beard. In 1945 he received a Guggenheim Fellowship and in 1940 the Rosenwald Fellowship. His eight books are each interesting. You and your family or friends just must attend this outstanding event of the League, presenting Mr. Hughes, that you might enjoy his works and realize that he is of credit to not only us as a group, but to us individually and to the world of culture. The Allied Arts League offers Langston Hughes for just what others say of him and what they know him to be "poet laureate."

IN THE SOCIAL SET

I hardly know where to start the singling out. However in gazing across the court found that the "sassy" hat worn by Jane Hampton captured the attention of many, as did the Sequin tie worn by Althea Warren. The new length and the latest colors were given a good try by Gloria Shaw, Evelyn Roberts and Florence Williams. Red was the predominant color throughout the place, with the Kappa Pledges sporting the traditional shirts and other rooters wearing bits of red. The series got off to a grand starter Saturday night and will be just as fine this year as ever before.

Along other Greek letter lanes, we find the Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority members have the mailing list complete for the annual formal dance that is headed this year by Ann Gordon. The invites will be in the mails on Saturday, and the dance will be quite the affair. . . . On Saturday afternoon the Iota Phi Lambda Business sorority met at the Henderson Community Center to discuss the National Business Week set for April 11-17. Attending their first meeting since initiation into the Alpha Phi chapter were sorors, Phyllis Scott, Evelyn Brown, Jewell Lockett, Mildred Thomas, Wylene Jones, Lucille Reynolds, Frankye Osborne, Delochie McCullin and Gladys Stafford. . . . The local Deltas are busily engaged making plans for the '48 Jabberwock. The theme will be "Famous Fables." By the way, quite a number of the local Deltas will be week-ending in the Bay Area attending the Sorority's Regional conference. . . .

HERE AND THERE

When it rains it pours, and that is just what happened at the shower Sunday afternoon for Wini Allen, given by Marcela M. Miller. Gifts galore and exquisite ones were opened by the honoree. Among the lovely ladies attending the affair were: Hattie Brown, Carolyn Hennington, Gloria Bunch, "Muggins" Williams, Gloria Crouch, Ruth Kenner, Mel Blocker, Lou Boswell, Maethilde Kenner, Pauline Peake, Marion Allen, Wilma Cockrell, and a host of others. Marcela was assisted by her sister, Nita Williams and cousin, Irma Rene.

Received a missive from Mildred Blount who is taking the East by storm with her creations. She has been interviewed by the Metro. Press and will show her hats to the N. Y. Press. So happens that she will not be able to fill her engagement in St. Louis on Easter Sunday, for she will be having the time of her life at a dinner and cocktail party given in her honor by the A. Philip Randolphs. Earlier in the day she will be the guest of Marion Anderson at the Met. Opera. Sends hellos to all. . . .

It's a daughter for the Dr. Roy Kingsley household. The little lady made her arrival on Sunday weighing in at 6 lbs. . . . While assisting at Gloria and Bob O'Neal's wedding reception Sunday, had a grand time going over events with Bea Dorsey, Ramona and Frances Wilson, Phyllis Allen and Helen Jane Stewart. . . . So happens that Mrs. J. Jackson (Mary Coleman) and her bridegroom hied off for Mexico shortly after the vows were spoken. The honeymoon will last until the end of the week. . . . Back from a recent trip to San Francisco are Mrs. Alice Harvey and Mrs. Leslie King. . . . The 'March Club' formal was a very lovely affair on last Friday night. 'Till Next Week.

Future Deb In LaBauve Family

Mr. and Mrs. Irving LaBauve are the proud parents of a fine 7-pound 14-ounce baby daughter born St. Patrick's day.

Dr. W. W. Davis reports mother and Patricia are doing fine.

Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Gittens are all smiles as this is their first grandchild, also Mrs. Iola Stepp, the baby's great-grandmother, is a happy member of this family.

SHIRLEY RICHMOND is being sponsored in the Wilfandel popularity contest by Mrs. Mae Oliver, who will honor the young contestant at tea Sunday from 4 until 8 p.m. at 947 E. 55th street. The public is invested to attend.

Dr. Howard Thurman, who is serving as professor of philosophy of Religion at Iowa University, will be guest speaker on a lectureship series at Samuel Huston college, Austin, Hexas, April 11-16.

FABULOUS FASHION Fad program chairman — Blanche Groggs, well-known active YWCA worker has promised to bring top notch entertainers in the fields of Radio, Stage, and Screen, Sunday morning, April 4, during the Business and Professional Women League's Fabulous Fashion Fad. Miss Groggs is past president of B & P and a member of the Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority.

New NAACP Art Project Committee Plan Exhibit

The Committee for the Exhibit of portraits of Outstanding Americans of Negro Origin met on Wednesday at the residence of Dr. and Mrs. John Somerville, 2104 S. Harvard blvd.

This exhibit was one of the outstanding events in the history of the local branch. The response has been excellent by the way committee persons have worked.

Mrs. Ernie Hollis of Blythe, Calif., spent a few days in the city with Mrs. Ethel Craddock, en route on a visit to Texas.

Mrs. Carl B. Foreman Gains Office In Fremont Council PTA

On Thursday, March 18, members of the Hooper Ave. P.T.A. chose to elect as their new president, Mrs. Emmett C. Jones, formerly Motion Picture chairman. Although Mrs. Jones is comparatively new to the Association, she is very capable of doing a good job for she is well thought of as a leader in church work throughout the city. She succeeds Mrs. Carl B. Foreman, who was president for 2 years, 1946-1948. Mrs. Carl Foreman has been recently elected Secretary of the Fremont Council, along with Mrs. Carrie Thompson of 96th Street School as second vice president and Mrs. L. B. Lauderdale of 49th Street school as Historian; thus making a great stride in the progress in the history of the Parent-Teachers Association.

Other officers elected to the Board of the Hooper Ave. were: vice president, Mrs. Zelma Andrews, second vice president, Mr. Daniels; secretary, Mrs. Kirkland; financial secretary, Mrs. Grace L. Williams; historian, Mrs. Ellsworth Harris.

The program was under the direction of Mrs. Floyd C. Clark, playground director of the school, who presented a playlet about the Easter Bunny. Mrs. Mary C. Wallen, a speaker from the Red Cross, gave an interesting and inspiring talk about services of the Red Cross.

TO MODEL on Fabulous Fashion Fad Show — Exotic Elouisa Brown will be one of the few selected models to appear Sunday, April 4 at the YWCA. Mrs. Brown is owner of Cafe Elouisa and a member of B & P. She will be seen in strictly tailored garments that will have a dash of the new look.

Nevin Board Meeting Slated April 2

Succeeding Mrs. Claude C. McAdams, Mrs. Celia Mae Young has been elected president of Nevin Avenue P.T.A. and Mrs. Clarice Johnson vice-president. Other officers to be installed in June include Mmes. Addie Langford, recording secretary; Ross Wiggins Jr., treasurer; Leola Young, historian; Claude C. McAdams, financial secretary; Annabelle Jackson, auditor.

Board meeting will be held April 2 at 9:30 a.m. in the principal's office. All members are urged to attend.

Friends were sorry to hear the death of Mr. Samuel Thomson. His daughter, Miss Ann Thompson, who has been living abroad for a number of years, is expected in the city for the funeral. Mr. Sumner Thompson, his son, arrived in the city Saturday.

Singing Senator Thrills 12,000 At L.A. Meet

At least 12,000 Angelenos thronged Gilmore stadium Monday evening to hear United States Senator Glen H. Taylor at a "Rally for Peace" sponsored by the Independent Progressive Party, the PCA, and other organizations.

Senator Taylor is vice-presidential candidate on the Third Party ticket that named and is sponsoring Henry A. Wallace for president in 1948.

The Senator pulled no punches in describing the dilemma which President Truman has

L. A. Stages Protest Meet On Police Brutality Tonight

Sharp criticism of William Simpson, candidate to succeed himself as District Attorney, will be expressed by scores of community leaders representing labor, minority and civic organizations at a mass protest meeting 8 o'clock tonight, April 1, at Moose Hall, 300 S. Olive st. The criticism results from Simpson's refusal to meet with a delegation of 50 representative citizens who called on him Friday, March 19 and Tuesday, March 22, to urge an investigation of the facts behind the fatal shoot of 17-year-old Augustino Salcido by Detective William Keyes on March 10.

Rev. Clarence A. Nash, editor-publisher of the California Eagle, Dr. Edna L. Griffin and Rev. H. H. Collins, Jr. are listed as principal speakers.

The protest meeting, which is one of the hundreds being held throughout the nation, will demand immediate release of Mrs. Ingram and her sons who were sentenced to death for the self-defense slaying of John Strafford, a white farmer.

According to evidence, Mrs. Ingram was attacked by Strafford, without provocation. Her sons ran to her defense and in

Postpones Date For Reopening Of Sipuel Case

NEW YORK, N. Y.—The new trial in the case of Sipuel versus the University of Oklahoma has been postponed to April 19, it was announced here today.

The new trial, which will be the next step in Mrs. Ada Lois Fisher's fight for admission to the law school of the University of Oklahoma, comes as a result of the refusal of the university to admit Mrs. Fisher to the law school after the United States Supreme Court had decreed that the State of Oklahoma was required to provide her with an opportunity for a legal education immediately.

You will have to read the record to decide which of these two gentlemen is on the side of Peace, and which on the side of War.
Who is the big bad wolf?

White College Students Vote to Admit Negroes

ANNAPOLIS, Md.—Students of St. John's College, third oldest educational institution in the United States, defied the policies of their school last week and voted 165 to 33 in favor of admitting Negro students. Dr. John Kiefer, president of St. John's, immediately countered by calling the vote "Purely an expression of Student opinion," involving no commitment on the part of college authorities.

A referendum conducted by the student government, which stated that it was presenting the results to college officials "so that they may bring our policies into line with other liberal institutions."

Neighboring colleges to St. John's, students said have already lifted the barriers that kept out Negroes. The University of Maryland in Baltimore has been admitting Negroes to its law school for the last ten years.

Negro cadets have attended the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, despite difficulties placed in their way there. The University of Delaware, heretofore lily-white, recently announced that Negroes could enroll in all graduate courses.

Group Condemns Cancellation of Hughes' Speech

Protest against the barring of Poet Langston Hughes from Occidental college was voiced last week by A. A. On The Sidewalk

By C. A. B.

If you have tears prepare to shed them now!

Already in two world wars, American mothers have mingled their blood and tears on European battle fields. In the Far East and the Far West, their sons laid down their lives to defend and make secure the democracy they believed would bring peace and comfort to their families and homes.

The tragedy of this whole bitter experience by American mothers is the fact that those exponents of peace in World War II are now the promoters of a third world war.

Not only mothers, but the whole American people are sick of war. They remember how they rallied to the support of Woodrow Wilson for president when he promised to "Keep our sons out of war."

They know that the late Franklin Delano Roosevelt did not meet Germany's threat of war, head on. Roosevelt's first efforts to head off World War II was to deal with home problems, such as feeding and housing the homeless and hungry people of the United States.

Secondly, to insure the friendship of our potential enemy, Russia, to the end that the Soviet Union became our most potent ally. I think we all remember that Stalingrad was the turning point in the war, and the first sign of the defeat of Germany.

Today there is every evidence that Mr. Truman has deserted the home front, turning his attention, as well as the implements of war, to the job of cleaning the Communists out of Europe.

Yes, even our one-track minds are no longer fooled as to what goes on.

We know that while Negro GI's—and in one case their wives with them—were being brutally murdered in Georgia, New York, and South Carolina, any effort to halt this slaughter was immediately labeled Communist.

We remember also the conference between Roosevelt, Stalin, and Churchill. But saddest of all our memories, was the unexpected death of President Roosevelt in 1945. The nation wept, not because it forsaw what the future held, but because the greatest and most respected leader since Lincoln had laid down his arms and would study war no more.

Harry Truman became president. On his promise that he would pursue the Roosevelt program, we, the people, wiped away our tears and were ready to follow Mr. Truman's leadership.

But all too soon after taking over the White House, the new president showed signs of deserting the Roosevelt program.

After three years' occupancy of the White House, and on the eve of a presidential election, the President's fact-finding committee inspired Mr. Truman to issue a 10-point Civil Rights program.

There are those who seem to think that this gesture is it. In other words it is what is needed to make democracy work for the protection of minorities.

But by those who have served false political leaders; have seen honest men and women sacrificed on the altar of greed and avarice; comparisons are made, and questions are in order.

First, why is there an un-American Activities Committee, headed by Senator Thomas, ably assisted by Senator Rankin who more than once declared on the floor of the Senate that Negroes are the inferiors of

Norma Williams Wins Divorce

Mrs. Norma Williams secured a divorce last week from her prominent physician-husband, Dr. Wilburn J. Williams. Superior Court Judge Benjamin J. Scheinman granted Mrs. Williams a divorce decree after Attorney Bernard S. Jefferson, who represented Mrs. Williams, had elicited testimony from her that Dr. Williams had been guilty of various acts constituting mental cruelty.

Dr. Williams, who recently opened his new, spacious offices at 4156 South Central, did not contest his wife's suit.

Attorney Jefferson announced to the Court at the hearing that Dr. and Mrs. Williams had signed a property settlement agreement. The terms of the agreement were not disclosed. According to the testimony of Mrs. Williams, she and Dr. Williams were married in Riverside, California, on June 9, 1939, and separated on September 16, 1947.

Claims Prospective Citizens Subjected to Persecution

Abner Green, Executive Secretary of the American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born, charged today that Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization Watson B. Miller "has displayed complete ignorance of the questions asked applicants for American citizenship by naturalization examiners."

Green's statement was made in answer to Commissioner Miller's branding as "ridiculous" Henry Wallace's charge in the current New Republic that an alien applying for citizenship had been asked, "Do you know Henry Wallace?"

"Today, applicants for citizenship are asked all kinds of ridiculous questions," Green stated. "During the war, under the administration of Franklin D. Roosevelt, an effort was made to eliminate prejudiced political questioning of applicants for citizenship. However, since the end of the war, that policy has been reversed.

Today, as a result of the Justice Department's deportation drive and general assault on the Bill of Rights—as reflected most recently in the attempt to turn Ellis Island into America's first concentration camp—naturalization examiners are becoming

Plan Confab to Protest Betrayal of Palestine

An emergency conference of Los Angeles community organizations and trade unions will be held at 8 o'clock tonight (Thurs.) to mobilize mass action in a nationwide protest against United States' reversal of its position on the United Nations decision for partition of Palestine.

Calling the conference is the Los Angeles Cloak Joint Board of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union, in cooperation with the Zionist Emergency Council, the trade union division of the Histadruth, and the Justice for Palestine Committee, a non-sectarian body comprising more than 400 groups.

The mass protest demonstration will be held on the City Hall steps next Thursday afternoon, April 8, the same day as similar events are taking place throughout the country in observance of the nationwide Day of Protest and Prayer, called by the combined orthodox rabbinical and lay organizations of America.

Jewish religious organizations in Palestine, England, South Africa and Australia are also taking part in this effort, which will assume a worldwide character.

End Poll Tax, Urges CRC Head

Abolition of the poll tax is particularly urgent "At this moment in world history," declared Joseph Cadden, executive director of the Civil Rights Congress in testimony last Thursday before the Senate Rules Committee.

Urging swift passage of H. R. 29 in the Senate, Cadden asserted that "disenfranchisement by means of the poll tax is a crime against our Constit-

News Vendors Seek Defeat of Gearhart Bill

Los Angeles News Vendors, Local 75, UOPWA-CIO, today asked all unions and progressive groups to help defeat the anti-labor Gearhart Bill, recently passed by the House and now being considered by Senate Committee.

The bill would exempt many groups of workers, including news vendors, from social security protection and threaten their status as employees. The status of newsboys as employees was established by the U. S. Supreme Court.

William Axelrod, Local 75 Secretary-Treasurer, said that "more workers, rather than fewer, should be protected by social security." He said there is "no group of workers which needs social security more than news vendors."

"The big newspaper publishers and other powerful corporations are sponsoring the Gearhart Bill," said Axelrod, "and if they get away with it, social security benefits soon

Geo. McLain to Speak at Giant Victory Rally

George H. McLain, chairman of the Citizens' Committee for Old Age Pensions and sponsor of the Aged and Blind Aid pension amendments, will be the featured speaker at a giant victory rally celebrating the filing of petitions containing over 330,000 names for the $75 old-age and $85 blind pension measure. The meeting will be held at one o'clock Saturday afternoon, April 3, at 1024 South Grand avenue.

"Our petitions have been filed with county clerks throughout the state," Mr. McLain explained, "The county offices will check the signatures and forward them to the Secretary of State, who requires 204,672 valid signatures to qualify the measure for the ballot.

Urges S. F. to Create Public Works Program

Demand for the creation of a Public Works Program available to all citizens without regard to race, color or creed, within the City and County of San Francisco was made this week by the San Francisco branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

This action was taken as a result of a survey which revealed the rising rate of unemployment in nothern California. Although estimates in-

Moore, Berman File IPP For 14th and 19th C. D.

The candidacies of Sidney Moore and Jacob Berman as third party nominees for the 14th and 19th Congressional districts respectively, were announced by Harper Poulson, IPP official, at a press conference held Friday afternoon at the Hotel Alexandria.

Moore, is International Representative of the United Public Workers, CIO while Berman is a well-known businessman.

In announcing the filing of Moore and Berman to run as candidates on the IPP ticket, Harper Poulson, Southern Regional California Director stated that this action was taken as a defense measure against the possible filing by "hostile elements."

Poulson stated that IPP does not seek to defeat the election of progressive Democrats; does not seek the defeat of all candidates who support the Marshall Plan; and does not make the Marshall Plan the issue on which endorsements are made.

Expressing regret that Representatives Helen G. Douglas and Chet Holifield of the 14th and 19th C. D. did not find it possible to accept IPP's invitation to cross-file for the third party primary, Poulson pointed out that IPP was proud to support such candidates running as Independent Progressives as Judge Stanley Moffatt, 18th C. D.; William Esterman, 30th C. D.; and Maynard Omerberg, 15th C. D.

Wallace Charges American Military Policy Aimed At Political Control Of U.S.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The Administration's military policy aims not at security but is "a political program to control the American people," Henry Wallace charged Tuesday in testimony before the Senate Armed Services Committee.

Predicting that the present military program would lead to total militarization and regimentation of American life at a cost of a lowered standard of living and unlimited war expenditures, Wallace charged that the Administration's military policy is "expensive, wasteful, unbalanced and contradictory."

Declaring that "a sound military policy must be based on sound political objectives," Wallace declared that "if the United States were to reverse the Truman Doctrine with its program of unlimited aggression, then it could develop and carry out a military policy that would truly safeguard national security at a small fraction of present military expenditures."

He called for a return to "the road of good neighborliness, charted by Roosevelt," and urged Americans to work for disarmament, outlawing of the atomic bomb, the promotion of international friendship and "laying the foundations for universal peace through the instrumentality of the United Nations."

In a challenge to his opponents, Wallace said he was "waiting for the industrialists and financiers who now profit from these war preparations" to give real proof that national security is threatened by agreeing to give up profits, dividends and huge salaries until the alleged war emergency ends. He also called on Defense Secretary Forrestal to call for complete abolition of race restrictions.

"When we hear these statements and see the legislation to back them up, then the cry of 'danger' and the crises will no longer be suspected," Wallace said.

Funeral Rites Held Sat. for Famous Scholar

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Funeral services for Dr. Charles Eaton Burch, Chairman of the Department of English at Howard university were held in Andrew Rankin Memorial Chapel at Howard university last Saturday, March 27, at 11:00 a.m. Dr. Daniel G. Hill, Dean of Chapel, officiated and Dr. Mordecai W. Johnson, President of Howard university delivered the eulogy.

Dr. Burch, a well-known scholar in the field of Eighteenth Century English Literature—especially on the life and works of Daniel Defoe—died suddenly in Stamford, Connecticut, March 23.

Numerous articles written by him, which were published in the learned journals of the United States, Great Britain and Germany, established him as one of the leading Defoe scholars in the world.

During the past 15 years, government spending increased 817%; federal revenue 2000%; individual and corporate taxes 4300%; the national debt 1073%; federal employes 250%; and government payroll 500%.—Rep. Hill (Colo).

Protest Small Bond Issue Appropriation for Southside

The South Central Co-ordinating Committee, in a meeting last Tuesday at Wesley chapel, quizzed George Hjelte, representative of the Recreation and Park Commission, on what percentage of a recent $12 million bond issue would be appropriated to meet the recreational needs of Southeast Los Angeles.

When quizzed by Rev. Lloyd Galloway as to "how much of what you promised us when you asked for support of the bond issue are we going to get?" Hjelte replied that there will be about $500,000 spent in the South Central Area, for 7 playgrounds.

Feeling that the allocation is inadequate, the committee pledged to make a survey to determine the recreational needs of the community and facilities which will be necessary to meet the needs; to investigate what the Board of Education Special Services Division offers in facilities and staff, and what the Recreation and Park Commission now affords and is planning; and to make recommendations to the community as to the needs, pointing out that Hjelte's figures are inadequate.

Members of the South Central Co-ordinator Committee include Rev. Lloyd Galloway, Joseph Walker, W. D. Fisher, Charlotta Bass, Dr. W. B. D. Gordon, Rev. J. Raymond Henderson, C. Van Hodges, V. Van Brunt, Josephine Brown, Leon Washington and Clara Towns.

FEMALE DISORDER
PREMATURE OLD AGE — REPRODUCTION — NERVOUSNESS

"Many women suffer from genital derangements. There is undoubtedly no clas of disorder which has so far-reaching an effect upon the nervous system as derangement of the genital organs. Chief among the irritating sources are:

1st. A sluggish state of the blood stream which is productive of congestion in the womb and ovaries, and creates an engorged state which interferes with the normal functioning of these organs.

2nd. The pressure of prolapsed abdominal viscera upon the reproductive organs and the distention and irritation of intestinal gas.

3rd. Repression of the normal instincts and function through psychological resistance, physical malformation, or misplaced position of organs.

4th. Rectal disorders, Piles, Hemorrhoids.

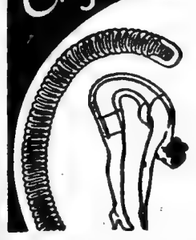
In each individual case you may look for one or more of the above causes, which must be removed if the patient is to enjoy perfect health. The digestive disorders may be corrected through proper attention and the prolapsus caused by weakened muscles of the abdomen may be overcome through development of muscular tone."

"Women who suffer are unhappy. They refelct their entire attitude and in many instances destroy the happiness of their home and family. Those who suffer from painful, scanty, irregular, or profuse periods—uterine fibroids; prolapsed, sagging or misplaced organs; childless, complexes — you would do well to take steps to correct the cause immediately.

It is impossible to estimate the amount of evil caused by an engorged colon (pot-belly), monopolizing several times its allotted space, crowding and hampering other organs in their work."

Dr. Chas. A. Tyrell, M.D., eminent physician, says:

"The most rational and practical manner of dealing with this . . . breeding place of disease is to wash it out. With me it has passed beyond the theoretical stage, for I have in my office fully 15,000 letters from grateful patients who have used this process, under my direction, with the most astounding results; scarcely a disease known to humanity, but has been relieved, and in ninety-five per cent of the cases, cures effected, while tens of thousands of gratifying messages have reached me from time to time; nor is the testimony in its favor confined to the laity, for hundreds of physicians (including some of the most prominent authorities) testify to the wonderful beneficial results achieved by its use."



Daniel C. Munro, M.D., says: "If I were to write the story of all the cases in which colonic irrigations seem to lift the patient from the very jaws of death, it would fill volumes."

whites, and had no rights that he, Rankin, felt bound to respect.

How, Mr. President, can a senator so un-American in his conduct in the Senate, qualify to pass on un-American activities of others?

Consistency, thou art a jewel!

We contend, Mr. President, that you could have put the first nail in the coffin of the Taft-Hartley, slave labor bill. But did you?

As dumb as we are in many things, we know that the simplest definition of the much-talked of Marshall Plan for European recovery, is: Do what we say or starve.

We know that the bloody battle between Jews and Arabs in Palestine, could and would be solved if the United Nations were free from interference by the United States and Great Britain.

What have we to do with these things, you ask?

We know that the struggle for freedom is world-wide, and that what affects a part affects the whole.

The struggle that is being made by 15,000,000 Negroes to free themselves from political subservience and its consequent evils—the poll tax, lynch, rape, the share-cropper etc.—in this country, ties in with the struggle of the so-called guerillas in China, Italy, France, Spain and the other countries in question.

We contend, Mr. President, that Communism is not the threat, but rather these internal evils and their projection into other countries we pretend to protect and defend, are the real impediments blocking the road to peace.

Statistics Cite Extent Of Free Hospital Care

Statistics released by the Social Service Department of the Mt. Sinai-Duarte National Medical Center today revealed that more than 88,000 free hospital days of care were given last year to patients of the Los Angeles Sanatorium, in Duarte, California. The Sanatorium, operated by the Mt. Sinai National Medical Center, is now in the midst of a building expansion program which will make it the largest institution of its kind in the world when completed.

The medical center gives care and treatment to victims of long-term illness such as cancer, tuberculosis, heart disease, rheumatic fever, and non-tuberculous chest ailments. Patients from every state in the union, Alaska, Hawaii, the Philippine Islands and several foreign countries, have received care.

Americans In Mexico Rally To Campaign For Wallace

BY PAT CARTER
(Special EAGLE Correspondent)

The first general meeting of a Wallace-For-President Club brought immediate and enthusiastic response from 50 progressive U. S. citizens in Mexico. Among the charter members are Raquel Rojas, the young U. S. citizen who has become a famous star in Mexican movies; and Frank F. Wilson, survivor of the Bataan Death March and 3½ years in Japanese Prison camps.

The Club hopes to influence the some 10,000 Americans living in Mexico City to exercise absentee ballot privileges and the expected 1500 to 2000 summer school students who will return to the United States in time for the November elections.

The first impetus for the formation of the group came from the Mexicans themselves who look on Wallace as a man whom they can trust and who will assist Latin American countries not as a supporter of dollar diplomacy, but as a truly "good neighbor."

This interest for Wallace has been manifested in the Amigos de Wallace groups, Friends of Wallace, of which two have so far been formed. One is in Guadajara, Jalisco, and another in Mexico City under the leadership of Juan Ortega Arenas, who is planning to issue an invitation to Wallace to visit Mexico again.

People everywhere are aware of the international significance of the coming elections. Americans wearing Wallace-for-President buttons are approached in the street, on buses, in restaurants by congratulating Mexicans who again and again have said, "We hope you Americans realize how much Wallace's victory would mean to us, because not only is he against imperialism and interested in our problems but he is the first high U. S. official who took the trouble to learn to speak our language in anticipation of a visit to our country."

Educator Urges U. S. Practice Democracy Here

WINTER PARK, FLORIDA — Charging that America can never assume a role of effective leadership in international affairs and guide the world to peace until she adopts a just democratic policy toward her Negro minority, Dr. William H. Gray, Jr., President of Florida A. and M. college spoke to 500 persons here last Thursday on the John Martin Lecture Series sponsored by a faculty committee of Rollins College.

Dr. Gray, one of the first Negroes to appear on this established lecture series, pointed out that the policies followed by America in her treatment of the Negro people have made for internal discord and has hampered her effectiveness abroad.

21 Institutes to Discuss Pressing World Problems

PHILADELPHIA—Twenty-one Institutes of International Relations, at which pressing international problems will be discussed, will be sponsored by the American Friends Service Committee on a nationwide basis this summer, it was announced today.

Faculty members will include Ruth Benedict, anthropologist of Columbia University; Bertram Wolfe, lecturer and author of several books, including Civil War in Spain, and Diego Rivera, His Life and Times; Maynard Krueger, professor of economics of the University of Chicago; Milton Mayer, assistant to the Chancellor of the University of Chicago; Amiya Chakravarty, professor of English of Calcutta University, India, and visiting lecturer at Howard niversity for the next school term; Kirby Page, author and lecturer; and Valery Tereshtenko, former UNRRA official in Russia.

Topics for consideration include the relations of American economic resources to world affairs, the relation of America's domestic problems to world affairs, American-Soviet relations, the United Nations and World government, non-violent approaches to current international tensions and the relation of morality to peace. These subjects will be analyzed from the points of views of economics, religion, sociology and pacifism. Two outstanding Indian leaders will discuss the future of India and its role in the world, and the life of Mahatma Gandhi and its meaning for mankind.

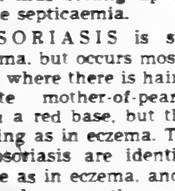
SKIN DISORDER

Read what this famous doctor says:

ECZEMA: This disease is due to irritants in the fluids of the body which seek an outlet through the skin and mucous membranes. Eczema is characterized by extreme itching, making it a very discomforting and irritating disease. The skin is scaly and generally exudes a serum, making an additional danger of easy infection from outside bacteria. I have had many very serious cases of infection starting with eczema which was poisoned by scratching bacteria into the irritated skin, thus setting up a state of acute septicaemia.

PSORIASIS is similar to eczema, but occurs mostly on the skin where there is hair growing. White mother-of-pearl scales form a red base, but there is no itching as in eczema. The causes of psoriasis are identically the same as in eczema, and the cure depends upon the same treatment. The hair will come out in patches if this disease is not arrested quickly. Local treatment will get wonderfully quick results, but the disease is never cured until the systemic causes are removed.



ACNE, blackheads, pimples, scales, pustules, crusts and inflammatory redness, appearing mostly on the face and back. These disorders are especially liable to appear at the age of puberty, because of the systemic changes taking place at that time. The underlying cause is, however, an unwholesome state of blood, produced by dietetic errors. Constipation exists in nearly every case, and poor circulation of blood to the parts affected is often present. A contributing cause is often stoppage of the pores and sebaceous glands. The cure depends upon the elimination of those excess materials in the blood stream which have produced the disease.

Dr. Chas. A. Tyrell, M.D., eminent physician, says:

"The most rational and practical manner of dealing with this . . . breeding place of disease is to wash it out. With me, it has passed beyond the theoretical stage, for I have in my office fully 15,000 letters from grateful patients who have used this process, under my direction, with the most astounding results; scarcely a disease known to humanity, but has been relieved, and in ninety-five per cent of the cases, cures effected, while tens of thousands of gratifying messages have reached me from time to time; nor is the testimony in its favor confined to the laity, for hundreds of physicians (including some of the most prominent authorities) testify to the wonderful beneficial results achieved by its use."

Thrifty Drug to Sponsor Matinees at Beatty Circus

Completely refurbished, yet changless as the spring, America's largest trained wild animal show, the great Clyde Beatty three-ring circus, is once again in Los Angeles at the Washington and Hill streets circus area for a limited run.

Local Thrifty Drug Stores are making available to their customers seats at the matinee performances at just half of the regular price. These reduced price tickets will enable Thrifty patrons to buy the regular $1.20 seats for 50c, plus 6c Federal tax for adults; and 25c plus 10c Federal tax for children, offering them unprecedented savings on one of the greatest and most exciting shows ever to play on the West Coast. Half price tickets will be honored Mondays through Saturdays at the matinee performances only.

In addition to the half-priced Thrifty tickets, a special reserved seat ticket booth for evening performances has been set up at the Thrifty Drug Store at 427 South Broadway, in downtown Los Angeles.

Highlighting the two-hour, star-studded program is Clyde Beatty, world's foremost wild animal trainer, who appears in person at every performance with the world's largest group of performing jungle - bred lions and tigers.

Daring death twice daily in the mammoth steel arena, Beatty presents a startling and thrilling exhibition exemplifying man's dominance over the most savage, cruel, blood-thirsty and ferocious beasts of the jungle.

Negro Newsmen Fare Well On White Dailies

The best and most concrete evidence of the forthright news coverage and honest reporting colored America reads in the Negro press is indicated by the growing number of Negro journalists who have been lured away from colored newspapers by white dailies, it was pointed out this week.

Dean of sixteen Negro newsmen who currently get top assignments on the big metropolitan newspapers without regard for race, is Ted Poston of the NEW YORK POST. Poston, who previously worked with the PITTSBURGH COURIER, is still famous in news circles for his exclusive interview with Wendell Willkie in 1940.

In addition to LIFE magazine which employs EX-AMSTERDAM NEWS reporter Earl Brown, local white dailies in Cleveland, Toledo, Chicago, and St. Louis, also employ colored journalists. Most Negro newsmen are hired by the Communist DAILY WORKER, which employs two colored reporters. THE TIMES and HERALD TRIBUNE in New York each employ one.

Smaller newspapers regularly employing Negro reporters are the FORT WAYNE (Indiana) NEWS SENTINEL and the ILLINOIS JOURNAL AND REGISTER.

Council on African Affairs Condemns US Imperialist Policy

The Council on African Affairs, meeting in New York last week adopted a statement of policy which condemned in no uncertain terms the part which the United States is playing in maintaining and extending imperialist control of Africa by the nations of Europe.

"It is the United States which is decisive in determining Africa's immediate future," says the statement. "Without American loans and credits, without the political backing of the Truman administration at Lake Success and London, Paris, Brussels, and the Hague; and without the military assistance of the United States already granted or promised, the European Colonial powers could not now maintain in the imperialist control they exercise in Africa and other colonial areas.

"In helping Britain, Belgium, and the Netherlands to hold on to their empires, the United States government hopes to keep these far-flung colonial areas, as well as their European rulers, within the American sphere of influence and the "American way of life."

The purpose of the Council, says the statement, is to bring to public attention the truth about present-day Africa. It is now in the 11th year of its work, and lists among its accomplishments of the past decades such activities as: rallying support for the rights of oppressed African workers during the strike in Nigeria in 1946, and the general strike a year later of over 60,000 gold-mine workers; providing detailed information of conditions in Africa to the United Nations, publicizing its promises and its failure to keep those promises, and pressing for UN action against South Africa's vicious code of "white supremacy" and its attempt to annex South West Africa; organizing a campaign for collecting food and money to relieve thousands of starving Africans in South Africa—the only help given them from the outside world.

The U. S. is not only helping European nations to keep control of Africa, says the Council of African Affairs. "On an increasing scale American corporation . . . are reaping profits in many section of Africa. Most of the uranium ore from the Belgian Congo is shipped to the U. S., and the Marshall Plan provides that the U. S. may get whatever ray materials it needs from the colonies of the Marshall Plan countries."

The decisive part which America is thus playing in making Africa a base for imperialist concentration must be made known to the American people, agreed the Council, and this must be done by every means possible whether or not the Council is labeled "Communist" or "subversive."

"To shirk this task,," maintained the Council, "would be shameful cowardice. More, it would represent betrayal of the people of Africa and tacit sanctioning of their further enslavement."

"The present war-engendering anti-Soviet policy," the statement continued, "must be replaced by a policy of cooperation toward a common world goal of peace, security, and democracy. This can be accomplished through a strengthened United Nations, and by giving people everywhere food if they need it, tools and knowledge with which to work and the right to govern themselves without outside interference."

There were 21 members of the Council in attendance at the meeting. The statement of policy was adopted unanimously.

Paul Robeson, chairman; Wm. Jay Schieffelin, vice-chairman; and Dr. Max Yergan, executive director, were all re-elected to office. In addition Mrs. Estelle Riddle Osborne was elected treasurer, and W. A. Hunton, secretary.

Carver Life Insurance Co. Offers 7500 Voting Shares In Final Public Stock Sale

California's newest life insurance company, the Carver National Life Insurance Company, a state corporation owned and operated by Negroes, starts its final public stock sale of 7500 shares, this week, according to an announcement made today by Bertrand B. Bratton, president, and Dr. Daniel A. Collins, chairman of the Board of Directors.

Already, more than $250,000 worth of stock has been sold, with only $150,000 remaining on the market before the company applies for a Certificate of Authority to begin doing business as a life insurance company as originally planned under the jurisdiction and supervision of the Department of Insurance of California.

The initial stock sale represents what is claimed to be the largest single investment by Negroes in this state in a new company.

In an interview this week, Bratton who is widely known as a Certified Public Accountant and former supervising auditor of the State Board of Equalization, said:

"There is a growing recognition that the Negro people of California—those who have been here for long years and those who have come only recently—must pool their resources and thus make individual and collective contributions to the building of this great Western region.

"Carver National provides an opportunity not only for a sound investment," he continued, "but adds to the growing list of important and adequately financed Negro business.

Bratton said that the company's first pledge is to use the talents of capable young men and women throughout the state in its personnel, thereby providing added employment possibilities for the youth.

"The company's second pledge," he continued, is to use the accumulated reserves and wealth for the general benefit of the Negro population of the state. Carver National will take its place as the first old line company to be organized and developed by Negroes in California."

Home office of the new corporation is in Oakland, with the main branch in Los Angeles.

Among the newly elected officers are: B. B. Bratton, president; Dr. Daniel A. Collins, only Negro instructor at the University of California Dental college, San Francisco; Wm. C. Faulkner, Los Angeles deputy sheriff, secretary of the Masonic Lodge; Karl F. Kimbrough, official, San Francisco Credit Union; Wesley Johnson, hotel owner, San Francisco; Ura D. Harvel, former Kansas school principle, retail store owner, Berkeley;

Wm. Sharpe, former field representative of Chicago Tailoring Company, business agent for the Shipfitters and Helpers Union in San Francisco; John Ware, retail store owner, Oakland, for 11 years an insurance agent; Edmund Allen, actuary-comptroller for Atlanta Life Insurance Company and Victory Life, now with Carver in the same capacity.

Local offices of the Carver National Life Insurance Company are located at 2514½ South Central avenue. The deadline date for purchase of the remaining stock is set at June 30.

The television industry has been working quietly for some time to select and standardize on one screen color for home receiver "picture tubes." The color finally selected is "daylight white," decided upon because of public preference rather than technical advantages.

Acclaims NAACP Endorsement of Housing Drive

Statewide endorsement by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People is giving added impetus to the Housing Initiative campaign, Rt. Rev. Msgr. Thomas J. O'Dwyer, chairman of the housing drive revealed this week.

With the local NAACP, the Los Angeles Negro Congress, the Benjamin Bowie Post of the American Legion and many other minority, veteran, labor, civic and women's groups supporting the drive for 205,000 signatures to place the measure on the November ballot, Msgr. O'Dwyer indicated that prospects for a successful campaign are very good.

Other statewide organizations that are backing the campaign for 100,000 rental units that will be available to low and middle income groups without discrimination because of color, race or creed, include the Leage of women Voters, the CIO, AFL, American Veterans Committee, League of California Housing Authorities, Townsend Organizations, Dept. of California Jewish War Veterans, Americans for Democratic Action, and a number of others.

20 Minute Film Depicts Struggle For Independence

"Indonesia Calling," a 20 minute film directed by Joris Ivens and produced by the Australasian Film Syndicate, is the only film extant showing the forces involved in the battle of Indonesia — the Spain of the Pacific.

A factual documentary of the Australian worker's support to the people of Indonesoc in resisting the recolonization of their country, this 20 minute film is available for showing with a speaker, if desired.

Devout Worshippers Glorify God in Dawn Easter Service

Easter was greeted at dawn last Sunday by devout worshippers at St. John Baptist church.

The morning Resurrection presentation at 11 a.m. was wrapped up in the cloak of the Holy Spirit. The senior choir, under the flawless direction of Madam Revere Green, sang gloriously. Through their music, truly men were edified and God was glorified. Madam Green's interpretation of "Awake Thou that Sleepeth" by J. Stainer, was a gripping masterpiece; her interpretation of "Were You There" swept the entire audience. The music was narrated by Rev. J. A. Brooks.

The message, brought by our beloved Pastor, Rev. J. Sydell Peterson, inspired those who heard to look up, to love, to live, an dto lift. At the close of his masterful delivery twelve persons joined our church.

Acute Medical Care For Kiddies Sparks Hospital Campaign

The preliminary plans for a $5,000,000 building campaign for the Children's hospital in Los Angeles were well underway this week with the appointments of Robert F. Niven, secretary of the Union Oil company of California, as campaign chairman, and Rear Admiral Ralston S. Holmes, ret. of Los Angeles, as vice chairman.

Mrs. Albert Crutcher, president emeritus of the hospital and chairman of the expansion program, stated that the campaign is of particular interest to residents of Southern California because of the mounting increase of days of service given child patients from this area.

In the Hamilton Survey a full expansion of medical services for children was pointed out as a dire necessity in Southern California.

Matchless Kitchen Scene Of Meeting

The members of the Sallie W. Stewart Federated Club held their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Lucy Austin, 1238 E. Santa Barbara Ave., March 11. Due to the illness of the president, Mrs. Claudia Jernegan, the meeting was presided over by Mrs. Reflee People, vice president.

A dinner was served by the hostesses, Mesdames India Brown, Mary Thompson and Lucy Austin. The next meeting will be held at the "Matchless Kitchen," 3956 Wilshire Blvd., on April 13 at 10:30 a.m. All members and friends are urged to be present.

four shootings within the last 18 months. All the victims were Mexican-Americans who were not charged with any crime. The delegation also wanted to tell the District Attorney of the alarm of the community at the marked increase in police brutality, shootings and false arrests. That this concern has a basis in fact has been borne out by the fatal shooting March 23 of 22-year-old Leroy Stalcup by five police bullets. Stalcup was unarmed and had no record.

Groups sponsoring tonight's meeting include the Los Angeles Civil Rights Congress, Los Angeles Negro Congress, Los Angeles CIO Council, the 40th and 44th Assembly District PCA, American Youth for Democracy and the Mexican American Civil Rights Committee.

Appointed Field Representative

According to a statement released this week by H. A. Howard, president and general manager of The Broadway Federal Savings and Loan Association of Los Angeles, John E. Hargrove, prominent civic and labor leader of this city was designated a Field Representative for this Business Organization at a recent meeting of its Executive Committee.

Hargrove aided in the early organization of the associaeion and it is felt he will be of invaluable service to the Broadway Federal Savings and Loan Association because of his extensive, diversified and nationwide contacts.

tution and our form of government. No democracy, no republican form of government is possible so long as there is minority rule in the seven poll tax states," he said.

The Civil Rights Congress officer contended that while in modern times the poll tax has prevented growth of the Republican Party in the South, it is aimed this year at preventing "any sizeable vote for Henry Wallace in these Southern states."

put us, (the U. S. government into.) He said the decision to partition Palestine was reversed, not in the interest of justice and peace proclaimed loud and long by the politicians, but in the interest of the American oil trusts' monopoly in the Middle East, and to appease the feudal Arab sheiks and keep them on our side in the present dangerous cold war.

In speaking of our foreign policy recovery program, Senator Taylor had this to say: "We are talking aid but in action demanding subserviency to American monopoly."

He pointed out that under the Marshall Plan we will rebuild Germany's war potential, and bring about a lower standard of living in Europe in 1952 (the termination year of the program) than in 1938, the year prior to the outbreak of World War II.

Senator Taylor declared this is in accord with the Republican policy of Vandenberg, Dulles, Hoover, and Wall street.

So far removed from the Roosevelt Party is the Truman administration that no connecting link can be found.

Millions of people have labored under the false illusion that the Democratic Party of Harry Truman is following the path set by the Democratic Party of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The advent of the Third Party and its choice of Henry Wallace as its presidential candidate is serving as an awakening of the real meaning of the Truman Doctrine and the Marshall Plan — aid to those who side with the Truman war program and Marshall's support of the terrorists who wage a war on all the American people who believe in — a better lige for all Americans, the kind of life described and advocated by Henry Wallace — a world free from race prejudice and with equal opportunity for life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness.

The singing Senator from Idaho, Glen Taylor's speech here was like a refreshing shower after a drought of many weeks. He described in plain English the nation's present sickness and prescribed the cure.

And definitely the cure is not found in the Truman Doctrine war program, nor in the Marshall Plan's aid to the obedient.

Policy Change

Commissioner Franklin D. Richards of the Federal Housing Administration today announced significant and fundamental chages in administrative regulations governing FHA's Title I property improvement loans to individuals. Under the new amendments to the regulations, effective April 20, a cash down payment of 10 per cent of the cost of the proposed improvements will be required from the borrower on all such loans. Heretofore, no down payment has been required.

It was emphasized by Commissioner Richards that these amendments requiring the 10 per cent down payment apply only to the two types of transactions known as Class 1 and Class 2 loans, made to finance property improvements and the building of small non-residential structures.

"They do not affect Title I Class 3 loans made by private lending institutions for the building of small homes," said Mr. Richards.

dicates that the general unemployment rate for San Francisco county ranges between 7 and 9 per cent, unemployment among Negroes, the county's largest minority group, ranges from 32 to 37 per cent.

"This lack of equitable employment opportunities for minohities can be attributed to the failure of private industry to employ without regard to race, color or creed," the NAACP declared.

more open in displaying their personal political and anti-democratic projudices.

"The American people must demand an end to the terrorization of the non-citizen since such persecution jeopardizes the democratic rights of all Americans. The American people must demand a program to encourage and to facilitate the naturalization of all 3,000,000 non-citizens now in the United States without discrimination as to race, color, creed, political beliefs, or place of birth."

I feel certain that I voice the deep regret of every active defender of the Bill of Rights that your Board should fail to support the principles of free speech and assembly in the case of Langston Hughes.

That a college should deny these fundamental guarantees of our Constitution, particularly in these days of hysteria, is the more to be deplored. Have you forgotten Professor Einstein's indictment of the German universities as "loudly professing liberty," but failing to fight for it when the crisis approached in the name of patriotism?

We hope that in the future Occidental College may be counted upon to support the Bill of Rights and thus combat a growing American Fascism.

Henry Wallace-Glenn Taylor

In the same Gilmore stadium where some 30,000 people shouted "Wallace in '48" less than a year ago, thousands more met last Monday evening to hail Senator Glen Taylor, candidate for vice-presinedt on the same ticket that Wallace is now running for President of the United States.

The meeting was held under the auspices of the Independent Progressive Party of California, the Progressive Citizens of America, the Democrats for Wallace, and other liberal and progressive groups.

The threatening skies, the few days' time in which to work up an attendance made the outlook for success appear gloomy.

"We would have considered this meeting a success if only 8000 had come," said one leader. More than 12,000 had gone through the turn-stiles, it was announced later.

Those thousands were still enthusiastic and more determined than ever that there should be a change of faces in the White House come next November. They applauded vigorously when Senator Taylor accused Truman's foreign policy as being that of the Republican Party, "of Vandenburgh, of Dulles, of Hoover, and of Wall street."

"The President has talked much of an 'honorable peace with justice' ", said Senator Taylor. "But how does he act to get peace? By a steady stream of official propaganda for a cold war, by sending out ships and planes and soldiers, to every remote corner of the earth, by putting military men into every possible office not filled by a monopolist, . . . by undercutting the peace making machinery of the United Nations.

"What is the Truman doctrine of aid? It is aid for all those who will side with us in a war, cold or hot. What has it done? It has paid to the military budget of Turkey, which supplied the Nazis with war materials to shoot American soldiers during the war.

"And there is Palestine. The United States agreed with other nations to the partition of Palestine between the Arabs and the Jews. . . . And now the decision has been reversed. In the interests of peace and justice to all concerned? Not at all. In the interest of preserving the American oil trusts' monolopy in the Middle East. In the interest of appeasing feudal Arab shieks and keeping them on our side in a dangerous cold war."

Senator Taylor read from a prepared statement at first. Then, that out of the way, he settled down with manifest pleasure and to the delight of his audience into a hemely talk interspersed with cowboy common sense and given with a delicious cowboy twang in his voice.

"We musn't blame those generals and big monopolists too much, now, you know," he remarked easily. "You see they had all the gold braid and front pages in the newspapers, big salaries, and the monopolists were making maney hand over fist, all during the war. Then after the war, why, all that ended. And they found themselves suddenly without a job. Now of course they want another war. So they can make money again. And be in the limelight again."

"But WE mustn't let 'em," he warned, and his voice lost its easy quality and became hard and stern. "We common people must see to it that those militarists and monopolists are kicked out of office. Kicked out for keeps. And we've got to put OUR people into power. Put the man in the White House whose whole life is dedicated to the service of the common people, everywhere. Here in America first. Over in Europe. All over the world. That man is Henry Wallace."

Of course the crowd went wild at the mention of Henry Wallace. And if any leader of the Democratic Party has had any doubts of the efficacy of that name in getting votes—the one and only thing that counts on election day—his doubts must surely have been dispelled if he attended the Glen Taylor meeting last Monday evening.

Students were there from schools and colleges. Enthusiasts paraded around the stadium, bearing banners. They sang. They shouted. People came from far away. They brought their rain coats, their umbrellas, their overshoes. They sat huddled together, wrapped in blankets. They stayed until 11:30 at night, and would have stayed longer if they hadn't had to get up to go to work the next day.

Yes, it was a great success, that meeting. It was a success because it showed the determniation of the people who are for Wallace, a determniation born of bitter experience that they will not be sold down the river again. And the little man in the White House wold better hear and take warning. So should all his political friends. If the Democratic Party doesn't want to suffer the worst defeat ever recorded in history, it better get rid of Truman and adopt Wallace.

Let's Be Real Americans

All the talk about a war with Russia just doesnt' make sense.

Some say you remember how we sent scrap iron and oil to Japan to use against us in the last war. Now in the case of Russia and her "satellites," we must refuse to sell them airplane engines and any other war materials.

On our side of the world it seems that a concerted effort is being made to scare up a war with Russia.

While we are trying to make war, the Soviet Union seems busy establishing national peace by encouraging industry all along lines.

There are no big capitalists in Russia who own oil wells, as in the United States or nearby, that must be protected if necessary at the expense of another war.

The real issue, if we care to acknowledge it, is an unhampered trade relationship between Russia and the United States. This would create a better understanding between the two governments. (Not a hopeful outlook, but a possibility.)

It has been pointed out that if we close or hamper trade relations with Russia, it is within her province to cease trade relations with Western Europe. And Western Europe, even with the backing of the Marshall Plan, needs to exchange goods with the rest of the continent to survive.

So we say, "Let's be real, and stop thinking that our Russian neighbors are fooled either by our false propaganda about them coming over to overthrow our government, or our willingness to sell anything except war goods."

It is the opinion of The California EAGLE that when the American people understand the real meaning of the Marshall Plan, the Truman Doctrine, and the Communist bogeman, they will realize that there is no occasion for military combat with "ye friendly neighbor" Russia.

The Wallace Boom

The tickets boosting Henry Wallace for president and Glen Taylor for vice-president will be on the ballot for the voters of America to choose in 46 states of the Union, it was announced this week. Those two states are Florida and Ohio, where complications will probably prevent getting the names of the new party on the ballot.

Filing dates range all the way from March—in California and New Jersey—to October for Mississippi and Tennessee. Both California and New Jersey have already qualified—how gloriously California crossed the line those who helped secure the almost half million signatures necessary can testify.

But in any case the race is on. The boom for Wallace for president has not slackened. Even in states that are not organized fully, individuals are putting their sholders to the wheel and pushing hard and steadily. Its' all piling up for next November—a landslide if we keep on working as hard as we have been the past few months.

A New Prediction

According to The California Commentator, a new thought wave is sweeping the continent. The world has become a gigantic fish bowl in which no one, no matter who he is or where he lives—will be able to prevent the detection and recording of his innermost thoughts.

Just last week Senator Jack Tenney requested $15,000 of California tax payers' money to carry on further his smear campaign against certain individuals and organizations.

Science is moving in the right direction. Such a discovery as the Commentator mentioned will not only cut down the expense of maintaining a Tenny Committee, but will likewise project persons of honest endeavor to make the world safe for Democracy against those who would destroy freedom of speech, thought, press, and religious worship.

THINGS I SEE

By Marian Inglewood

It was a most beautiful, colorful, and impressive ceremony last Saturday afternoon in the patio of the old Plaza Church—the blessings of the animals by Father Zapatero.

It is a most sacred and a dear custom, it was explained, in loving memory of the time when the people brought their cattle to the Lord to help build a church in the little new pueblo of Los Angeles.

You remember, you who know your history of Los Angeles, that the mission of San Gabriel was first established. Then came the founding of Los Angeles, when a few families trudged all the way from San Gabriel—nine miles—to build a new town in the wilds of California.

A painting on the outside wall of the church, which forms part of the patio, depicts this scene of the founding of L. A. The inscription reads: "September 4, 1781, an expedition set out from San Gabriel to found the Pueblo de Nuestra Senora la Reina de Los Angeles. When the selected spot was reached the Padres blessed the great Cross and prayed God's blessing on the new pueblo."

"The ceremony was witnessed by Don Felipe de Neve," remarks the inscription. And in the painting Don Felipe is shown, proudly erect on his horse, watching the Padres bless the Cross while a few Indians look on in silent wonder.

But there was no church for this new little pueblo. Those who wanted to attend mass had to go all the way to San Gabriel. Quite a long trip those days, when you had to walk or ride in a slow moving ox-cart.

So of course the logical thing to do was to build a church in the new pueblo. But then, as now, the wherewithal to build was siarce. That is, the money to purchase the material, not the material itself, was scarce. And it also took money to pay for labor, even if wages were virtually only a few cents a day, and if much of it the labor was given as a volunutary offering.

So, to supply this much needed wherewithal, the owners of the cattle ranches round about the pueblo brought cattle to the plaza in Los Angeles. There were 500, all told. They brought $5 per head, a total of $2500. And with this sum the Old Plaza Church was started.

The animals were blessed before they were sold, of course. Blessed because their sale was to contribute to so holy a project as the building of a curch.

The "Benediction de los Animals" last Saturday afternoon commerated this offering of some century and a half ago. It also called to mind the service that animals give to mankind, as pets or in work.

And so they came, in a wonderful procession through the patio. A dignified cow led the way, a garland of flowers around her neck. Horses and donkeys and goats. One donkey very docile, another acting just like a donkey. Doves and canaries. Dogs and tiny puppies. Little kids stepping daintily and soft cuddly lambs. Sedate pedigreed cats and funny little kittens. Gold fish. Bunnies. A rooster, who just wouldn't hold its head up and look like the cock 'o the walk, no matter how much his little mistress coaxed him to look spry.

They were all beribboned and almost covered with flowers. A duck wore a funny little Mexican hat, and kept poking his head up above the box in which he was carried in a way which brought chuckles of amusement from the thousand or more animals—lovers assembled to see the ceremony.

One little kitten, carried on a cushion, had just got its eyes open and was gazing in wonder at this strange world it had come to. A turtle, carried aloft on the hand of its little owner, kept working its flippers as if trying its best to get away.

Upon them all Father Zauatero bestowed his blessings, and sprinkled them with holy water. Jesus blessed the little children, you know. You knew as you watched that it was His representative in the patio of the old Plaza church that was blessing the little children's pets.

The pets themselves did not understand everything, of course. A few looked interested, some were frightened. And all looked very, very warm. It was a very warm day last Saturday afternoon. They helped in a good cause, however, besides commemorating the time when cattle helped to build the Plaza church. A voluntary offering was taken for the Society for the prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

Then to cap the climax, an announcement was made that refreshments would be served in Olvera street. For the animals!

The Soviet Union Shows How To Fight Inflation

BY PAUL FRENCH

When we wrote last week against the State Department story that "the value of Soviet money was about to collapse," and urged readers to "wait and see if it does not prove to be a lie," we made that statement with the full knowledge of the inflation existing, not only in the Soviet Union, but in all countries whose finances had been affected by the war.

Unless the reader is "vaccinated" with some very essential facts, he may jump to the conclusion that we were wrong when we said it was a lie that "the value of Soviet money" was about "to collapse," because, since then, the Soviet government has taken steps to issue new money for old money, and to readjust finances in such way as gives those who want to lie about it a chance to misrepresent the real meaning of what has been done.

However, that we were not wrong, but entirely correct, can and will be proven in this column. Hence let us look at the essential facts.

The only money which has real "value" is metal money; because only labor gives any real value to anything, including money, and metal money is the only kind of money requiring labor of any substantial amount to produce it. Paper money has no intristic value of its own, other than that of so much paper. Yet, we know that some pieces of paper are (very inaccurately) said to have a "value" of one dollar, other pieces of paper to have a "value" of five, ten, twenty, and so on, up to a thousand dollars.

Apparently puzzling as it seems, this can be reduced to some simple principles. Money has two very separate and distinct functions. First, it must serve as a "measure of value." But, as paper has no value itself, and only metal money does have intristic value; only metal money, usually gold, because of its relative scarcity and durability, can possibly serve as a "measure of value" of all other commodities. It is from the amount of labor time spent in producing an ounce of gold, therefore, that the dollar, or the franc or the ruble acquires this "measure" of the real, or labor value embodied in all other commodities.

But the second function of money is to serve as a "medium of exchange." And here we run smack up against the fact that there is not enough gold in the world, or in any one country, to serve as a "medium of Exchange," because the production of gold remains small, while the production of commodities of all kinds, from fish to factories and from shoe-strings to steamboats, has grown far and away beyond the production of gold. Therefore, paper money is printed, to serve as "tokens" (in dollars, francs, rubles and so on) of the gold "measure" in the exchange of all commodities.

Now, this sounds like a good idea. But it can run into trouble. So long as there are commodities produced and existing, to exchange for every paper dollar that is printed, then that paper dollar has what is called a "value" that is "stable" in the relation to all commodities for sale. But it can lose such "stable value" in either of two circumstances.

First, if, let us say, half the commodities were suddenly destroyed, by fire, war or some such disaster. Or, secondly, if the amount of paper money were suddenly doubled, for example. In either case, the paper money would, by its "face value," be twice as much as was needed, formerly, to serve as "medium of exchange" for all commodities at this moment existing. Therefore, where a chair, let us say, used to sell for "one dollar," either the over-supply of dollars, or the under-supply of chairs, would compel a rise in price (not of real "value"), so it would sell for "two dollars."

Now then, what has taken place in all countries, not just in the Soviet Union, is that vast amounts of "money" (and this includes war bonds, because they are in fact paper "money"(used to finance war production, have greatly increased the "medium of exchange." And, at the same time, hundreds of billions of dollars in real value, in the form of goods produced for war, have been destroyed, blown up, burned up and rusted away.

Thus we have enormous amounts of paper "money," including war bonds, in circulation and therefore to be equated as "medium of exchange" with only those commodities not destroyed and those being currently produced. Hence both factors which cause inflation take effect at once; there is both an under-supply of commodities in relation to the amount of the "medium of exchange," and there is an over-supply of paper money in relation to things produced and on sale. Therefore the price (not the real or labor value) of everything is "up," doubled or more, multiplied in some cases, from the former prices.

This, then, is the real cause of inflation, and takes place according to economic law, entirely separately and apart from capitalist "profit," which goes on whether there is inflation or not in prices. Because it had vast destruction of war goods (and also paper money brought in by the Germans), the USRR had inflation, although it has no "profit system." America has inflation, too, with the capitalist profit system, because of destroyed war production and the vast amount of war bonds and paper money. The difference lies in what is done, and what is left undone, about inflation.

When, and to such measure, as inflation is allowed to go on increasing, the so-called "value" of paper money "collapses." Nothing is being done to stop inflation in the United States, and the value of our dollars goes right on "collapsing." Only in the Soviet Union, in the recent financial changes, is something being done to stop the "collapse" of the "value" of money. Hence, when the State Department claimed that the "value of Soviet money was about to collapse," this was a lie; for by these measures the "collapse" was stopped and inflation really cured. Soviet money was given value more than it formerly had.

These measures, if studied, show that they greatly benefit the common people; and hurt only a few people who thought themselves "clever" and had hoarded paper "money" with selfish aims of speculation. Of course, here in America, where the bankers who hoards billions in war bonds also control the government, this sure cure for inflation will not be allowed. We will go on increasing inflation and grabbing as "prosperity," until we end up in an awful economic bust. America's common working people will suffer from that. But they need not believe the lie which say the Soviet cure for inflation is something bad. By curing inflation, the Soviet government has helped every one of its citizens who works for his or her living.

Demand for the passage of an anti-lynching bill by April 15 was made last week on the floor of Congress by Representative Adam Clayton Powell, Jr. of New York.

Charging that the bi-partisan jimcro policy, Powell advised both parties to forget the solid south. "In 40 years," said Powell, "every president of the United States could have been elected without one vote from the Southern bloc."

Powell also charged that America has "staged a program in the Holy Land."

He Speaks Again

In the early history of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, Arthur B. Spingarn's voice was heard denouncing lynching.

Mr. Spingarn speaks again. He says, "No Anti-Lynch law, no FEPC will be passed in this session of the Congress."

We agree with the NAACP president. Our Congress is too busy with European matters to take care of such small affairs as lynching and the FEPC at home.

One Man's Opinion

Southern Democrats will not bolt their party because they have no other place to go. This is the opinion of Dr. Joseph P. Harris, professor of political science at the University of California, Berkeley. Threats to bolt the party are simply part of the effort, says Dr. Harris, to defeat passage of antilynching, poll tax, and anti-segregation laws in Congress.

W. J. Wheaton Says

"It might be that I don't understand, or I'm too thickheaded to understand," says Mary Ann. The table had been cleared, and Mary Ann had drawn up her chair for our usual chat.

"What's on your mind," we asked.

"Well for one thing, I can't understand all this war talk. When I have Little Mary Ann or one of her girl friends read me the news, all I hear is how many Jews or Arabs had been killed in the fighting in the Holy Land. They say that the very road on which He carried the Cross is made a battlefield where dying and dead men lay.

"Then comes the word that this Country and the Russians are gritting their teeth and doubling up their fists for a fight. Seems to me that when they see all those rows of white crosses that amrk the graves of young fellows in this last war, that they would think twice before striking again."

"Yes, Mary Ann, we heartily agree with you," we said.

Continuing, Mary Ann said, "I don't mean to say that if I'm smacked on one side of the face I'm going to turn the other side to get smacked: Oh no!! There must be some way for civilized people to settle their troubles other than by killing one another.

"Now don't misunderstand me. I don't say I'll not hit back. I only said I would reason. Killing doesn't settle anything."

As she spoke, we thought of the billions of dollars the United States is spending to rehabilitate the vanquished.

"I should think sensible, thinking people would find some way to keep from killing each other, and bringing sorrow and grief, poverty and crime; for crime always follows war," said Mary Ann.

We agreed. In the short time that has elapsed since the close, or end of hostilities, there has been an increase in crime of 50 per cent. Most of them youths.

Mary Ann's remark about the church taking a firm stand to eradicate certain evils and assume leadership in the community, set us to thinking. While acknowledging the fact that "Saving of Souls" is a paramount issue on the religious agenda, we also argue that it's pre hard to talk "heaven" to empty stomach, or to people a crowded tenement where t or three families occupy small room, divided by a fli curtain reaching half way to ceiling.

While we do not minimize necessity of religious endeav nor the good, that churches, general, exert in a commun we deplore the fact that churches do not assume m leadership in the economic social life of the people. T seem to lay more stress which denomination shall h the most beautiful and expens place of worship, than the m important problems of erad tion of slums, inadequate ho ing and unsanitary conditi which are the harbingers of s ous epidemics and breeders criminals.

BOOKS & AUTHORS

Milk Route by Martha Ostenso, a Norwegian immigrant at the age of two, is considered her best work since the popular novel Wild Geese which won a Dodd, Mead contest. This is the story of the people of a suburban town as seen through the eyes of Ben the milkman, who delivers at their back doors. Each home has its share of drama, hope and despair. The author gently lifts the roof from one home after the other to uncover hidden secrets. Beside the heartbreak and frustration, selfishness and pride, we see the courage, sacrifice and love which go to make up America's richest resources in this bewildered world.

A Hog on Ice was written by Charles Earle Funk, one of America's best known lexicographers, a former engineer, and later editor-in-chief of the Standard Dictionary Series and a member of the Funk and Wagnall's Company. He now devotes himself to writing and radio work. In this book he discusses, in an interesting and entertaining way, the origin and meaning of some of our curious expressions, such as, "As independent as a hog on ice" which the author's mother frequently used to mean supremely confident. He never thought to ask her while living about the phrase but knew that a hog on ice would be utterly helpless. His curiosity to learn about its origin led him on a long chase during which he found many references to the expression but its beginning remained obscure. A few of the sayings he discusses are "lock, stock and barrel" or in more modern diction "the whole works"; "to skin the cat"; "iron curtain"; "dog in the manger"; "to beat the Dutch"; "baker's dozen"; and many others.

Johnny Christmas, by Forrester Blake, is a rich novel of the old South West of 1836-1846. Johnny's restless search for a way of life takes him to Texas and the beautiful remote Rocky Mountain regions at the time of the establishment of the independent Republic of Texas when bitter hatred of the Americans smoldered. Johnny is a combination of contradictions—one who can kill a man who has wronged him with no compunction, but who is horrified at the slaughtering of squirming Indian puppies for food. He ruthlessly abandons his squaw yet his loyalty to the long-suffering peon, Juan, is constant and enduring. It is a vivid picture of a vigorous country and a glorious age.

Vicki Baum, best known for her Grand Hotel, tells in her new novel Headless Angel of a beautiful woman, Countess Clarinda, who runs away from Germany to find love and adventure in revolutionary Mexico of the early 1800's. Bored with her elderly invalid husband who does nothing but write and read, she leaves him to become the mistress of the dashing Felipe, i gitimate son of a Spanish Gr dee. Tragedy stalks Felipe he gambles with his part with Clarinda as the stake. T comes the revolutionary Clarinda is saved by their prietor and disguised as Indi they flee the country. She fin returns to her husband spends her last years in re niscence. It is a powerful torical romance full of act and excitement.

To Secure These Rights

The Report of the President's Committee on Civil Rights

(Installment No. 17)

THE PROBLEMS OF SANCTIONS

The difficulty of devising and employing adequate means to lead people to obey civil rights legislation cannot be evaded. The chief sanction that has been used to secure the enforcement of federal civil rights laws has been the criminal one. Admittedly this sanction has not been an adequate one. It has proved difficult to enforce in many situations. Whenever the criminal sanction is resorted to, the constitution guarantees the right to a grand jury hearing, and the right to trial by jury to any person accused of crime under federal law. These jury proceedings must be held in the state and district where the offense was committed. Accordingly, a federal criminal prosecution is not an undertaking in which an outside, impartial power weighs in the scales of justice a wrongful act done in a local community. Instead, federal prosecutors must persuade local citizens both to indict and to convict their fellows, often their neighbors and friends, if federal criminal laws are to be enforced and violations punished.

The right of an accused person to be tried by a jury of his peers in his own locality has long been regarded as a cornerstone of our system of criminal justice, but it has not made easy the use of federal criminal sanctions in civil rights cases. Two factors are responsible. One is that the victim in a typical civil rights case, the person who has been lynched or otherwise mistreated, often enjoys little or no standing in his own community. People whose civil rights are most in danger are very often members of weak and unpopular minorities. Sometimes they are as individuals weak, unattractive, and troublesome. All to frequently, members of juries in civil rights cases are prejudiced against the victim, and sympathetic toward the accused. Where this atmosphere exists, it is not easy to persuade juries to apply criminal sanctions.

The second factor hampering federal officials is the cry of outside interference which is almost certain to be raised by the accused's counsel in civil rights cases. The record of federal prosecution clearly shows that members of grand and trial juries again and again have shown a sensibility to this cry.

CIVIL RIGHTS CASE

The result is that many a federal civil rights cases, seemingly airtight, is lost for want of an indictment or conviction where an attempt is made to invoke a criminal sanction. The case files in the Department of Justice indicate the frequency with which this result occurs. For example, a memorandum submitted to the Department of Justice by a government attorney, after a jury had failed to convict in an election case, says:

"The case ended in a verdict of not guilty for the defendants, which under the circumstances (local prejudice against the Negro victims(and considering the locale, is not surprising. The case is a perfect ebample of a situation where the government succeeds in proving all the allegations of the indictment, but in spits of this a jury returns a verdict of not guilty."

The criminal sanction is useful nevertheless in civil rights cases. Convictions have been obtained by the federal bovernment in a number of cases an dthese convictions have had a wholesome result. The Civil Rights Section points to a drastic decline in recent years in the number of peonage complaints received by it. Two or three successful prosecutions in peonage cases in the early years of this decade certainly contributed to this result. While other factors, such as the rise in employment opportunities during the war and postwar years have helped bring about the decline of peonage, the convictions unquestionably had a wholesome effect.

Even where the federal government has failed to win convictions, the mere attempt to invoke criminal penalties in civil rights cases where flagrant wrongs have been committed has often had a sobering influence upon local attitudes and practices. For example, after the acquital of the accused in a police brutality case, the United States attorney wrote the attorney general as follows:

"The defendants are at liberty, but it is my humble opinion that the prosecution will do good for years to come. None of these state officers likes to be hauled into the Federal Court. Of course, I do not think any man should be indicted unless he is guilty; but such prosecutions as this do a lot of good in the case of a guilty defendant even though he is not convicted. It will have its effect on other State officers.

BENEFICIAL PROSECUTION

Again, in a letter to the attorney general written by an attorney who served as special assistant to the attorney general and helped argue a federal lynching case which ended in the acquital of the defendants, it is stated:

"I think the prosecution in Mississippi was beneficial. For a period of five years, no prisoner has been taken from an officer in Mississippi and lynched. The trial of the case impressed officers from the governor down to the constables with the importance of an officer according to a prisoner the highest degree of protection."

The failure of the government to win convictions in airtight criminal cases does not mean that this is a hopeless approach. If juries are unwilling to convict in civil rights cases, it is clear that in part, the answer lies elsewhere. It lies in educational efforts to remind the American people of the importance of preserving their civil rights traditions, and of the necessity and the validity of invoking criminal sanctions against civil rights violations.

Since the criminal sanctions as a means of enforcing public policy with respect to civil rights has such obvious limitations, the Committee concludes that we should resort to a wide variety of sanctions—old and new. Some of these will be discussed at a later point in connection with the Committee's recommendations for action. Others may properly be discussed here.

The use of civil sanctions to supplement criminal penalties in securing the enforcement of civil rights legislation is desirable. The writ of injunction and the suit for damages have often been used in civil rights cases. But their use has depended upon the initiative of the individual victim, since he has the burden of invoking them.

Two federal statutes, derived from the civil rights legislation of the post-Civil War period, provide civil sanctions paralleling the criminal sanctions of Sections 51 and 52. These are Sections 43 and 47 of Title 8 of the United States Code. The former allows an injured party to bring an action against any person who, under color of law, has deprived him of a federal right. The latter allows an individual to bring a similar action against two or more persons who have conspired to interfere with his federal rights. These two statutes have been used in a few notable instances in recent years by imaginative attorneys to seek civil redress for persons whose civil rights have been encroached upon.

A legal remedy of fairly recent origin, the declaratory judgment, could be effectively used in cases in which civil rights are threatened. Like the injunction, it is a preventive remedy. It permits persons whose rights are threatened, but not yet invaded, to appeal to the courts to declare in advance what one's rights are. The declaratory judgment might be used to bring into court the issue of the validity of certain legal devices for disfranchising the Negro. Its virtue is that it would bring a settlement of that issue before any citizen had lost his right to vote. It stands thereby in contrast to the more traditional remedies which merely permit the voter who has not been allowed to vote to sue for damages those responsible for depriving him of the right.

USE OF SANCTIONS

The potential use of civil sanctions in civil rights cases is very great. In general they are of little value in combatting intermittent civil rights violations. They obviously could not prevent a lynching.But many violations of rights are of a persistent type; they take the form of long-standing denials of the right to vote, or refusal to give certain persons access to government services or to places of public accommodation. In these cases civil penalties can frequently be effectively invoked. In many instances a civil action will accomplish results when criminal prosecution will not, because a jury which might be reluctant to convict a defendant in a criminal prosecution for a violation of civil rights might not hesitate to afford relief in the form of a civil penalty. However, there is a need to give the government itself greater power to use civil sanctions.

POTPOURRI

Even the Republicans admit that conferring with their leader, Governor Warren, "availeth nothing." In a recent letter to Gov. Warren from the Republican County Central Committee, there is this statement: "We unanimously concur in the belief that to confer with you after this session of the Legislature would availeth nothing."

Amen. We think the same—at any time.

Colonel Moody Staten, licensed real estate broker, this week announced his entrance into the race for congress in the 14th Congressional District as an Independent Republican, filing on both Democratic and Republican tickets.

California's 58 counties will be reduced to four politically, if the reappointment measure on the ballot in November is adopted by the people. The measure calls for trepresentation of people instead of acres, and the majority of the people in California are gathered in these four districts.

Hope it's adopted. No need for a county of some few hundred inhabitants to have the same number of senators as Los Angeles county with more than a million.

An important policy discussion took place at a meeting of the Executive Committee of the National Board of the Civil Rights Congress held in New York City last Wednesday evening. The abolition of the Un-American Committees, the defense of Negro rights, a stop to deportation proceedings, were among the important topics discussed and passed upon.

Notice how much W. W. has calmed down within the past few weeks?

Oh, of course, he still says nasty things about Russia and Joseph Stalin, but even so he seems to have suddenly discovered the USA has a few sins of omission and commission chalked up against it, too.

Last Sunday—can you believe it?—he suggested that Harry S. Truman quit the race for the presidency!

It pays to serve the people.

Assemblyman Gus Hawkins has qualified for re-election on all three tickets. His campaign will be based on safeguarding and extending our war time gains in employment, housing, and civil rights. Good luck to you, Gus.

In view of the failure of the Netherlands to carry out its commitments under the recent agreement and the consequent unfavorable developments in Indonesia, the Los Angeles Chapter of the American Committee for Indonesian Independence is renewing its activities on behalf of the Indonesian Republic.

The State Highway Commission bumped over some rough pavement in the Assembly hearing on freeway construction in the big cities, when it was openly charged that millions or even a billion dollars eventually is to be taken from moneys intended to build state highways.

The American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born is sending out a letter which it is requesting all interested to sign, condemning the attempted political deportation of non-citizens. The letter is addressed to President Truman. It lists especially 3 women who are being harassed by the U. S. government, and threatened with deportation.

The women are: Claudia Jones, 32 years old, who came to the U. S. from the British West Indies when only 9 years old. Mrs. Theresa Horvath, 50 years old, who came here from Hungary legally in 1921. Beatrice Siskind Johnson, 44 years old, who came here from Poland when she was only 8 years old.

If interested, write to American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born, 23 West 26th street, New York, 10, N. Y. Or better still write to President Truman yourself, and express your righteous indignation to him.

Chairman Jerome Posner announced three congressional endorsements by the California CIO Political Action Committee. Endorsed are Congressman Chet Holifield, 19th district, Congressman Cecil King, 17th district; and Congresswoman Helen Gahagan Douglas, 14th dist.

These endorsements are made on the basis of the outstanding voting record of these Democratic incumbents in favor of progressive legislation. The California CIO-PAC voted this early endorsement to encourage these liberal political leaders to continue their courageous fight for decent housing, price control, legislation to roll back prices and stop the upward climb of living costs; for repeal of the anti-lagor Taft-Hartley law, support of the European recovery plan, for civil liberties legislation and extension of rent control legislation.

Plans by the State Progressive Voters League of Florida, Inc. for Noah W. Griffin Day April 16, are being carried out very satisfactorily. Leaders throughout the nation know and appreciate the contribution Mr. Griffin made to the progress of education and organizing the state Conferences of N. A. A. C. P. branaches in Florida.

Islands of the Caribbean

By ROBERT L. WESTON
(In Six Articles, Article 3)

Perhaps, the most surprising feature of the Lesser Antilles is the size of these islands. They appear scarcely more than dots upon the map. So it is with Guadeloupe. From horizon to horizon it rears its mighty bulk of cloud-flung peaks, a seemingly endless succession of mile-high mountains, verdant valleys and palm fringed shores. Hour after hour, the ship steams along the coast, and for mile after mile new vistas appear. Actually, all the islands I have mentioned, if rolled into one and multiplied many times would form but a portion of majestic Guadeloupe, above which waves the tricolor of France.

Constantly changing is the panorama that unrolls. Bold headlands soar in sheer cliffs rising upward from the sea, vast purple-shadowed ravines separate stupendous ridges, interminable forests give way to groves of fruit and spice trees, acres of bananas ,terraced hillsides, gardens and far-flung fields of cane. One instant the land gleams golden in the sunshine the next, mountain slopes are sombre and black in the shadow of a passing cloud. A driving rain squall draws a filmy curtain across the lofty mountainsides. An instant later the curtain is swept aside, the forests steam under the rays of the sun and wisps of cloud cling about the peaks, and dominating all of Guadeloupe, immense majestic Soufriere lifts its smoking summit 5000 feet above the sea.

Awe inspiring in its wild mountainous grandeur is the western portion of Guadeloupe —or Guadeloupe proper, for this French possession really consists of two islands. Guadeloupe, vast, high, mountainous and Grande Terre, low and flat. The two are separated by an estuary known as Salt River. Basseterre, the capital, is upon the former while the chief port and commercial center, Pointe-a-Pitre sits on Grande Terre. The French islands seemingly are more prosperous than their British neighbors, the land is more extensively and better cultivated and the roads are in better condition. Most of all, it is the direct outcome of the French system of establishing a capital and a chief port some distance apart, thus forcing the people to divide their interests and to carry on a local commece and trade.

Excellent roads are maintained between capitals and ports. The industries and cultivation of the land are not confined to one restricted section of the island, and there is a constant ebb and flow of trade between Guadeloupe and Martinique.

For instance, in Guadeloupe, comparatively few ships stop at Basseterre, which is charmingly situated upon a bluff in the midst of a richly cultivated district, but proceed to Pointe-a-Pitre where all commerce, trade and industries are carried on. Here are the large stone docks, the great warehouses and the sugar mills. The water front is as busy as many a manufacturing town in the United States. Puffing tugs with strings of lighters ply back and forth. Sailing vessels and steamships of many nations fill the harbor. Motor trucks and drays rumble and roar along the cobbled streets, and the substantial prosperous looking town throbs with life and industry, but the streets are wide, smooth and straight, and the atmosphere is decidedly Frenchy.

Probably, the most interesting feature of Pointe-a-Pitre is the market. On Saturday, when the country folk flock to the town from far and near, the place is full of color and a babel of patios French. Here the visitor will find the women clad in the costume one always associates with Martinique. This dress, although standard in some respects, is totally different in details, for in each of the French West Indies the Creole women's costume is distinct. The dress itself is a short-waisted "Empire affair, with trailing extremely voluminous skirt of the loudest possible patterns and colors. Folded across the shoulders is a brilliant silk kerchief or foulard, while, to finish off the whole, there are immense earrings, strings of massive beads and heavy bangle bracelets all of gold. In addition, jewels adorn the hair. In all her regalia, even to high-healed brilliant yellow boots, the Creole is a true "sight for sore eyes."

However, like everything else of charm and beauty rather than of strict utility, her costume is slowly giving way before the march of modern fashions and modern transportation. Indeed, these modern "benefits" are rapidly molding the whole world into a common and standard pattern. Aside from the market and the novelty of its being the first really French West Indian town to greet the visitor, Pointe-a-Pitre holds little of inertest but it does possess a massive and attractive public garden, a museum of sorts and a chamber of agriculture. Nevertheless, one's time may be far better spent by driving to Basseterre or to the outlying estates and villages.

Rising high above the sparkling sea off the southern coast of Guadeloupe are several smaller islands, all dependencies of the former and, together with the two main islands, giving Guadeloupe a total area of over 700 square miles. Far beyond, faint, hazy, phantasmal, and appearing more like a vision or a dream island than a reality, Dominica hovers on the horizon to the south. Dominica, or as the French Dominique, the British island of the Leeward Islands Confederation should not be confused with the Dominican Republic or Santa Domingo, as is often the case.

The Road to Health

By I. L. SCRUGGS, M.D.

Mrs. Boswell's voice was tired and exasperated as she begged ten-year-old Ginger to hurry and catch up with he because they were already late for dinner. The two had been shopping in town and I met them outside one of the grocery stores.

"Good evening, doctor," said Mrs. Boswell. "I don't know what I'm going to do with this child. I think she's sick or something. She's been cross and lazy like this for about a month. She eats an awful lot and yet she never seems to be well or to have any energy."

The result of that brief meeting was Mrs. Boswell's promise to bring Ginger to my office for a check-up as soon as possible. When they came two nights later, Mrs. Boswell began by telling me that the neighborhood children were now calling the little girl "Lazybones" and "Crosspatch" instead of "Ginger."

In addition to examining the child, I questioned the mother. I discovered that iGnger was getting plenty of food, but the wrong kinds. She disliked most vegetables and refused to eat cereals, but Mrs. Boswell assured me, Ginger ate plenty of bread and jam, fried foods and cookies of all kinds. She also liked radio programs that came on late in the evening and seldom got to bed before eleven. Since the child usually felt listless and tired, she seldom went out to play after school, but when she did "she just couldn't get along with the other children."

Mrs. Boswell breathed a deep sigh of relief when I told her that Ginger was not seriously ill. But she stared at me in amazement when I added that the child was undernourished and suffering from extreme fatigue.

I hastened to explain that this did not mean Ginger was getting too little to eat, but rather that she was substituting the wrong foods for those that would nourish her and promote growth and strength. Mrs. Boswell meant well, but she was acting unwisely in not guiding Ginger's eating and sleeping habits more carefully. The child had to form better health habits that would protect her against ill health and disease as well as build her up.

A balanced diet is important to everyone's health, but it is especially necessary for the child who is still in the process of growing. Plenty of milk, fresh fruits and vegetables, whole-grain cereals, fresh eggs and other dairy products are largely responsible for firm bones, strong teeth and a general yhealthy constitution.

Plenty of exercise in the fresh air, without going to extremes, of course, develops and makes firm the muscular frame of the body and aids proper growth.

The habit of regular physical check-ups in the doctor's office is one of the best we can acquire in our entire lives. In Ginger's case, for instance, we discovered in time that the wrong food and irregula and insufficient sleep were preventing healthful living and threatened the child's full growth and development. In many other instances, routine check-ups are responsible for preventing serious diseases and chronic illnesses for patients.

Nerve me with incessant affirmations. Don't bark against the bad, but chant the beauties of the good. —Emerson

Trail Blazers: Rev. J. W. Price

By PHYLLIS SCOTT

There was quiet simplicity in this Easter. Tender melancholy engulfed the throngs of worshippers who gathered in various shrines and temples to hear the Easter messages . . . and some came to calm their fears of a troubled world.

Down at 909 East 33rd street Rev. J. W. Price eloquently expressed the meaning of Easter. He told the young people that "if they expected to meet the demands of the world today, they must build a life founded upon the principles of Christianity. If you lives are spiritually right the moral side will automatically come up to the requirements . . . because Christianity lifts and develops a life, wholly and completely, to the noblest heights in the church and world."

Yes, they listened to the kindly minister—he who has given 40 years of his best service to the African Methodist Episcopal church within the environs of California. He has been an honest clergyman, a sincere clergyman . . . adhering religiously to the precepts of his profession.

Last September at the Annual AME conference Rev. Price refused an appointment to Allen Chapel in Revirside to organize his own church in Los Angeles, which was approved by the body. It is this task that he has set himself to complete. Price Chapel is presently purchasing a permanent church home at Vernon and Crocker. Meanwhile he continues to hold services on 33rd street.

Rev. Price was born in Alabama and reared in Kansas, where he received public and private education. Before coming to California in 1903 he lived in Cheyenne, Wyoming and Denver. He was converted in Berkeley and there he became a licensed minister.

In 1908 he was admitted to the Annual Conference which met in San Diego that year under Bishop Herd, who was acting for Bishop Grant. His first appointment was at Fresno. Although no minister had pastored this church for more than a year, it was three years before he was sent to his next mission at Bolds, a country settlement near Fresno. During his tenure at these two posts he successfully built and organized edifices, strong of faith and spiritually rich of heart.

At his next pastorate in Bakersfield he replaced a dilapidated building with a solid structure of marked improvement. In 1916 he volunteered for the appointment at Ward Chapel, then located on Channing street. Before he completed his tenure in 1919 he had secured the present site of Ward Chapel.

From that time to 1928 he had etched his name upon the history of several other California churches. When he went to Grant Chapel in South Los Angeles there were but 20 members. Five years later, he left a successful church with 300 strong. At Bethel AME in San Diego he organized an undisciplined congregation and built a powerful Sunday school.

One of the highpoints of his career was his appointment in '28 as Presiding Elder over the Southern California district, a position he held for eight years. In 1937 he returned to Ward Chapel to eliminate the church debt. It took five years to gain the confidence of the congregation to execute plans for putting Ward Chapel on its feet again. This was accomplished by presenting the Wings Over Jordan choir to the Pacific coast in 1941; and in 1942 he sponsored an "Out of Debt Drive," from which $5000 was obtained within ten weeks. Rev. Price remained at Ward Chapel until September 1947.

Last Thursday the community and state leaders paid tribute to Rev. Price for his untiring devotion to the community and the promotion of Christian fellowship throughout the state for almost a half century. A banquet was tendered in his honor for the twofold occasion—his birthday and homage to service—at Bethel Church of Christ. Appreciation of his service was expressed by Assemblyman F. M. Roberts and Charlotta A. Bass of the California EAGLE. Other prominent citizens and clergymen were present. Bishop Washington and his congregation very graciously consented to the request for use of the Bethel dining hall, where 12 tables representing 12 months of the year were beautifully decorated.

Rev. Price is civically and fraternally affiliated with the NAACP, YMCA, Oddfellows, Masons, and the Deborah Chapter of Ruth. He is the husband of Mayme E. Price, father of Raymond E. Price and stepfather of James and Edward Hudson.

In My Humble Opinion

Mr. Henry Wallace, our ex-Vice-President, stands today head and shoulders above every American in honour. Indeed, he stands gazing down on a narrow, mentally defective selfish group of politicians, with a mixed feeling of pity and contempt. Pity for those in honour, but strengthless in defense of it; and with contempt for those who deliberately disregard honour, for that of political honour in self.

His mental vision today is beyond the reach of many known living men who call themselves "politicians." It is so far reaching, that his pronouncements from time to time, baffle the mental vision of many present-day politicians. Hence, we hear them crying like children in distress, saying: "Surely, that echo we hear must be a dream."

To consider Mr. Wallace just a politician, is to do oneself a gross injustice. Because his honesty soars far above the standing of the average politician. We must not forget, that few politicians are enriched with the courage of honesty necessary, in dealing with the affairs of those they are subjected to serve. They owe obligation to their party first, next to themselves, and then to their masters, the people. Hence, to say that the interest of country with them comes first, simply carries no truth whatsoever. The creed of the average politician is "Self preservation is the first law of party, and self." On the other hand, in Wallace, we see an American, in whom the love of humanity, the honour of his beloved country, and its integrity, stand out above his own personal self, and those near and dear to him. He is scrupulously fair to his inner dictation.

We find by his past action, that when his honour was confronted by political stance, that he flung out a challenge to those in political honour, to a duel in national honesty. As a challenger, he suffered a defeat at the hands of his party, but through it, won an immortal place in the historical records of his great Country, and the respect of the enlightened world.

How gloriously and magnificently in the 1943 Democratic Convention at Chicago, did Ex-Vice-President Wallace display his courage and fortitude as a great American and humanitarian. The hearts of many Americans, in years to come, will flame with pride on reading of what undoubtedly was his greatest hour in life, up to then.

From the convention he demanded, what? That which he knew would lead to his defeat. He demanded that which the Country knew, and the world knew, the Convention was reluctant to grant unto the people. What did he ask for? The slaughter of the "political term inferior race." He demanded the lynching of the poll tax, as well as the "Southern traditional necktie parties" at the expense of the Negro. He demanded the restoration of the honour of our great constitution, now in dishonour, because of political conduct, through the denial of equal rights, economically, commercially, and industrially to all, as well as through the unbalanced educational system as it is being applied to the White and the Negro.

Finally, equal pay for equal work, regardless of sex or race. His demands were like two edge daggers, thrust into their political platform.

The truth, the need of the moment, and the courage of the man, stung the convention into resentment and revolt. But its viscous fury did not unbalance him one tittle.

Who is his peer within that organization of which he was a member in name and honour, but not in sentiment? We have not the historical record of an American, who would have dared in the presence of self seekers, to demand from them the safety, the integrity, and the protection of the soul of this great Country, in the spirit of a Wallace, so unflinchingly.

In Ex-Vice-President Wallace, America has a great national character, a man who is endowed with unimpeachable honour and sincerity.

In Mr. Wallace, there is more strength of right and justice, than was true with most of the politicians who breathed within the walls of the last Democratic Convention in Chicago. In him, we behold the lack of self concern, but the forces of honesty and courage prevailing. Such should be the spirit of all those who skipper this great Country.

Would to God, we have a few more of a Wallace caliber, breathing among other nations right now. Mankind would laugh more from the heart, and do their beds greater honour, instead of the fear and insecurity, so evident throughout the globe.

L.B. Citizen Aids In Fight For Ingrams

Mr. Harry Fred who lives in Long Beach, is interested in seeing justice done to Mrs. Rosa Lee Ingram and her two young sons, confined in a Georgia prison, charged with the murder of John Stratford, a white farmer who threatened to kill Mrs. Ingram with a gun.

Mr. Fred attended the mass meeting held by the Los Angeles Negro Congress, Sunday, March 21, at Phillips Temple C.M.E. Church. So impressed was the Long Beach philanthropist with the story he heard that he gave $100 to the cause—the first one to go to bat wih any conribuion.

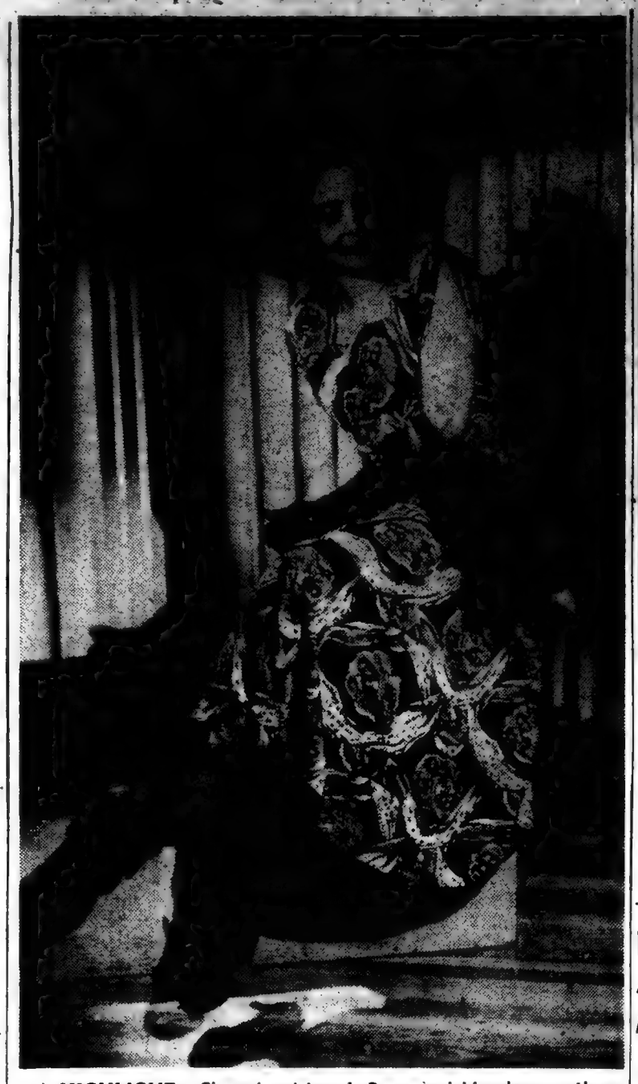
"When we vote bonds, war bonds, Liberty bonds, or other bonds to carry on wars such as World War I and II, we ask the people, we beg the people to buy those bonds," said Mr. Fred. "We block off traffic, we give prizes to people who buy the biggest bonds. We give a prize of a $25.00 bond for the first 25 buyers of a $1000 bond."

"Then," said Mr. Fred, "we take the people's money and give it to England. We do not go to the people and ask their permission. We simply give it to England. We are supposed to loan it to England, but every school boy knows it will not be paid back. So it is a Gift. The loan melts into a Gift."

"Recently the King and Queen of England were allotted $2,000,000 for the year," Mr. Fred continued, warming up to the injustice of the way money is being spent foolishly by our government for the sake of the rich. "They made a trip to South Africa on a British ship with all their staff and protectors, and held big parades before the black natives. And in their sleeves they were laughing at them.

"They probably wished they could ship them to the United States for the slave labor now dominant in Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, South Carolina—for the benefit of those who would vote with Bilbo, Rankin, (accent on the RANK) Talmadge, McKellar, Pappy O'Daniel, and all the others who have repudiated Truman on the anti-lynch bill."

The name "Bilbo," Mr. Fred pointed out, translated means a "sword." It was also the name of a manufacturing city prominent during the Spanish inquisition days "when Jews were burned alive for their religious beliefs."



"England double-crossed the Jews," continued Mr. Fred, "when it repudiated the Balfour Declaration made after World War I." And in his opinion the Truman administration in America today isn't any better. "Every progressive member of the cabinet has resigned, and President Truman is dominated by Big Business," he declared.

All of which adds up to the glaring injustice of giving much where money is not needed, and of the do-nothing attitude by the government where, as in the case of the Ingram family, the need is so terribly apparent. And since the government does nothing, it is up to the people especially such generous persons as Mr. Fred to carry the burden.

By JESSIE MAE BROWN

REPRESENTING WEEKS OF WORK and planning, the local branch of the NAACP is sponsoring an exhibition of life-size portraits in oil, of outstanding living Americans of Negro origin. The main branch of the library will be the scene of this cultural program and Mrs. Betty Hill is chairman of the Harmon Foundation Exhibit. Between the hours of 6 to 9 p.m., Sunday, April 4, many are expected to attend the exhibit. The works of Betsy Graves Reyneau and Laura Wheeler Waring will be on display. The committee working along with Mrs. Betty Hill have been in charge of portrait hanging, getting out many invitations that you Angelenos have received by now, and planning a reception. It was the pleasure of this writer to meet the well-known Betsy Reyneau recently on her visit to the California EAGLE office. Her vivid descriptions of her works and the profound feeling that the cultural things of life should be made all-important, gave us the feeling that the NAACP art exhibit should be a must on that Sunday list of social gatherings to attend. Association prexy Atty. Thomas L. Griffith Jr., and Mrs. Hazel Whittaker Moore, chairman ,are anticipating a highly-successful affair on Sunday evening. So climax the afternoon of teas, weddings, showers and club meetings by attending the exhibition at the downtown branch of the library, main lecture room.

HOLIDAY WHIRL

During the late hours of Saturday night, when Peter Rabbit and his little helpers were busy depositing vari-colored Easter eggs, Bob Edwards' South Gramercy street home was much alive with hilarity and good spirits. Congrats were in order for the honorees of the evening, the betrothed Wini Allen and Dr. Ellis Toney; Elizabeth Kennard and Carl King. Sparkling champagne was the drink of the evening, coupled with much chatter and dancing. Many of the guests made the Inter-frat game before attending the party. The Arthur Lee Topsils and Elbert Hudson were the first to start chatter on the scores made by the winning teams of the evening, Alpha Phi Alpha and Omega Psi Phi. Glimpsed Ruth Scott changing talk aplenty with Gerome Duffy, while Tommy and Cecilia Mills had a few laughs with Betty and Johnnie Alston over the job of securing an ideal "baby sitter" for their little cherubs. Jennard Worsham was looking quite chic in a cocktail frock of lace over satin that brought on many a favorable glance. Jim Gordon spent a goodly part of the evening introducing his very lovely sister, Zerelda, and her husband, Dr. Seeley, to friends at the gathering. Stan Malone tripped the light fantastics with Gloria Bunch, while Chuck Boswell expostulated over the new club of potential actors and actresses he now heads. Says the membership is definitely interested in footlights and grease paint. By the way, Chuck's female interest still goes to the tune of vivacious Jeanette Collins, who recently turned in another grand dance performance at UCLA.

Can't say definitely just what the highlight of the affair was, however, Nita Hippard claimed the attention of all, as she blushingly showed her new sparkler on that engagement finger. Her future is Barrington Tate, of course, and the wedding will take place sometime during the summer months. Wallace DeCuir took time out from sipping and dancing to tell ye scribe a bit about Washington, D. C., Howard university, and just how lovely his fiancee Myrtle Kenzie is looking nowadays. They, too, will trek the center aisle this summer. Mary and Gene Johnson were much in evidence along with Bill Milton, who assisted Mrs. Edwards as top connoisseur of fruit punch, made by the matron's own hands. John Bowdion, Bob Kennard, Leonard Beavers, Marion and Burroughs Jackson, Alice Watkins and a host of others made up the guest list.

The party was quite an affair, and very well planned, from an appointed table centered with a bride and groom and white flowers, to napkins, engraved with the names of the four young honorees and their host, who believe me is quite a host, Bob Edwards. By the way, Carl and Elizabeth will recite vows on Sunday at 4 p.m. at the Episcopal church, while Wini and Dr. Tony will say "I do" on April 25.

If you don't believe Gloria Mitchell was surprised with the birthday party given in her honor on Sunday by her better half, Dr. Arthur Mitchell, you should have been there to get just a glimpse of her pretty face and the blank expression it carried when the group of friends came on with the SURPRISE, HAPPY BIRTHDAY ACT! The affair was staged at the home of Paulette Coleman on Third avenue, and also assisting with the planning of the affair were Leola Hatcher and Norma Green. A tiered birthday cake centered the table, that was later filled with a repast fit for a king. Among the dinner guests were Dr. and Mrs. Joe Hays (Glenna); Rev. and Mrs. Lloyd Galloway (Dolly); the Donal Millers (Marcela); Dr. Ellis Toney and Wini Allen, Sara Jones and Leonard Grimes, Dr. John Williams, Lucille Tribble Wilson, the Roy Seeleys, LaMar and Puffy Hill, Elbert and Marilyn Hudson, Gerry and Marco Peterson, Dolores Bell and Carl Peterson; Lula Green and Sonny Jones; LeRoy A. Beavers Jr., and yours truly, of course. Eddy Green and Dr. Hatcher and a host of others completed the list of well wishers, who enjoyed dancing and dining from 8 p.m. until 1 the next morn. By the way, Gloria's birth date was March 29. Many happy returns.

Easter Sunday took its blissful toll of brides and grooms. In the listing was Lester M. Freeman Jr., and Miss Elsie De Ville,

Mme. Sul Te Wan Honored on 75th Birthday

The regular meeting of Friendship Center Breakfast Club found Mme. Sul Te Wan being honored for her 75th birthday. Mme. has become a "regular guy" at the Breakfast Club and her absence is noticed by all regular attendants. They honor Mme. each year with a special time set aside just for her and her many friends who attend yearly.

This year Mr. Chatterton, a Director in the movie world, did the honors for the Group by making the presentation of the lovely orchid to the "Grand Old Lady" as she loves to be called. Judge Benjamin J. Scheinman, President of the Friendship Center, felt the urge to aid Madam in her celebrating this natal day, and expressed his feelings by dedicating old time melodrama silent day motion picture music. The type of music that used to tell when the rains were coming and the Indians too, when the "moll was going to get into the brawl" etc. A good time was had by all when this number or we should say medley was played by the Judge.

Madam felt the spirit so greatly that she gave us a sample of what made her gain the name of being an all round actress for indeed she showed what 75 years still could do with the light fantastic toe. All of Madam's friends and well wishers left the Friendship Center Breakfast Club asking the Auixliary Chairman, Mrs. Faustina N. Johnson, to be sure and include them on the invitation list when Madam celebrated her 76th birthday.

Coppenettes Cocktail Party

The Coppenettes Social club entertained Saturday, March 20, with a cocktail party at 139 W. 50th street.

A blanket and a radio were given away as prizes.

The Coppenettes wish to thank their many friends for making the affair such a huge success.

Proceeds From B-P Girls Fabulous Fashion Fad To Benefit Foreign Pledge

The Business and Professional Women's League of Woodlawn Branch YWCA, masterfully completed arrangements for their forthcoming 15th annual coffee and style show which will take place, Sunday morning, April 4, from 9 a.m. to 12 noon.

The appropriate theme, "Fabulous Fashion Fad" was chosen several weeks ago by the fashion committee headed by Mrs. J. Raymond Henderson and Miss La Viera Rivers.

Annually, this fashionable early-hour charity event calls out several hundred people. The year of 1947 found more than 2000 persons attending, not to mention a larger scale of models and program participates contributing to its success.

Early in February, the fashion committee carefully selected a group of well-known and attractive models to make their appearance on this year's post-Easter show. The line up of models are: sultry Gwen Pressley, a lover of outdoor sports and president of the Silver Spurs Riding Club; chic Mary Yarboro, who recently modeled at the famed Florentine Gardens; Adella Goode, L. A.'s smartest youth designer and model artist; college co-ed Dorothy Bradley; the lovely Mary Frances Peterson, Gussie Morris, outstanding horse-back riding figure; pretty Jean McNeil; designer-photographer Hazel Shumate; Vernon Blanche Johnson, whose unique style of modeling has captured many eyes; charming Leola Lockhart, stunning Elouisa Brown, Mrs. Lucretia Tucker, formerly from the east; shapely Carolyn Carngie; and Margaret Goode, who for the past several months has been engaged in scores of fashion shows. Each model will be clad in her own garments.

Mrs. Frances Driver will be in charge of the children.

The Y's patio will be decorated with gay colored flowers resembling the first breath of spring. The models will step from an over-size Gold vogue book. Five eye-catching, as well as, breath-taking scenes are scheduled for showing. From sweetly feminine bathing suits to gently tailored suits, will be presented.

Mrs. Blanche Groggs stated to the press that such talents as Vivian Green of "Honey Honey" fame; Freda Shaw, Marjorie Day, Evelyn Way, Janet Collins, Kitty Bilbrew White, Maude Bilbrew, Alvin Brently, Florence Cadez, Clarence Hargrove, George Comfort, Banv Allen Mabry, and Peggy Webb have consented to put in an appearance. Madam A. C. Bilbrew will M. C. the program and Mrs. Dorothea Fearonce the fashions.

The Bas Pleu Pledge Club of the Beta Phi Sigma Sorority will host that morning, according to Mrs. Charlyne Weston Thompson, chairman of the Hostesses.

A tasty menu planned by Mrs. Elweis Lacey and her committee, will also have that new look this year.

General Chairman, Mrs. Margaret Moore along with her committee heads, Mrs. Easter McNeil, decorations; Mrs. Sally Hayes, waitresses; Mrs. Flossie William, finance; Rena Marlowe, publicity; and Miss Catherine Patton, patio arrangements, are looking forward to a successful morning.

Mrs. Marie Smith is president of the Business and Professional Women's League. Proceeds from the affair goes toward the League's pledge for reconstruction overseas and the YWCA.

Remember to reserve April 4, from 9 a.m. to 12 noon for "FABULOUS FASHION FAD."

CO-M.C. ON BENEFIT SHOW—Graceful Dorothea Fearonce pictured above in an original Hazel Shumate white faille Gibson girl hat, will alternate with Madam A. C. Bilbrew as Mistress of Ceremonies during the B & P's Fabulous Fashion Fad, Sunday. Mrs. Fearonce, wife of Dr. Nataniel Fearonce, is known throughout the Southland as one of the finest models.

Delegates Attend Regional Confab

Among the hundreds of delegates attending the YWCA Western Regional Conference being held at the Asilomar Conference Grounds, Pacific Grove, Calif., are: Mrs. H. A. Howard, Mrs. Virginia Stevens, Mrs. P. Price Cobbs, Mrs. Vassie D. Wright, Miss Emilie Wright, Mrs. Vivian Johnson and the Woodlawn Branch executive director, Miss Matred McKissick.

The main focus of the conference will include consideration of what the YWCA is, its distinctive features, the environment in which it works, some areas in which it needs to do better work, and how it takes its responsibility for "one world."

Lloyd Herds Accepted Into Mr.-Mrs. Club

The Mr. and Mrs. Social Club was entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Julius Baker, on March 13, at their home, 935 E. 52nd St., with the president, Mr. Ellis Salisbury, presiding. As the new officers assumed their respective duties, many new plans were brought to the club which will be put into motion shortly.

Pledgees, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Herds, were accepted by the club. This makes a total of 12 couples, which fills the Mr. and Mrs. Club quota. Mr. Van A. Sims was reported ill by his wife, Mrs. Claudia Sims, both being unable to attend the meeting. They were missed very much and the club expressed its sympathy with a telegram wishing a speedy recovery.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bussey, 11913 Stanford Ave.

Mona List Club To Elect On April 5

The Mona Lisa Bridge club met at the home of Mrs. Artis Mae Powell on Monday night.

A report on expenses for the recent formal was given by assistant business manager due to the leave of absence of Mrs. Arcell Thomas. Mrs. Katherine Thomas, assistant secretary, handed in her resignation from the club. The members hate to lose her and will miss her very much.

The meeting was turned over to the hostess and four changes of bridge were played with Mrs. Ellen Brinson winning first prize; Mrs. Dorothy Mims, second; Mrs. Bernice Sweet, third and Mrs. Carolyn Perry consolation. Mrs. Thomas filled in as guest.

A very tasty repast was served as a climax to the meeting. Mrs. Bernice Sweet will play hostess to the meeting of April 5, when election of officers will be held.

Masonic Hall Scene Of Patriotic All States Tea

Sunday afternoon, April 4, the Masonic Hall, 1050 E. 50th St., will be the scene of great entertainment, depicting the various sections of the United States in historic attire. Appropriate music will be played throughout the afternoon. The highlights of the entire event will start at 5 p.m., at which time various orators and narrators will be in evidence.

The Narcissus Art and Literary Club is one of the outstanding clubs of the city and is known for its charitable work. Members of the club who are working to make this event a success are: Alpha Gallie, Hattie Eldridge, Eva James, Georgia Russell, Lulu Adkins, Willa Mae Brackin, Bertha Williams, Jeannette Lee, Anna B. Mabry, President and Vassie D. Wright, Originator of All States Tea.

Jacqueline Bunch Recites Vows with Harrison Bailey In Quiet Ceremony

Simplicity reigned at the lovely wedding ceremony that united Jacqueline Bunch daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Bunch of Pasadena, and Harrison Bailey Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Bailey Sr., of Pasadena. On Good Friday, March 26, the vows were spoken at Scotts Methodist Church, with the Reverend Robert D. Hill presiding.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father, was attended by her sister Miss Gloria Bunch as maid of honor. Best man was Wilfred Duncan. The ceremony, witnessed by the two families was performed at 6:00 p.m. by candlelight. The bride wore an ice blue silk crepe dress, with matching hat of tulle and spring flowers. She carried a bouquet of white orchids. The maid of honor wore yellow crepe with a corsage of gardenias.

Immediately after the ceremony, the couple received a Champagne Toast at the home of the bride's parents. They slipped away from the family gathering on a honeymoon that took them to Redwood City and San Francisco. On returning to Pasadena, they will be at home to friends at 255 Waverly Drive.

The bride, a member of one of Pasadena's best known families is a graduate of Pasadena Junior College. She attended Samuel Houston College and is a member of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority. Her husband, who also comes from one of Pasadena's oldest families served two years with the US Navy on graduation from Pasadena Junior College. He attended Tuskegee Institute and is now enrolled at the National Television School.

P. T. A.

The next meeting of Olympia Council P.-T.A. will be held April 5, at Gompers Jr. High school at 10:00 a.m. Mrs. Fred Shuey, president, presiding. Dr. Ralph Eckert, the main speaker, will talk on the Topic: Preparing Youth for Marriage. Other committee features will be Home Service.

Las Golondrinas

After enjoying a hearty supper, games were played until the wee hours of the morning. Next morning came a tasty breakfast, and in the evening a delicious turkey dinner followed by a testimonial meeting. The popular topic of discussion was: "The Negro and the World Today," together with the progress the Negro has made in the world during the past few years. Impressive and enlightening remarks were made, and songs that made every one happy were sung.

Mrs. Gertrude Bradley, president of "The California 8" made presentations to the guest of honor and to others. Then Mrs. Edna V. Elgin suddenly realized it was her birthday, and the affair became a birthday party while everyone sang "Happy Birthday to You."

IOTA PHI LAMBDA chairman of the typing contest for high school seniors, is Mrs. Edna Crain, member of Alpha Phi Chapter. The contest will be held as part of the Sorority's National Business Week Program, at Polytechnic High school on April 17. (see story)

Iota Phi Lambda Business Week Program to Be Held At Polytechnic High

Iota Phi Lambda Sorority will be observing National Business Week, April 11-17. During this time, great emphasis will be placed on the need for "Education for Business", stressing facts that business has developed to the point where persons who intend to enter business must be educated if they are to be a success.

Throughout the country chapters of the sorority will be holding clinics with students in high school to help them select the right program in order to meet the business demands. Small clinics will be held to educate our local businessmen as to the need of specialized training in their field. The Department of Commerce, Washington, D.C. has various aids it offers to the small businessman for organizing his business and keeping it up-to-date. These pamphlets will be distributed by the Iota Phi Lambda sorority.

Visual aid shows for high school students in the business departments will be given. These shows will be on various phases of business education, such as "Good Grooming," "Finding Your Life Work" "The Duties of a Secretary," etc. Public forums, on the "Employer-Employee" type will be held and the national typewriting and shorthand contest will be held.

The local Alpha Phi Chapter, headed by Mrs. Marion B. Jackson will sponsor the first Business Weeks program the Sorority has ever had in Los Angeles. On Saturday, April 17, at the Polytechnique High School, a group of senior high school typing students will compete in the typing contest. A lecture series will follow the test along with a display of office machines. The hours for the entire program are from 6:30 to 9 p.m. The public is invited to attend.

Applications for the typing contest must be turned to heads of the commercial departments of the high schools and sent to Mrs. Edna Crain, chairman of the Typing contest.

Hughes Recital Promises Huge Success for Allied Arts League

The League of Allied Arts wishes to announce to all their patrons and friends that this week will be your last chance to get tickets in time for the grand presentation of Langston Hughes in Poetry Recital at the Unitarian Auditorium, 2936 W. 8th street just east of Vermont on 8th street. The date is April 4, 1948 at 5:00 p.m.

You will not only enjoy an hour of cultural offerings but you will also be aiding the League with their 1948-49 scholarship responsibility. Each of the 11 years the League has been in existence stress has been placed on the need for promotional activities that would definitely stamp upon the pages of art history lasting and memorable events. Events that would give all artists a chance as well as introduce those that had no other entry to public review. The public has said that this the League has done well and the Officers and Members are anxious to further this program to higher goals in years to come and hoping each year that they can offer to the City and County of L. A., yes, even our Nation, talented new and future artists. So it is that the Langston Hughes Recital serves as a medium to gain this purpose as funds derived from this presentation continue to further the educational program of the Scholarship Committee.

Last year the League sponsored three such scholarships. Special effort is being made by the Committee to double the number. Miss Frances Henderson, serving as chairman is urging her team to also triple the ticket sales of this presentation.

Langston will weave a story of historical events and needs of our people, explaining his philosophy and life experiences that have not been deterred or averted by handicaps and discouragements, relating human interest incidents of others, all this woven through poetry.

Being present will add a contribution to your cultural and intercultural education, offering too, spiritual and human personality values. Will see you and yours April 4.

Hattie Chamberlin Newly Elected Pres. Jeff PTA

The Jefferson P.T.A. had quite a full schedule at its last meeting.

The first part of the meeting was given over to Mrs. Ira Pulliam who presented a Panel discussion on the Foundations of Healthful Community Life. This proved quite an informative discussion, the participants being four of the teachers of Jefferson. A motion picture was shown in connection with the discussion.

Miss Agnes Moreland, winner of the city wide Susan B. Anthony Oratorical Contest, was presented and received the applause of members and visitors on her coveted success.

The election of officers claimed the later part of the meeting. Mrs. Hattie E. Chamberlin, formerly the organization's parliamentarian, was elected president. Mrs. Chamberlin is well qualified for the position to which she has been chosen. She is chairman of the Art and Craft department of the United Ushers of America, past chairman of the State and Dist. Art and Craft of the Usher Board Union, past president of The Thrifty Housewives and past president of Usher Board No. 1 of the First A. M. E. Church.

Other officers elected to serve with Mrs. Chamberlin for 1948-49 are:

First vice pres., Mrs. Margaret Rakestraw; 2nd vice president, Mrs. Hazel Whedon; recording secretary, Mrs. Alice Lynch; financial secretary, Mrs. W. U. Scott; cor. sec., Mrs. Rosa Cobbs; treasurer, Mrs. Chester S. Bieze; historian, Mrs. W. J. Glover; auditor, Mr. L. Gubbins.

The election was held by the very efficient president, Mrs. W. J. Glover.

The Sachell Morris' Plan Extensive Trip To Islands in Gulf

In a marvelous trip in which every minute of every day seemed to be scheduled, Rev. Charles Satchell Morris, II, and Mrs. Morris covered Florida and the South, and returned home to Los Angeles in time for Easter.

In their lovely home, 4151 Woodlawn avenue, Rev. Morris performed the wedding ceremony for his stepson, Lester M. Freeman, Jr., and Miss Elsie De Ville, formerly of New Orleans, on Easter Sunday afternoon. More than 100 guests attended the wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris plan to leave for another trip Sunday, April 4, for Cuba, Mexico, Nassau, and the Virgin Islands. En route Rev. Morris expects to speak at the Booker T. Washington High school, Dallas, Texas; at Jackson and Tonzaloo colleges, Miss.; at Florida A. and M. college; Tennessee State Teachers college—in all a total of 25 commencement addresses and annual educational sermons.

Following this Rev. and Mrs. Morris will go East for a whirlwind tour.

Palm Lane Aud. Scene Of Youth Meeting

Miss Jessie Mae Brown, society editor of the Eagle, led a rapid-fire discussion on "How To Pick A Mate" at the Palm Lane Project Auditorium last Friday evening. The younger set had definite questions about the age-old problem, and they wanted answers. Students from the Compton Junior College were much in evidence. Miss Brown spoke from the book "How To Pick A Mate" by Dr. C. R. Adams.

Those present were: Misses Massie Bacon, Mai Kelly, Regina Kensie, Jean McCrumby, Nellie Mitchum, Norma Pondexter, Mrs. Mamie Davis, Hattie Jones, Nellie Jones, Lavada Watson, Mr. Leonard Beavers, Clarence Belle, William Easter, Jessie Mason, Willard McCrumby, James Perkins, Cleophus Sanders, Wallington Telley and others.

20th Cntury Girls Enjoy Busy Time At Socials

Easter Sunday found the 20th Century members in full swing and looking more beautiful than ever in their Easter Frocks.

Mrs. Irene Williams, Mrs. Lucille Brannon, Mrs. Amanda Elliott and Mrs. Mamie Everly were seen having a gay time at the Meadowbrook. The Alta Qualidads did a neat job of filling the great Meadowbrook, now the Mardi Gras, ball room.

Mrs. Mildred Johnson, Mrs. Dorothy Mims, and Mrs. Eva Wyatt were seen enjoying the hospitality of the Social Knights, at their annual Easter Promenade at Elks Hall, Sunday afternoon.

Palm Sunday found the Lucky Duchess club sponsoring a fashion show at the Meadowbrook. Mrs. Olivia Chellette modeled a beautiful 3 in one brown fur trimmed outfit with dark brown shoues and bag. She complimented the outfit with an apricot colored hat. Mrs. Bea Metoyer modeled her blue brocaded Marie Antoinette wedding gown.

Mrs. Chellette and Mrs. Metoyer are members of the 20th Century club and are known as two of the well dressed girls of the city.

The 20th Century members will be overjoyed to learn that Mrs. Faustina Johnson has excepted their offer of being club sponsor. Mrs. Johnson has always been a great inspiration to the club members and they feel it an honor to have her as adviser to the group. Mrs. Gertie Broussard will entertain the club in April at her residence, 1384 W. 37th place. All club correspondence should be sent Mrs. Broussard.

Silver Spurs Add Member

The Silver Spurs riding club attended the Sunday church service at Morning Star Baptist. An offering was given the minister of the church, who is ill, by the club members.

A breakfast was enjoyed following the church service at the home of Mrs. Georgia Jones' mother. The club then attended the Fashion review at the Mardi Gras.

Recently added to the membership was Miss Gussie Morris.

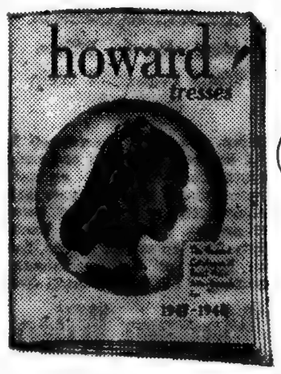
Following the meeting, club mother, Mrs. Fostina Johnson opened the door and a real bunny rabbit hopped into the room with a large basket on its back with easter eggs for all.

Mae Bradford To Hostess Dix Amie Club

The March meeting of the club "Dix Amie" held Sunday with Mrs. Mildred Bouldin proved very interesting. Plans were completed for the anniversary party for members and husbands.

The club was very proud of the entry of member Hazel Robeson in the Florist Guild.

Pokeno prizes went to members, Mae Bradford, Mildred Wilkerson and Fannie McClellan. Guest prize to Mrs. Juanita Friday. Other guests were Mrs. Jewel Meilleur, Melvina Ewing.



Next meeting will be at the home of Mae Bradford.

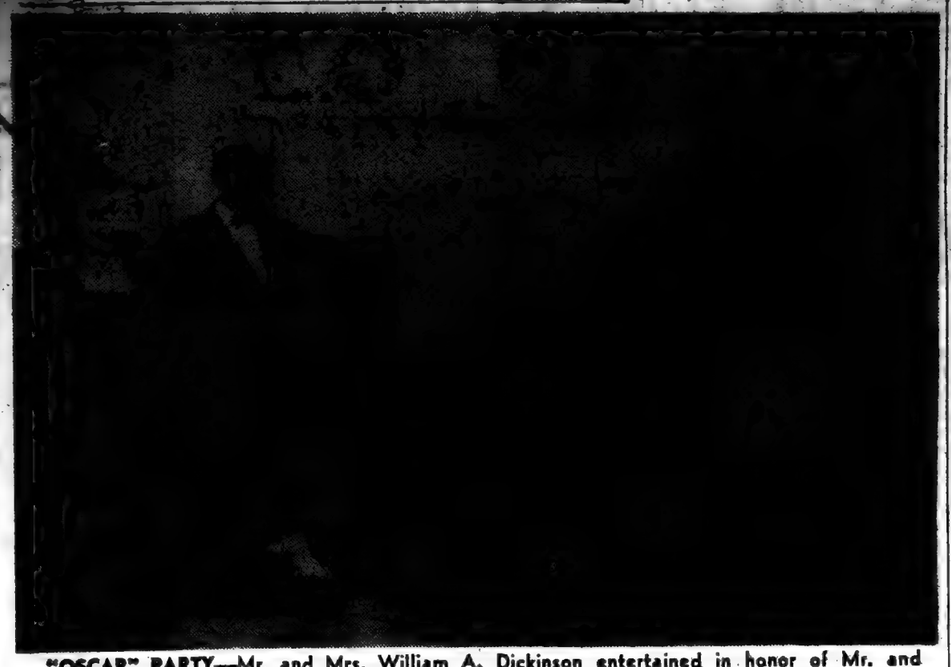
Dear Mr. and Mrs. Public:

One of the few public offerings of the original issue of life insurance stock is currently being made by Carver National Life Insurance Company. You are invited to make a subscription to the original stock in either a small or large number of these shares at this time.

Carver National Life Insurance Company is a California corporation with an authorized capital of $500,000; it is divided into 25,000 shares of Common (voting) stock. This stock has a par value of $10.00 per share and is being offered at $20.00 per share. All shares when fully paid are non-assessable and transferable. Since the original Permit No. 198 was granted by the Insurance Commissioner to sell stock, Carver has attracted public response in the receipt of subscriptions in the amount of $250,000 of shares! A balance of only $150,000—or 7500 shares — remains to be sold. Stockholders will share in the future net earnings of the corporation and enjoy voting privileges at stockholders' meetings.

Carver is directed by men of California who have had wide experience in the fields of business and finance. It is the opinion of the officers and directors of the company that no Negro business in the state has brighter prospects for success and that there is no safer investment you could make than with Carver National Life Insurance Company. Good Saving means Good Living!



June 30, 1948 is the closing date for the sale of this stock under the present permit.

"OSCAR" PARTY—Mr. and Mrs. William A. Dickinson entertained in honor of Mr. and Mrs. James Baskett following the latter's receiving the famed Academy award for work in picture "Song of the South." Presentation of "Oscar" was made to Mr. Baskett by screen star Ingrid Bergman. The Dickinsons and Basketts are pictured above.

Mrs. Benny Carter to Aid Francis Williams with Y.W.C.A. Spring Follies

Tryouts for the annual YWCA camp benefit got under way this week when Mrs. Frances Williams, director, tested for the spoken parts and Mrs. Ione Carter began selecting girls for the musical scores. Interest in the project has been keen with the Y-Teen club members for the past few months. With tryouts being held, enthusiasm at this point has reached an all-time high.

"Board the Freedom Train" is the title of the production. Top talent in drama, music and dance have been secured to assist Mrs. Williams in staging the Follies.

Ernie Anderson, assistant to Mrs. Williams, will help with dialogue. Mrs. Ione Carter, wife of Benny Carter, who had her own school of music in New York and extensive experience with young people, will supervise the music, and Senorita Camargo, eminent artist of the dance, stage and screen and television, will do the choriography and dances. Members of the YWCA Y-Teen clubs will participate.

Mrs. Betty Hill, chairman for the Woodlawn Branch Camp Committee, invites interested contributors to send their checks to her in care of the Woodlawn Branch YWCA. The committee plans to send 100 girls to camp this season.

Mrs. Inez Allen is director of the Y-Teen department.

ALLIED ARTS LEAGUE members are pictured above as they discussed the change of address for their much discussed Langston Hughes presentation. The Pepperdine College address has been changed to the Unitarian Auditorium on West 8th street on April 4, at 5:00 o'clock in the afternoon (see story)

SHOPPING WITH DORIS

By DORIS AUSTIN

Hi There:

Now that the glow of Easter is past and we can settle down to day by day routine again, comes the problem of spring cleaning, wardrobe sorting, vacation plans and a general formula for planning a full and eventful spring and summer. Already plans are being formulated that lead from short week-end trips to longer vacation ventures: what to wear, how much you can allow for vacation clothes and plans—can be judged by you alone. It's a wise person who plans carefully . . . useful methods to aid in buying for individual, family or household needs. Thoroughly check your needs . . . shop with system, devoting a definite time to a definite shopping purchase . . . buy things that are durable and practical as well as those of beauty and graceful lines in clothes or home supplies, choose colors carefully, watch for defects—play them down by skillful placing of good points—Shop for Quality, Value in merchandise with the eye toward the future use of the purchase when the price seem too high. Your Shopper—CE. 20819—for any and all kinds of shopping news or information.

Smartness and individuality of styles . . . Myrtle's Dressmaking Shoppe, 4114 W. Adams . . . RO. 3394 . . . Tailoring . . . Alterations . . . Specialty of stouts sizes and children wear.

Your greeting cards are important—select from the large complete stock of Caddye's Gift and Card Shop . . . 466 E. Vernon . . . personalized small gifts . . . newest in Bridge Sets for parties and prizes.

Latest in floral arrangement, corsazes and cut flowers . . . Sheffield's Flower Patio . . . distinctive sportswear for Men . . . Sheffield's Men Shop—4410 Avalon . . . Courteous personal attention by Helen Sheffield—lady haberdasher.

House of George . . . Ladies and Men Custom Tailors . . . 5780 Hollywood Blvd. Twin Suits a Specialty . . . excellent quality in fabrics for suits, topcoats, sportswear at popular prices with work on premises by expert tailors.

Sadler and Sons . . . 1171 E. Santa Barbara Ave. . . . CE. 20819 and RO. 2867 for building of all kinds, painting, papering. Call for free estimates . . . small and large jobs.

ELEANOR WINSTON, Wilfandel contestant being sponsored by Irene Bradford and Vera Winston, her grandmother, will be assisted in the race by a benefit bridge party Saturday, April 3, at 1326 W. 6th street at 12:00 noon. The first prize will be a savings bond. The public is invited.

Becks Entertain Southern Alumni

The Southern University Alumni, L. A. chapter, held its bimonthly meeting last Sunday with the Becks as host in their St. Andrews Place home.

Mrs. Bertha Harrell Sims presided in the absence of Mrs. Frances Epps, president. Mr. John Redfud and Mrs. Harrell Sims gave a report on the scholarship award to be given a Southern University all around student during commencement season, 1948.

Plans for the news letter that will be published quarterly telling of the achievements and activities of the members of the Los Angeles Chapter were begun.

The campus edition was reviewed during the meeting for ideas. Much enjoyment was had over this, for it contained information from some lost friend of each one present.

Mrs. D. T. Lanay was appointed chairman of the Survey committee and Mr. and Mrs. Lanay will also host the meeting scheduled for Sunday April 4, at their W. 35th street home.

The members and their company present were: Mr. and Mrs. Carl Thomas, Mrs. Juanita Lucien Jones, Mr. and Mrs. John Redfud, Mrs. Glendina Ray, Mrs. Cleo Granberry, Mrs. D. T. Lanay, Mrs. Hyston, Mrs. Fannie Lee, Mrs. Angella Woodruff, Mr. and Mrs. Graves, Mrs. Bertha Harrell Sims, Mrs. Frankie Johnson, Mrs. Gussie Flowers, Alfred Gradene, and Dr. and Mrs. Back.

Newsmen To Be Feted

DATES TO COME

The Crop 'n' Tail Riding club will be the key reason for Inter-frat basketball fans wearing blue jeans and plaid shirts on the night of April 24. The equesterines are expecting all the basketball fans and collegiates in general to make their way to the Crop's annual Barn Dance that will take place from 9 to 1, at the Elks Ballroom. As per usual the jeans and plaid shirts will be the order of the night, and as a good change this year, dancing will be to an orchestra instead of a juke box. Vice prexy to the Crops, Jane Criner, is chairing the dance. The Crops are expecting this to be their gayest affair yet. . . . Les Dames on the other hand have gone back to the bowery coast days in planning for their affair to be given Saturday at the LaVada Ballroom. All club members wil be dressed in the Bowery coast apparel and expect their guests to do likewise. . . .

The Omega Psi Phi fraternity national convention will be held in L. A. during the summer of '49. The Q-Etts, wives of the local Omega men believe in preparing early, reason for their raffle and tea set for Sunday, May 2, at 5 p.m. By the way, the Q-Ettes are certainly behind the Omega players 100%. . . .

WELL! WELL! WELL!

Naomi Davis Provost was down for the Easter Week-end from San Francisco with her baby son and her sister-in-law, Doris Provost. The threesome were house guests of Na's mother, Mrs. Davis. . . . When Lorrain Houston planes out on Friday night, it will be a direct trip to New Orleans. She will remain until after the summer months. By the way, Norman Houston will graduate from UCLA in June. Here's wishing for Lorrain good luck on the trip and a speedy recovery. . . . Congratulations are in order for Traffic Officer Christopher Smith and Marguerite Lewis Smith. The couple are proud parents of a son born Easter afternoon at 4:00 p.m. at Queen of Angels hospital. . . .

Birthday greetings will be in order for Lou Boswell on Saturday, April 10. A few friends have been invited to a birthday luncheon to be given in Lou's honor by Mrs. Minor. . . . The child prodigy, Philippa Schuyler will arrive in L. A. on April 10, with her parents, to rest up a bit before appearing in the Alpha Concert on April 18. Many social gatherings are being planned in honor of Miss Schuyler and her parents. The press will be putting out the extra special welcome mat to George Schuyler, a key member of the 4th Estate. . . . The Junior Leaguers of West View will be socializing at 1918 S. Harvard Blvd. on Friday night. . . . The Vernon Dale Golf club members are expecting a capacity crowd at their "Tee Off" April Fools dance on Friday night at the Congo. Should be a grand party. . . .

Receiving the welcome of a host of friends is song writer Cecil Carter, who has been at Olive View for several months. Planning to take life a bit easier this trip he is only too glad to be back home and feeling fine. . . .

A few months ago, received a special from EBONY magazine asking for a complete list of eligible bachelors in Los Angeles. To the best of my knowledge I immediately pinned back a group of some 25 gents who would fit the bachelor title, never dreaming that out of the nationwide poll any one of them would be picked as the most eligible bachelor. But that goes to show, you can never tell what will happen, for to the EAGLE office this week, came the advance Ebony release, that a complete story is carried on the eminent Dr. C. W. Hill, as most eligible bachelor. . . . So we say, hats off to C. W. Hill, as we make this week's deadline. . . .

'Till Next Week.

Raisin' Cain

By CARL L. CAIN

If the peoples of nations dealt directly with each other, there would be fewer wars. A person would not feel as bitter toward another individual (of another nation) as he would toward a government which made the same mistake, or had the same wrong belief as an individual. But when two governments disagree to a sharp enough extent, there is likely to be war. So the boys of both nations go out and engage in wholesale slaughter, whereas if they sat down on the battlefield and discussed the things for which they fought, many times they would reach an agreement and say, "let's go home and forget it!"

In other words, I think the peoples of nations should stop killing each other to cover up for the disagreements and mistakes of their leaders. That goes for the peoples of all nations. The problem is really getting serious now, and everything must be done to prevent another war. Individually, I believe we could go for thousands of years without finding the need for wars which claim hundreds of thousands of young lives. There is honor in dying for your country, but more glory in living for it.

TOPIC OF THE WEEK

Senator Taft of Ohio has introduced another bill to Congress. It is a plan for the government expenditure of 300 million dollars annually for a plan of centralized education. It is much different from the Taft-Hartley labor bill, which has become a law. If administered properly, it would be of enormous aid to the people for whom it is intended.

If the bill proposes a government standard of education for all the states throughout the nation, the annual three hundred million dollars would be used to help certain states maintain that standard, then there should be no objection to it.

The leading states in the educational program are New York and California. The state fartherest behind in the program for education of its youths is Mississippi. About five times as much per student, per year is spent by the states at the top of the ladder than by the state at the bottom. The other states fall in between. During the war, the army rejected thousands of youths because of educational deficiencies. Most of these young men were from the south.

Whether or not it seems real, southern teachers of Negro schools receive as little as thirty and forty dollars monthly salaries. The teachers of white schools receive often twice as much and more. Having had the privilege to tour the south and visit some of the rural schools I am thoroughly familar with the dreadful conditions of a great number of educational facilities for Negro students. Unfortunately, because of financial insufficiences, many of the boys and girls do not get further than the rural school education, which usually goes to the eighth grade. Movements were made by the citizens during recent years to build more and better schools. But their individual efforts are still leaving the educational standards far behind those of other states.

Regardless of what it goes to prove, the Caucasian boys and girls of the south often receive twice as much per student, per year for educational purposes as colored youths. Yet they all pay the same rate of taxes. They all receive the same amount for their products at the market. This is one of the most bitter and damaging outlets of prejudice and discrimination that the south has to offer.

Now many people believe that Taft's plan would tend to centralize education. If the government gave aid to the schools, then the government would be able to say what is to be taught and to whom it is to be taught. The state would be in charge of all he education, many believe.

If Senator Taft's bill should set a standard amount of money to be spent for each student per year and then aid the states which have a small rate of income—or the states that just won't appropriate money for education—the plan would be helpful. If the government took over the education program of the states that have lagged so far behind, I don't think too much 'harm' could come. Certainly the government should see to it that the people of the southern states, whether colored or white, have equal educational opportunities. The states have had their chance, and some of them have indeed failed. Now naturally I don't mean the government should take over the program for all the states, regardless of whether it aids the states financially. But I do believe that any state that does not meet the standard that should be set, should have government-controlled education. That doesn't mean that just white schools must meet the standard, but schools for both white and colored. Incidentally, it might not be a bad thing for the government to end this business about separate schools. The only way we're going to learn democracy in America is by practice.

FOOTNOTE: Beware of bad dog! All the political devices that can be dreamed up are going to be used in the campaigns for the presidential office from this date until next November. Read and study the platforms of the candidates. Decide whom you want. And then ignore the mud-slinging.

Journalism Panel Air Opportunities At East L.A. J.C.

Journalism students from local high schools will be the guests of the East Los Angeles Junior College journalism department in a publications roundup to be held Saturday, April 24, at the college.

A panel discussion will feature leading men and women in metropolitan and community journalism speaking to the students on the opportunities in the publications field today.

A luncheon will be held, followed by round table discussions on improvement of school publications. Dr. C. T. Shirley, dean of men, and H. Russell Paine, journalism instructor, will be in charge of arrangements.

Boys' Club Week Slated April 5-11

Members of the 14 Boys' Clubs in the Los Angeles Area affiliated with the Boys' Clubs of America are preparing to participate in the special programs planned by the Clubs during Boys' Club Week which will be observed throughout America from April 5 through April 11. The Clubs will hold open house continuously during that week so that parents, friends and the interested public may view first-hand the programs and activities of the Clubs. Membership in these clubs is open to all boys in the community between the ages of 8 and 18.

Bill Scott Urges the Young Adults to Take Cognizance of Times

Attention all young adults between the ages of 18-25! With history being made every day throughout the world statesmen and leaders are striving to solve problems that are arising in order to make our future a more secure one.

Are the youth going to let them shoulder the whole responsibility or are we going to voice our opinions and act to create the new world that we need. We want equality regardless of race, creed, or color in every walk of life. We want peace with Russia with the understanding that democracy will not be encroached upon. After all, it was our blood that was shed in the last war.

We want peace all over the world, peace wit hthe support of the President of the United States, leadin gthe country toward peace. We want the representation of statesmen abroad who are willing to arbitrate and use diplomacy. This man, in my opinion, is Henry Wallace.

If you are interested in why Henry Wallace 'fills the bill' and wish to campaign for the Independent Progressive party, call Bill Scott at RO. 5463 so that a meeting can be arranged on Sunday, April 4, for the organization of a Young People's group to the IPP. It's your future that is at stake, so join the young adults to elect Henry Wallace.

Southern College Holds Student Government Day

Student Government Day was observed last week at Florida A and M college under the dynamic leadership of George H. Rawls, who was selected by the student body to serve as their president.

Rawls had the signal honor of being selected "Alpha Man of The Year" at the National Convention in Tulsa, Oklahoma. June McMechen To Give Recital At Florida A&M

TALLAHASSEE, Fla.—June McMechen, one of the most promising of the younger school of rapidly rising concert artists, will appear in recital at Lee Hall auditorium of Florida A and M college on Friday, March 26, at 8:15 p.m.

As an undergraduate at Howard university, Miss McMechen was one of the national winners of the Fred Allen contest for the "Most Talented Undergraduate," and appeared as soloist on his Sunday evening nation-wide broadcast. Later she attended the Juilliard School of Music and Columbia university, where she studied with Mae Browner and Idelle Peterson.

As Violetta, Miss McMechen starred in the National Negro Opera Company's production of "La Traviata," which was presented at the Watergate Series in Washington, D.C.

Youth Assembly Opposes UMT

The National Youth Assembly Against Universal Military Training which recently held a mass lobby of 1500 young people in Washington, has written the Senate Armed Services Committee requesting an opportunity to testify at the hearings on UMT which the Committee's chairman, Senator Stan Gurney, (R., S.D.) announced last week would begin soon. The Youth Assembly has asked for a whole day to testify in order to give young people from all over the country a chance to be heard.

The Youth Assembly has designated the week of April 4th to April 10th as Anti-UMT Week and is calling on all young people and youth organizations to plan special activities for this week to dramatize youth's opposition to UMT.

Gen. 'Ike' Eeinsenhower Joins Boy Scouts' Executive Board

General Dwight D. Eisenhower has accepted membership on the National Executive Board of the Boy Scouts of America, it was announced last night by Amory Houghton, president of the organization.

An advocate of Scouting over the years, General Eisenhower supported a drive for wastepaper conducted by the Boy Scouts throughout the nation during the last year of the war. By collecting 318,000 tons of paper in two months, 299,936 Scouts qualified for the General Eisenhower-Boy Scout wastepaper Campaign medal. A gold replica of it was presented to him in Washington in December 1945.

"The Boy Scout Movement merits the unstinted support of every American who wants to make this country and his world a better place in which to live," General Eisenhower said when he received his medal. "Its emphasis on community service and tolerance and world friendship promotes a speedier attainment of the for which we all strive.

Musical Artists, Scholars Share Spotlight at Fisk University Annual Festival

NASHVILLE—Folk music will be heard and discussed at Fisk university's 19th annual Festival of Music and Art, April 29, 30, and May 1 in concerts by Edward Matthews and the 100-voice University Choir and a seminar on "Folk Music" featuring three national authorities, G. Wallace Woodworth, Charles Seeger and John W. Work.

Musical artists and scholars at the Festival will share the spotlight with Pearl Primus, famous interpreter of African dances; Majorie Kinnan Rawlings, author of The Yearling; Robert Redfield, professor of anthropology, University of Chicago; and John Hope Franklin, author of From Slavery to Freedom, all of whom will be appearing during the three days.

Matthews' concert will feature folk songs of various countries, compositions by Negro composers, and selections from "Porgy and Bess," the folk-inspired opera in which he starred. In his concluding numbers featuring Negro work songs as arranged by J. W. Work and a group of spirituals, the baritone will take the lead and will be joined in the chorus by the University Choir.

126 Students Listed On Honor Roll At Shaw U.

RALEIGH, N.C.—The Honor Roll for the second semester, released last week at Shaw university by Mrs. Eva F. Ray, University Registrar, lists 126 students who attained a general average of B for the period. Freshmen placed 29 on the roll; sophomores and juniors, 26; and seniors, 22. Ten men in the School of Religion were cited and three unclassified students were named.

Six students made straight "A" averages for the semester. They were, Doris M. Smith, senior of Willow Springs; Beatrice G. Larkins, senior of Raleigh; Carolyn Y. Prunty, junior of North Fork, West Va.; Leroy Hall, Steelton, Pa.; Angie Brooks, Norlina; and Dorothy Lee Alston, Newark, N.J.; all sophomores. Three seniors maintained a perfect record with 7 appearances on the honor roll in seven semesters. They are, Vanzola Bond, Gates; Thelma A. Gumbs, Henderson; and Beatrice G. Larkin, Raleigh.

Student Vets Seek Defeat Of McArthur

Student veterans from six local colleges an duniversities abandoned their traditional rivalry last week and joined together in the national Veterans Against MacArthur campaign.

In the first official meeting of the Los Angeles chapter of the VAM held at 329½ N. Spaulding Ave., the group mapped plans for a public education program to "counteract the vociferous minority advocating the aged general's candidacy."

George Shaw, 1750 N. Wilton Pl., Southland representative of the national VAM, said the group had already obtained 8000 signatures on a petition opposing Gen. Douglas MacArthur for President.

And Shaw said there were still hundreds of petitions outstanding.

The signatures will be sent to national VAM headquarters in Chicago and then forwarded, along with those from other parts of the country, to the Republican National Convention.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By REV. IKE EVANS, D.D.

Subject: A Prophet Among The Exiles, Lesson Text and Outline, Ezekiel 1:1-3; 3:11, 17-21; 1-13. Motto Text. Ezekiel 3:17.

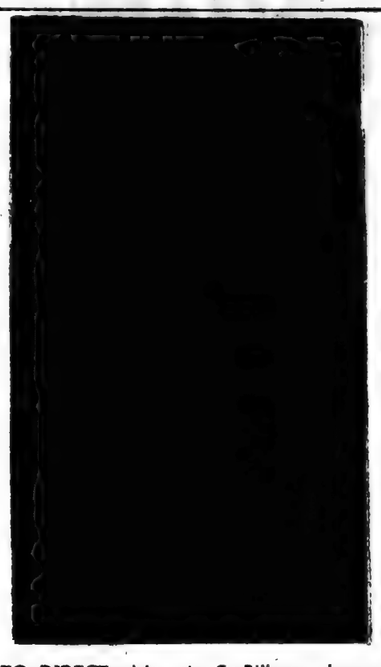
Introduction

The ministry of Ezekield covered the period immediately preceding and following the destruction of Jerusalem in 536 B. C. It was the stormiest time in the history of Judah. National sins had fruited in national reverses, revolt had brought retribution until the captivity in which Ezekiel was taken away was followed eleven years later by the complete overthrow of the nation. Yet the captive Jews were not altogether slaves; ther were, rather, colonists with the privilege of observing the Mosaic law, preserving their genealogies, maintaining their worship, and arising to prominence in civic life. In this era the synagogue probably arose, idolatry was finally exterminated from among the Jews, and the worship of Jehovah in the land of captivity was both intensified and ennobled.

Comments

The word of instruction and the rod of correction may be of great service to us, in concert and concurrence with each other, the word to explain the rod and the rod to enforce the word: both together give wisdom. In their captivity the Jewish people were destitute of ordinary helps for their souls, and therefore God raised them up these extraordinary ones; for God's children, if they be hindered in their education on way, shall have it made up another way. The Jews that remained in their own land had Jeremiah with them, those that had gone into captivity had Ezekiel with them; for wherever the children of God are scattered abroad he will find out tutors for them.

2. The minister must go to those of the captivity, who, being in affliction, it was to be hoped would receive instruction; he must look upon them as the children of his people, to whom he is nearly allied, and for whom he therefore ought to have a very tender concern. He must tell them not only what the Lord said, but that the Lord said it; let him speak in God's name, and back what he said with his authority. thus saith the Lord God.



3. It is not enough for a man to turn from his wicked way by an outward reformation, which may be the effect of his sins leaving him rather than of his leaving his sins, but he must turn from his wickedness, from the love of it and the inclination to it, by an inward regeneration; if he do not so much as turn from his wicked way, there is little hope that he will turn from his wickedness. It is the duty of ministers both to warn sinners of the danger of sin and to assure them of the benefit of repentance, to act before them how miserable theyare if they go on in sin, and how happy they may be if they will but repent and reform.

Comment on the Motto Text

Ministers are watchmen on the church's walls,' watchmen that go about the city. It is a toilsome office. Watchmen must keep awake, be they ever so sleepy, and keep abroad, be it ever so cold; they must stand all weathers upon the watch-tower. It is a dangerous office. Sometimes they cannot keep their post, but are in peril of death from the enemy, who gain their point if they kill the sentinel; and yet they dare not quit their post upon pain of death from their general. In such a dilemma are the church's watchmen; men will curse them if they be faithful, and God will curse them if they be false. But it is a needful office; the house of Israel cannot be safe without watchmen, and yet, except the Lord keep it, the watchman waketh but in vain.

GUESS WHO'S HERE for a ten night soul-saving campaign from now through April 8 at the Calvary Paptist church, 1031 East 52nd place near Central avenue. It's Rev. W. I. Rector from San Antonio expecting to see all his old friends. Rev. O. L. Hegmon, pastor of Calvary Baptist church.

TO DIRECT—Mrs. A. C. Bilbrew, known for many a fine production in the past, maintains her reputation in the forthcoming pageant, 'Books of Memories' for the Victory Baptist church.

'Book of Memories' Uniquely Portrays History of Victory Baptist Church Growth

Victory Baptist church, in celebrating its anniversary after five years of successful service to the community, launched the celebration last Sunday with the Easter Sunday climax to Holy Week services. The church was filled to overflowing, worshippers who could not be seated inside, assembled outside around the corner of 48th and McKinley and listened to the services from loudspeakers. This was a joyful beginning of the Anniversary week as well as an auspicious ending to Holy week.

Nightly during the current week, Victory has been the host to a different local church, and gratifying attendance has marked the interesting and enlightening services conducted by the guest pastors and their churches. Tonight, Thursday, April 1st, Rev. B. C. Austin of Cornerstone Baptist church and his members will be the guests of Victory, while on Friday night, Rev. T. P. Moss of New Zion church and Rev. W. M. Small of New Light church will be the guests of the Victory Baptist church.

Saturday night marks the occasion of the All Star Musical, in which program will appear the Smith Jubilee Singers, the Victory Trio, Rev. Pleasant and Rev. Smallwood. All Los Angeles is familiar with the artistry of these persons, and there will be other numbers of the most choice music presented on Saturday evening.

Sunday, April 4th, will bring three services which will close with a suitable climax, the Anniversary Week. The eleven o'clock service will bring Dr. Ralph Mayberry of the Los Angeles City Mission Society to the rostrum. Dr. Mayberry needs no further introduction than his own good works in the City of Los Angeles. At 3:30, Rev. J. Raymond Henderson, pastor of Second Baptist Church, will deliver the Anniversary Message. The entire array of speakers for this service is an imposing one. Dr. Fish, president of the Los Angeles Theological Seminary, Rev. W. P. Carter of Calvary Baptist church and president of the Western States Convention; Rev. H. B. Charles, moderator of the Los Angeles District Association; Rev. L. M. Curtis, president of the Los Angeles County Baptist Ministerial Alliance—all these notables will bring brief messages of congratulation and encouragement to Victory Baptist at 7:30 p.m.

Sunday evening, Victory will present its Book of Memories, a pageant written and directed by the radio commentator, Mrs. Bilbrew. Music will be furnished by the Peters Radio Club, the Celestial Choir, the Cathedral Choir and the Young Peoples Choir. This pageant will in a novel and unusual manner present page by page the history of Victory during the past years of growth. You will see the young man Rev. Arthur A. Peters, in his first years in Los Angeles, as a singer with hopes and ambitions toward a useful life in the work of God. You will see Victory in its first humble struggle for existence. You will see, as the pages turn, the highlights in the development of this church, all colorfully portrayed as conceived by the talented pen of Mrs. Bilbrew, interpreted by the voice of that same artist who will serve as narrator, and reenacted by well-trained sincere participants. You will be charmed by the musical backgrounds and interludes furnished by the musical organizations of Victory. Page by page from the Book of Memories, Victory gives itself to the public. Please attend, the time will be well spent.

Canaan-2nd Calvary Churches To Host Deacon Union Apr. 11

Sunday, April 11th, will be another great day at Canaan and Second Calvary Baptist churches, 1182 E. 35th street, who will be hosts to the Ministers, Deacons and Deaconess Union of the Tri-County District Association. Rev. Wm. Thomas, of Riverside, is moderator.

Dr. Thomas, his official staff and Pres. Theodore Scott of the deacons and deaconess union are earnestly requesting the presence of the many ministers, deacons and deaconesses of our many city churches to be present at 3 p.m. and take a part in the spiritual feast which will be served.

Music by the famous gospel choir of Calvary B.C., Dr. P. W. Carter pastor, Santa Monica. Remember your presence is requested regardless to your conventional connections.

Baptist Temple Making Strides Under Evangelist

The Baptist Temple, 620 East 48th street, is growing under the temporary leadership of Evangelist Rev. H. Gilbert. Dr. J. C. Sweeney, the former pastor of the Elbeetel Baptist church in Dallas, is the pastor of Baptist Temple. He is improving in health. We invite friends to come and visit our services at 11:30 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Submitted by Mildred Bradley.

Two Devout Religious Workers Of Ebenezer Baptist Honored By Church on Birthdays

MRS. MARY VINCENT AND MRS. BESSIE HENDERSON

Last Sunday, March 21, was a high day in the history of the Ebenezer Baptist church, 4901 Avalon blvd. The congregation celebrated the birthdays of two of its Mothers and most faithful members: Mrs. Mary Vincent and Mrs. Bessie Henderson.

Mrs. Vincent was born in Chatham county, Canada, March 22, 1858. She for a long time has been the First Mother of Ebenezer Church, and is the first and only president of the Church's Prayer Band. She is a charter member of the church. Her work began with its organization in a small store front on 25th and Compton. It is now located on Avalon blvd.

In spite of the many years stacked upon her, Mrs. Vincent is always first in Sunday school on Sunday mornings. During the year 1947 she attended 46 Sundays. Until recently she never had a doctor nor did she wear glasses. The pastor of Ebenezer, Rev. F. Cameron, and the congregation were happy to rejoice with her in the celebration of her 90th birthday.

Mother Bessie Henderson, also one of the Mothers of Ebenezer, was born in Tyler, Texas, March 23, 1875. She has been ill for several months, and because of her illness the pastor and congregation of Ebenezer wished her especial joy for her birthday and hope for her recovery. She is honored with being the second Mother of the Church. She has been for many years a faithful worker in all of the departments, working steadily and supporting both the church's and the pastor's program. She is one of the pioneer members.

Don't tell the world about our woe,
Or that our love story ends.
Just tell all those who care to know,
We parted the best of friends!

NOTES TO MY PUBLIC:

Angel City table-gabbers insist that barber Harold W. Clark and Mary Louise Gilmore (the photog model) will become man and wife quicker than it takes runner Lloyd LaBeach to sprint the hundred yard dash! . . . Quint "Boss" Garnet is up and about again after a recent blackjack attack as he entered his home some few ayems ago. Can't figure out the assault, the Boss has more friends than a dollar bill . . . Memo club host Clarence Moore (who's getting stoop-shouldered from toting all that money to all those banks) table-gabbing with Elyse Desormes, one of the nicest, friendliest, most lovable and charming personalities in the Angel City social set . . . Tom McGee (another grand guy' sippin' seven-up in the Downbeat, where Jake Porter's zippy little combo keeps your toes tappin' in rhythm . . . They call 'em Throw Rugs because they usually do just that. And that's howcum Jimmie Anderson's right eye is the color of an Easter egg. He tried to get to the phone too quick. and then it was the wrong number! Yak, yak, yak. (Hey, James! I'm laffing WITH you and not at you!!' . . . Overheard In The Congo: "You think I'm a louse, don't you?" . . . "Oh, I wouldn't say that." . . . "I know you wouldn't you'd just think it!" . . . At the Fashion show the other Sunday the drummer's hot licks sounded like Krupa. In the middle of her model'ing, Reve LeMerle (the 3-yr. old family image turned around and said. clapping her hands in childish glee: "That drummer knocks me out!" . . . Matthew Thompson and Joe Shipp (another pair of swelligent people) nodding to friends and hello'ing chums at one of the nite spots the other evng. They own the joy-juice joint (on Vernon near Wall) and rate your patronage, 'cause they're good guys . . . The Ah's & Oh's still in the air about the Nat Cole-Marie Ellington wedding Sunday in New York.

NOTES, NEWS AND NONESENSE:

A returned California (absent from the city a pair of years) returned home and found a 4-room furnished apartment. "Well," a jealous bystander well'd, "What do you know to get an apartment?" . . . "It's not what you know," the Native niftied, "It's WHO you know!" . . . The delightful routines of Marie Bryant (at the DB club) are positively wonderful. 'I'd see her in person than to see Gregory Peck on the screen. (Well nearly, anyhow) . . . Ovreheard at the Olympic Ringside: "I've seen much better fights over me!" . . . Have you any doubt Velma Myles is in love? If so, throw it out cher mind. She's changing her nom de plumey to Mrs. Nick Ramirez anyday now . . . Paul Robbins was Easter-visiting on an 8-hr. pass from the hosp. Looks sooo much better since he started keeping saner hours . . . Cecil "Count" Carter is back in circulation following a short vacation, and has a batch of new tunes just waiting for the ban to lift. He wrote "I Thot You Ought To Know" . . . Hey, Leon Rene! How about getting Ceelle Burke to record his tune. "Unlucky Baby?" It's been on the shelf for years, but we'll bet a stack of old Wilkie buttons it'd make the Hit Parade. You gave him a chance to do your number about the swallows returning to Capistrano etc., now give him a chance to do his . . . Billy Bowen (the handsomest of the Ink Spots) shaking hands at the Last Word as tho he really meant it. Nice fellow. The kind everybody likes . . . Bobby Brown happens to be in Frisco which is where Arlene Davis happens to be . . . Newest excitement to the town is a tiny thing named Gloria DeHart. She's from Philly, and came out here to model for a calendar company . . . Jesse Ginson (the pianist) is planning to get straight with the Union; organize a band; get rich and get married all in the space of a year! . . . George (Gee Gee) Dawson is the youngest Negro (male) beautician in the city. a good one. too—which is good enough for a plug here! . . . Jean Young (our gal-pal) applauding Geo. Dewey Washington's version of "Chloe" at the Congo. He's been searching for Chloe for years. But personally I hope he doesn't find her—'cause we could listen to his singing for years to come!

THE WEEKLY NEWSREEL:

Vivian (Webster) Carrington doesn't know how those rumors get started, but she isn't returning to show biz. Rich as hubby Frank is, why should she? (Ooooh, but wotta dancer!!!!) . . . Bill Smallwood is over his cold and doing fine thank-you. Just goes to show what the Elsinore air will do for ya' . . . Of More Serious Dimensions: A mammoth all-star show (with a new twist) is being planned to aid the Outdoor Life and Health Sanitorium. If plans go through (and they will!) this will be the biggest benefit the Angel City has witnessed since Hector (as the saying goes) was a pup! Much credit goes to Celestine Shambrey and a local columnist for the new different idea! Sorry we can't tell you more. but keep your eye on the col'm. The Outdoor Life and Health San is truly something to be proud of, and with more support from the local b'sness firms, etc, will stand as solid as the Rock of Gibdaltor. The Sanatorium relies mainly on donations from individuals for expansion of its facilities, and take it from me they're doing a job caring for the ill! . . . Remember the radio show we told you about a few columns ago? The deal fell through. Ho-Hum . . . The Les Dames nite on the Bowery will be a top affair Saturday night at the LaVada . . . April Four is the date of the opening of Johnson's Bath House, on the Westside of town. Virginia Johnson and hubby is charge de affaires . . . And with that, we bring the col'm to a close with this: "If you want people to keep their nose out of your business—buy a Skunk farm!"

Don Heywood Plans Musical For Fans Here

By Lawrence F. LaMar

HOLLYWOOD, (NPB) — Donald Heywood, widely known theatrical figure arrived here on the coast last week with plans to produce a musical comedy. With Heywood came Adolph Themstead, who will be associated with him in the venture. Local fans starved for a lavish production here, are prepared to give Heywood and his efforts a healthy welcome.

Heywood and his associate immediately made arrangements with those holding the property of the Belasco theatre for the early rehearsals and run of the show. The pair of New York producers revealed that the musical tentatively titled "A Caribbean Carnival," will have a West Indian motif.

Rehearsals on the big musical will begin just as soon as the pair have trimmed rough edges off their script and completed the castings.

Capitol Releases Lutcher Record And Album

Nellie Lutcher's little brother. Joe Lutcher. has suddenly started to rise in public acceptance on the heels of his earlier Capitol releases.

NO-NAME BOOGIE finds Joe Lutcher's Jump Band moving briskly along through familiar boogie patterns. The jazz flavor is extremely strong from first to last bar. This entire presentation is the wild jumping style of jazz for whicch there has been developed an increasing demand in recent months. Featured instrumentally are Joe Lutcher on alto sax. Karl George on trumpet, and Bill Ellis on tenor sax.

HIT THE BLOCK features a vocal by William Cooper who also composed this song. This is a novelty tune with excellent pace. Incidentally, Cooper also plucks the bass while he sings the lyrics on this record. Joe Lutcher's rhythm is outstanding.

Rarely has a performing artist experienced the exciting and rapid hise to international fame as did Nellie Lutcher. From the release of her first Capitol single in mid 1947 she has been the focal point of public attention. Each of her subsequent records created a sensation by themselves. Known today both as "The Real Gone Gal" and the "Hurry On Down Singer," Nellie now appears in the nation's top theaters, smart clubs, and over major networks. Ever since the flurry created by her first record there have been consistent demands for an album collection of Nellie Lutcher records. The six sides presented here find Nellie in all of the moods which have made her beloved to millions of Americans. She sings each song in her own inimitable style with her own piano accompaniment, plus the added color provided by a rhythm section.

THE ONE I LOVE BELONGS TO SOMEBODY ELSE.
REACHING FOR THE MOON.
THERE'S ANOTHER MULE IN YOUR STALL.
SLEEPY LAGOON.
LAKE CHARLES BOOGIE.

The best rhythm section Jesse Price has ever had is heard on FROGGY BOTTOM, while particularly notable instrumentals are those of Buddy Tate on tenor sax and Snookie Young (of Count Basie's Band) on trumpet.

FRETTIN' FOR SOME PETTIN' is handled as a novelty with Jesse getting off the lively lyrics to best advantage. The composer of this tune, by the way, is Dave D. Cavanaugh.

Returning to RKO Radio Studios, where she scored a tremendous success with her performance in "The Miracle of the Bells" is the Italian film star, Valli, who has been signed by Dore Schary for the co-starring role opposite Joseph Cotton in "Weep No More."

La Horne Gets Top Billing in New Musical

MGM's determination to make "Words and Music," the story of Rodgers and Hart, the finest musical ever to come out of that studio is evidenced by the fact that most of their big names will appear in the film, with top billing going to Lena Horne, Frank Sinatra and Mickey Rooney.

AMAZINGLY GIFTED, Philippa Duke Schuyler, will be presented by Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, Inc. at the Philharmonic Auditorium on Sunday, April 18 at 3 p.m.

T-Bone Walker Is Big Time Entertainment With Class

Once in a while a singer comes along who can do more than just stand in front of a microphone and make gesticulations. Such a singer is T-Bone Walker. He can sing. But to state in print that T-Bone Walker can sing is like saying Ingrid Bergman is a great actress. It's a known fact she can act and he can sing. But it isn't known why he hasn't reached the top of the theatrical profession when other mediocre singers have zoomed across the musical hoizon in a blaze of glory.

T-Bone (whose first name is Aaron) has been in show business for the past 15 years, and although known as a blues singer, he adapts himself well to any manner of song He sings t he blues, ballads, jump tunes and just about any other type of song the customer asks for. He is my idea of one of the truly great singers around today, and doesn't have to resort to t rick tonsilling to put songs across. He sings in a full, deep, sincere manner which makes for easy listening. He sings from his heart and soul, whether it's a blues ballad or a torchant.

Recently returned from a strenuous tour of one-nighters across the country, T-Bone is at present "resting" up before embarking on a theatre night-club tour, teeing off from Phoenix. Ariz., April 7. His Black and White records are best-sellers and his theatre night-club dates are nearly always S.R.O. affairs. And why shouldn't they be? He is one of truly great artists of our time, and when T-Bone Walker is out there before the mike, you can be assured of some downright solid entertainment. He sings. He acts. He plays the guitar. He jumps all over the stage. He does everything but clown. All he has to do to command respect of any audience is to walk out on the stage, turn on that inimitable smile that has endeared him to millions, strike a chord on his Gibson guitar, raise those sparkling eyes to the microphone and start singing.

He makes you laugh. He makes you cry. He makes you sad. He makes you happy. It depends on the mood he's in. But no matter what mood he strikes he always makes with number-one entertainment. He is quite a showman, beginning his stint with deadpan playing, both visual and aural, and then building into a fast, driving solo, but retaining the sober mien. His style of guitar playing can't be defined very easily, not because it's so complicated, not because there's anything about it, but simply because like most first-rate musicians, he doesn't honk away on any special figuration or strange sound rather chooses the best of everythin g available to him and then adds something more. It's a continual pleasure to hear him over and over again. The way every T-Bone Walker number goes, slow or fast, ballad or jump, with a beat. The guy is a natural, and I can't for the life of me figure why some top talent scout hasn't scouted around to where T-Bone Walker happens to be and "discovered" him before now.

He belongs at the very top of the musical ladder of success.

His singing rates it.

As for his guitar playing, it's the peak of perfection!

Alphas Sponsor Young Prodigy In Concert

The brilliant piano compositions and interpretations of the Masters will be heard in the Philharmonic Auditorium by Philippa Duke Schuyler on Sunday afternoon, April 18 under the auspices of Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity.

The young pianist-composer has received every type of award, honor, and recognition that can be given a musician for her exceptional ability and extraordinary interpretation of rhythm and feel g.

Known not only for her unusual musical ability she has also been cited for her wealth of knowledge in the liberal arts field and is a linguist and mathematician of note. Critics across the country have sung her praises, and abroad, her accomplishments are hailed remarkable.

Bal Taborin Show Clicks

GARDENA, Calif. (NPB)—Bal Taborin, favorite night spot in the South Los Angeles area, boasting more than a dozen continuous years of top entertainment with Negro artists, continues to be a mecca for those who delight in having their night club entertainment fare served with great eclat, swing and swerve fashion.

Current attraction at the spot, is clever and talented Jean Arthur. She is delightful as a comedienne and as emcee for the show. The dance team billed as the 2 Hi-Hatters, is truly superb. They also, put in a good turn making the act of "Beauty and the Beast," with dancer Paula Moore as the beauty. The top singing spot is held down by the dulce voce of statuetish Evelyn Meyers. The hot tempo music is under the direction of Charley Davis. A peppery chorus line rounds out the bill.

Famed Tenor Of Ink Spots Ordered Rest

ELSINORE, Calif. (NPB)—Bill Kenny, famed tenor lead of the Four Inkspots, arrived here last week, shortly after arriving in Los Angeles for a night spot date for a short "rest."

The "rest" was ordered by the singer's friend and physician, Dr. N. Curtis King. King brought Kenny here for the "rest" on his comfortable ranch where he will remain until opening of the group's show in Hollywood's famed Florentine Gardens club.

Jack McVea at Ringside Club

Patrons attending the Ringside club, on Washington at Western, are sure to 'jump' to the music of super-entertainer, Jack McVea and his "Open The Door Richard" orchestra, featuring Rabon Tarrant, Blues king, and Nina & Evanna, appearing nightly.

Tribute to Ella

CHICAGO — Mel torme, the famed "Velvet Fog" joined the circus of professionals shouting the praise of Ella Fitzgerald last week when he responded to a questioner seeking his opinion of singers and entertainers. The newest favorite of the bobby soxers unequivocally rated the Tisket Tasket girl as the greatest of the modern day girl singers.

The Chabot Art Gallery, 456 N. Western avenue, presents painting and drawing by Milton Hirschl daily through April 17 from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., Wednesday and Friday evening 'til 10 p.m.

SHARPS 'N FLATS

By Albert McNeill, California Eagle Music Critic

Brahms's Requiem

"Superbly presented," "Almost Celestial," were the expressions which concert goers lavished on the presentation of Brahms German Requiem which the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra and a choir of 500 voices under the direction of Alfred Wallenstein gave on last Thursday evening. Shrine Civic Auditorium was filled to its 7600 capacity. As the first great chorus, "Blessed Are They That Mourn" began, there was a great hush which came over the great audience. There is no sentimentality in this music; only ordered, sincere and moving consolation, with the stamp of Brahms' personality ingrained wtihin it.

"For All Flesh," the second chorus, uses the violins and violas in a saraband-like funeral march, divided and muted in the higher positions. The pronunciation of the chorus was without distortion; every syllable was clearly enunciated. Robert Weede, one of America's best-known and best-loved baritones, held forth magnificently in "Lord Make Me Know" and the monumental "Here On Earth."

Anna Turke, soprano, although hesitant and a little off key at the start, displayed a beautiful tone and sincere feeling in "Ye Now Are Sorrowful." The chorus was made up of students from USC, UCLA, and Occidental college, as well as members of the Glendale and Westwood Methodist church choirs, and Hollywood and Pasadena First Presbyterian church choirs. Jacqueline Freeze, James Warren and Luther Curtis were among our local representatives in the choir.

An Appeal

It seems almost tragic that those of us who are interested in joining forces to present a great community choral presentation, are thwarted by the attitude which so many of our conductors in the major churches of the community display whenever the question of should we unite our efforts in one great presentation is raised. Last Thursday evening as we sat in the Shrine Auditorium, we felt the great surge of unification and saw its results. Music superbly presented in sincerity and unity, and above all musically good, can accomplish great things for our group and for our individual choral groups. It is with great sincerity that we openly propose such a venture to our colleagues Madames Anna Griffith Morrow, Robert V. Edwards, Lucille Huley, Minnie Albritton-Hampton, and any others who would be inspired to participate.

Kenneth Spencer

Before an audience of a thousand persons, Kenneth Spencer, basso, was heard in thrilling vocal recital last Sunday in Philharmonic Auditorium. The concert was sponsored by the Los Angeles Musicians Association and the Department of Music of the People's Independent Church of Christ. Despite the fact that many of us have not learned to be on time to these events, Spencer presented a well-balanced program of operatic arias, folk songs, Negro spirituals and work songs.

Of special commendation was the handling of the well-known "Il Lacerato Spiritu" from the Boccanegra. The great depth of the lower register was almost unbelievable. The upper tones did not, however, offer as much satisfaction. The dramatic treatment of the "O No, John" was highly appreciated by the audience. Two numbers by our resident composer, William grant Still, were presented and were enthusiastically received. Edwin McDonnel was the very capable accompanist.

Yehudi Menuhin Plays Tonite At Philharmonic

No Los Angeles Philharmonic orchestra season is quite complete without a solo appearance by the world-famous violinist, Yehudi Menuhin, who returns to Los Angeles for the season's 15th concert pair, Alfred Wallenstein, conducting, in Philharmonic auditorium on Thursday evening, April 1, and Friday afternoon, April 2.

Internationally acclaimed as one of the greatest violinists of all time, Menuhin will play one of the most popular works ever composed for his instrument—the Tschaikowsky Concerto in D major for violin and orchestra. The entire second half of the program will be devoted to this work.

TAN TOWN TOPICS: The EASTER PARADE . . . As I gazed from my "penthouse" window, down upon "brown broadway's" proud strollers . . . my thoughts wandered swiftly back to the "horse and buggy" days, not altogether for comparison, but more or less to form a mental picture of what the NEW LOOK must've gone through all those years while estled within the history-starred body of "time," waiting to be "born" . . . and now in the year 1948, we the privileged fold of humanity, in awed anticipation watch it (theNEW LOOK) celebrate its "birth." I, for one, am ready to inquire of the "stork" that delivered it:WAS THAT TRIP NECESSARY??? but then, too, it was easy to render this afforestated bit of cynicism into "off-the-record" classification after witnessing the gala fashion promenade presented at the Meadowbrook (recently renamed the MARDI GRAS) Easter Sunday night.

It is safe to say that ANGEL TOWN'S society of fashion enthusiasts, etc., were out en masse to view what turned out to be a veddy successful promotion . . . add . . . the good brother McCoo (one of its sponsors) seemed happy as a baby boy with a brand-new toy . . . and for once patrons were surprised with a rarity of viewing a fashion show (near perfect) by models who at least knew how to walk across a stage in fairly eye-appealing and shapely grace . . . must credit is due charming Deanna Crouch, under whose expert direction the beautiful models toiled . . . that non-union band supplied some mighty groovie and dancable music . . . so much for that.

But listen to me when I tell you that: George Dewey Washington, the star of the current CONGO show, is still one of the greatest showmen on the American stage today and as long as he's alive, "CHLOE" will never die. . . . Marie Bryant, my idea of rhythmic ATOMIC ENERGY, is layin' down her "magic" at the DOWNBEAT, backed up by the "mad" music of Jake "KING" Porter and his great combo. . . . For nostalgia after midnite, it's Stuff Crouch's unique Backstage Breakfast club, where the "pretty people" play pretty for themselves and all the "kats" join in, it was there we found Dorothy Donegan, Harold Nicholas 'n' the rest of the "gang" hanging out, but GOOD!! . . . Jimmie Harris, masseur par-excellence, and heckuvva swell fella, wasn't kiddin' when he said he'd open the "last word" in salons. His W. Jefferson "reducerie" is just that. . . . Among my Easter Sunday meanerings it was my pleasant indulgence to observe a "walking equation" of "chassis and charm" which all added up to be "reet, petite and gone Gloria Swanson (of the 49th St. Swansons)!! . . . Maggie (La) Hathaway "stodd-in" for the great Pearl Bailey last week when the latter suffered an accident while working in a pic.

They say: Tall, tan and tolerant Gloria Smith gave a decidedly different "version" about her recent "trip" up'Nawth, but I know the "real story!" One still never knows, does one?? The "torch" the Statue of Liberty is "totin'" is a baby bird's egg, compared to the one eye-arrestin' Gwendolyn Hithe is "totin'" for a Hollywood "artiste." She's in love way up to her HEART!! . . . Central Avenue's smilin' "Mayor Evans Mosby" called the LAST WORD's management (Factor & Millers) "bluff" on their own grounds t'other nite, and nothing "happened"!!! Well, whattaya know?? . . . Is "sophisti-cutie" Althea Pope "putting all her eggs in one basket??. I wouldn't say that pretty Betty Hudson is aiming at Peggy Hopkins Joyce's marital record, but she tells me she's just about ready to "dood it" again. . . . Kaiser Duncan, on a few weeks' vacation, is taking his "golf" veddee serious, just invested in a complete set of new clubs and bag.

It's common gossip that Bill Heflin is making more enemies than friends at the Congo, s'too bad and that ain't good. There's as much difference between he and his brother Leon as "night and day." Bill had better get hepped and bring his head back down to earth, when all the air is let out've a balloon there's only one place for it to land . . . after all; this reporter knows what the score is. . . . All roads lead to JOHNSON'S bath house at 27th and Western ave. come Sunday, April 4, operated by two swell folks, Virginia and Bob Johnson.

Up Val Verde way: Joe (of Charlie and Joe's chicken shack) and Bob Godden got off to a flying start with their new bathhouse enterprise last Sunday . . . add . . . should be a good spot for these hot summer days coming up. . . . Smiley Turner, the guy with the "smile" in his voice, is sure to be discovered by the "big time" . . . he "sings" his song, I'm tellin' ya'. . . . I don't think Pasadena is quite big enuf' to hold those "deuce" of "feudin'" pin-up goils (all over a tenor-sax playin' Romio). All right Ollie and Elise, straighten up!! . . . It's all over now, that is, the mammoth wedding ceremony of Nat (King) Cole and Marie Ellington; they said their vows Easter Sunday.

The great INK SPOTS opened at the Florentine Gardens Monday nite, and natchely, the S.R.O. sign was up. . . . Connie Jordan and his rhythm-mad JORDANEERS are back at the TODDLE HOUSE on W. Washington blvd. for another long engagement. They're gettin' better all the time; don't say I didn't tell ya; 1948 should see this group hit the "jackpot." . . . Unlike the guy who decided he wanted to live "dangerously" so he went and bought an order of "hash" . . . I'll just say that a few of the local political "stooges" are butting their heads together, but nothing much is expected to happen, other than a "crack-up." . . . What more can you expect??? and that's "30" for now . . . and remember, they say, everything that goes up must come down . . . doesn't seem to take in PRICES, though.

Scores In Easter Town Hall Recital For College Fund

When Hortense Love, well-known soprano, appeared on the stage of Town Hall on Easter Sunday afternoon, in her recital for benefit of the United Negro College Fund, one of the most interested listeners in her audience was Hildegarde, the famous chanteuse of radio, stage and supper clubs.

Accomplished in several languages, Miss Love's program included French art songs, German lieder and a group of Easter spirituals especially arranged for her for the occasion by Hall Johnson, the eminent musician-arranger.

4 Yr. Old Genius To Play In Fifty Fall Concerts

CHICAGO—Four-year-old Margaret Harris, who amazed the most hardened music critics with her execution of complicated classical selections is declared in the April issue of Negro Digest to be performing at least 50 concerts this fall.

Little Margaret, who became famous as the result of a church recital performed at the age of three, is not at all excited at the prospect of this extended concert tour one full year before she enters the kindergarten, Negro Digest says. Rather, the talented moppet is more worried about the welfare of her battered doll, Rozarian.

Another Feather For Ellington

Latest returns in the fifth annual music popularity poll conducted by the Courier show Duke Ellington well on the way to a triple crown. Readers from all over the country have given the Duke enough votes to make him their number one leader and arranger, and have also indicated that his is the top band.

How women and girls may get wanted relief from functional periodic pain

Cardui is a liquid medicine which many women say has brought relief from the cramp-like agony and nervous strain of functional periodic distress. Here's how it may help:

1- Taken like a tonic, it should stimulate appetite, aid digestion,* thus help build resistance for the "time" to come.

2- Started 3 days before "your time", it should help relieve pain due to purely functional periodic causes.

Try Cardui. If it helps, you'll be glad you did.

Police Brutality Cases

Representatives of the Los Angeles Youth Council yesterday demanded a citizens' committee be permitted to review cases in which police officers are charged with brutality against youths.

Furthermore, a delegation told Deputy Chief Thad Brown, the Youth Council believes hearings involving brutality charges should be conducted publicly, with right of counsel permitted all persons involved.

Council spokesmen, pointing out they represent 46 affiliated civic groups, condemned the practice of police brutality cases being heard solely by the Police Board of Rights.

They also requested that police officers in areas populated by minority groups be given special courses in inter-cultural training.

Delegate Nina Klowden said the proposals were advanced "in order to prevent further occurrences of police intimidation of young people of Mexican, Negro and Jewish descent who have been roughly searched, beaten or shot by officers without evidence they have committed any crime."

Brown told the delegates their recommendations would be presented at the next police staff meeting.

PUBLIC NOTICES

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Education of the City of Los Angeles will receive bids for furnishing all labor and material for the following work:

CONSTRUCTION OF PREFABRICATED STEEL BUILDING AT THE THOMAS JEFFERSON HIGH SCHOOL.

Date of bid opening, April 15, 1948.

Each bid shall be in accordance with drawings, specifications and other contract documents now on file in the Building Branch of the Business Division of said Board, 1425 South San Pedro Street, Los Angeles. Prospective bidders may secure copies of said drawings and specifications at the office of said Building Branch.

Pursuant to the Labor Code of the State of California, the Board of Education has ascertained the general prevailing rate of per diem wages for each craft or type of workman needed to execute the contracts which will be awarded the successful bidders; and these prevailing rates are contained in said specifications adopted by the Board, and are as follows:

CLASSIFICATION

Foremen — All foremen not herein separately classified, shall be paid not less than 17½ cents per hour more than the hourly rate of the highest classification over which he has supervision as to the SIX BASIC TRADES; and not less than 12½ cents per hour as to the SUB-TRADES, more than the journeymen rate for the craft involved.

Apprentices — May be employed in conformity with Section 1777.5 of the California Labor Code.

Riggers—Same wage scale as craft to which rigging is incidental.

Welders—Same wage scale as craft to which welding is incidental.

CLASSIFICATION—	Hourly Wage Rate
CARPENTERS:
Carpenter	$1.90
CEMENT FINISHERS:
Cement Finisher	1.975
IRON WORKERS:
Reinforcing Iron Worker	1.975
Ornamental Iron Worker	1.975
Structural Iron Worker	2.10
Ornamental or Structural Iron Workers Foreman Rate Is 25 cents per hour more than the Journeyman rate.
PAINTERS:
Glazier	1.94
SHEET METAL WORKERS:
Sheet Metal Worker	1.94

The rates of per diem wages for each of the various classifications of work shall be the hereinbefore set forth prevailing rates of hourly wages multiplied by eight (8). Eight (8) hours shall constitute a day's work; it being understood that in the event that workmen are employed less than eight (8) hours per day, the per diem wages shall be deemed to be that fraction of the per diem wages herein established that the number of hours of employment bears to eight (8) hours.

WORKING RULES

1. Where a single shift is worked, eight (8) consecutive hours between 7 A.M. and 5 P.M. shall constitute a day's work at straight time for all workers.

2. Forty (40) hours between Monday 7 A.M. and Friday 5 P.M. shall constitute a week's work at straight time.

3. All work performed in excess of eight (8) hours per day or forty (40) hours per week or on Holidays and Sundays shall be paid for at the rate for overtime of the craft involved.

4. Holidays as herein referred to shall be deemed to be New Year's Day, Decoration Day, Independence Day, Labor Day, Armistice Day, Thanksgiving Day, and Christmas. If any of the above holidays fall on Sunday, the Monday following shall be considered a legal holiday.

It shall be mandatory upon the contractor to whom a contract is awarded, and upon all subcontractors under him to pay not less than said general prevailing rates of per diem wages to all workmen employed in the execution of the contract.

Notice is also hereby given that all bidders may submit with their bids, a sworn statement of their financial responsibility, technical ability and experience. Such sworn statement may be required to be furnished before award is made to any particular bidder.

Each bid shall be made out on forms to be obtained at said Architectural Section of the Board of Education; must be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check or bidder's bond (issued by a surety company accredited by the Board of Education) for not less than Five Per Cent (5%) of the amount of the bid, made payable to the order of the Board of Education of the City of Los Angeles; shall be sealed and filed with the Purchasing Agent of the Board of Education, Room 200, 1425 South San Pedro Street, on or before 2:00 P.M. on the dates shown above and will be opened and read aloud in public at, or about, said time and in the public hall, second floor, of the above address.

The above-mentioned check or bidder's bond shall be given as a guarantee that the bidder will enter into contract if awarded the work, or any part thereof, and will be declared forfeited if the successful bidder refuses to enter into contract after being requested to do so by the Board of Education.

The successful bidders will be required to furnish labor and material bonds in an amount equal to 75% of the contract price, and faithful performance bonds in an amount equal to 100% of the contract price, said bonds to be secured by a surety company or surety companies satisfactory to the Board of Education.

The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids, and/or waive any informality on a bid. No bidder may withdraw his bid for a period of sixty (60) days after the date set for the opening thereof.

By order of the Board of Education of the City of Los Angeles.

Dated: Los Angeles, California, March 29, 1948.

Negro College Fund Gets New Board Members

The board of directors of the United Negro College Fund has been enlarged to include among its members 12 prominent lay citizens, as well as the presidents of the 32 colleges belonging to the Fund, Dr. F. D. Patterson, president of Tuskegee Institute and president of the Fund, announced this week during a brief visit to the organization's headquarters in New York.

"The addition of a group of such representative business and civic leaders to our board is a strong indication that the broad scope of our educational program is now generally recognized," said Dr. Patterson in announcing the names of the Fund's new directors. "We are fortunate that these distinguished citizens are to serve on our board and will cooperate with trustees and friends of Negro colleges in strengthening the finances of these institutions."

Reports Building Of Low Cost Homes

Builders in three widely separated sections of the country, in Arizona, Michigan and Tennessee, are demonstrating that sound and livable houses can be built and financed for prices under $4000. Details of operations in which more than 650 such homes have been constructed in Arizona and a considerable number in the Detroit area are told in the current issue of the Insued Mortgage Portfolio, official organ of the FHA, which is just off the press.

The Tennessee operation is a separate story of the unusual success of a retail lumber company in building more than 50 modest homes in surburban areas, financed through FHA and selling for less than $4000.

Wallace Supporters Launch 'Enlist For Peace' Month

A nation-wide "Enlist for Peace" month was inaugurated Tuesday by the National Wallace for President Committee in response to Henry Wallace's call for Americans "to speak for peace before it is too late."

Special days will be set aside during "Enlist for Peace" month for organized demonstrations by veterans' groups, trade unionists, women's organizations, college students, nationality groups and others. Film, stage and radio figures will join in the campaign. Sound trucks will tour communities, stopping at plant gates at noon. Peace parades will be held in many cities. Home canvassing and telephone polls will be conducted. Numerous ministers are expected to cooperate in the campaign.

C. B. Baldwin, Wallace campaign manager, said that "Enlist for Peace" month has been launched to give millions of Americans the chance to make their voices heard in organized opposition to UMT, the draft and hte artificially whipped up war hysteria."

NEW HOPE

There is no doubt but that you, like many others, have wanted a friend who could give you honest and helpful advice. Perhaps you have a problem about your job, love affairs, or something pertaining to your home life where you simply MUST have advice.

No matter where you live, you can get this confidential help and assistance merely by writing him. If you cannot get along with those you love, or if life seems empty for the want of a loved one, let him help you. Don't delap for time is important. Every day yo ulet go by is one day less for you to have happiness and success.

L.M.H. My boy friend received a cigarette lighter for a gift. Is he telling the truth about the person that gave it to him?

ANSWER. A careful analysis of your question indicates the fact that the lighter was given to him by a relative, and there is no cause for you to become disturbed.

L.M. Is there the slightest chance of my getting an apartment or house this year?

ANSWER. Probing into the matter I find that you have become very discouraged because your previous efforts have been to no avail. But a much brighter future is revealed and some interesting information regarding a suitable location, so don't give up hope.

B.T. Does the boy I love, love me? What does my future reveal? Will I go to college?

ANSWER. Only one question is answered in the column due to the limited amount of space. If you will write in for a private reply, I shall be more than glad to help you.

M.B. Dear Prof. Herman: I read your column every week and see where you have helped others, would you please help me. Does my boy friend really love me?

ANSWER. It appears to me that your boy friend care a great deal for you. But is not financially able to do the things he would like to do for you. Just give him time, he will prove his love for you, and make you a good mate as well.

D.H.B. My marriage is not going along well, what seems tobe the matter?

ANSWER. Concentrating upon your question I find that in your case, one thing has lead to another until it has become quite a large matter. But there is still time to get things straightened out and peace restored in your home. I would be glad to aid you in this matter, if you will kindly write in for a private reply.

10,000 Hail Opening of First American Co-Op Dep't Store

ARLINGTON, Va.—Ten thousand people turned out in a drizzle here recently to mark the opening of America's first co-op department store. A three-story layout, with 52,000 square feet of floor space, the co-op has sponsorship of Central Labor Union, District of Columbia Credit Union Leagne, Retail Clerks-AFL, Dep't of Agriculture employees, Potomac Cooperative Federation, numerous churches in the neighborhood and the American Veterans' Committee.

The 12 year old Consumer Distribution Cooperation, which was set up with an endowment from the liberal Boston merchant Ed-Filene Cooperative. Operating on borrowed money now, the co-op hopes to recruit enough members to ante up the half million dollars to make it completely member-owned co-op. First day saw sales of $10,000 shares at $50 a share. Minimum yearly volume of $1½ million is expected.

Senator George W. Aiken of Vermont told opening day crowd: "Cooperatives help to keep alive the spirit of competition in America. They are regulators in our economy. Co-op idea is based upon dispersal of ownership and control, and therefore is opposite of monopoly."

Six Films on India At County Museum

Six pictures pertaining to life in India, the country on which the attention of the world has been focused for sometime, are on the next program of documentary films being presented each week at the Los Angeles County Museum in Exposition Park, according to an announcement by James H. Breasted Jr., director of the Museum.

The films will be shown Friday, April 2, at 8 p.m. All of them were made as late as 1946 by the Government of Indian information Service. No admission is charged.

L.A. County Plans 3 Health Exhibits

These health exhibits sponsored by the Los Angeles County Tuberculosis and Health Association will be seen in this area during the month of April.

In the office of the Imperial Courts, a "Message to Parents" display will be on view for two weeks, to be followed by a two-week display on tuberculosis. The latter panel will also be seen for two weeks at Hacienda Village, where it will be followed by a three-day exhibit on tuberculosis, rheumatic fever and venereal disease.

It would take the U. S. Treasury 26 years to print enough $1 bills to pay for the $39.6 billion federal spending program proposed by President Truman.

Money Given to Dorsey Family

What might be called a bright spot in the tragic 118th Street fire which claimed the lives of four little children came to light when it was revealed Monday that a check for $241.75 was handed Mr. and Mrs. Lafayette Dorsey, whose twin sons were lost in the blaze. The check represented an amount raised from his school mates and instructors at the General Trade Schools where Mr. Dorsey was studying tile setting when the tragic news reached him over the telephone on the morning of the sad occurence.

According to Lee Tenant, of the school's registration office, no sooner had the news gotten out among the men of the school than was the collection started in response to every one's expressed desire to do something to help out. While two of his classmates took him home in the car of one and two of the school's officers followed to see what could be done to help the distressed family the collection of money began, Mr. Tenant stated. The General Trades Schools, where many G.I.s a re studying, is located at 1601 S. Western Ave.

Dizzy Comes Tootin' Home

NEW YORK—Fantastic Dizzy Gillespie, the high priest of be-bop headed into one of the most extensive series of welcomes ever accorded a returning star when he came apple jacking down the gangplank of the huge French liner De Grasse last Thursday morning. The sensational trumpet star was returning with the applause and accolades of the entire continent ringing in his ears for one of the greatest artistic triumphs ever registered by a group of American musicians.

The triumphal return of the ace exponent of the intriguing new be-boy idiom was underscored by the appearance of a brilliantly laudatory piece of Collier's magazine on be-bop and the frantic Dizzy.

The history of liberty is a history of the limitation of governmental power, not the increase of it.—Woodrow Wilson.

Don Barksdale, Former UCLA Star, On Olympic Cage Team

By Stanley Robertson, Eagle Sports Editor

Six foot five inch Don Barksdale, truly one of the great athletes of our time, was this week named to the 14 man United States Basketball Team that will carry the Stars and Stripes this summer at London, England, in the first Olympiad since 1936.

The appointment of the 1947 University of California at Los Angeles All American center to the team that shapes up to be the finest ever assembled at one place, was announced by the special committee that was impowered with the ardeous task of selecting 14 men: seven collegians and 7 AAU athletes from the recently concluded post season New York tournament.

GIFU, JAPAN — First Sergeant Hubert McLeed of 1777½ W. Jefferson blvd., who has recently been joined overseas by his wife, Jewell.

The winners of the tournament the famed AAU pernnial champions, the Phillips 66 Oilers of Bartlesville, Oaklahoma, placed five men on the squad as did the runner up University of Kentucky team. The remaining four places went to two collegians and two AAU players, one of which was Don Barksdale, the American Basketball League's top scorer from the Oakland Bittners.

Chosen for his "outstanding ability, fine team play, and unreporachable sportsmanship," Barksdale will be the

On The Sidewalk

By C. A. B.

It has been called to my attention that some of the "best citizens" of our community who purchased tickets for the Langston Hughes recital got affected by the "red scare" and turned back their tickets.

Neither Jack Tenney in California nor Parnell Thomas, Washington, D.C. ever produced a cintella of evidence to show that a single Negro citizen or a clique had at any time plotted to overthrow our government.

However, the Negro citizens of this nation have exhibited almost God-like patience in the face of cruel oppression, and the denial of their citizenship rights.

I do not feel nor would I suggest that the Negro should change his attitude of loyalty to the government, but in like manner should fight with all his might and courage to secure his Civil Rights.

This matter of stigmatizing Negroes who step out in front demanding equality and freedom for the 13 million Negro citizens, should not only be frowned upon but should be fought back into the grave from whence it came.

Because Langston Hughes wrote a poem with the title, "Good-by Christ", some people are want to say that in the poem Hughes denies the existence of God. That is a supposition. I gather that what the poet wanted to convey was, that God did not exist in the sort of religion exhibited by a Bilbo, who during his life time built a church in Mississippi where lynching of Negroes occurred under the very dome of the church but was never condemned by Bilbo and his fellow worshippers.

As a matter of fact Bilbo, like Rankin and Parnell Thomas of the un-American Activities Committee, endorse lynching, the poll tax, and an overall denial of first class citizenship to Negroes.

So far as I am concerned I have taken my stand, and I will not retreat.

I feel that the Republican-Democratic Party has betrayed the people, and with the President at the head is leading us, all the people, down the road to destruction.

From the graves of those who fought and died for freedom, comes such warnings as this letter:

SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE

Dear Aunt Charlotta:

Tonight we have heard that our army is battling on the outskirts of Paris. Today Marshal Stalin announced that the Red Army has rested for a week, that it will rest again only in Berlin.

What a big moment in history this is!

What a vast and relentless noose is tearing at the throat of fascism!

I know that I am playing only the tiniest, most infinitesimal part in all this. Yet I am a part of it. I am a part of the meshing of the wheels of our time, the heaving and sweating of our age; me, and the guys like me, grumbling about chow, beefing for passes to town, going A.W.O.L., gambling all night and cussing the Sergeants,—but also working and fighting, we, all of us, are the muscle and the heartbeat of history; we are filling Europe with the graves of the slave-masters who wanted the world for a plantation; we, not the Nazis, have become the wave of the future that nothing can stop.

All of us aren't fighting at the front, but we are just as surely a part of victory as the P-38 or the carbine rifle.

Tomorrow Paris may be free. This week the Red Army may swarm over the borders of Germany.

Remember when the Spanish Republic died while the "freedom loving" nations looked the other way?

Remember, long ago, the night you wanted to cry by the side of your radio when Haile Selassie confessed that the straw Caesar in Rome had finally defeated his prostrate people?

Remember the years when we sent our best wishes to China and our scrap iron to Japan?

Remember when decency and the love of freedom seemed to have died one dark night in an alley somwhere? When the volunteers to Loyalist Spain were laughed at, jeered as a gang of crazy radicals; and the legion of American flyers with the Chinese were denounced as meddlers, violators of "good business relations" with Japan?

For those who held the flickering candle light of liberty against the fascist gale when all seemed lost; for those who quietly chose death on the arid plains of Ethiopia, the hill passes of Spain, the drought-swept plateaus of China, the crags and mountain peaks of Yugoslavia, today is vindication. This minute they died for, so that we might live it.

And tomorrow is something for us to make in the image of the proudest dream we know. Today Paris. Tomorrow a free world!

Could be?

Love,

JOHN.

John was killed in Normandy, April, 1945.

They say he is dead. To me he lives, speaks, and sighs in these lines, together with the thousands of other young men who died for freedom for all. In vain?

CIO Willing To Help Farmers Slaughter Stock

An offer to provide skilled labor to slaughter livestock in order to provide market outlets for the farmers and meat supplies for the consumers was made this week by Ralph Helstein, president, United Packinghouse Workers of America, CIO.

In a letter to Paul Arndt, President, De Kalb County Livestock Feeders Association, De Kalb, Illinois, Helstein said that the strike by the CIO packinghouse workers is "not directed against the livestock producers of the nation or the consumers, but against the Big Four meat packers and those independent companies which follow their dictates."

Truman Vetoes Gearhart Bill

WASHINGTON — President Harry S. Truman vetoed a bill Monday to exclude independent news vendors from Social Security coverage.

Charging that the bill was "but one step in a larger process of the erosion of our Social Security structure," Truman said it "proposed to remove the protection of the Social Security law from persons now entitled to its benefits.

In his veto message, Truman said "the security and welfare of our nation demand an expansion of Social Security to cover

L. A. Welfare Dept. Helps 'Reunite' Father And Child

Little Gwendolyn Lucille Pestana McGlover, 2, had never seen her daddy.

Complications of war, transfer of duty, Discharge from service on the Mainland, and a divorce, had to be overcome before her father, 26-year-old Legette McGlover, 1427 E. 25 st., could accomplish the first "reunion."

The Los Angeles County Welfare Department played an important role in bringing them together for the first time.

Gwendolyn's veteran father, a member of the Quartermaster Corps, U. S. Army, serving in Honolulu, Hawaii, had married while in service there. Before Gwendolyn's birth, he was suddenly transferred to duty on Guam.

At the close of World War II, McGlover's orders for demobilization sent him to the Mainland for discharge, preventing his return to Honolulu to see his daughter for the first time. A divorce action followed, granting him custody of the child.

Meantime, he appealed to the Los Angeles County Welfare Department. The organization went to work gathering information on the fastest available transportation to bring his daughter home.

Last Wednesday, Gwendolyn's tears turned to smiles as Pan

Hughes Slated As Speaker At Jewish Center

The Beverly-Fairfax Jewish Community Center, 8008 Beverly blvd., will present at its next forum, Sunday, April 11, 8:15 p.m., the outstanding poet and writer, Langston Hughes, who will speak on the topic, "Color Around the World."

Hughes, who has been described by literary critics as "one of the few young writers in America whose works have kept pace with a growing reputation," is poet laureate of the Negro race and writes with a depth of understanding and a scope of knowledge that goes far beyond racial confines.

In 1920 Hughes won national

Housing Drive Gains Momentum

Two motion picture personalities, actor Edward G. Robinson and producer Walter Wanger, have agreed to serve as sponsors of the California Housing Initiative Committee, it was announced this week by Msgr. Thomas J. O'Dwyer, chairman of the campaign for 100,000 low and middle cost rental units throughout the state.

The campaign, with an April 26 deadline for all signatures to be turned in at 307 South Hill, is gaining daily momentum according to Msgr. O'Dwyer. Citywide mobilizations of volunteer petition circulators are being planned for each Saturday and Sunday in April, the drive chairman declared, aiming at a goal of 200,000 signatures for the Los Angeles area.

Mutual Refuses NAACP Request For Radio Time

NEW YORK — When the Mutual Broadcasting Company granted the Southern senators and governors three half-hours to answer President Truman's Four Point Civil Rights proposals, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People requested equal time to reply to the rebellious Southerners.

But Mutual sees no reason to grant equal time, given to answer a controversial broadcast. So Abe Schechter, head of News and Special Events, turned down the request, on the ground that the network felt that Mr. Truman's Civil Rights spoke adequately for the NAACP's side of the story.

Workers Strike Employer Hurls 'Red' Charge

The production employees of the Wilson Company, 4425 Bandini blvd., were branded as "Reds" and the officials of Local 26, International Longshoremen's & Warehousemen's Union, accused of being "communistic" for demanding that the current wages of 70 cents hourly be raised. The strike of the 25 employees started last Monday.

The union is also demanding paid holidays, vacation benefits, job security, recognition of seniority rights, sick leave

Pasadena Stages Mass Rally For Ingrams; Anxious Nation Waits For Judge's Decision

Citizens of Pasadena turned out en masse to the First A.M.E. church, 117 N. Vernon, last Sunday to hear prominent civic, church and political leaders demand the immediate release of Mrs. Rosa Lee Ingram and her two teen-age sons. The Ingrams have been condemned to die for the self-defense killing of John Stratford, a white farmer.

Backing their demands with concrete action, the capacity-filled church donated over $300 to be used for the legal defense of the Ingrams.

Mrs. C. A. Bass, one of the principal speakers, voiced the protest of an indignant nation over the sentence passed on the Ingrams by an all-white Georgia jury. Rev. H. H. Collins Jr., dynamic young C.M.E. pastor, called upon the audience to fight until the Ingrams are released. A legal analysis of the case was given by George Esterman, prominent political leader.

The protest meeting, which is one of the hundreds being held throughout the nation, was co-sponsored by the Pasadena branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and the Pasadena Conference on Human Rights.

Following argument last week by NAACP attorneys for a new trial, Judge William Harper announced that he would reserve his decision, which he said would be handed down within the next few days. A check with local NAACP headquarters, just before we went to press, revealed the decision has not yet been rendered.

Ministers Plan Peace Train; To Call On Truman

At a conference this morning at Bridge Hall, Professor Robert B. Pettengill, Director of the Teaching Institute of Economics at USC, outlined plans for the organization of a Peace Train to go to Washington on April 21 to present to President Truman the proposals for a constructive peace program.

As passengers it will have ministers and lay people of all faiths who are interested in a practical American approach to peace and feel this is one way of arousing the interest of all Americans in this problem.

The members of the Train will urge immediate Congressional hearings for a World Government and will emphasize the part this country should play in maintaining such a proposal.

Sponsors Concede Show Has High Hooper Rating

NEWYORK—In a startling announcement, it was confirmed here this week that the King Cole Trio, one of the nation's top musical units, will be dropped by their radio sponsor, the Wildroot Company, on April 10th, after 78 consecutive weeks of broadcasting under the name "King Cole Trio Time."

The decision was reached by Wildroot executives in their home office, Buffalo, N. Y. despite the fact that King Cole held a favorable "Hooper rating" of 7 points and his miute musical spot was one of the most popular on the airwaves.

In confirming the rumor, Gertrude Scanlan, local radio director of the show commented that the budget used for the King Cole quarter hour would be spent on merchandising spots.

Wildroot, the first national concern to take advantage of Negro talent on such a scale, played host to many guest stars including Stan Kenton, Nellie Lutcher, Mel Torme and Cab Calloway during the King Cole short-lived Time. Their final broadcast, April 10 will be in New York.

Palestine Protest Rally to Be Held at City Hall Today

A gigantic mass rally will be held this afternoon, Thursday, April 8, from 2:30 to 4 o'clock, on the City Hall steps to protest the United States' reversal of its policy in Palestine.

The rally is being sponsored by the Zionist Emergency Council, American Jewish Labor Council, and the Justice for Palestine Committee. It is part of the nationwide observance of protest and prayer provoked by the wavering attitude of the United States toward the Palestine problem.

Shops, stores, the 50 schools under the control of the Bureau of Jewish Education, will be closed in order that shopkeepers, students, and teachers may attend the rally. The 360 organizations affiliated with the Los Angeles Jewish Community Center have been requested by Charles Brown, chairman of the Community Council, to urge all their members to attend.

Labor organizations, AFL and CIO, whose members cannot attend, have sent resolutions supporting the demonstration. Among them are: CIO News Vendors Local 75; Furniture Workers Local 576; Mine, Mill and Smelter Local 700; Warehousemen's and Longshoremen's Local 26; the National Maritime Union, the AFL Carpenters Local 1976, and the AFL Painters Local 1348.

Philip Connelly, CIO secretary, issued a call for "labor support of the demonstration."

"The forces that have refused to lift the embargo on arms to defend the Jews of Palestine," said Connelly, "are

Eagle Invites L. A. to 69th Anniversary Dinner

The California Eagle—oldest Negro newspaper in the nation—will observe its 69th anniversary this month.

Highlight of the EAGLE's birthday celebration will be a dinner, scheduled for 8 o'clock Friday evening, April 30, at the Zion Hill Baptist church annex, 51st st. and McKinley ave.

Plans for city-wide participation have been mapped out and invitations to the dinner will be in the mail this week, Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, editor-publisher, announced this week.

The EAGLE, which has always championed the oppressed, has been hailed as one of the most powerful forces in the nation today. Because of its militant role in the fight for the civil rights of all people and its cooperation with the labor movement, the EAGLE has won nation-wide recognition in the people's struggle for liberation.

Prices for the EAGLE's 69th Birthday Dinner are $2.50 per plate for patron tickets, $1.50 for regular tickets, and a $1 per plate rate for parties of 10 or more.

Tickets, which go on sale today at the EAGLE office, must be purchased in advance. Reservations may be made by calling AD. 9770 days, or CE. 2-6337 evenings.

28 Negro Leaders On National Wallace For President Committee

Twenty-eight Negro leaders have been named to the National Wallace for President Committee which will meet in Chicago, April 10-12, to draft plans for a national new political party. The committee is headed by former Governor Elmer A. Benson, of Minnesota and has Paul Robeson as one of five co-chairmen.

"Plans for carrying Henry Wallace's program, which includes the outlawing of racial discrimination and segregation in any form, to the people of America will be drawn up at the national conference," C. B. Baldwin, campaign manager for Wallace, said.

Negro leaders named to the National Wallace for President Committee, include:

Mrs. Charlotta Bass, publisher, CALIFORNIA EAGLE, Los Angeles, Calif.; Walker J. Alexander, Baltimore, Md.; J. E. T. Camper, physician, Baltimore, Md.; Rev. Harold A. Clement, African Methodist Episcopal Church, San Francisco, Calif.; Charles A. Collins, vice-pres., Local 6, Hotel & Club Employees, AFL, New York City; Earl Dickerson, lawyer, Chicago.

W. E. B. DuBois, director of special research, NAACP, NYC; Roscoe Dunjee, publisher, BLACK DISPATCH, Oklahoma City, Okla.; Mrs. Beatrice Fleming, former Republican leader, Detroit, Mich.; Allen Freelon, artist, Philadelphia, Pa.; Rev. Charles A. Hill, Detroit, Mich.; Charles Howard, Lawyer, Des Moines, Iowa; Rev. Kenneth de P. Hughes, Cambridge, Mass.; Ada B. Jackson, chairman of Brooklyn Inter-racial Assembly, Brooklyn

Late FDR to be Honored At Jackson Day Dinner

April 12, the date upon which occurred the tragic death of Franklin Delano Roosevelt, will be marked here at the Jackson Day Dinner by the reading of a memorial tribute to America's late President by Gregory Peck.

Peck, who starred in the Academy-award motion picture, "Gentleman's Agreement," and in Alfred Hitchcock's "The Paradine Case," will speak at the Jackson Day ceremonies in the Biltmore Bowl, at the Biltmore Hotel.

Peck's appearance on the program will follow a Reception which is to be held earlier on the afternoon of April 12, at 4:30 p.m., for four United States Senators, two Western Governors and other high Democratic Party leaders who are flying here for Jackson Day.

These men include Senator J. Howard McGrath, who is also Chairman of the Democratic National Committee; Senator Claude Pepper, of Florida; Senator Joseph O'Mahoney, of Wyoming; Senator Warren Magnuson, of Washington; Governor Mon Wallgren, of Washington; Governor Herbert Maw, of Utah; Representative John Albert Carroll, of Colorado; and Wilson Wyatt, former Federal Housing Expediter.

W. Kuykendall Acquitted of Murder Charge

Willie Kuykendall, 4152 S. Main st., was acquitted of the charge of murder last Tuesday morning by Judge Clement D. Nye in Department 40 of the Superior Court. Kuykendall was defended by Attorney Curtis C. Taylor.

Kuykendall was charged with killing his brother, Purdin, age 20, who met his death from a stab wound January 25 at 1419 E. 53rd st.

Witnesses testified that the younger Kuykendall was intoxicated and in a deep sleep. When his brother tried to awaken him, he leaped out of bed and a fight ensued. The men engaged in fisticuffs, during which they entered the kitchen where a keen-bladed knife was laying on the table.

Testimony was conflicting as to who reached the knife first, but Kuykendall, in his own defense, testified that the younger brother grabbed the knife and in the struggle for possession of the lethal weapon, both men fell to the floor. The younger brother leaped to his feet and ran out the door, mortally wounded.

Defense Attorney Taylor argued that in view of the lack of premediation and to the further fact that none of the witnesses actually saw the cutting, the wound was inflicted by accident.

Judge Nye ruled tthat the evidence was insufficient and ordered Kuykendall freed from custody.

First Brite-Life Sign Is Installed

Crowds jammed the streets at Hollywood and Cahuenga Blvds. gazing at the crane that slowly lifted over 90 square feet of metal sign that was installed over the offices of the Brite-Lite Corporation of America. After nearly two years of engineering and research the first sign built on the new and revolutionary patent pending principles of BCA became an actual operating showroom—to show the world how animation can be put into sign advertising of any nature at costs heretofore unknow for this incomparable attraction.

Brilliant, moving lights that run over a panel of hundreds of bulbs give the appearance of actual letters lighting up and producing a message that few eyes can miss.

Returns To America For New Assignment

Master Sergeant Benjamin Jackson, of 4371 Avalon boulevard, who had been serving with Headquarters Company of the 97th Engineer General Service Battalion stationed at Camp Angeles in Central Luzon, has returned to the United States for a new assignment, it was announced this week by the Public Information Office of Headquarters, Philippines-Ryukyus Command in Manila.

Sgt. Jackson who left on board the U. S. Army Transport General Langfitt which sailed from Manila on March 12, will proceed to Camp Stoneman Personnel Center in Pittsburgh, California, upon his arrival in Seattle, Washington, for reassignment orders.

Dorothy McGuire, currently starring opposite Gregory Peck in the 20th Century-Fox production "Gentleman's Agreement," likes unusual accessories.

Linda Darnell has established a trust fund, which she cannot touch no matter how desperate she might be, for the education of her 18-year-old sister, Monte, and 16-year-old brother, Calvin Roy Jr. Both are in the Santa Monica, Calif., public schools.

CRC To Launch National Drive For Freedom of Willie McGee

NEW YORK—Sidney Smith, chief justice of the Mississippi Supreme Court, has granted a stay of execution to Willie McGee, Laurel, Mississippi, Negro who on March 6 was for the third time convicted and sentenced to die for the alleged rape of a white woman in November, 1945.

Announcement of the stay was made by Joseph Cadden, executive director of the Civil Rights Congress, at a press conference at the Hotel Theresa here for Mrs. Bessie McGee, the 51-year-old mother of the condemned man. McGee had been sentenced to die in the state's portable electric chair on April 8.

Mr. Cadden stated that the Civil Rights Congress had brought Mrs. McGee up from Laurel for the purpose of helping to launch a national campaign for the unconditional freedom of her son.

He expressed confidence that "an appeal, supported by public protests, will compel the state Supreme Court to reverse the third attempt to lynch McGee."

McGee, 33 year old father of four children, has been three times convicted and three times condemned to die for the alleged rape of a white woman. The Mississippi Supreme Court has twice thrown out the conviction on appeals made by the Civil Rights Congress.

An ex-GI, McGee has been held in jail, in death row, for 2½ years.

Marks 50th Anniversary of Public Health Nursing Week

Nurses from this area will take part in the nationwide observance of Public Health Nursing Week, April 11 to 17, which will be marked by special programs in the Los Angeles area, it was announced this week.

The local nursing group will be honored for its part in curbing disease and teaching positive health concepts in sick homes, clinics, and throughout the community.

Mrs. Maysie Dwight, chairman of the week, today said that the object of the week was to "help more people to understand better what public health nursing services can do to make peoples' lives healthier and happier."

Municipal Public Health Nursing as a profession originated in Los Angeles. This year marks its 50th Anniversary, and appropriate features are being planned.

West View Hospital to Break Ground May 23

Ground-breaking ceremonies for the initial 50-bed unit of West View hospital will be held Sunday, May 23, the Board of Directors of the hospital reported last week.

The announcement was made to members of the West View Community Advisory Board who were guests of John R. Williams, field supervisor of the Pittsburgh Courier, at a dinner meeting held at Allena's Tearoom. This was the first of a series of meetings which will be held to plan effective ways in which the members of the Advisory Board can actively participate in current fund-raising efforts.

Allen C. Woodard, 3rd, president of West View, and Doctors H. A. McPherson and R. C. Williams represented the Board of Directors at the meeting. In making the announcement of ground-breaking, Woodard said that state, county, and city officials and civic leaders, as well as a galaxy of stage, screen, and radio stars, would take place in the ceremony to be held 3:00 p.m. Sunday, May 23, on the site, Main Street between 53rd and 54th streets. He emphasized the importance of full support from all allied groups of West View.

Among the members of the Community Advisory Board who were present and pledged full support were Mesdames Fay E. Allen, Charlotta A. Bass, and Ursula Murrell, Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Bottler, Wallace Braden, and Robert E. Brown, Jr. Williams, on behalf of the group, promised that every effort would be made to get full-scale community backing for West View Hospital in the weeks ahead.

Negro College Head Listed In 'Who's Who In America'

TALLAHASSEE, Florida—Dr William H. Gray, Jr., President of A and M college, has been honored as being one of twenty-nine citizens of Tallahassee to be listed in "Who's Who in America," and one of the few Negroes of Florida to be listed in this internationally famous reference book of outstanding persons.

Dr. Gray's work at Florida A and M college in obtaining over four million dollars for expansion of the college's plant and an appropriation of nearly one the state is being regarded as an historic accomplishment in the field of Negro education in the south today.

Under Dr. Gray's leadership the school is becoming one of the most progressive institutions of higher learning in this section. Many of the nation's outstanding educators are now serving on the faculty of the college.

Care Launches Urgent Fund-Raising Campaign

Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., chairman of the Share Through Care Committee announced today an urgent fund-raising campaign to send a "flood of Care packages" to the peoples of France and Italy for immediate distribution.

Italian Consul's office and Alexandre de Manziarly, French Consul.

Calling upon the American people to send contributions, in any amount, to the Share Through CARE Committee at 124 West 4th street, Los Angeles, Fairbanks said the funds will be amassed into $10.00 units, each of which will deliver a 22-pound CARE food package to a needy family.

Explaining that CARE, a non-profit, government-approved organization, is also non-political in its distribution, Fairbanks said that the recipients of the parcels would be selected by the 2;6 American welfare agencies comprising the membership of CARE, on the basis of need.

Six Congressmen Oppose Jimcrow Regional Colleges

NEW YORK, N. Y.—Assurance that the southern plan for segregated regional colleges will meet bi-partisan opposition in Congress were received here this week in letters from members of Congress, Walter White's secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People announced.

The six congressmen who said they would oppose congressional ratification of the Dixie governor's proposal to establish regional educational institutions on a segregated basis are: Claude L. Bakewell)R., St. Louis), Melvin Price (D., East St. Louis, Ill.), A. J. Sabath, (D., Chicago), Walter B. Huber, (D., Akron, Ohio), T. Millet Hand (R., New Jersey) and John J. Rooney (D., Bklyn, N. Y.)

A dozen other congressmen expressed a sympathetic interest in the NAACP position on the segregated regional college proposal.

Negro Who's Who In California Goes To Press; Ready In May

The compiling "the first dignified biographical history of the Negro in California, "has been completed, it was reported today. The volume is now in the hands of printers and lithographers, and will be ready for distribution early in May.

The volume will consist of hundreds of fine pictures of outstanding men and women of the State; as well as many pages of the most interesting and instructional biographical history ever compiled on Negroes in America.

Months of day-and-night work by the editorial staff and the interviewers has made possible the producing of this fine work and the people of California can be justly proud of their efforts and the help and guidance of the Advisory Committee," officials stated.

To assure the subscriber of a volume that will standout as a dedication to Negro progress, the best printing, paper, binding and lithography has been contracted for use in the book, assuring the waiting public no shortcuts will be taken or quality cut in its making.

"The historical facts and the data consolidated in the biographical sketches will make the book a MUST in every home where there are students; adults, too, can be inspired by the progress of the Negro race," officials added.

In keeping with the policy of making the Negro Who's Who project a civic one, profits from the sale of the book will be given to deserving charitable clubs or organizations. Organizations that wish to participate should contact the Who's Who office in the Blodgett Building at once for further information and consideration. Orders will now be taken for those wishing a copy of Negro Who's Who in California. Call—ADams 1-7492.

U.N. Palestine Commission Charts Plans For Partition

The entire question of what action the United Nations Security Council will take in Palestine is being debated in a new atmosphere, following the United States' change of attitude on partition of the Holy Land it was reported this week.

New discussions are centering around the United States' proposal for a new special session of the U.N. General Assembly to "consider further" the question of Palestine. Previously, the Council's debates had been based on the U.N. Palestine Commission's request for outside aid in enforcing the partition of the Holy Land into separate Jewish and Arab states as approved by a majority of the Assembly last fall.

Meanwhile, the Palestine Commission, under General Assembly instructions, is continuing to plan for partition. Among the Commission's plans are those for setting up a provisional government for the Jewish state and for a special police force for the City of Jerusalem.

Howard U. Artist Exhibits At Smithsonian Institute

WASHINGTON, D. C.—An exhibition of block prints and lithographs by James Lesesne Wells, professor of art at Howard university, is currently on display in the Smithsonian Institution Building, where it will remain on view until April 25. The exhibit appears in the Division of Graphic Arts.

Born in Atlanta, Georgia, in 1902, Wells studied at Columbia university. Later, he studied graphic arts privately with Frank Nankivell. In 1933 and 1934 he received the gold medal awarded by the Harmon Foundation, and in the latter year became first director of the Harlem Workshop, sponsored by the Harmon Foundation and the New York Public Library. In 1937, while on sabbatical leave, he visited France and continued his studies, both privately and in the museums.

Seeks One Million Home Food Gardens

Los Angeles has begun a concerted drive for 1,000,000 home gardens, and the campaign opened this week with a city-wide observance of Freedom Garden Week.

The local campaign is in line with the national efforts of the Department of Agriculture to have 20,000,000 additional food gardens started this year. These will not only effect a substantial saving in the cost of living, but will also lessen the growing pressure on commercial foods needed for export to Europe.

Popularity Contest Sun.

The Wilfandel Club is sponsoring Miss Agnes Moreland in the renowned Popularity Contest at Zion Hill Baptist church, Rev. Grant Harris, pastor, at 51st street and McKinley avenue, 3:00 p.m., Sunday, April 19.

Music will be furnished by the Church Federation of Choirs and special guest singers of renown. Miss Moreland will deliver her $1000 prize winning oration as one of the special features.

Mrs. Della Williams, wife of the great architect, Paul Williams, is the president of the Wilfandel Club. She will make remarks.

Everyone is urged to help this humanitarian club in its efforts to build a clubhouse for the programs and objectives of women.

● Don Barksdale

only Negro member of the U.S. basketball squad.

Although calling Berkeley his home, and having played on the high school teams there and at nearby Marin J. C. of Kenfield, it was in Southern California that Don Barksdale gained much of his glory. In 1943, although he was inducted into the army midway in the season, he was selected as a member of the All Coast Basketball team while playing for UCLA. While at Camp Ross in 1945, he scored over a thousand points to lead the entire nation in scoring. In 1946 he lead Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity team to the Inter-Fraternity championship of Los Angeles and was voted the outstanding player of the series.

The lanky lad who holds the NCAA Hop Step and Jump record, returned to his old haunts at UCLA to lead the Bruins to the 1947 Championship of the Southern Division of the Pacific Coast Conference. The Uclans traveled to Corvalis, Oregon to meet the strong Oregon State squad champions of the Northern Dividison but were beaten in two straight games. However, Barksdale was voted by the sports writer of the Northwest as the standout player of the two game set too. He went on that year to be chosen an unanimous All American and a Helms Athlete of the Month award winner.

This season while performing for the Oakland Bittners of the AAU governed American Basketball League, he has been tabbed as the "finest first year player in the league since Bob Kurland." He was holder of the individual scoring record of the league, and was named to the first AAU All American basketball team.

Currently in Los Angeles (where he resides most of the time and owns a record shop) Barksdale is playing with the Alpha Frat team in the Inter Fraternity Series. He will report to head coach Omar "the point maker" Browning early in June when the Olympic team begins practice.

Rep. Powell's FEPC Amendment Defeated

In the course of the debate on the Marshall Plan held in Congress last week, Representative Adam Clayton Powell, Jr., New York, sprang a surprise by offering an FEPC amendment. The amendment, defeated by a vote of 91 to 38, would have prohibited any goods going to Europe made by companies which refuse to employ Negroes.

Republican Leader of Congress, Halleck of Indiana, led the opposition in voting to defeat the Powell FEPC amendment.

YWCA Committees In Watts

Mrs. Faustina Johnson, Area Y.W.C.A. chairman for Watts, stated that several of the Watts Y.W.C.A. committee chairmen are seeking volunteers for their committees. Among those mentioned were Mrs. Fannie Rembert, chairman for Y-Teen Committee, Mrs. Sammie Patterson, chairman of Youth Adult Committee, and Mrs. Laura E. Fowler, Membership Chairman.

The Y-Teen and Young Adult Committees are program committees and work directly with the staff persons in charge of these areas of Y.W.C.A. program. The function of the Y-Teen committee is to help recruit leadership for clubs and special interest groups, to help secure volunteers to work with Watts Teen Agers in their canteen, to assist in the overall Y-Teen program, and with special events as conferences, camping, inter-area activities, etc.

The work of the Young Adult Committee is somewhat similar in that it also helps recruit leadership but instead of club sponsor, it recruits resource persons for the clubs that want them for special program emphasis and assists with special affairs. It also works on problems effecting the young adult girl and help in bringing the young adult program of the Y.W.C.A. before the public and recruiting girls for this program.

The Membership Committee works with the entire Y.W.C.A. membership, helping in the following areas: (1) recruiting new members for Y.W.C.A. memberships, and planning membership affairs and (2) keeping Y.W.C.A. spirit alive in the membership and in the community.

Each of these committees meet regularly once a month with the chairman and staff members and plan their work for the next month or some set period.

Mrs. Johnson also stated that Mrs. Guinevere Norman, Y-Teen Director, will need sponsors for summer Y-Teen clubs. These clubs are fully organized and are now meeting during the school year at Jordan High School, Gorman Street School, and Willowbrook Junior High. The success and extent of the Y.W.C.A. summer program for the junior and senior high girl depends largely on the number of volunteers recruited for these clubs before June.

Any person wishing to work in any of these areas may register your desire at Logan 1541 Y.W.C.A. volunteers are needed.

Prosperity is the touchstone of virtue; for it is less difficult to bear misfortunes, than to remain uncorrupted by pleasure.

Women Slated In Watts

First of the new Los Angeles nutritional classes for expectant mothers and other women will start at the Jordan Downs Housing Project in Watts, Monday, April 12, at 2 p.m. it was announced today by Dr. George M. Uhl, city health officer.

The educational program was announced last week after a survey of expectant mothers in the Watts area disclosed that nearly half of those tested had such low hemoglobin blood counts that their own and their babies lives were in extreme danger.

"The survey showed that 89 out of the 191 pregnant women, or 46 per cent, had hemoglobins below 70 per cent. Fourteen of this group were below 60 per cent and two were below 50. Normal is 80 per cent," Dr. Robert F. Koltz, Watts district health officer, declared today.

Ranking Woodmen Camp Gives Television Set

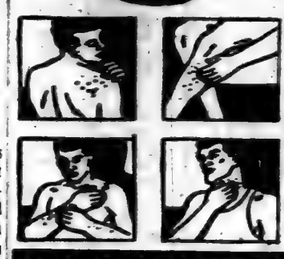
Members of Los Angeles Camp No. 2, American Woodsmen, presented a 1948 RCA television set to Mrs. Dollie Davis, 1053 E. 22nd st., last week. The final drawing for the television set was arranged by the Moon Light Social club, an auxiliary of the local camp, and was held at 50th st. Masonic Hall, Saturday, March 27.

Mrs. Davis, a housewife, was practically speechless when notified that she held the lucky ticket for a set valued at more than $400.

The television drawing was part of a popularity contest known as the "Battle of Flowers," conducted by the camp and social club in competition with other American Woodsmen branches throughout the state. Miss Elizabeth Lewis, queen of the first Angel Bowl game held at Wrigley Field, is the candidate o fthe camp and expects to be crowned "Miss American Woodmen" of California in the City Auditorium at Oakland, Saturday evening, April 10.

J. Robinson Jr. Serving Administrative Internship

Like an Horatio Alger story of old reads the present day struggle for a higher education and the attainment of his objective by James A. Robinson, Jr., 135 Savannah Street of this city.



In a comparatively short period of time Robinson will have complied with all the exacting requirements of education and experience for him to enter the field of hospital management. For 17 years, Robinson worked and studied to earn his way through various colleges and fulfill the educational requirements so that now, at the age of 34, this young Negro is nearing the attainment of his goal.

Robinson is now serving an administrative interneship directly under Mr. W. Bruce, superintendent of the General Hospital. On completion of this year of service, Robinson will take his examination and receive his degree as Master in Hospital Administration.

The 1948 Disgrace

A few days ago when a certain Negro leader inadvertantly advised Negroes in line for war duty to refuse to fight unless they would be given their civil liberties, this challenge was met with "Fight or be tired for treason."

A continuation of such practices of demanding loyalty and obedience from 13 million American citizens, while absolutely refusing to give ear to their patient demands for a full and complete enjoyment of their Civil Rights, constitutes the real treason to American principles, not the fight to make those principles live for everyone.

Henry Wallace, Third Party presidential candidate, said recently: "The measure of success or failure of American democracy can be found at all times in the conditions of our thirteen million citizens."

If the conditions of the 13 million Negro Americans are to be judged by the condition of Mrs. Rosa Lee Ingram and her two teen-age sons, Sammie 14, and Wallace 17, at present under sentence of death for the killing of John E. Stratford, 66-year old white tenant farmer in self defense, they are in a very sorry plight.

From information gathered from many and various sources, Mrs. Ingram and her children are of the industrious sort, always striving to get ahead. It is also whispered that Mrs. Ingram had on occasion rejected certain advances made by the white man.

John E. Stratford, the slain man, was accidentally killed by a blow from one of the Ingram boys who saved his mother from death at the hands of the brutal sharecropper, Stratford.

The present chapter in the Ingram case is, that a recent trial was presided over by one Judge W. H. Harper in a small courtroom i nthe historic Sumpter County courthouse, Americus Ga. from which, Negroes are barred except from the gallery. The hearing was a plea for a new trial for the Ingrams, which the Judge took under advisement.

In the history of Southern atrocities against Negroes within the past eighty years, this Ingram case tops the list.

Our government is busy sending soldiers and guns to Italy and Greece, to kill Communists, but it opens not its mouth against Ku Klux Klan inspired mobsters who lynch men who served in the wars for Democracy and freedom from Fascism, mobsters who lynch and burn to death unprotected women and little children; a large percentage of the Negro population—10% of the population of the U. S.—the facilities for education and training, granted the other 90% of our United States citizenry.

Day by day the politically blind are beginning to see who they are that would overthrow our government, who they are that would trample the Democracy for which we fought so hard relentlessly beneath their bloody feet—blood from the beaten bodies of Mrs. Ingram and her children.

No Discrimination at 'Y'

The housing problem has been solved for the International convention of the Y.M.C.A. to be held in Long Beach in August.

So said L. L. Humphrey, president of the Long Beach Y's Men's Club. "Your reservations will be handled the same as the rest," he wrote to Toussaint Jennings, president .8th Street Y's Men's Club, L. A. Much credit was given to Mrs. Schuster, chairman of the housing facilities, for solving this "problem," but the 28th Street Y, in its Club Bulletin, also gave a lot of credit to "the fine fellows of the Long Beach Club" like Mr. Humphrey, Earl Chaplain, Earl Lindley, George Gould, Hank Handy, Walt Dickinson, Bob Heisner, Jay Loughner, Howard Hawkins, Ray, Bob, and "all the splendid fellows of the Planning Committee and to the genuinely Christian and democratic spirit which Y's men practice as well as preach."

The question was one which might have caused much bitterness, and no doubt, as Mr. Humphrey said, the Long Beach "Y" has "a lot off our minds in having the situation solved."

There should never have been any "situation." But the fact that there was, and still is in thousands of sections of the world, notably in the southern part of our own land of the free and home of the brave with not quite so much in this sunny land of California, should give us pause.

There isn't much use in preaching the gospel brought to the world by a Jew, if we deny even in thought the Jews their place side by side with everyone else in the world. Neither is there any point in overwhelming the Negro with "kindness," if we forget that the one person of all others who bore the cross of that Jew of Galilee, was a Negro.

If the Christianity of the Y.M.C.A., of every church in the world, of every lay Christian organization, is not a matter of the spirit, then it is worse than nothing. The heart, the soul, the spirit, sees no color. Knows no race, no creed, no class. For these things do not exist in that Kingdom which the Jew of almost 2000 years ago left to His followers to establish.

We are indeed glad the "housing problem" of the Long Beach Y.M.C.A. has been solved.

The Passing of Roosevelt

We remember the day, even the hour, when the news flashed across the nation saying that "President Franklin D. Roosevelt Dies Suddenly."

This news was so sudden and so shocking that the people were stunned. Business men concerned with the future of the nation shut themselves in their offices and speculated, half dazed, as to what was in store for the future.

The whole nation, realizing that it had lost a great leader, lent itself to the task they knew he would approve. They squared themselves, and went at their work with a grim determination.

In aircraft plants, and in all factories and industries, men and women wept as they worked. But they kept their machines humming.

Many changes have been made since the passing of our great leader.

Roosevelt's wartime FECP has gone. It has been put out of business by the like of Rankin who said recently, that to bar racial discrimination in employment would be, "the beginning of a Communistic dictatorship the like of which America never dreamed."

Rankin also fathered the un-American Activities Committee which smears everything and everybody as Communistic that stands for or speaks out in favor of freedom of the people and the press.

The infamous Marshall Plan denies relief to the suffering ,starving people of Europe who refuse to be dominated by Wall street interests.

A thought control current sweeping up and down the nation is also a part of a gigantic movement to enslave the whole people of this country, and those eastern and western European countries that demand unhampered freedom.

All these and many other abuses now are rampant, despite the fact that Harry S. Truman when he took over the office that Roosevelt left, had pledged faithfully to carry on the program of that great leader and statesman—our friend —Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

This Truman administration, we fear, points the way to a new and more desperate Fascist regime that even the Hitler regime.

Willing to Admit Negro Students

Students of St. John's College, third oldest educational institution in the United States, voted recently, 165 to 33, in favor of admitting Negro students.

They said they wanted to bring their college in line with other liberal educational institutions in the country. Dr. John Kiefer, president of St. John's, however, merely said it was "purely an expression of student opinion," and would have no bearing on the college authorities.

We commend the students of St. John's, future leaders of our country, and wish only that more students in more colleges would follow their lead. That they are doing so in forcing the college authorities to walk a more liberal and progressive patth is evidenced by the thousands who have joined the Students for Wallace clubs all over the United States. These young people will win out eventually, in spite of all the obstacles placed in their way by those who should encourag instead of discourage their efforts.

There will be meetings throughout the land. Meetings large and small. Meetings at crossroads, in village and town hall. The durms will roll for plenty. The trumpet will sound peace. The voice of America will rise in a chorus of world brotherhood. The deep heart of America knows that what's in Washington today is wrong and that Wallace is right. That heart will find its voice, its vote!—The Protestant.

THINGS I SEE

By Marian Inglewood

"I believe that Southern whites," writes a citizen of the South for many years, "if left to their individual thinking and initiative, would accept without much excitement the extension of the rights of American citizenship to Negroes."

Of course. That is rather naive thinking in itself. For all people everywhere all over the world, if "left to their individual thinking and initiative" will eventually choose the course that will provide life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness for all. Give the people, the common people, black or white, educated or not, the facts without any embellishment or propaganda, and you can bank on them arriving at the fundamental truths of the matter every time.

But that would be an ideal condition of life. Nowhere is anyone left to do his own individual thinking. We are pommeled instead from all sides with propaganda, good, bad, vicious, out of which we have to dig hard and long if we wish to arrive at even a semblance of the truth.

It was Hitler, I believe, who said, "The shrewd and persistent use of propaganda may make even Heaven seem like hell."

Hitler, as of course you know, was a past master in the use of propaganda. He believed definitely in taking one certain idea and hammering away at it until it sank into the consciousness of the people. He hadn't much faith in the intelligence of the common people. Only in their stupidity.

"The great masses receptive ability is only very limited," he wrote in Mein Kampf, "their understanding is small, but their forgetfulness is great."

Working upon this small understanding and great forgetfulness of the common people of Germany, by his shrewd and persistent propaganda, Hitler led them to believe they were members of the highest human race on earth and it was their particular province to be the guarrdians of that race. All other races were inferior to the great white Nordic race of mankind.

In inculcating this vast monstrosity into the minds of the people, Hitler did not hesitate in the least to make use of lies. Big lies. You know that saying credited to him, "If you want the people to believe a lie, don't tell them a little one. Tell a whopper." Translated into a better version of the king's English, it goes something like this: "The great masses are more easily victimized by a large than by a small lie. — Some part of even the boldest lie is sure to stick."

Today that same method of victimizing the common people, of confusing them, of dividing them, of leading them to believe distortions of the truth, of making them think the lies that are told them, are the gospel truth—the same methods Hitler used are used today not only in the South but all over the country. All over the world.

No group that holds great political and economic advantages is likely to sit by twiddling its thumbs, while great reforms are being worked out that will rob them of those advantages and their power. The people of the South aren't the only ones being victimized by the ruthless lies that are told to keep down the people. We in the North, no matter how well educated we claim to be, can easily become victims of those lies, that propaganda, too.

The fear of Communism is being instilled into us. That was Hitler's pet lie. You know how well it worked in Germany. It seems to be working fairly well here. That lie about the "purity of the white race." There is no such thing as a pure white race. Definitely not in America or England. We are the product of a great melting pot—something we usually pride ourselves in, until that question of the Negro and the "white" race comes to the fore.

But there is no use indulging in wishful thinking, "If let alone we could do so and so." We are not going to be let alone. Not in the South, nor the North, nor anywhere else. We shall have to do our individual thinking, and work out our own salvation, in spite of the mud and filth that seems bent on destroying us.

Everyone of us who is able to read, can go to a library. Any encyclopedia, as neutral as a dictionary, can give us the facts on Communism, on Palestine, on the USSR—on every subject that is so controversial and so beclouded with distorted propaganda. We'd better be doing this, too, or we'll be victimized by the Hitler-like propaganda and lies, the same as the German people were. When it comes down to brass tacks, we aren't any more intelligent than they were.

BOOKS & AUTHORS

"Successful Salesmanship" by Paul W. Ivey, Ph.D., Professor of Merchandising, University of Southern California, is a new edition of his former book on this subject. It is a scientific approach to better selling methods and a very practical guide. Every point is substantiated by specific interviews and every plan or suggestion has been tested. The stories are of real people who have the same peculiarities as has the average salesman. Every possible selling problem is introduced and the solutions given; there are also review questions and a general summary. It is an easy-to-use reference tool with a handy index.

"Blackjack" is a novel by Joseph E. Kelleam, an Oklahoman with some Indian blood whose father was a doctor in the Indian service. As the result of frequent transfers his education was erratic and informal until his university days. In his wanderings he noticed great waste of natural resources and human energy in the development of the land. In this first novel he tells of this waste in the story of the sleepy little cattle town of Blackjack, Oklahoma, which suddenly seethed when oil was discovered. The most colorful person in town before the boom is Red Allison with her red hair and sultry beauty. Her father is the town bum who works in the one restaurant. With the change come gamblers, fancy women and speculators. Ron Harris, the last of the cowboys, is living a frustrated life when McGuire comes with his promises to make everyone rich. Some of the inhabitants flourish and others disintegrate as the new raw society built on lust, money and temporary glitter sweeps the town. It is a rich robust panorama of a community of human beings under severe pressure.

"Elements of Radio" by Abraham and William Marcus is a new revised edition of a best selling radio book. It gives the beginner a simple practical and complete course in the fundamentals of radio operation. No advanced knowledge of physics or mathematics is necessary. There is a section on radar and television and a special chapter on modern radio receivers. This book is an authoritative guide which may be used as a first step to one of many highly paid jobs in radio and television, such as mechanic, technician, operator, repairman or instructor. The authors are radio pioneers who have been teaching the subject for the last thirty years. The five hundred diagrams and illustrations graphically explain the text. Sets of questions and problems accompany each chapter.

"The Great Mischief" by Joseph Pinckney, author of "Three O'clock Dinner" is a new departure for her. Timothy, a Charleston apothecary, has a secret scholarly interest in witchcraft in the 1880's. Due to this passion he is enticed into evil association with a beautiful blue-eyed hag and the destruction of his kindly but despotic sister and a visit to hell, as he interprets the earthquake with the trembling earth belching forth fire. The author's art lies in the skillful balancing of fantasy and psychological realism. Her characters are realistic and the witches and demons convincing whether in Timothy's mind or the airy half-world which most of us never see.

"Starting Right With Poultry" by G. T. Klein is written for anyone who wants to raise a few chickens to supply the family with eggs and chicken. It covers every phase of keeping a small flock and has excellent diagrams and photographs. It will help to save much on the feed bill and method of culling and dressing. It also includes the preparation of the fowl for cooking and recipes for various ways of cooking and for the use of eggs.

"The Green Carpet" by Edith Austin Holton brings Lieutenant Commander Jonathan home from World War II to his usually quiet and peaceful New England town. He finds it in an uproar centering around his ward, Rosemary, tempestuous daughter of the town's ruling family. Though often in conflict the dependable "Jon" finds himself in love with her, which brings a startling climax to his home-coming. It is a dramatic romance written in a quick flowing style and will delight those who enjoy light love stories.

"Contract Bridge in a Nutshell" is by Charles H. Goren who is called "America's foremost bridge writer . . . teacher . . . and number one player." He has designed this book for quick and easy reference and the material it contains is up to date and expertly digested. Its index tabs and simple layout are so arranged that the player can consult the book at any time during the game with the least possible time and trouble.

"A Treasury of Laughter" selected and edited by Louis Untermeyer, author, critic and lecturer, is a collection of stories, poems, essays, tall tales, famous jokes, quips, etc. covering the whole field of humor. Mr. Untermeyer gives a brief comment on each of the seventy-two authors represented. He has chosen only English and American humor since he feels that translations lose much of their humor. A few of the authors included are Robert Benchley, Clarence Day, Eugene Field, Joel Chandler Harris, Ogden Nash and James Thurber.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Mrs. Bass:

I am an ardent reader of your progressive weekly, and think it is the most sincere Negro paper in the United States. I'm particularly interested in several columns you have run on Jesus Christ, in which you point out that Christ was a progressive.

I see the possibility of a very fine darma on the life of Christ written from a progressive point of view. Our people are particularly religious and in great need of anything that will give them a new, more enlightened interpretation of Christ and Christianity.

I have already purchased a copy of STORIES FROM THE WORKINGMAN'S BOOK and find it very helpful in my research. I'm also reading Pandit Nehra's GLIMPSES OF WORLD HISTORY that is also helpful. If, however, you can suggest or recommend any more books, magazines, etc., that you think would be helpful in my research, I shall be most grateful to receive the list.

Hoping to hear from you in the very near future, I am yours for a Better World,

FRANK G. GREENWOOD.

(About the best thing to do for research of the above kind, is to go to the Public Library, Fifth and Hope streets, and state your wants. Histories on the time that Jesus lived, Josephus and His Contemporaries, etc. As for magazines, The Churchman, The Protestant, etc., are good. Or by simply reading the Bible, and comparing those people of Biblical times, the precepts taught, with the people of today and what the Labor Unions are doing, you will see how closely they coincide. Editor.)

Dear Editor:

I would like to subscribe to your paper, but do not know how much it is per annum. Will you please let me know?

Also, I would appreciate your recommending pamphlets, circulars or any literature dealing with the daily life of the Negro people in the United States. The material we have here is old and does not seem to give us the true side of things as they stand today.

Should you know of any Negro boys or girls who would like to correspond with a young African, I would be delighted to have their address.

I am originally from Kenya Colony, British East Africa, and I intend coming to the States to further my studies in commerce after I receive my degree from the University of Capetown.

Thanking you for anything you can do to help me, I beg to remain,

Sincerely yours,
P. J. H. Ockondo,

Dear Mrs. Bass:

Please accept our apologies for having delayed so long in writing you. Due to the pressing activities of Girls' Week and the subsequent holidays, we have been unable to write sooner.

May we at this time extend our most sincere gratitude for the opportunity you gave us on Girls' Day to visit with you. We feel we have learned a great deal, and we know we shall remember that day for a long time to come.

Approximately 96,000 business and professional men have received reminders in the mail since January 1 that their annual city business license taxes are due.

The business licenses became due and payable on January 1, 1948, and will go delinquent on February 29, 1948.

W. J. Wheaton Says

"How did you spend Easter?" asked Mary Ann. We told her that we were compelled to be out of the city Easter Sunday, and how we regretted it. As a general thing in our Easter program, we usually attend the sunrise service on Mt. Davidson. "I would have gone myself but these old bones can't stand much chilling, and I had a slight touch of the flu, so I thought I'd better stay in," she said. We agreed with her on that point.

I did go to the regular church service, and that afternoon the children had a nice program, and I strutted my new hat. The preaching was pretty good. The minister spoke about Moses who led the Israelites from Egypt. He said a leader was supposed to be a responsible person.

"Yes," we said, "the person who aspires to leadership should be of an unselfish nature; should work with an unselfish spirit for the cause he espouses. Negroes, like other races, have inept leaders. Negroes, like others, are burdened with a plethora of leaders. We rresemble the ancient Chinese army, which consisted of generals, and no fighters."

In order to be successful, a leader must have followers. The leader should be tactful and cautious; should remember that the fate of many lay in his hands. There is the recent case of Phil Randolph, who, in testimony before the Senate committee on segregation in the armed forces, told the Committee that millions of Negroes would refuse to serve if drafted. He was treading on dangerous ground.

He was advising an act bordering on TREASON. Furthermore, he was playing right into the hands of the Thomas-Rankin un-American Committee, which would like nothing better than to accuse the Negro of disloyalty.

Negro boys are entering, and matriculating, at West Point and Annapolis. They are being trained as officers. Glad to say that that has been one of our fights for years. Then again, we have a pride in the accomplishments of our Negro soldiers; the saga of the immortal 54th at Fort Wagner, "Where The Old Flag Never Touched The Ground" and the storming of Port Hudson; the numerous acts of heroism in World Wars, One and Two.

The United States has to acknowledge the ability of her Negro soldiers. With competent Negro officers, they will defy competition and demand the admiration of the world. There are other things more important than infiltration in the armed forces. Jimcro in economic matters. Equal opportunity in the economic life of the nation, eradication of discriminatory practices and laws that abridge the right of franchise in the States of the South, abolition of the poll-tax and a law that will make lynching a murder, a law with teeth in it, making those responsible accessories.

These things would make officers more vigilant. There is so much to fight for; so much to gain economically and politically, that we can forego, for a while, the fight to intermix the armed forces. We can't afford to refuse to answer if and when called to defend our nation. We can't afford to be Benedict Arnolds. We may not wholly agree with the saying of an historical American who said, "My Country — May she ever be right—but right or wrong—my country." However we subscribe to that "But may she ever be RIGHT." We must fight to make our country Right. We must fight to make Democracy a fact and not a nonsensical phrase. Let us fight to keep our gains.

We have made gains. Booker T. Washington was a leader, so is DuBois, but the environs of their reducations were different. Both were leaders in their sphere. DuBois for a higher education, scholarship. Washington educated in different atmosphere sensed the need for an education that would benefit the mass. People who lived by work of the hands. He taught them that all honest work was noble and taught them to dignify it. He taught them that all could not be doctors and lawyers. He taught them that there was as much dignity in being a good artisan or cook, as there was in any other occupation or profession. The world copied his idea.

DuBois champions higher education. However, it's the soldiers who win the battles, and a wise leader plans and directs. Too many of our pseudo leaders neither plan nor direct, but they cuss the proletariat for not following, when they, themselves have no definite destination.

President Truman has shown more intestinal fortitude than most give him credit. He is no scared by the mouthings of Democrats, nor can he be swerved from his stand that all citizens should have equal civil rights. Georgia has given up the fight to ban Negroes from the primaries and Mississippi is searching still for some means to keep the Negro from the ballot.

The shotgun won't work any more.

The Road to Health

CANCER
by
James T. Aldrich, M.D.
St. Louis, Missouri

Mrs. Williams never believed in doctors. She thought such things as routine physical examinations were a waste of time and had never come to my office or called me in the three years since she had moved to town. So when she rang my door-bell and asked to see me last month, I wondered what had finally brought her.

The woman had sprained her wrist in a fall that morning and only the continued sharp pain and her husband's pleading drove her to seek relief. The sprain was a simple one. I treated it without delay and told her how to care for it.

The fact that I helped lessen the pain in the wrist made Mrs. Williams more friendly. We chatted about such things as the weather and the high cost of living. Gradually, the conversation came around to general health and the importance of routine physical examinations.

Mrs. Williams wasn't impressed at first, but suddenly, somewhat to my surprise, she asked to have a general physical examination. Her heart and lungs were sound, but I found a suspicious lump in her right breast. Mrs. Williams insisted that the lump never hurt. She was sure she was in perfect health. The lump, she thought, was a bruise that was "just slow in going away."

I advised an operation immediately. The surgery was performed; the suspicious lump proved to be a cancer. Mrs. Williams is now on the road to recovery because we detected and removed the cancer before it had spread to her arm pit and other parts of her body. When I saw her yesterday, Mrs. Williams vowed she would never again neglect physical check-ups. We both realize her cure is due largely to finding the cancer in an early stage.

Cancer attacks various parts of the body. Early cancer may give any number of warnings, although usuall yit doesn't hurt in the early stages. A sore on the mouth, tongue or lips that does not heal may be a cancer. A painless lump or thickening in the breast may mean cancer. Any change in the color or size of a mole, wart or birthmark should be checked. Bleeding or discharge without any explanation from any natural body opening might be a sign. Hoarseness that does not clear up and is not caused by a cold or some temporary illness may be another warning.

The body is made up of cells that keep growing rapidly until adult life. Then growth slows down and only enough new cells are formed to keep the body in good repair. Sometimes, certain cells in some part of the body may suddenly start to grow very fast again like they did when the person was a baby growing rapidly. These "wild" cells are of no particular use and they form a lump, or what we call a "tumor." If this lump of cells is not the dangerous kind that crowds healthy cells, and if it confines itself to one spot, it is known as a "benign tumor," which means a "good" tumor. But when these cells keep destroying nearby healthy cells and spread to other parts of the body, it means that cancer or a malignant ("bad") tumor is present.

Most types of cancer can be cured when they are found early and treated promptly. That is why it is best to check with the doctor immediately when any cancer symptoms are suspected. When the doctor finds cancer he may advise its removal by surgery, or its destruction by X-rays or radium rays, or a combination of the two. Whatever the treatment, the earlier cancer is caught, the greater the hope for its cure.

Negro Groups Press For Civil Rights

Tuskegee, Ala. — Asking for the right to vote and get an education, and for a guarantee of "personal safety," Negroes from seven states adopted a statement of policy at the conference held here by the NAACP last week.

Calling the Ku Klux Klan "a terrorist organization" they deplored their recent activities in the state of Georgia.

The demands embodied in the statement of policy, according to Emory O. Jackson of Birmingham, chairman of the policy committee, represented the Negroes reply to the Southern revolt against President Truman's civil rights stand.

Low cost life insurance provided veterans under the state farm and home purchase plan pays the balance of an insured veteran's contract in case of his death, thus guaranteeing his widow clear title to the property.

To Secure These Rights

The Report of the President's Committee on Civil Rights

(Installment No. 12)

Two or three government sanctions quite different in character, and of recent origin, seem to the Committee to have usefulness in the civil rights field. One of these takes the form of an order of an administrative commission which has power to receive complaints, hold hearings and settle issues that have been brought to its attention. This method has recently been employed by New York and other states to deal with a civil rights problem—namely the outlawing of employment practices involving discrimination against workers because of their race, color, creed, or national origin.

The New York State Commission Against Discrimination (SCAD) has authority to receive and consider complaints and to issue cease-and-desist orders against those who are found to be violating the antidiscrimination statute. These orders are enforcable in the courts. This procedure might be followed in other fields, such as education, health, housing, and access to places of public accommodation to secure the elimination of any kind of discrimination. The procedure has many advantages. Members of such a commission are ordinarily chosen for their technical ability. They are able to acquire professional competence during their term of office. Through the complaint and hearing device they can often settle many cases, and put an end to civil rights violations without resort to cease-and-desist orders or more extreme penalties. After all, the goal of a sanction is to deter people from civil rights violations, rather than to punish for the sake of punishment.

Another useful sanction is the grant-in-aid. Today, public services provided by state and local government agencies and by private organizations are increasingly financed by Federal grants-in-aid in part or wholly. The federal government is spending hundreds of millions of dollars annually for this kind of support. These grants-in-aid could be made contingent upon the elimination of various forms of discrimination or other violations of civil rights. The increasing use of such a sanction is described.

A similar possibility is the use of the taxing power to discipline individuals and organizations which are guilty of discriminatory practices. The right of nonprofit educational or welfare organizations to be exempt from property or income taxes and the right of individuals to deduct from their income tax contributions made to such organizations might be deliberately withheld. This device is controversial in principle and with respect to administrative feasibility. The Committee believes that further study is necessary before specific use of this kind of sanction can be recommended.

The question is often raised why congress has never invoked the penalty clause of the 14th Amendment. This clause permits congress to reduce a state's basis of representation in the lower house of congress in proportion to its denial of the right to vote to male citizens, 21 years of age and over. Aside from the political considerations which are bound to influence congressional action, the fact stands out that no one knows just how to go about enforcing this clause. How does one compute the number of Negroes who are denied the right to vote in a Southern state? Are all the Negroes disfranchised who do not vote, or only those who go to the polls and are turned away? These are illustrative of the difficult questions involved. The Committee merely desires to call attention to this sanction and suggest that further study be made of its possible effectiveness in protecting the rights of suffrage.

The Committee does believe that we must show both courage and imagination in devising and using new tools for the enforcement of civil rights policy. It believes that the national government has at its command varied powers and administrative machinery which are capable of being used with great profit in safeguarding civil rights. Experimentation in the use of these powers and this machinery for such a worthwhile purpose is eminently desirable and should be undertaken immediately.

In concluding this survey of what government is doing and can do to protect the civil rights of its citizens, the Committee wishes to emphasize that the task must not be viewed as a narrow and technical assignment. It is a task which demands the intelligent and loyal cooperative action of all three of the major departments of our government.

It is the responsibility of congress to plot our policy for the protection of civil rights. This should be done generously, courageously and without evasion of responsibility made in deference to any group or geographical section. Our laws in this vitally important field can be clarified, strengthened, and broadened in scope.

Our civil rights will not be adequately protected, however, by good laws badly enforced. Executive and administrative officers must be fully familiar with the policies established by the legislature and must loyally and efficiently implement them by every device at their command. What is gained by passing a law that there shall be no racial or religious discrimination in the federal civil service if department heads and personnel officers are willing to countenance such discrimination in practice?

Finally, while we cannot ask our appellate courts to hold valid laws which they believe to be invalid, we may reasonably expect them to be sympathetic towards efforts to protect civil rights, and to interpret fairly and generously statutes designed for that purpose. We are entitled in addition to expect our lower courts, even in the areas in which prejudice and intolerance run strong, to apply courageously the established doctrines of law announced by the supreme court. Since the Missouri law school case, for example, there ought to be no indecision in the mind of any state or federal judge in insisting that states provide fully equal professional educational facilities for Negroes on demand.

The Nation's program for the protection of civil rights, in short, should move forward on three fronts, legislative, executive and judicial. Anything short of this cooperative effort will jeopardize the success of the entire program

POTPOURRI

The Democratic Party will hold its annual Jackson Day dinner April 12, 7:30 p.m. in the Biltmore Bowl. There will be a memorial tribute to Franklin Delano Roosevelt, and a clarification of foreign and domestic issues. Among those scheduled to speak are: Senators J. Howard McGrath, Claude Pepper, Joseph O'Mahoney, and Warrren Magnuson; Representative John A. Carroll, Governors Mon Wallgren and Herbert Maw, and Mr. Wilson Wyatt.

There will be entertainment by Dinah Shore and George Jessel.

Ten million people in the USA are disfranchised because the Congressmen and Senators the people choose to speak for them refuse to pass an anti-poll-tax bill.

Dear Roscoe Simmons: It just can't be done with oratory any longer. Nor can it be accomplished with promises. It's Civil Rights. That's what the people want.

Civic organizations in Nevada are petitioning their State Legislature for a new Bill of Rights in Nevada. Negroes, Jews, and other minority groups are being very much discriminated against there.

California could do with a little more of the same thing, too.

The Albany sphinx has broken his silence at last. He has echoed President Truman's plea for speedy action on the European Recovery Program with an emphatic "Me, too."

In a father of self-righteousness the Republican majority of the House has slapped down on what it regarded as a "raid on the treasury." They opposed the $65,000,000 appropriation for school children's lunches!

"There is no more sense in Uncle Sam paying for school lunches than there is for paying for woolen underwear or mittens or overcoats," said Congressman Ellsworth B. Buck, R. New York. He advocated an amendment which would have cut the appropriation from 65 million to one dollar!

Said Congressman Clarence Cannon, D. Mo., "If we can afford to provide for the health of the hogs and cattle and other livestock for which millions of dollars are appropriated in this bill, surely we can provide something for the hungry and undernourished children of the Nation."

The Republicans lost their nerve, and failed to pass the $1 amendment.

The Negro people in Georgia will vote inspite of the Ku Klux Klan tthreats, declare the "Atlanta Constitution."

Over 80% of the persons eligible for appointment as clerks who were rejected by the postmaster in New Orleans, were colored, N. A. A. C. P. secretary, Clarence Mitchell, declared.

The California Independent Progressive Party will hold seminars or weekend schools around April 24 and 25, for training in election campaign work. Plans will be worked out in the near future for schools in the major areas, and in such places as Sacramento and Fresno.

CHICAGO—The first state political convention to meet in a Negro community since the days of reconstruction will convene at this city's Savoy ballroom, April 10. Called to organize the third party in Illinois behind the candidacy of Henry Wallace for President, the Progressive Party parley will be attended by some 2,000 delegates, most of them white.

A total of 500 colored delegates however, is expected to aid in setting up the Wallace campaign in Illinois.

Henry Wallace will appear at the South Side Convention on Sunday, April 11. On Saturday, from 4 to 6 p.m., he will be the guest at a reception at the Parkway ballroom when the South Side will be invited to meet him personally. Negro backers of Wallace will get a chance to hear their candidate at the Chicago Stadium rally on Saturday night.

George Cermak, Progressive Party chairman stated: "The Progressive Party convention is being held in Chicago's Negro community because we feel that Henry Wallace has many loyal followers there.

"We know that Wallace could receive no warmer welcome anywhere in the state than on the South Side. We are proud that this convention of Negro and white delegates is meeting in a community which has been hemmed in by restrictive covenants for too long."

A United States war crimes court in Nuernberg, Germany, this week dismissed the charges of waging aggressive warfare against 12 directors of Krupp Works, makers of German arms for 133 years. They had been on trial for nearly four months.

The prosecutors at the trial had steadfastly maintained that the men who make the guns are just as guilty as the men who shoot them. But the United States court has said "no."

The officials of the I. G. Farbenindustrie Chemical and Dye Trust, with whom it is said many big business men are involved, now hope their case will be dismissed, too. They are being held on the same charge as the Krupps.

Sheriff Eugene W. Biscailuz has been named honorary chairman of Los Angeles county's campaign for the world-wide Crusade for Children aimed at saving the lives of millions of young victims of famine and disease in war-torn Europe and Asia who will not be reached by governmental aid. It is estimated that 230,000,000 children under the age of 15 years, unless they receive this help, will have no hope of surviving starvation and disease.

Yes, we know. But we can't help wondering why Sheriff Biscailuz and all the others connected with this splendid project cannot work just as hard to save these children and all the peoples of Europe from the horrors of another war, which brought on this aftermath of famine and desolation.

At a street meeting in New York sponsored by the Committee for a Democratic Far Eastern Policy, the New York police turned off the loud speaker, and in spite of all the demands of the crowd that had gathered, refused to turn it on again. The committee had complied with all regulations for the meeting, and had been assured everything was in order.

Maud Russell, executive director of the committee, sent a telegram to Mayor O'Dwyer, who is now vacationing in California, protesting this action of the New York police.

Urban League Head Reviews Job Progress

NASHVILLE, Tenn.—"More educational pursuits have been opened for Negroes in the last 10 years than ever before" asserted LeRoy W. Jeffries, assistant director, department of industrial relations, National Urban League, in his review of recent employment gains on March 27 at Fisk university.

His address closed a week's program of vocational guidance at Fisk in conjunction with the league's 16th annual Vocational Opportunity Campaign.

An address to GI students by Joseph F. Albright of the Veterans Administration, Washington, D. C., initiated the campaign on March 20. The special assistant to the administrator stated that opportunities are now opening for Negro veterans in many fields and urged the men to be prepared to qualify for these openings.

By ROBERT E. WESTON
(In Six Articles)

Loftiest of the Caribbeans, with its mountain tops surpassing a mile in height; largest of the Leeward Islands and incomparably beautiful, Dominica lies sandwiched between the two French islands of Guadeloupe and Martinque. In many, in fact most respects, it is far more French than British, a fact that adds immeasurably to the charm, the attractiveness and the interest of this island wonderland. Unlike so many other charming things, Dominica loses nothing of its enchantment as one draws nearer to its shores, for nowhere in the whole world is there an island more lovely.

It seems as if nature had exerted all her resources, her every effort to create a masterpiece in Dominica, for here is the culmination of Antillean mountain heights, tropic verdure, rich valleys, dense primeval forests, flashing cataracts and all scenic accessories that lend beauty to the chain of islands. Everywhere, from sea to sky, from end to end, Dominica is one stupendous towering mass of mountains. They rise in thousand-foot precipices sheer from the depths of the blue sea. They stretch in tier after tier, of ever larger, ever loftier peaks and ridges. Far above the drifting clouds one catches brief glimpses of the summits of still more distant, still more mightier peaks. Everywhere between them yawn terrific clefts, abysmal canyons and mile-deep gorges. Foaming torrents rush through narrow fertile valleys; cataracts spring like silver scimitars from the verude and vanish into purple, shadowy depths. And over all, from highest peaks among the clouds to black beaches ringed with breaking surf, is spread a wealth of vegetation, inconceivable, indescribable in its luxuriance, variety and coloring.

Among that chaotic tumbled wilderness of forested mountains it is impossible to say which is the highest, but the crowning summite is Marne Diablotin, massive and titanic. Its topmost pinnacle is seldom visible through its cloud-wreaths beneath which lies the loftiest peak in the Lesser Antilles. Not only is Dominica the largest and highest, the most beautiful and the most fertile of the Lesser Antilles, but it also is the rainiest. It is this excessive rainfall which makes the island luxuriantly lovely.

Rain falls somewhere upon Dominica every day in the year, and practically every hour of the day, and the higher mountain ridges are bathed in continual drizzle. Even with the sun shining in a cloudless sky, rain may pour in torrents in Dominica for the moisture in the warm air, blown by the trade winds from the Atlantic, striking the cool air rising from the verdured mountains, is condensed and falls as rain before it has a chance to form clouds. It is a common saying in Dominica that in the hills the rainfall is measured by yards, not inches. And this is no exaggeration, for the average precipitation in the mountains is over 300 inches annually; and even at the capital, Roseau, it exceeds 100 inches a year.

Still, no one seems to mind rain in Dominica. It may come down in a deluge, in solid sheets, yet so porous is the volcanic soil, so well drained the city and the steeply sloping land, that when the rain ceases and the sun again shines, the water vanishes as if by magic and streets and sidewalks are soon as dry as ever. Travelers in the "high bush," or in the hills, expect to get soaked and no one ever appears any the worse for it.

At any time, at any hour, Dominica when viewed from the sea is beautiful, but fortunate is the voyager who first sees the island at sunset, when the cerulean Caribbean Sea is transformed into a sheet of amethyst, when the bare, rocky cliffs along the shore are touched with burnished gold, when the verdured mountains gleam with copper and violet, and the clouds crowning the mountain tops blush like petals of a new-blown rose. And doubly beautiful it becomes when, as the ship drops anchor off the town, an arching rainbow spans the rift of the glorious Roseau Valley. Roseau, the capital of Dominica, is anything but ugly. No town in all the Antilles has a more charming setting and few appear more lovely and attractive from the sea.

The streets, many of which are smooth, well-paved concrete thoroughfares, are swept daily. Frequent showers wash them as thoroughly as though by a gigantic hose, and, as all streets slope downward to the sea, the ever-open hydrants carry all refuse and litter into the harbor. There are well-stocked shops, a fairly good hotel (spotlessly clean, and where most delectable meals are served), a number of boarding houses, an ice factory and electrical plant, a public museum, a Carnegie library, several churches, the hospital, several clubs, the various government buildings and the ancient fort.

This fort, with its embrasures overlooking the town, speaks eloquently of the fact that within is the beautiful residence of the governor, placed in the midst of extensive and wonderful grounds and gardens. The crowning glory of Roseau is its Botanic Station or Public Garden, scarcely five minutes walk from the landing place. Here, at the foot of Morne Bruce, are 50 acres of velvet lawns dotted with palms and trees of every species known to the tropics. Trees that are solid masses of gorgeous-colored flowers. Endless varieties of blooming shrubs and great beds of brilliant tropical flowers border the smooth gravel walks and drives.

Beyond all this, filling a shady dale at the foot of the Marne and stretching far up its slopes and groves of spice, fruit and other economic trees, nutmeg and cinnamon, cacao and lime, orange and lemon, rubber and camphor, ebony and rosewood, mahogany and sandalwood, durien and jackfruit, with hedges of vanilla, and hedges filled with rare and beautiful orchids from every quarter of the globe. No other botanic garden in the West Indies can compare with that of Dominica, and if the visitor sees nothing else upon the island his visit will be rewarded.

From the summit of Morne Bruce reached by motor car or a-foot, a superbly beautiful view of the Roseau Valley may be obtained. Here, under the gently clashing stems of giant bamboos, with their leaves forming a lacework of green and gold against the sky, one may sip tea on dpartaine of light refreshments with the enchanting panorama of valley, river lime orchards and towering mountains spread beneath.

The real way to see Dominica, however, is to ride by horseback u pthe valley and into the hills to the heights where the road passes through the "high bush" and where giant liana-shaped trees form a leafy roof which even the tropical sun cannot pierce. There, enormous treeferns with 30-foot fronds form an almost impenetrable jungle and one seems in a different world—a world of cool dampness, of silence and mysterious forest depths. Flashing, jewel-breasted humming birds fly from flower to flower among flaming orchids and wild plantains. The flute-like tones indescribably sweet, of the mountain whistler-shy gray ghost of a bird, issue from the forest depths.

Even if one never goes beyond the first fringes of Dominica's high bush, the trip will be worth while, but if possible the visitor should continue onward and upward to the crest of the island, where mirror-like Mountain Lake lies in an ancient crater, and clouds drift, roll about and cling to the mountain sides and tree tops as if loath to leave. From this lofty eerie the traveler may gaze to the east or west and see the gleaming Caribbean Sea on one hand and the broad Atlantic on the other, with a vast panorama of hundreds of square miles of scenic wonders blanketing below.

Yet this Mountain Lake is but one of the natural wonders and interesting spots on Dominica. Across the maze jungle-covered mountains to the south may be seen a sharp, jutting peak, rivers scarred with dull red, and ever with a column of steam rising from some hidden recess. And if the wind is right, one may hear a dull rumbling roar that issues from this greatest of Dominica's wonders, the famous Boiling Lake. This is the only active crater on Dominica, as far as known, but at Wotten Waven, a few miles from Roseau, there are hot springs and small geysers by the score, while at the southern end of the island is the lovely Soufriere Valley, which is in itself a stupendous crater.

Here, too, there are, steam jets, fumeroles, streams of boiling water and all the other accessories of proverbial Hades, not excepting great piles of brimstone. Even at the end of the sea, before the picturesque little village of Soufriere, there are spots where one may cook an egg by burying it in the sand, while steam bubbles up to the surface of the bay in various spots, all of which proves that the titanic forces which give birth to the island in ages past are by no means dead but merely slumbering.

Trail Blazers: Kenneth Spencer

By PHYLLIS SCOTT

He strode across the stage in silent majesty and surprised the audience with his extraordinary deep, resonant voice. Beautiful, sonorous tones were expressed by the brilliant basso, who sang with the finesse and dignity of a polished musician. One writer said of him that he sings "with a dedication that brings back memories of the musical giants of other days." And from that gigantic frame is a soul so understanding of music that he expresses its joy and sorrow with great sensitivity.

You remember him and want to know him . . . something of his background. A Californian by birth he was educated in the public schools of Los Angeles. It was at Roosevelt High school that he first began singing in assemblies, plays, and interracial quartets. During the same time he sang with an outside quartet under the direction of Mrs. A. C. Bilbrew, who is known for promoting fine young musicians.

He was dubbed a "Mile High Singer with a Mile Deep voice" when he made his firts professional appearance in the Elks Minstrel show singing "Sleep in the Deep." From that time on the breaks began to come his way. While he was yet in high school he worked in a picture called "Hearts of Dixie." After that production he received an attractive offer from a Frisco night spot, where he thrilled audiences with his sophistication and frankness of emotion. But he continued with serious study and was thereafter presented in concerts.

Noel Sullivan, a wealthy Frisco businessman, heard him and gave him a six months scholarship. Through the influence of Sullivan he got a job working on NBC in San Francisco. Spencer went to audition as a singer; but once hearing that voluminous speaking voice he was hired because of its resonance. He remained there three years doing three shows weekly on dramatic and musical spots.

Kenneth Spencer

Meanwhile a West coast production of "Showboat" was created and Spencer, one of the leading stars in the show, received wide acclamation for his outstanding vocal artistry.

To further his study he went East to develop his voice under the best teacher at Eastman School of Music in Rochester, New York. He was beginning to receive gratifying results, for Eastman only accepts the very best students in music. During the summers of the school year he earned partial expense money by appearing as special soloist at one of the leading churches in Vancouver, British Columbia.

After completing studies at Eastman he went to St. Louis to appear in the St. Louis Opera production of "Showboat" which played across Canada.

He returned to New York after the termination of the tour and in '41 did a play with Paul Robeson on Broadway called "John Henry." And it wasn't long before he returned to the coast to play in "Tuizan" and "Cabin in the Sky," which rules moved him into the rank of Musician Magnificent.

When the war came along, he was among the first entertainers to take a USO Show overseas. More recently, he has completed a concert tour in Alaska, Western Canada and Southern and Northern California en route to New York. Spencer, who is an eligible and gainful bachelor, is the son of Mrs. Emma Spencer . . . and in freer moments, avidly tackles his photography equipment . . . and civic responsibilities.

600 Citizens Demand Arrest of Cop Who Killed Mexican Youth

District Attorney William Simpson this week had before him a demand to hold Policeman William Keyes for first-degree murder—verdict of a citizens' jury and 600 citizens who pammed a meeting at Embassy auditorium to indict the police killer of 17 year old Mexican-American Augustin Salcido.

The overflow meeting, held Thursday night at the Embassy after last minute cancellation of Moose Hall in the Bunker Hill district, heard prominent community and labor leaders call for Keyes' prosecution and an end to police terror in the community. The Civil Rights Congress and six other labor and community organizations called the meeting to bring the facts before the public.

Keyes shot Salcido on March 10, blasting five bullets into the youth's head when, Keyes claimed, he tried to run while being investigated for burglary.

Five witnesses, two of whom reported they were told by police and others in the community not to attend the meeting, refuted nearly every point of Keyes explanation of the killing.

Witnesses included Rudy Salcido, brother of the slain youth, and eyewitnesses to the shooting, all of whom have been picked up by the police since the Coroner's Inquest and either booked on "suspicion," and/or slugged and told to get out of town.

Judge of the citizens court was young attorney Richard Ibanez. Leo Gallagher, who last year won acquittal for two framed young Mexican-Americans (Albert Rodriguez and Joe Gonzales) shot by the same Keyes, acted as Prosecutor. The citizens' jury was composed of the following: Frank Pestana, attorney, Edward Roybal, chairman of Community Services Organization, Ben Rothman, CIO Newsvendors, Peter Lord, chairman, 44 AD PCA, Ben Rinaldo, state chairman American Veterans Comm., Mary Lou Parra, Mexican American Civil Rights Congress, Rev. Hugh Weston, Oscar Castro, CIO Furniture Workers, Jose R. Chavez, candidate for Assemblyman in 51st AD, Ed Sinclair, CIO United Electrical Workers, Jack Berman, 40 AD PCA and Mrs. Charlotta Bass, editor and publisher of the California Eagle.

Chairman of the last half of the program was Joe Marty, CIO United Electrical Workers. Among prominent speakers, he demanded immediate investigation and prosecution of Keyes were: Daniel G. Marshall, secretary, Catholic Interracial Committee, and chairman of L. A. National Lawyers Guild; Philip M. Connelly, secy-treas. L. A. CIO Council; Edward Elliott, State Assemblyman 44th AD; and William R. Maher, executive director of the L. A. Civil Rights Congress.

Housing, Rent Act Calls for Five-Man Board

Housing Expediter Tighe E. Woods today announced the steps he is taking under the new Housing and Rent Act of 1948 to make local Rent Advisory Boards representative of the affected interests in each of the more than 600 rental areas in the nation.

The program to make Boards representative is in keeping with the intent of the new rent law. The Act states that Boards shall "consist of not less than five members who are citizens of the area and who, insofar as practicable, as a group are representative of the affected interests in the area."

To be representative, Mr. Woods explained, a five-man board shall be composed of one representative of landlord interests, one representative of tenant interests and three representativs of public intrest groups.

Labor Condemns Gov't. Seizure Of Tidelands

The Los Angeles Central Labor Council, by unanimous resolution, this week registered its "determination to resist the invasion of state's rights and the people's rights" by opposing federal government's seizure of California's tidelands.

The grab, labor's resolution declared, would eliminate California's revenues from tideland leases. This money, by state statute, now goes in part to the general fund and the Veterans' Dependents Educational Fund, with a major share being allocated for the acquisition and maintenance of state parks and beaches.

"Aside from the financial aspects, the revenue for veterans' dependents and the recreational benefits which eventuate from our tideland revenues," said W. J. Bassett, secretary of the Central Labor Council, "labor benefits directly in the employment opportunities generated through the development of these lands."

The resolution concludes with the request that "President Truman accept such positive action as may be taken by Congress" in the reaffirmation of California's right of ownership to its tidelands.

Reflect upon your present blessings, of which every man has many, not on your past misfortunes, of which all men have some.—Dickens.

Thousands See, Acclaim Local NAACP Art Exhibit

More than 2,000 viewed the exhibit of portraits of 31 outstanding Americans of Negro origin at the opening ceremonies last Sunday at the Los Angeles Public Library.

Sponsored by the local branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, the exhibit not only displays the works of art, but fosters better race relations by epitiomizing the basic qualities of the American Negro at his best.

Mayor Fletcher Bowron in his opening remarks said: "It reminds us of the contribution Negroes have made in the fields of education, science, sports, art and service to their country."

Harold Hamil, librarian, welcomed the visitors and invited the public to view the exhibit for the next six weeks. He was followed by remarks from Betsy Graves Reyneau, artist, who painted 23 of the 31 pictures shown.

Mrs. Belle Taylor McKnight brought dynamically to the capacity audience an exciting story of how the exhibit came to be. Representing the Harmon Foundation of New York, Mrs. McKnight pointed out the inspiration the exhibit provides to all lovers of democracy a lasting bond between all races and people.

The exhibit includes portraits of Dr. Ralph Bunche, Marian Anderson, Joe Louis, William Hastie, governor of the Virgin Isfands, Paul Robeson, Mordical Johnson, Mary Church Terrell, Walter White and A. Philip Randolph.

The committee of the local branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People is directed by Hazel Whitaker Moore, general chairman; Mrs. Betty Hill, chairman of the ways and means committee, and Dr. Veda Somerville, chairman of patrons committee.

Among those serving as guides to the display of paintings were Ina Eggeling, Noreen Forney, Elsa Mae Smith, Richard Bernard, Brackston Moore, Malcolm Small, Dr. Glen Lukens, Rev. Grant Mitchell, Allen C. Woodward III, and Margaret Reynolds.

Episcopal Ritual Unites Elizabeth Kennard and Carl Leonard King

In the picturesque setting of St. Phillips church, Sunday, April 4, the former Elizabeth Francois Kennard, daughter of Mrs. Marie L. Kennard of Monrovia and Mr. Carl Leonard King, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur S. King of Tulare, California, spoke wedding vows in an Episcopal ceremony with Father H. Randolph Moore presiding.

The bride was beautiful, gowned in a modern traditional white satin gown, that featured a long torso with a yoke of white net and upper bodice of white lace with a full length lace train formed from a peplum. The gown was a creation of Allegra Sanders. The full length bridal veil was held in place by an orange blossom wreath. She carried a pearl prayer book laden with white orchids and orange blossoms with nosegay ribbon tiers. In the absence of her father, Mr. James L. Kennard, the bride was given in marriage by her brother, Robert A. Kennard. For something old, she completed her bridal dress with a gold coin, heirloom of Mrs. Eva Skanks.

Mrs. Anna Marie Hunt, served her sister as matron of honor. She wore rose colored satin gown with full skirt and butcher boy pockets in back with matching mitts and a headpiece of net. She carried a gorgeous bouquet of talisman roses tied with rose colored satin ribbon.

The bridal attendants, Mrs. Jean Young, of Tulare; Helen King, who arrived from Chicago for the wedding, both sisters of the bridegroom and Mrs. Marion King, sister-in-law of the groom, were gowned in dresses of aqua net over tissue fille. The dresses were fashioned with hooped skirts and sweetheart necklines. A bouquet of pink carnations and a single strand of pearls completed their dress.

The little flower girl was Barbara Hunt, niece of the bride, who was adorable in rose colored net with matching headpiece trimmed with talisman carnations and blue delphinian. She carried a basket of rose petals and kissed each one as she dropped them before the bride. Little Behren Reeves was ring bearer.

William E. King served his brother as best man. Ushers were, Charles King, Jr., nephew of the groom, Bob Edwards, Elmer Hunt, brother-in-law of the bride; and Henry B. King, brother of the bridegroom.

The bridal hymn, O Perfect Love, was sung by Marie Johnson.

RECEPTION

The home of Mrs. Gertrude Reese Hicks was the scene of the wedding reception. A beautiful array of seasonal flowers arranged by Chuck and Louise Collier, who designed the wedding bouquets, were used throughout the house. Receiving were: Mrs. Marie L. Kennard, the bride's mother, Mrs. Arthur S. King, the bridegroom's mother and Mrs. Zella Taylor, the bridegroom's aunt. The matrons wore very attractive pastel shade gowns with orchid corsage. The reception hostesses were, Misses Allegra Sanders and Faith Lealtod. Mmes. Mary Arnaud, Mary Jane Browning, Jennie Carter, Janice Coleman, Louise Collier, Dorothy Galloway, Emma Hooks, Mary Raymond, Ruth Spencer, Thelma Venerable, Selma Simons and little Carolyn Hunt, niece of the bride.

The couple slipped away from the reception on an undisclosed honeymoon. They will be at home to friends after May 1, at 2933 Budlong.

The bride is a graduate of Pasadena Junior College and is a pledge to Iota Phi Lambda Business Sorority. Her husband, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur S. King of Tulare, is a graduate accountant from the University of California at Berkeley and at present heads the King Brothers Realty Company.

Tenette-Powell Wedding Held at St. Patricks

Louis Tenette Jr., and the former Miss Alberta Powell recited marriage vows in a Catholic ceremony on Sunday, April 4, at 3 p.m. at the St. Patrick's Catholic Church, with Father T. C. Perez officiating.

The formal ceremony followed a color scheme of white and spring yellow. The bridesmaids in contrast were gowned in Ballerina length gowns of white organdy over yellow slips. Each carried a fan of fresh cut daisies with white ribbon streamers. They wore crownless "pokebonnets" trimmed with daisies. The maids were, Millicent Walcott, Ara Mae Tooley, Lorraine Tenette, Mildred Careter and Theresa Irving.

Preceding the beautiful bride was her sister Mrs. Earl S. Jones, who served as matron of honor. Her costume differed slightly from the maids in that she completed the dress with matching white organdie gloves. All wore yellow ballet pumps.

Little Barryette Einge served as flower girl and little Vinsone Jones, ring bearer.

Following this madern procession, the bride entered on the arm of her father, Mr. Henry Powell. She wore a gown of white satin bodice with a full train and skirt of marquisette. Her veil, also of marquisette was finger tip length. She carried a white prayer book covered with orchids and Stephonotis streamers.

Leander Tenette served his brother as best man. Ushers were, Jimmy Parker, Kenneth Jefferson, Louis Robinson, Albert Vendange and Theadore Loupe.

The vows were spoken in a double ring ceremony.

Immediately after the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Tennett Sr.

Hostesses were, Aletha Carey, Robbie Lee, Lillian Morgan and Mmes Morris Clayton, Louise Hill and Elmira Einge.

In the receiving line were, Mrs. Henry Powell, Mrs. Louis Tenette Sr., and the entire wedding party.

The young couple graduated from Jefferson High school, and attended L. A. City College. The bride is a member of the Delta Sprites, while her husband is active in the conservative Dukes.

Both represent two of the city's well known families.

After April 25, the Louis Tennettes will be at home to friends at 340½ W. 52nd Place.

Allied Arts League To Send Students To Art Institute

Various obsticles that stood in the way of the hard working Allied Arts League proved to be stepping stones, for the Sunday "Twilight Recital" was a mammouth success, with the famed poet Langston Hughes speaking before an appreciative audience at Unitarian Center Auditorium on West 8th street.

Promptly at 4:00 p.m. the program was opened by Allied Arts League president, Mrs. Dorothy Johnson. Mrs. Juanita Miller, in turn, introduced Mr. Langston Hughes to the over flow audience who enjoyed each one of his poetical offerings with grand ovations. The cultural supporters of the community and city at large were much in evidence at the recital.

Much credit for the orderly conduct of the huge audience goes to Mrs. Cornelia Bradford who headed a group of ushers along with committee workers, Sadie Weems, Honore Carey, Laura Flower, and Helen Garrott.

At the close of the recital, books of the Hughes poems were sold. Chairing this committee was Mrs. Ethel Bell.

The success of the recital will enable the Allied Arts League members to send more students to the Otis Arts Institute this semester.

The club has already started laying plans for a late fall art exhibit, another annual event, that in past years was presented in the Spring at the Griffith Park.

Thirteen Aids Entertain Fashion Editor

Plans for a unique and highly entertaining social event scheduled for an early May date was the chief topic under discussion when the Thirteen Aides met recently.

Meeting of the small but progressive club group was held in the palatial and well appointed Grammercy Place residence of Mrs. Julia Richardson.

Following the brief business session, social hour was enjoyed, during which time an exquisite gift was presented Mrs. Leroy Moore, the former Louise Beavers, likeable president of the Thirteen Aides.

Enjoying the interesting combined business and social sessions as guest was Mrs. Elaine Graham, fashion editor of the Pittsburgh Courier who has been doing extensive research on California fashions.

Mrs. H. A. Howard Named General Chairman of Nat'l YWCA Week Celebration

Mrs. H. A. Howard has been chosen as the general chairman for National YWCA Week celebration to begin April 25 with national emphasis on Housing.

Mrs. Howard met with a small group of YWCA leaders to plan for the week's activity at Woodlawn which will begin with a YWCA home-coming event on Sunday, April 25, at 4 p.m. in the patio. This is the first time in the history of YWCA that a week has been set aside to give intensive interpretation to the nation.

It is estimated that more than three million women and girls take part in the daily programs of the YWCA's throughout the United States of which our branch is a part. Mrs. Howard announces that a full program for the week is being planned by Mrs. Charles S. Blodgett, Jr., Miss Edythe K. Owens, Mrs. Hellen Wilson, Mrs. P. Price Cobbs, Mrs. Joan J. Willis, Mrs. Vassie D. Wright, Mrs. Honore Carey, Mrs. Beatrice Cassell, Mrs. Josephine Ladd and Mrs. Eugene C. Moore.

During the week's celebration, a national broadcast can be heard in Los Angeles at 1:45 April 29 over station KECA with a panel discussion on "Housing." To close the week, a local broadcast is planned for May 2 over station KFOX at 10 a.m.

Nash Singers Tea Proceeds To Benefit

The Luvenia Nash Singers are planning their second annual tea to be given in the beautiful home of Mrs. Florence Crooksie, 506 East 35th street, Sunday, April 18, from 3 to 7 p.m.

Under the chairmanship of Mrs. Jackie Moore the musical tea promises to be a delight to the general public. The committe is working hard to make it the most outstanding social function of the season. Many prominent artists who will appear on the program will be accorded a royal welcome. A 1948 RCA Victor combination radio will be given away as one of the highlights of the program.

Iota Phi Lambda Bus. Week April 11-17

PHILIPPA SCHUYLER, on her first nationwide concert tour was recently guest of honor at Langston University. Pictured above, the 16 year old piano wonder is having a corsage pinned by dance chairman William Thomas. April 18 will mark her first appearance in Los Angeles when she will play in concert at Philharmonic Auditorium sponsored by Alpha Phi Fraternity.

Patrons Reception To Climax Philippa Schuyler Concert

The initial appearance of Philippa Schuyler in Los Angeles has brought about much interest from the various realms. The young prodigy, who will arrive in Los Angeles on April 10, accompanied by her parents, will be the house guest of Dr. and Mrs. Henry McPherson. Many social courtesies have been planned in honor of the Schuylers, who plan to rest in the city a few days before the scheduled Philharmonic Concert, to be sponsored by Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity on April 18.

Tickets to the concert are being sold at all popular mutual ticket agencies, the Philharmonic Auditorium box office, through the members of the three local Alpha chapters, and the Alpha Wives Auxiliary. By the concert date, general concert chairman, George Taylor Waugh, expects a sell out. Heading the ticket committee is James Shifflet of the Beta Psi Lambda chapter, assisted by Samuel Brown, in charge of the circulation of tickets throughout the various city schools and musical clubs, at a special student rate of .90 cents. Other price ranges include $3.00 for patrons; $2.40, $1.80 and $1.20 general admission. Leonard Grimes and Morris Hampton of Alpha Delta chapter chair the press release committee, while Dr. Richard Hawkins and Chester Taliferro are in charge of Radio publicity.

RECEPTION

As an added feature to the concert and giving the patrons a chance to meet Miss Schuyler, world famed protege, the Alpha Wives Club has planned a very elaborate reception to follow the concert.

The concert patrons will be invited to attend the affair that is scheduled to be held at the beautiful home of Dr. H. H. Towles. Chairing the concert reception committee is Mrs. Lois Carr, wife of Dr. Carr. Assisting Mrs. Carr, are the many members of the Alpha Wives club.

Proceeds from the concert will be used to swell the Alpha Phi Alpha building fund, which is chaired by National vice president of the Far Western Region, Mr. Barksdale J. Browne. The graduate chapter, Bata Psi Lambda is key sponsorers of the Philippa Schuyler concert, assisted by the two undergraduate chapters, Alpha Delta and Gamma Xi. Mr. Dewey D. Davidson is president of the Beta Psi Lambda chapter.

WHAT'S DOING IN THE SOCIAL SET

By JESSIE MAE BROWN

THE ELABORATE ZENDA BALLROOM out west 7th way, will be transformed into a bower of spring blossoms on Friday night, when the sorors of Alpha Kappa Alpha play hostess at their annual formal dance. Some five hundred couples were recipients of the crisp white invitations bidding them to take part in the affair of the season. The festivities, chaired again this year by Ann Gordon, promises one of the most outstanding ingatherings in the local history of the ladies of the pink and green. Aside from the main affair, many are the before and after parties planned. Unique invitations in the form of the Ivy Leaf, AKA Insignia, were sent by Earline Shaw, Lan Donia James, Doris Long and Earline Hopkins welcoming a host of their friends to cocktails before 9:00 'til Dance time. Out of the many, this before gathering is expected to be quite the thing. Thought that at this writing, a description of some of the gowns would be available, however, all is quiet on the Western Front, so the who wore what will be the topic of next week's jottings on the dance. This year, Audrey Jones, Vivian Wilson, Veda Van Brunt, Nancy Harris, Blanch Groggs, Thelma Butler, and Carol Boswell are working on the dance committee. Tomorrow night will go down into the portals of Zenda Ballroom history. . . . Watch and see.

The coming Schuyler concert is the topic of discussion in most circles at present. The famous family will be very busy filling various engagements between the 10th and the 18th when Philippa takes over at Philharmonic Aud. Received a call from Artoshia Jordon, just before "press time" and learned that Mrs. Josephine Schuyler will be guest speaker at the N.C.N.W. meeting on Saturday at 1:30. Her talk will more than likely be along the progressive line, giving pointers on the good will work done by her famous young daughter in the southern states. Ferrol Connor, program chairman of the day has outlined a very informative afternoon. All council members are expected to be present at 3125 W. Adams Blvd. By the way, all women of the community are invited to come out and hear Mrs. Josephine Schuyler. Must mention, at this point, that Lois Macbeth Carr is handling all engagements for the Schuylers during their stay in the Angel city.

While mentioning speakers, tonight when the Henderson Community Center celebrates its first anniversary at the Second Baptist Church, Mrs. Sumner Spaulding will take the spotlight as speaker of the evening. The noted philanthroper is also a member of the board of directors of the Center.

IN THE SWING

The frat series took on that "New Look" last Saturday night, when Alphas came to the front not only with the great Don Barksdale, but with a winsome foursome that claimed the attention of all, as they led the Alpha rooting section in the old one two three. Wearing the black skirts with gold belts, the little ladies had much to do with lifting the spirits of the Alpha gents. Gloria Crouch, of the Alpha Phrateries; Catheline Mason, AKA Alpha Gamma Chapter, a former Ohio State Ivy Leaf pledge and Donzella Coulton made up the yell queens. The after-game gatherings were greater than ever. The Kappas made their way to Julius and Vye Brown's home and let the good times roll till away in the

Turnabout Charity Club Slate Benefit Dance for Club Congo May 20

The Turnabout Charity club held its regular monthly meeting at the home of Flora Boswell, Friday evening. A report on the party for underpriviledged children was called by the president. Completing the old business, plans were made for the club's annual benefit dance, given to help send youngsters to summer camp.

The benefit this year, will be held at the Club Congo on the night of May 20. The Turnabouts are expecting the affair to be a huge success with their many friends and various club groups participating.

The reorganized roster of the club includes the following officers and members: Joyce Stewart, president; Jessie Mae Brown, vice president; Josephine Burch, recording secy.; Barbara Faulkner, corresponding secy.; Melonee Blocker, treasurer; Lucille Boswell, sgt.-at-arms; Josephine Spearman, reporter. Evelyn Abney, Bettye Alston, iKtty Beard, Flora Boswell, Haroldine Browning, Cloretha Gland, Elizabeth Green, Lulu Green, Jane Hampton, Harriet Johnson, Ruth Kenner, Geraldine Stewart and Annette Taylor, members.

Corrine Barnett Visits L.A.

Mrs. Corrine Barnett is visiting her sister, Mrs. Herbert J. Gleed, Sr., 3933 West 27th street. Mrs. Barnett has been the recipient of a number of parties. She was dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Staley, luncheon at Farmers Market with Mrs. J. S. Hunnicut, dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. Tymmony, also guest of Mmes. Ethel Jones, Clifton Lair and Edna Gilmer at Knott's Berry Farm.

Well Known Director Heads Teen-Follies

Mike Stuart, producer and director for the American Broadcasting Company will take over the directorcal helm for the annual YWCA Follies of 1948, from Frances Williams, who is swamped with work due to her decision to run for the Assembly.

With Mr. Stewart as director the public can be assured that the Follies will not only be entertaining but will also carry a message of no little consequences.

Also indicating that the follies will be tops is the fact that Serreta Camargo is directing the dances.

Mr. Stuart is well known in Los Angeles (he is a native) not only for his work on radio on ABC, with Winchell, "One Man's Family, Charlotte Greenfield," etc., but also for his work in legitimate drama. His productions at the Pasadena Play House and Wilshire Ebell Theatre, occupies a great deal of his time, but he still finds time to ride, and devote time to his hobby; which is television work.

The follies will be presented in the auditorium of the Jefferson Senior High School on June 5. For the most part participants will consist of girls of high school age enrolled in the YWCA clubs.

Another sure sign that the follies of 1948, will be the best can be attributed tto the fact that versatile Serreta Camargo well known mistress of the dances will exhibit her art in directing the dances. The funds will be used to help send girls to summer camp.

TURNABOUT Charity club members were caught by the photographer at their recent meeting completing plans for the club's annual benefit dance to be given at Club Congo May 20. LA JOVIAL PRESIDENT, Mrs. Fannie V. Dean is pictured above in a striking gabardine dressmaker suit that she recently modeled in the Decorateurs Club fashion review. The suit, designed by Mrs. Bernice Nance was modeled with grey and white accessories. The hat is Saxs 5th Avenue original. Mrs. Dean will be head hostess when the La Jovials hold their annual Fashion Frolic at the Shangri-La Sunday afternoon.

La Jovial Fashion Cabaret Planned for Sun., April 11

The La Jovial club met with Ada Brigham as hostess. Final plans were made for the Spring Cabaret and Fashion Frolic to be given Sunday April 11, at the Club Shangri-La, from 5 p.m. to 2 a.m.

Some of the outstanding models of the city, will display the latest in hats, gowns, and street wear.

Before the meeting adjourned, the group enjoyed a delightful repast and several changes of bridge and pokeno.

There will be a call meeting of the group on Friday evening April 9, at the home of president, Mrs. Fannie Dean. Guests at the recent meeting ware: Mmes. Lillian Thompson and Lillian Nelson. The next regular meeting will be Thursday evening April 15 in the home of Mrs. Ruth Butler.

Trinity Faculty Sponsors Open House Today

Trinity Street school sponsors its annual Open House on Thursday (today), April 8, beginning at 10 a.m. and continuing until 4 p.m. Open House will be resumed at 7 p.m. and will close at 9 p.m. All parents are especially urged to visit the school sometime during this day. This is your chance, not only to observe the work of your child, but to meet and know the teachers. Refreshments will be served throughout the day.

In connection with the Open House, a home-baked food sale under the direction of Mrs. Robert Gooden, room mother chairman, will continue all day. All kinds of lovely delicacies will be on sale at a very small price.

Mrs. Ruth Williams, president of the Trinity St. PTA, announced that at the regular meeting of the PTA at 8 p.m., Dr. Louise Seyler will speak on "Our Schools—Foundations of Democracy." The program at this hour will be under the direction of Mrs. Jose G. Pelayo, program chairman.

Dinner Concert For Wilfandel Contestant

One of the most unique programs being offered the public will be given Friday evening, April 9, at the Dinner Concert promoted by Freita Shaw Johnson, sponsor of Jacqueline Dickerson. Father Louis A. Baskerville, baritone, and Danellen Mabry, marimba virtuoso, two fine artists, will offer an interesting program. Danellen Mabry is the winner of four scholarships and is the only freshmen in University of Southern California's orchestra, white or colored.

The address for this entertainment is 225½ North Vermont, and dinner will be served at six o'clock. Promptly at eight o'clock the concert will be given. At 9:30 dinner will be resumed. You can't afford to miss this rare treat.

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Public:

One of the few public offerings of the original issue of life insurance stock is currently being made by Carver National Life Insurance Company. You are invited to make a subscription to the original stock in either a small or large number of these shares at this time.

Carver National Life Insurance Company is a California corporation with an authorized capital of $500,000; it is divided into 25,000 shares of Common (voting) stock. This stock has a par value of $10.00 per share and is being offered at $20.00 per share. All shares when fully paid are non-assessable and transferable. Since the original Permit No. 198 was granted by the Insurance Commissioner to sell stock, Carver has attracted public response in the receipt of subscriptions in the amount of $250,000 of shares! A balance of only $150,000—or 7500 shares — remains to be sold. Stockholders will share in the future net earnings of the corporation and enjoy voting privileges at stockholders' meetings.

Carver is directed by men of California who have had wide experience in the fields of business and finance. It is the opinion of the officers and directors of the company that no Negro business in the state has brighter prospects for success and that there is no safer investment you could make than with Carver National Life Insurance Company. Good Saving means Good Living!

June 30, 1948 is the closing date for the sale of this stock under the present permit.

Frieta Shaw Directs New Adult Choir

"The South Central Adult Choral Group" under the Los Angeles Bureau of Music, made a splendid showing on Good Friday Evening, for their broadcast of "DUBOIS' " Seven Last Words, over Station KECA.

It has received honorable mention from officials of both the Bureau and the Woodlawn Branch YWCA, where the group meets every Thursday evening at 7:30.

Interested new members are especially invited. Refreshments are served regularly.

Miss Frieta Shaw, Directress.

PORTRAIT OF EDWARD LEE—Among 23 portraits painted by artist Betsy Graves Reyneau which are now on exhibit at the Public Library is that of young Edward Lee. On seeing the portrait of young Lee when it was first painted, the late Dr. George Washington Carver had declared: "In his face is written the history of the race."

IDA PRADE, lovely daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Emery Jones, will be co-honoree at a Coffee on Sunday, April 11, as contestant in the Wilfandel Contest. Miss Prade, a member of the Ivy Leaf Pledge club to AKA, is being sponsored in the contest by Mrs. Willis O. Tyler and Miss Iva Washington.

Former Angelenos Kentucky Citizens

1st Sgt. and Mrs. Earl A. Craig of Los Angeles, were the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hillard Belle, sister of Sgt. Craig in Detroit over the Easter weekend.

Sgt. and Mrs. Craig are now living in Louisville, Kentucky where Sgt. Craig is stationer. Mrs. Craig is the former Miss Dorothy Brown of this city.

The Craigs left Louisville on Friday night aboard the Baltimore and Ohio Pullman. After spending an enjoyable week end they returned to Louisville Monday morning.

While waiting the discharge of Sgt. Craig from the United States Army, Mrs. Craig is laboratory technician at the Lattimore Clinic, Louisville, Kentucky.

Fashionable Garden Party Takes Place Of Vogue Art Bazaar

Nina Taylor was hostess at the last meeting of the Vogue Art club, with Zeresh Eberhardt presiding. Plans for the forthcoming garden party were discussed. This is to be held in place of the annual bazaar, given each year by the club. Proceeds from this affair are donated to some worthy charity or community development.

Officers and members of the Vogue Art club are: President, Zeresh Eberhardt; vice-president, Estelle Lane; secretary, Mattie Huddleston; treasurer, Helen Trammell; reporter, Emily aJckson; hospitality chairman, Sammie Moore; parliamentarian and art instructor, Nina Taylor; Mabel Coleman, Sara Collier, Blum McKinney, Ernestine Nickerson, Arthonia Lewis, Velma Rodgers, June Smith and Ruth Speights.

The club is looking forward to a series of lectures and exhibits to be given at the meetings by artists distinguished in the field of fine and creative arts. The talents of the Vogue Art member are of a variety. Several of Zeresh Eberhardt's hats, made and designed by her, were worn Easter. Lamp shades made and designed by Sara Collier won recognition at the recent adult education exhibit held at Manual Arts high school. Pictures done in petit-point, tapestry work, hand-knitted dresses and leather goods are a few of the hand-made articles being worked during the meetings.

Emily Jackson has been missed by the club during her illness. The club wishes her a speedy recovery. Arthonia Lewis, acting reporter.

Santa Monica Mu-so-lit Club Hostess Fetes

The monthly social meeting of the Mu-So-Lit club was held in Santa Monica at the home of Mrs. Floria W. Craddock. The interracial program arranged by the hostess, was the highlight of the occasion. The Mu-So-Lit quartet sang two numbers accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Marie Gill. The hostess was assisted by her two daughters, Mmes. Cornelia Rhinhart of Santa Monica and Genevia Whidbee of San Diego.

Among those attending the meeting were: Mmes. Louis Braddock, Homer Milliken, Nancy Butler, Lwello Krout, Hallie Spurlin, Leona Collier, Bessie Osborn, Kay Carlton, Ann Evans, Blanche Ross, Barbara Jean CeSena, Mohon Hendell, H. Brody, H. King and Messrs. Telso D. C. Behuehon, and John C. Frost.

Femmes Give 'Hobby Tea'

The recent "Hobby Tea" of the Les Petite Femmes was a grand success.

Some of the outstanding features of the tea were: a brass collection of Tullah Marcell; the the genuine Chinese collection of Peggy Odom, consisting of tea cart, tea set, a water buffalo, candle holder, and dinner bell; flower arrangements by Helen Jane, florist and Willie Brown, ceramics by Wilmer Jones and the Beginners Class of Children by the Congregation Fellowship church, 3125 West Adams blvd.; artistic drawings by James Henderson, labeled "Deep are the Roots," and "The Microscopic Scientific Version of the Negro;" hand-woven material, ties, rugs, and napkins by Peggy Beasley, a high school student; millinery designed by Iona Brown. There were also different art and needle work done by various persons.

early bright. The Chinese Modern furnishings of the Browns' home made a perfect setting for the affair. The Omegas, on the other hand, were entertained at the home of undergrad president, Charles Thrash.

The main after-party to the complete series will take place on May 15, at Elks Ballroom and the lovely Hadda Brooks will be present to give awards to the winning team and outstanding players. The admit cards to this affair may be found in the souvenir programs. Find myself wondering just which team will walk off with the honors. . . .

The various sports activities certainly find their way into the social circles. The Vernondale Golf club members had quite a benefit affair on Friday night at the Congo club. Vera Hickman and Thelma Houston were much in evidence selling chances on a box of Spaulding Golf balls. May Crowder spent a goodly part of the evening greeting guests at the door, while Lola Beavers, Maudell Richardson, Mary Woodyard and other Vernondale members enjoyed the show from ringside seats. Believe me, there was many a guest teeing off at the Vernondale April Fool Party. . . .

The Crop 'N' Tail riding club is all out to make this year's barn dance something different. Hariette Ann Williams and Wesleen Foster are combining their talents to school the Crops on some top ranking Square Dance routines. . . .

HERE AND HERE AGAIN

The April Showers decided to dry up long enough to let the B and P Girls carry on with one of the most outstanding Fashion Shows they have ever presented. Fabulous Fashion Fads, was the official title of the showing and to let you in on a little secret, the chair women of the day certainly set the pace. Mrs. Eugene Moore, general chairman, was the last word in a tailored beige suit with brown accessories. Mrs. J. R. Henderson gave her few words in a smart grey caped suit, while LeVira Rivers lined up the models in a navy blue number with white touches. Blanch Groggs wore the popular beige and brown with a huge hat that won the hearts of many, as she lined up the program talent of the morning. Dorothea Fearonce, commentator, wore the new Cape suite in grey and I could go on and on, for the show was really a Fabulous Fashion pace setter. Details on the models may be found in this week's Silhouette. . . .

Junior Leaguers of West View learned the good news of the ground breaking on Friday night, as they enjoyed an informal party at the home of Gerry Peterson. Leaguers and escorts enjoyed a tasty menu and a round of games. Arthur Mitchell and Naida Blackwell represented the official West View family. . . .

The Social Set news would not be complete without a mention of the overwhelming success of the Allied Art League's presentation of Langston Hughes. The poet thrilled a capacity house with his famous readings. . . .

WELL! WELL! WELL!

Lou Boswell will add another candle on the birthday cake Saturday. . . . The Walt Lovings will be in the dear Ole Southland around May 1. A brief vacation from the Bay area. . . . Dorothy Donegon is house guest of Grace Fisher Atkins during her visit here. . . . Jackie Dickerson, a Wilfandel popularity contest participant, will be honored at two affairs over the week-end. The Alpha Phalanx of Pasadena are devoting a two-day carnival to her success April 9-10, while her sponsor, Frieta Shaw is staging a concert on Sunday afternoon toward her victory. . . . Loads of luck. . . . The Medical, Dental Auxiliary will be hostess to a benefit Cocktail party on Sunday from 5 to 10. . . . Guests are still chatting over the fun enjoyed at Olitta Atkins cocktail party last Sunday afternoon. The affair honored the birthday of Pearl Hamilton. The guests topped the evening by attending the Fashionette Girls Cocktail party. . . . The Monti Kings have decided to make their home in Bakersfield. . . .

Mrs. Hampton L. Worthy is to be commended for the fine job she has done with the Girl Scout group of Foshay Jr. High. The little ladies are busily engaged this week, taking active part in the cookie drive with a booth on Western and Jefferson. Sub debs, Sandra Shields, Carmen Garrott, Jackie Alexander, Doris Louise Worthy and Faith Bauldwin are some of the little workers. . . .

Joe "Smoke Rings" Harris is welcomed to the EAGLE staff this week. . . . Hear that the date for the Delta Jabberwock has been changed. . . . The Iota Phi Lambda Business week program should be a "must" on your list of activities for April 17. The affair open to the public is set for Poly High at 6:30 p.m. . . .

'Til Next Week.

Jeff Student Sponsored Through Med. School

Friendship Center Breakfast Club is happy to publicly announce that they will have as special program guests The Eagle Rock Civic Unity Council Members and Officers Sunday April 11, 1948 promptly at 8:30 A.M. to 10:00 A.M. in the Cafeteria of the Thomas Jefferson High School, 41st and Hooper Ave.

Mrs. Elizabeth Wood, of Occidental College and Mrs. Margaret Hansen of George Carver Jr. High School will be Chairmen for the program.

Eagle Rock has accomplished many things of interest toward higher democratic gains and we are thrilled to have the opportunity to hear first hand how this has been done. One project of worth-while gain is the scholarship to a Jefferson High Student permitting her registration to Occidental College Medical Department. This Civic Council, believe it or not, is financing this girl of color through her entire medical career.

When you attend Friendship Center you are kept alive to the many revealing happenings noteworthy of your attention. Over a cup of coffee you find just another person believing and doing the same things and living the same as you. You recognize there is no room for selfish or narrow thinking. The Club is not a political group suddenly rising to the front, it has been organized 11 years striving to know each other better thus making better citizen for America. The President Superior Court Judge Benjamin J. Scheinman will be most happy to welcome you.

Vet Academic Records High, Says Educator

NEW YORK — Returned war war veterans are integrating themselves into campus life without too much difficulty, President Benjamin E. Mays of Morehouse college, Atlanta, told William E. Cotter, chairman of the United Negro College Fund's 1948 campaign, here last week, while stopping at the Theresa hotel.

President Mays added that his school, with his 500 vets, more than half the college's enrollment, had found that the veterans had made an easy adjustment from war to civilian life, and that their academic records were, if anything, above average.

Raisin' Cain

By CARL L. CAIN

It has always been my honest endeavor to give my readers a broad-minded viewpoint of any question or proposal as I see it. I do no less when I say that Senator Glen Taylor, third party vice presidential candidate, inspired the people with his fiery speech at the Gilmore Stadium last week.

Mr. Taylor allowed a little Western sunlight and heat to fall upon the great number of the so-called "shady" problems of Washington, and the world. Mr. Taylor seemed quite certain that the world is not facing a drastic conflict with Russia. He encouraged us to fight for peace, prosperity, and equality. He also made it plain that peace in our country and throughout the world can only be achieved by casting the ballot in the November election for Henry Wallace as president, and electing other members on the third party ticket, to government offices.

TOPIC OF THE WEEK

I should like for you to read the following poem and derive from it your own conclusions:

Today the guns are silent
The grave is fresh.
There is evidence of war, so violent.
The ground is torn and fresh.

The air is chilled,
Though the sun shines still
With death in its rays.
No longer the Captain's voice so shrill.

The dead are in peace,
The wounded in bitter pai.
Priceless freedom for which they fought,
Forever may it reign.

Somewhere a mother weeps,
A sweetheart in agony shall loudly voice,
Though hope through her mind still creeps
"Freedom, Oh God, was his choice!"

My friend, O' noble patriot,
Before you in the future, is peace—
Peace so eloquent, for which you fought.
For you, may glory never cease.

In history your name shall endure,
Your deeds, so brave, so daring, s onoble.
People of all classes to you shall adhere.
Nothing surpasses your courage so bold.

Ten years have passed.
Since the grave was sealed,
We're free, but how long will the freedom last?
Every method tried, nothing has appealed.

Oh, neighbors across the sea,
Hear my cry, land where the stripes do fly!
Live in peace, can it be?
Shun this war, in which many shall die.

Charters have failed,
Plans for peace are denounced.
Upon the sea, ships may no longer sail.
For peace, I beg, with my strength every ounce.

Harken, Oh furious foes,
Return ye, to the ways of the Lord:
Heaven, earth, everyone knows
Another war we can never afford.

In darkness and fear, for a reply I wait,
Yet there is silence—unbroken—by message unread.
Hear me nations, before too late!
... no reply ... Mankind, hope is dead.

High School—College Theme Stressed In Alpha Program

EDUCATION CITIZENSHIP WEEK is being sponsored April 11-18 by the three local chapters of Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity for the promotion of higher education in a highly competitive world. Committee members Thaddeus Hobbs, Charles Caballero, Samuel Brown, Perry Parks, and general chairman Albert Jones are busy completing plans for the week-long observance. (Vera Jackson photo)

The Educational Committee of the Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, under the dynamic leadership of Albert Jones as general chairman, is busy working to complete plans for its traditional Education and Citizenship Week, which is recognized annually by Alpha men throughout the nation.

The week of April 11-18 has been selected by the Alphas in this jurisdiction as their Education Citizenship Week. The slogan will be significant as "Go To High School—Go To College." The committee which will be in charge of all activities for the week is composed of representatives from all three chapters in the city, Beta Psi Lambda graduate chapter, Gamma Xi and Alpha Delta undergraduate chapter. The members are Albert Jones, chairman; Thaddeus Hobbs, James McDaniels, John Bowen, Charles Caballero, Perry Parks, Samuel Brown, Dewey Davidson, Robert Van Meter, and Frank Peterson.

Activities during the week will include assemblies in various junior and senior high schools in the community. And lectures will be given by members of the fraternity who are leaders in their respective fields and profssions to Hi-Y groups and other organizations. The main emphasis will be placed on the importance of education in our present day world. Applications for scholarships to be awarded to deserving students graduating from high schools in June will be considered by the committee.

On Sunday morning, April 18 at 10:45 the public meeting will be held at the First Methodist church, 8th and Towns, at which time frater Rev. Frederick Jordan, pastor, will be the principal speaker with many other Alpha men taking part in the service. All Alphas in the city will be present for this ceremony and it will be brought to a close with the singing of the Alpha Phi Alpha Hymn, which will be under the direction of frater Samuel Brown.

The week will be climaxed by the presentation of the noted young artist, Philippa Duke Schuyler, by the fraternity in her first Los Angeles concert at the Philharmonic auditorium, Sunday, April 18 at 3 p.m. All fraternities and sororities in the city are cooperating with the Alphas in their effort to make this the most successful Education and Citizenship Week the fraternity has ever experienced.

All—Youth Symphony Orchestra To Celebrate 11th Anniversary

Calling for a civic observance of the eleventh year of the California All-Youth Symphony Orchestra, Supervisor Leonard J. Roach submitted a resolution this week on the Board of Supervisors honoring the orchestra, by setting April 27 as California All-Youth Symphony Day.

Unanimously adopted by the Board, Roach's resolution praised the munical group which is composed of one hundred musicians between the ages of 12 and 20 for its cultural and humanitarian services to the community.

Roach pointed out that children in the Southland have been morally enriched by the presentation of over three hundred concerts by the group in behalf of civic, charitable, and educational events.

State Funds Aid Vet Education

SACRAMENTO — The California Veterans Educational Institute provided educational assistance in the amount of $654,139.65 for 2,739 World War II veterans during the fall semester of 1947, it was announced today by M. E. Iorns, manager of the division of educational assistance, State Department of Veterans Affairs.

This compares with a cost of $683,995.12 for 2,787 veteran students during the spring semester of 1947.

Irons said state assistance is intended to supplement the more liberal benefits available to veterans from the Veterans Administration under the G.I. Bill of Rights. State and federal aid cannot be used concurrently.

Golden State Fetes Tots In Easter-Egg Hut

The annual pre-Easter egg hunt for youngsters from one to 14 years of age was held in the South Park playground, Saturday, March 27. The eggs were provided by the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Co.—1400 of them, with three grand prizes to boot!

The egg hunt was divided into three sections according to the age of the children. Mr. Jones, of the Golden State Mutual, presented baskets filled with candy to the three lucky youngsters who found the prize eggs. They were: James Stillworth, Billy Fay Moore, and Donald Jalkson.

YMCA Membership Enrollment Tops Last Year's Achievement

Final reports of the annual Sustaining Membership Enrollment at 28th Street Branch YMCA showed the effort to have been the most successful campaign in the history of the Branch. Including the work of the Special List Division which began in November, a total of over $11,000 was pledged by sustaining members. This tops last year's achievement of $10,000 which included privilege as well as sustaining members.

Credit for this success is due the Reverend M. F. Mitchell, president of the Interdenominational Ministers' Alliance, who served as Campaign chairman. He was ably assisted by Division Leaders Lorenzo Bowdoin of Angelus Funeral Home; Lawrence B. Wilson of Liberty Building and Loan Association, Leon W. Steward; Dee Hodge of Golden State Insurance Company and G. William McKinney of Broadway Federal Savings and Loan Association. Back of the scenes, of course, was the Membership Committee of the Board of Managers chaired by H. A. Howard.

Western Baptist State Confab To Aid Program of Boy Scouts

The Western Baptist State Convention, Dr. W. P. Carter, president and the Rev. Horace M. Mays, director of Christian Education met in their mid-Winter session where they adopted the program of the Boy Scouts of America as an integral part of the educational program of the convention.

The Rev. Dr. K. Buford, pastor of the Brown Temple A.M.E. W. Arnold, Pastor, are all included in the reorganization plans.

Attorney Bernard Jefferson, director of the Committee on Reregistration, which includes charter reviews and presentation will make his annual visit to Victory Baptist Church, St. Paul Baptist Church, and 92nd Street Church of Christ. Mr. Jefferson reports that charter presentations are to be made to 96th Street School PTA, Mrs. Edna Cohen, principal; and Mr. Alfred Bowman, Institutional Representative, Bellvue Community church, Rev. St. Paul Epps, received a charter for a new Cub Pac Unit.

The Steering Committee on Scouting for South Los Angeles, Rev. C. W. Arnold, chairman, is yet active. Mr. C. E. La Bree, Reverends, J. T. James, and St. Paul Epps, Mr. W. Mann, Carl Ehrhardt and B. C. Cooke were placed on the Executive Committee of the group. Six new prospective sponsors were to be cultivated for sponsorship for Boy Scout Troops. One by Mr. La Bree, two by Rev. M. Epps, two by Rev. James and one by Rev. Arnold.

The personnel for scouting were of a vital concern. Mr. LaBree took a personnel recruit list and had it filled in by April the first, Mr. Epps took one and has submitted the list to the local council office. Others who accepted the challenge for recruiting personnel for scouting were: Rev. M. Arnold, J. T. Jones, and Mr. Mann.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By REV. IKE EVANS, D.D.

Subject: God's Message to a People in Exile. Lesson Text and Outline. Ezekiel 18:1-4; 34:11-16; 36:25-28. Motto Text Ezekiel 36:26.

INTRODUCTION

The book of Ezekiel, like his ministry, hinges on the destruction of Jerusalem in 586 B.C. by Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon. Twenty-four chapters were written before that event: In them we have denunciation of sin, prediction of overthrow, and exhortation to penitence. The remaining twenty-four chapters were written after the fall and consist of two main divisions: The first embraces judgment upon Ammon, Moab, Edom, Philistia, Sidon, and Egypt; the second contains consolation for the captives in view of a ne wtemple and capital more glorious than those which had been swept away.

Comments

1. God does not punish the children for the father's sin unless they tread in their fathers' steps and fill up the measure of their iniquity, and then they have no reason to complain, for, whatever they suffer, it is less than their own sin has deserved. It is only in emporal calamities that children and sometimes innocent ones fare the worse for their parents' wickedness, and God can alter the property of those calamities, and make them work for good to those that are visited with them; but as to spiritual and eternal misery—and that is the death here spoken of—the children shall by no means smart for the parents' sins.

All souls are his, all created by him and for him ,and accountable to him. As the soul of the father, so the soul of the son, is mine. Our earthly parents are only the fathers of our flesh; our souls are not theirs; God challenges them. The soul that sins shall die. shall die as a soul can die, shall be excluded from the favour of God, which is the life and bliss of the soul, and shall lie forever under his wrath, which is its death and misery.

2. God will both incline their hearts to come by his grace and will by his providence open a door for them and remove every difficulty that lies in the way. When those that have gone astray from God into the paths of sin are brought back by repentance, when those that erred come to the acknowledgment of the truth, when God's outcasts are gathered and restored, and religious assemblies, that were dispersed, rally again, upon the ceasing of persecution, and when the churches have rest and liberty, then this promise has a further accomplishment.

3. Sin is defiling, idolatry particularly is so; it renders sinners odious to God and burdensome to themselves. When guilt is pardoned, and the corrupt nature sanctified, then we are cleansed from our filthiness God will work an inward change in order to make a universal change. All that have an interest in the new covenant, and title to the new Jerusalem, have a new heart and a new spirit, and these are necessary in order to their walking in newness of life.

Comment on the Motto Text

Anew loyalty is required. Sin must be forsaken. Wrong must be renounced. God must be accepted as Saviour and acknowledged as sovereign. A new heart will be given. It involves a new moral nature. It means inner renewal. It is regeneration. The old stony heart is gone. A new spirit is also given. It is the spirit of obedience to God. It is the spirit of service to man. It is the spirit of devotion to duty. A new life is promised and produced. tI is marked by becoming behavior, circumspect walk, Christian conduct, radiant usefulness, and rich reward.

To preserve a long course of years still and uniform, amid darkness and tempest, requires strength from above — deep draughts from the fount of divine Love.—Mary Baker Eddy.

Famed Choral Returns to Philharmonic

Two superbly-balanced choral programs of classical and American folk song music will be given in Philharmonic Auditorium Friday evening, April 9, and Sunday afternoon, April 11, by the world-famous Westminster Choir. Returning to Los Angeles for the second successive year under Mary Bran's auspices, the Choir will again be led by its noted founder, Dr. John Finley Williamson.

Friday night's concert includes classical works by Schubert, Brahms, Palestrina, Bach, Handel and Delius, while the Sunday afternoon program lists a set of four motets by great 16th century composers of Spain, Germany, England and Italy. Both programs, each of which is entirely different, also include a wide variety of American song classics, mountain ballads and unusual spirituals — many of them in speciall arrangements made fo the Westminster Choir.

S. C. Johnson Pioneer Scion Passed Sunday

Just before the sun rose on Sunday morning, April 4, the Lord saw fit to put a courageous and noble body to rest in the person of Shaderick Charles Johnson. Mr. Johnson had resided in Los Angeles for 55 years and was held in high esteem among the pioneers of California, his business associates, and the community in which he lived.

S. C. Johnson

He resided at 1156 S. Hobart blvd., where he had made his home for the past 45 years. He was the husband of Mrs. Pearl Johnson, and from this union five children were born, two of whom are the late Lawrence S. Johnson, and Cornelius C. Johnson, world-famous Olympic high jumper. Mr. Johnson was the first licensed plastering contractor in California and in his business he had given many men employment and had helped to build many of the homes and business buildings in Southern California.

He leaves to mourn his loss his beloved wife and three children, Theodore, the oldest son; Mrs. Pearlita Brooks and Mrs. Ruby Braxton, daughters; two grandchildren, Beverly Jean Johnson and James Braxton III; relatives and a host of friends.

Funeral services will be held from the First AME church, 8th st. and Town ave., Thursday (today), April 8, at 2 p.m.

He will open his tour next Sunday in Phoenix, Ariz., where he will address a mass meeting under the auspices of the N.A.A.C.P.

400 Attend Interracial Fellowship Service Sunday

Approximately 400 persons attended an interracial fellowship service last Sunday at Second Baptist church and heard six young adults talk on such problems as Atomic Energy, Political and Social Action, International Relations and Parent-Child Relationships.

In an evening of activity sponsored by the Young Adult Council, of the Church Welfare Bureau, LA Church Federation, persons from various sections of the city heard music rendered by Teen Choirs from Greater Cornerstone Baptist churchc and the Southgate YMCA, asked questions of the following panel members: Francis Grace, Pasadena Presbyterian church; Rose Marie Smith, Trinity Baptist; Dean Davisson, Inglewood First Methodist; Albert Jones, Hamilton Methtodist; and John McElderry, Western Noel Congregational; and enjoyed a social hour, conducted by Mrs. Mary Lou Roberson, at the Henderson Community Center.

As William Elkins, moderator of the panel, introduced the various members, they gave their ideas on topics of general concern today and answered questions raised by the audience. Mr. Earl Walter, Hamilton M. E. church, chairman of the Young Adult Council, brought greetings from the council as well as an invitation for other church young adult groups to affiliate. Mr. Barney McPhatter, Neighborhood Community church program chairman, stated that this was the initial program in a series of activities to be presented by the council.

The Greater Cornerstone Junior Choir appeared through the courtesy of Rev. D. C. Austin and Rev. George Bozier, and was directed by Mr. Carol Neely. The Teenage Choir from South Gate was directed by Mr. Bertramd Pridham and Miss Vivian Beck, of Second Baptist church, served as accopmanist. A period of meditation, led by Rev. Washington, of Greater Cornerstone, Baptist church, preceded the program.

After Being With Negro Friends

By MARGARET LANDACRE

Look at that uninteresting, waxy stuff—my skin.
Why can't it have some richness like theirs—some warmth and glow and life?
Is this why we so eagerly invoke the sun?
Do we secretly know that something's been left out?
(Maybe something more than pigment).
Is that why we're afraid?
Why we strive and shout and strut,
And gather things and run about?
Why we say—"you stay there; you can't come here."
Is it why their patient eyes look on us,
And see the emptiness beneath the pride and fuss?
Oh Sun in heaven—
Bathe our limbs with beauty and our hearts with love!

Priest Terms Segregation 'Un-Christian'

RICHMOND, Va.—"No true American can defend the barriers of segregation, since colored men and women were called upon to defend America and risk their lives in defense of a common flag. They, therefore, have a right to the fundamental liberties symbolized in that flag."

These are the words Father Thomas E. O'Connell, pastor of St. Paul's church here and outstanding Southern clergyman left with the House Courts of Justice Committee. The committee is hearing testimony on several anti-segregation bills.

Father O'Connell pointed out that when the Diocesan Holy Name Union held its convention in Richmond last October, members of the society, white and colored, went to church together, ate together and met together. It was a successful convention, he said, but in holding it "we were violating the laws of Virginia." He added that Virginia Catholics would have to continue to violate those laws in order to conform to Christ's laws.

Baha'i World Faith

What is a Baha'i? is the subject to be discussed by Winston Evans at the public meeting of the Baha'i World Faith on Sunday afternoon, April 11, at three o'clock, to be held at the Los Angeles headquarters, 331 South New Hampshire Avenue.

"A Baha'i," says Mr. Evans, "is one who recognizes the oneness of the world of humanity, that the world is one home and mankind its citizens, that the divine Revelations are continuous and progressive, emanating from one source, that each of the great manifestations from God has confirmed the past revelations and has added new spiritual light and power."

Catholic Students Condemn Bias Against Racial Groups

"When you petition against a certain race you petition against Christ. When you close a hotel room to a Negro, you close it to Christ. When you bitterly insult a minority group, you insult Christ."

That was the conclusion of Al Germann and Bill Fitzgerald of Loyola university, who participated in a student forum on interracial justice at Mount St. Mary's college last week.

Students participating in the forum based their arguments on the common parentage and equality of all men.

One of the last guest speakers was Dr. Thomas R. Peyton.

"Listening to these young Catholic students," he said, "gives me a great hope for my America. Speaking as a Negro physician facing the problems of interracial justice, I know that there is only one answer: to hate less, love more, sin less and pray more."

Dramatic Artist In Santa Monica Recital April 15

The Blessed Martin club of St. Monica's parish will present Sherman Dall Jones, soprano, and Marguerite Petty, dramatic artist, in a recital on Thursday, April 15, 8:30 p.m., at the Santa Monica Bay Women's club, 1210 Fourth street, Santa Monica.

Marguerite Petty

Mrs. Jones is widely known throughout the Bay Area as an outstanding artist. She began her career at Paul Quinn choir. In California Mrs. Jones has been presented by Sid Lippman of Twentieth Century Fox and is currently appearing as soloist with the Kama company, producers of the Great Vespers.

Miss Petty, assisting artist and a teacher in the Los Angeles high school system, is a graduate of Xavier university, New Orleans, and has done graduate work in drama at UCLA and USC. This past summer while vacationing in the East, she made two New York appearances. Miss Juanita Lemmons will be accompanist.

Reception Hono's Kenneth Spencer

Kenneth Spencer, noted baritone singer who had appeared earlier in the afternoon at the Philharmonic auditorium, was honored by a lavish reception held in the Youth Center at historic First A.M.E. church, Eighth and Towne avenues, on Sunday, March 29, from 4 to 6 p.m. He was greeted by hundreds of both races.

Dr. Charles Satchell Morris, II, preached the sermon at the morning services, and paid a glowing tribute to Dr. Frederick D. Jordan, pastor of the First A.M.E. Church. Dr. Jordan is a candidate for the bishopric of the Southern Methodist church. Dr. Morris, who has recently made a tour of the South, said he found sentiment very much in his favor.

Weslayan Service Guild No. 1 Will Present Program

The Wesleyan Service Guild, No. 1, will present an outstanding program on Sunday, April 11, at 4:30 p.m. in the Wesley church, 1029 E. Vernon ave.

The program will be part of the "Queen for a Day" contest being staged by this club. Mrs. Margaret Rakestraw is the contestant being honored on Sunday. This will be a great musical featuring the choirs of the Progressive Missionary Baptist church, the Zion Hill Baptist church, the A.M.E. Zion church, with Mrs. Edna Porter, Mr. Jimmy Smith and Mrs. Jean Holmes as directors. Jester Harriston will give some of his original readings and Mrs. Margaret Harriston will sing.

The community is asked to be present and support Mrs. Rakestraw in this contest. Mrs. Rakestraw is noted not only for her church work but also for her many community activities.

Renowned Prelate To Lecture At Shaw University

Rev. Vernon Johns, former president of Virginia Theological Seminary, delivered the address at annual Theological Alumni Day services held in Greenleaf Chapel of Shaw University last week. His subject was "Academic Illiteracy," and while he paid tribute to the inestimable value of books, he denied that they are the open sesaem to success.

He classed as "social illiterates" the people woh "lack social feeling," and declared the things we own together are more important than the things we own separately. He also spoke of "economic illiterates" and "philosophical illiterates" as those incomplete in their education.

AME Leaders Give Money to College

BIRMINGHAM, Ala.—Scores of A.M.E. leaders and laymen from all parts of the country met at Daniel Payne college for the 8th annual Founders' Day celebration, and laid $34,000 on the table for the cause of education.

A vote of confidence and appreciation was given Bishop D. Ward Nichols for his leadership in the church. "eHreminds me of Franklin D. Roosevelt," said editor Robert Durr, of the Birmingham Weekly Review. "He has proved himself a friend of the Common Man."

SIGMAS KNOCK OVER OMEGAS 39-37 FOR INITIAL WIN

CHAPMAN SINKS 20 AS ALPHAS DOWN KAPPAS, 58-48

Barksdale Inspires Alphas To First Round Robin Win; Shaw Leads Sigmas With 18

By Stanley Robertson, Eagle Sports Editor

Inspired by the presence of Don Barksdale; led by Emerson Chapman, and at times showing signs of being disciples of the Harlem Globetrotters, the Alphas' "once lucky" basketball team came to life Saturday night to hand the defending champion Kappa squad their second defeat in a row, 58-48, before an overflow crowd at Loyola High School Gym in the feature game of the 3rd round of the inter-frat series. In the opener, the Phi Beta Sigma quintet, boasting a guy named Doug Shaw who just wouldn't stop trying, came from far behind to upset the heavily favored Omega Psi Phi team, 39-37 to win their Initer-Frat game.

WILLIAM JAMES WAS RIGHT

In the "biggie" of the evening, the Kappa-Alpha grudge battle (and at times it really was a battle) a much discussed theory of psychology was proven true. The theory of course was William James' belief that mind has mastery over body.

Inspired by the presence of the great Don Barksdale, the Alphas played like they'd never played before. Chapman was hittting the hoop like it was his vest pocket. Clayton Moore played probably the greates' game of his career, and Dave Minor, with his side kick Barksdale playing with him for the first time since the days of the '47 series, played as only Minor can when he wants to. Even the second stringers, who were dubbed "old men" by some of the crowd, came in and did themselves proud.

RUN, RUN AND RUN

The Alphas started out like they were on their way to a fire and just couldn't be stopped. With Chapman, Minor and Barksdale sinking quick field goals, and Gene Williams and Lowell Stewart finding the mark for the Kappas, it looked for a time as if it were going to be another Kappa Alpha "heart failure" game. But the speed ball handling ability, and the "hot" night the Alphas enjoyed made the outcome obvious when the Black and Gold walked of fthe court with a commanding 29-18 lead at halftime.

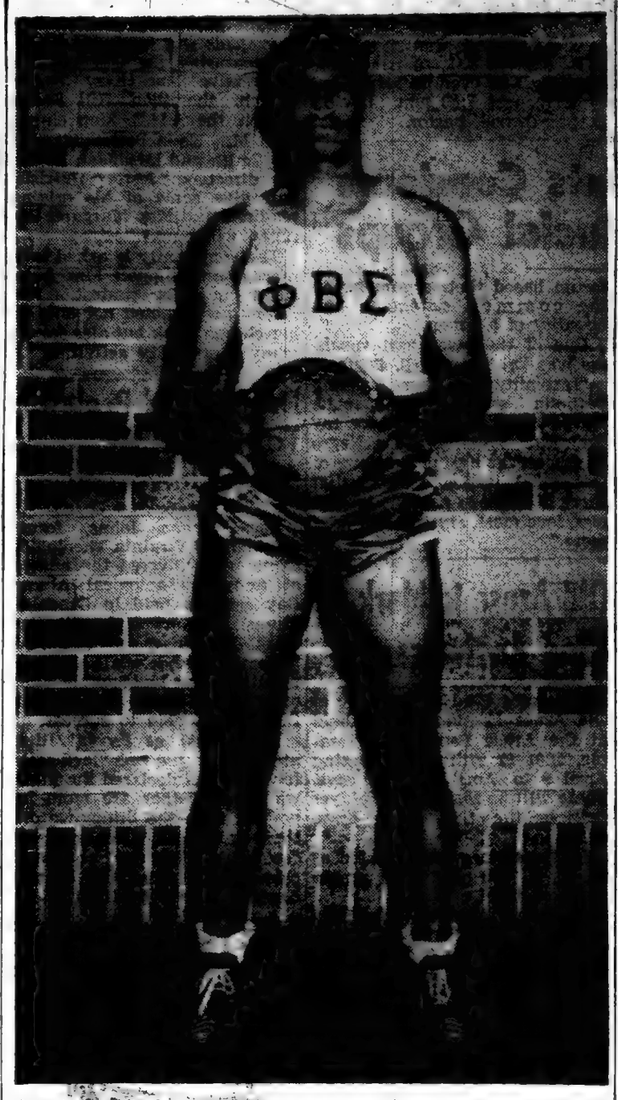
The last thalf was all Alpha. Except for some fine play by Ageless Bill Brewer and Gene Williams, the Kappas were never in it. The fast break displayed by the Alphas seemed to have the Crimson and Cream completely baffled. Emerson Chapman was big gun of the night with 5 field goals in the first half and five in the second for a total of 20 points. Barksdale was runner up with 16 points. Bill Brewer was runner up for the Kappa Kause with 10, and Gene Williams led the losers with 12 points.

DOUG SHAW STOPS ROBINSON

Setting up a defense that kept Ivan Robinson down to 9 points, only two in the first half, the Sigmas Blue and White shirted warriors pulled the upset of the year by knocking off the Omegas. It was due mainly to Doug Shaw who poured 18 points through the netting and, combined with Freddie Bluett to pull a 2 and 1 act on the Omegas fine center Robinson to hold him down.

The Sigmas, a team that starts playing when most teams are ready to throw in the towel, started slow as usual; stuttering, stumbling and rolling around; cautiously getting into gear in the middle of the game, and creeping by the Omegas in the last few minutes to clip the Purple and Gold squarely on the chin.

With Lloyd Courrtney chalking up 3 quick field goals and Ralph Kaufman contributing 2, the Omegas looked like money in the bank in the opening part of the game. But the Sigmas came fighting back with Shaw making 7 points, Kay dropping in 2 field goals and Bluett, Bland and Holt each contributing a swisher, the Omegas were leading by only one point, 18-17 at intermission time.



The last half was one of the most exciting in Series history. Doug Shaw and Freddie Bluett pumped 11 and 6 points in respectively for the Sigmas. Ivan Robinson hit 7 for the Omegas and Courtney and Kilgore sunk four each. But it was Kilgore's points that were the most sensational.

With time running out and the Omegas behind, Old Man Ernie Kilgore, a man that's been around for many series, sunk two long field goals; one that tied the game and one that put them in front. But that man Shaw came back again to put the Sigmas ahead with two pretty lay up shots.

In the final moments of play, the ref. almost gave the Omegas the game by allowing them two free throws with less than 10 seconds to go. What they were for, nobody, I don't think he even did know.

Scoring was like this:

Kappas (48)		Alphas (58)
Ashford	3	Chapman	20
Stewart	7	Moore	5
Williams	12	Barksdale	16
Shaw	2	Minor	10
Randolph	5	Oliver	5
Brewer	10	Bartlett	2
Samuels	2
Hill	1
Thomas	2
Omegas (37)		Sigmas (39)
Kaufman	7	Kay	4
Melton	3	Bluett	8
Robinson	9	Bland	5
Courtney	10	Shaw	18
Williams	0	Holt	4
Kilgore	6
Volt	2

Gallup Poll Favors Louis

PRINCETON, N. J.—If a recent poll conducted by the American Institute of Public Opinion is right, Joe Louis will successfully defend his title against Jersey Joe Wolcott June 23 at Yankee Stadium.

The Institute, commonly known as the Gallop Poll, in a statement released by its director George Gallup, said that field reporters had made an intensive survey of sport followers and sports writers.

Of the laymen interviewed on the question: "Do you think that Joe Louis can beat Jersey Joe Wolcott when they meet next summer?" 49% of them, or 49 in every hundred said that they thought Louis would win. 30% or 30 in every hundred favored Jersey Joe Wolcott. 15% of those interviewed had no opinion on who was going to win.

EDITORS FAVOR THE CHAMP

Of the 70 editors of daily newspapers questioned, 64 favored the champion while 5 thought that Wolcott would come out on top and one had no opinion.

The Gallup Poll (American Institute of Public Opinion) is considered to be the foremost authority on public thought and opinion.

Knowles, Smalley Star For Spartan Thinclads

SAN JOSE—Led by sprinter Don Smalley and middle distance man Thelmo Knowles, San Jose State College's fine trackmen fought off a stiff cross wind and a soggy turf here last Saturday to overpower a strong San Francisco Olympic Club squad 94 and 4/5 to 36 and 1/5.

Smalley, brilliant Negro sprinter, captured the century in 9.9 and came back to win the 220 in 21.8. Knowles, who is slowly rounding into Olympic team shape, was an easy victor in a 1.56.2 half mile and also anchored the Staters winning mile relay quartette.

No European Heavies—Louis

PARIS—"There are no good heavyweights in Europe," said Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis, vacationing here this week following a personal appearance tour of European cities.

"They just don't seem to have the training, science, and punch of American fighter the champ said. "Right now, I can't name one fighter over here that deserves a crack at the title."

Brooks, Smith, Young Star In Democrat, Bulldog Opener

Jefferson's defending city prep cinder champions and their perennial rivals from Jordan High School, definitely established themselves as number one and two bets for the 1948 city spike crown Friday afternoon when the Democrats turned back a hopelessly outclassed Los Angeles High School squad, 78⅔ to 25⅓, while the Bulldogs rolled over Garfield 76 to 25, in duel meets that officially opened the prep oval wars.

Highlighted by clean sweeps in the 100, 220, 880, high jump and broadjump, the green and gold winged Demos, ran the poor Romans into the preverbrial track. L. A. could only garner four first places in the lopsided meet.

Excellent times were turned in by Oliver Gordon, Jeff sprinter refugee from the grid team, who captured the 100 in 10.1 and came back to win the furlong in 22.8, both on the wet Roman oval. Long striding Mossie Brooks, who looks to be a definite bet for the city crown, captured the half mile in 2:07.5. High jumper-broadjumper Ed Young, won the broadjump with a leap of 22 ft., 3½ inches, and the big Democrat 8 man mile relay team was clocked in the excellent time of 3:04.4.

Jordan Rolls

While the Jeffites were mauling the Romans, the Jordon Bulldogs humbled the Garfield cinder team with comparative ease. Ed Crawford hit the tape in the 100 inches ahead of teammate Fred Thompson and Childs in the good time of 9.9. Crawford also came home in the 220 chassed by Childs in a sizzling time of 21.8. Leaping Bob Smith also of the Bulldogs, soared to a 23 ft. 1 inch leap in the broadjump for the best jump recorded in the city so far. James Jackson tied the school mark for the 120 yard high hurdles when he was clocked in 15 flat. He also won the 180 lows in 20.1.

However, it was Jordon fantastic Fred Thompson, running his fourth year of high school competition that turned in the best mark of the day when he was clocked in a 51.4 quarter mile.

In a Northern League tilt, Polytechnic's thinclads had to come from far behind in the relay to win a 53 and ⅘ 50 and ⅛ victory over the Belmont Hilltopers. Broadjumper Millard Jhonson's victory in the broadjump, after the relay had been concluded, cinched the meet for the Mechanics.

Heavy Footed Artists To Perform at Carroll

Mel Leighton, the Negro mechanical genius whose No. 2 Riley Special won the main event recently at Carrell Speedway, sends the red-and-white speedwagon after top honors again Sunday at the paved half-mile Garnena oval. Fred Luce, Pomona youth, will be at the helm again.

Anly car owned by a Negro in the West[illegible] Racing Association, Leigh[illegible] is a consistent winn[illegible]nks among the top ten [illegible]nt standings. Sunday's p[illegible]n includes seven events, [illegible]ed by a 30-lap feature. Time trials open at 1 p.m. followed by races at 2:30 p.m.

LeRoy Nooks, classy Negro hot-rod chauffeur, won the heat event for fastest qualifying roadsters last Suunday at Carrell Speedway, dusting off a fast field in 2:18.65. Roy Prosser was second and Don Freeland third. Nooks went unplaced in the main, however. Nearly 6000 fans took in the first 1948 hot-rod show. Soon, big cars and hot-rods will share weekly billing at the Gardena oval.

CYO TOURNEY LURES EX-JEFFERSONIANS

Leading Los Angeles area amateur boxers are set to meet stout competition in the second annual CYO Boxing Tournament at the Hollywood Legion Stadium April 7, 8 and 10.

Such ring giants as Lee Hughey, Golden Gloves heavyweight champion of 1940, have signed up to meet the best the Southland has to offer.

Hughey, a graduate of Pasadena Junior College, took up boxing for recreation and now hopes to make a career of it. His boxing ambitions were interrupted by military service, but his chief desire is to fight one day in Madison Square Garden. A heavy hitter, he will weigh in at 189 and has won the mapority of bouts he has entered.

George L. Henry, now studying to become a sportswriter at City College and a graduate of Jefferson High, has entered the CYO welterweight open division after winning 32 of 36 fights he has had. Henry, who hails from Texas, was a letterman for three years in football and track at high school.

Albert Lee Smith, coached by George Tolson, who has given the ring such gool boys as John Thomas, Bobby Yeager and Henry Roberts, also is after the welterweight open crown. He has won two thirds of the 30 bouts has has fought and shows great promise.

In the middleweight class, Sanford Bryant, also of Texas, and a Jefferson High graduate, hopes to take the novice crown. He is coached by Joe Rhodes and seeks pugilistic fame.

Another good boy and a Catholic, coached by Manuel Dros, is Jerry Glover, an ex-Merchant Marine seaman, who decided he wanted to become a boxer after seeing John Thomas fight Jackie Wilson. Glover, who participated in football at Polytechnic School, stands six feet two, weighs 185 lbs. and is a heavyweight novice contender.

DeCaturs Receives $4000 From Hollywood Legion

The family of the late Leroy DeCatuer, the ex-Jefferson High School athlete who was killed in his first professional fight at the Hollywood Legion Stadium last February 27, is $4000 richer thanks to the management of the stadium in which the young boxer lost his life.

The $4000 is the result of a benefit boxing card held by the Legion officials last Friday night for the aid of the wife and young daughter of the dead youth.

All proceeds of the evening, save the purses of the boxers competing, is to be turned over to the DeCanteur family. About 5000 fans were in attendance. The crowd was small due to the rain Friday.

Rudy Devaila 150½, decisioned Frankie Augustine in the rough tough feature of the evening. Richard Jones, 145½ Negro clouter from the Eastside, decisioned Don Lemos 145 in the semi-wind up. Minnesota Glen Flannigan, 125,, scored a third round knockout over Billy Herra, 125. 167 pound Jerry Brown won a unamimous decision over 167½ Gil Mojica.. Wafren (Jelly) McElvoy won a decision from Freddie Garcia.

Detroit Lions Offer Groomes Pro NFL Contract

DETROIT—Mel Groomes, stellar halfback on the University of Indiania Football Team, has been offered a Detroit Lion pro football contract, it was announced this week by Alvin "Bo" McMillin, former Hoosier coach recently signed with the Lions of the National Football League.

EMERSON CHAPMAN "CLUTCH" PLAYER; FIRST ROUND ALL STAR TEAM FANS ASKED TO SELECT ALL STAR TEAM AND PLAYERS . . . ODDS AND ENDS

If there ever was a man that could be called a real "clutch" player, it's Emerson Chapman, sleepy looking forward on the Alphas team. . . . Big Emerson seems to enjoy playing most when the chips are down and everything is wild. . . . His play Saturday night against the Kappas was nothing less than brilliant. . . . Chappie hit the hoop for 20 points and did some fine guarding that looked as though he was covering the Kappas like the proverbial Omar the Tentmaker. . . . Those of you who saw last year's second Alpha-Omega contest know Emerson plays best when the odds are low. . . . Chappie filled in for the absent Don Barksdale at center and racked up 23 points that enabled the Black and Gold to win by 1 scant point. . . . The tired looking Berkeley boy is no rank amateur to basketball. . . . He played at Berkeley High School and Marin JC before heading to L. A. . . . He would have been a member of Wilbur Johns UCLA basketball team last year if Dave Minor and Don Barksdale hadn't been there. . . . The Bruin administration just couldn't see 3 Negroes an the starting five so Chapman was sent down to the JV's. . . . This year, 'Em was ruled ineligible so he joined the 20th Century Fox team that came near winning the AAU Denver Tournament. . . . So you see Chapman knows what a basketball looks like. . . .

We know it's very impolite to say "I told you so," but we just can't help it. . . . Last week we said that the Sigmas would knock somebody for a loop . . . we sincerely didn't dream though that it would be the Omegas. . . . After week before last's game, the Omegas loaked as hot as the corner of 42 and Central in July. But the Sigmas, a team that never stops trying, apparently didn't read the Omegas' press notices and brought the Purple and Gold to their knees. . . . Again we're saying that no team should take the Sigmas lightly. . . . From where we sit now, it looks as though the Alphas have the stuff to take the Series, but, and this is the catch, if they become "over confident" like they became at the beginning of last year's series, they'll get the stuffings beat out of them. . . . The Sigmas are just the team to spoil the Alphas' dream of championship laurels. . . . Coach Jones better instill his boys with a few words to stop any feeling of having the Series in the bag. . . .

When the talk starts to go around about the man in the Frat Series with the most "guts and fight," we're going to put our two cents in for Doug Shaw of the Sigmas. . . . Big Doug's play for the last two games has been inspirational to every man on the Sigmas squad. . . . When most players would have given up hope, Shaw played harder. . . . When his team was farthest behind, he played his best games, and when the pressure was on and every shot and pass counted, it was Shaw who came through with the winning goods. . . . Yes, my vote for the most inspirational and "gutty" player in the series so far, goes to Douglas Shaw of the Sigmas. . . .

Bill Brewer, a man that was playing basketball in the Inter-Frat Series when most of the present players were learning their ABC's, stood like a modern day Defender of the Plains of Greece Saturday night and kept the Kappas from being completely routed by the Alphas. . . . He played fine basketball and showed more fire and fight than most of the younger players. . . . We think the Kappas lost the game against the Alphas when they shifted from a tight zone to a man to man defense. . . . We think that the Crimson and White coach called a wrong shift for it was evident from the start that the Kappas couldn't keep up with the Alphas' speed. . . . Most coaches agree that the best way to stop a fast breaking offense is to set up a tight zone forcing the center out from under the basketball. . . . Of course, the center is the key man in the fast break system and the key to the whole system is to keep him way out, especially if he's as tall as Don Barksdale. . . . I still don't understand why the Kappas changed when the zone seemed to be working fairly well in the opening moments. . . . We also can't see why such a fast man as Glover Samuels wasn't inserted into the game to try and cope with the Alpha speed. . . . The only way we think the Alphas will be stopped will be by a team that will either run them to death and tire them out, or a team that will force them out away from the basket and then out shot them. . . . The Sigmas are a fast moving team?

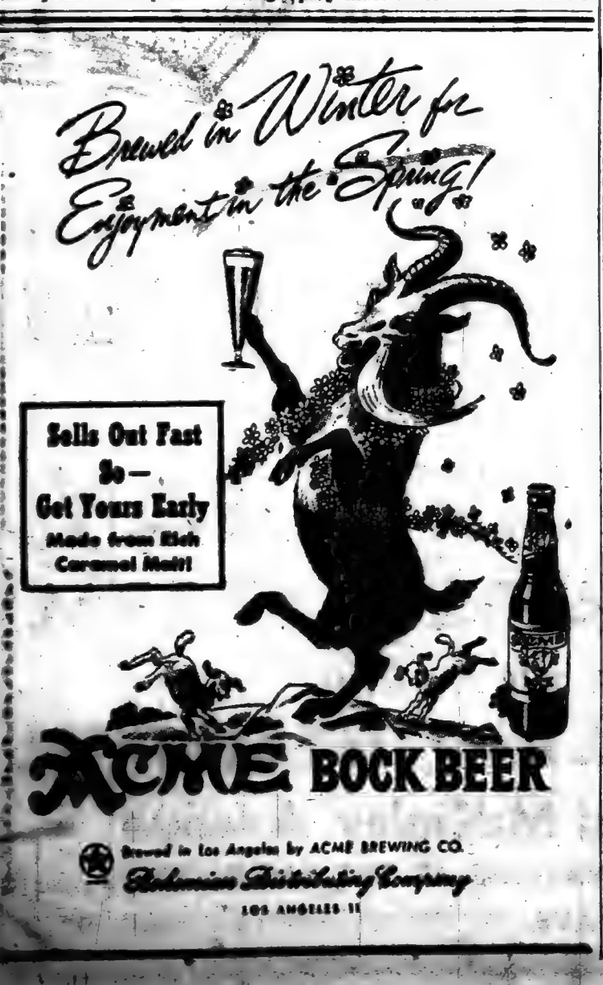
Just as a warning to some of the cagers: The next time we see some of the dirty playing that came about Saturday night we're going to start mentioning some names . . . in bold type too. . . . The Frat Series is no place for rock and sock tactics. . . . Also to so called announcer Hailly Harding. The official song of an organization, club, school, or fraternal group is not called "a theme song." . . . Being a member of a fine Fraternity you should know that, or were you just trying to be funny? For your information, it is a Hymn. If you were, it was pretty bad humor. . . .

If we had to choose an all star team right now, on the basis of how the players have played in the series, not on their past performances, we'd nominate Emerson Chapman of the Alphas and Douglas Shaw of the Sigmas at forwards, Ivan Robinson of the Omegas at center and Dave Minor of the Alphas and Gene Williams of the Kappas at guards. . . . Since we realize that it's awful tough to pick an all star team that will please everybody, we're asking you the readers to select a team and the player you think is the outstanding player of the series. . . . You can have five men from the same frat on one team or five from four different ones, doesn't make any difference, send them in to me in care of the California Eagle and please sign them. . . . At the end of the series we're going to name the team and players that have been selected by the people that should know; you the fans. . . .

ODDS AND ENDS

Clayton Moore, the Alpha guard who played the greatest game of his entire life the other night, is out for the UCLA Golf team. . . . In a recent meet with Oxy and Pomona, Moore won his match. . . . He's considered promising enough to be given players privilege at the nearby exclusive Fox Hills course. . . . From the Ticker tape we learn that the Inter-Frat games are the big attraction in Berkeley right about now too. . . . The games last Sunday in Berkeley went the same way they did down here; Alphas topped the Kappas and the Sigmas won out over the Omegas. . . . Two local men, Howard Grant formerly of Jefferson Hi and UCLA and Tom Tryon an ex-Polyite are stars of the Alpha team. . . . Jackie Robinson's new book,

Waves Defeat San Diego



SAN DIEGO—Paced by the double victories of sprinter Dave Gammie in the century and furlong, Pepperdine college of Los Angeles Flying Waves upset a favored San Diego track team, 71⅓ to 58⅓, here Saturday afternoon.

Aided by a slight wind, Gammie blazed the 100 in 9.7 and came back to win the 220 in 21.2. In both events, Gammie upset the favored Willie Steele of San Diego.

Local lads who aided the Peps cause were: Tommy Keyser, ex-Manual Arts hurdler who captured the 120 highs in 15.3 and garnered a third in the 220 low sticks, Lavert Patterson, former Jefferson ace who was beaten by inches in a 1.56.2 half mile, Melvin Embree, formerly of Los Angeles City College and Polytechnic high school who tied with teammates Tommy Keyser and Leroy Milton to register a clean sweep in the high jump, Milton also placed second in the broad jump that was won by San Diego's Steele, and Cyrus Taylor, former Dorsey High and LACC sprinter, who assisted with Bob Valero, George Edelson, and Sam Travis to bring the Wave mile relay team home in front.

Gertrude Gipson's CANDID COMMENTS

WEEKLY ROUND-UP OF THE NEWS:

Johnny McCrimmon, popular man-about-town, is in jail on what is commonly known as a "bum beef." He happened to be sitting in a car which the F. B. Eyes happened to be watching at the time. An innocent bystander, as the saying goes . . . Leon Rene (Exclusive Record Prez) at the Downbeat club applauding the rhythms of the Johnny Otis crew. What Johnny's music does to your ear is simply wonderful! . . . Fellow on the avenue named George Oh-What's-His-Last-Name? Looks enough like B. Eckstine to be a twin. That's in case you go around looking for people who look enough like B. Eckstein to be a twin . . . Overheard'n The Last Word: "She looks like a million every day of it!" . . . Ooops, Beg Pod'n! It isn't a debbie named Carmen Terry H. (as in Hezikiah) is heart over heels in love with. It's a Santa Monica Socialovely. He's got it baaad—and that ain't good! . . . Call UL. 8900 and listen. You'll get the correct time any hour of the A or Pee Yem . . . Columnist Joe Harris has a book due out any day . . . Vandals broke a window in a liquor store the other sundown. A nightwatch-man now guards the stock with a shotgun and this sign: "Anyone found around these premises tonight will be found around these premises tomorrow!" . . . Peter Potter's Platter Parade plays popular pieces. Our favorite KFWBroadcast . . . Everybody's humming, whistling or singing, "I Like To Be-Bop, She Likes To Be-Bop Too!" Catchy tune, if you like catchy tunes.

THE WHIRL I LIVE IN:

Is a certain lad of the social set passing like a commodity from one deb to another — on the Westside? . . . The Ink Spots open at a swank Las Vegas club on May seven. Have any of yez heard their Decca disc, "I Woke Up With A Tear Drop In My Eye?" Ear-pleasing! . . . You won't find his name in the telephone directory, but you'll find Joe Bailey's moniker in Ruth Bolden's address book. Right at the top! He's not to be confused with the musician of the same name, but she could easily pass for Dandridge's twin. . . . Nice fellow to know (since most of us like nice fellows) is Henry Calvin, Congo club doorman . . . Halley Harding has a nifty Journalistic idea planned, if I'm permitted to stool-pigeon it here. It's a complete tabloid coverage of Theatrical-Sports. No other kind of news. Should coin a mint! . . . At the Olympic the other Tuesday, Black Dot McGee asked JT, "Who're you betting on in the Main Event?" . . . Having picked wrong on each preceeding bout via what he called the "bad decision" route, JT snapped: "The referee!" . . . This you won't believe, I know, but s'help me it happened: Gal got tired of telling her boy-friend she "don't wanna kiss that way," so the next time he tried it she nearly bit his tongue off! He was patched up at one of the hospitals, but won't be able to talk for a week! . . . Eleanor Williams (she's Vivian, Dorothy, Geraldine, Al and Danny's niece) is a chip off the family block. Thas that Webster smile, and personality! . . . "Say Doctor," a patient out at Olive View said to the Medico, "I don't rest nights. What's good for Insomnia? . . .". "Get more sleep," was the silly . . . The rumor that Inez Vincent is dead is just that. Inez wishes everyone to know she's very much alive! . . . June Wilhite and Arnold Watson have resumed where they left off many moons ago. She's our answer to Esther Williams. A natural Mermaid! . . .

FROM HARLEM TO HOLLYWOOD:

Music Corp. of America (could-a saved space b-yjust putting MCA) is planning a Lena Horne build-up for one of its stars. It wouldn't, by any chance be Mary Louise Thomas? Her singing is like a beautiful dream . . . The Les Dames "Night On The Bowery" affair Saturday last at LaVada ballroom was more fun than a night at the Circus! . . . Nellie Lutcher will return to NY's Cafe Society next fall with a 400% increase in take-home pay . . . Edith Wilson (a favorite entertainer over at this desk) is planning a Windy City tripe re: A job doing those swell vocals via television . . . Geo. Orendorf's trumpeting with the Ceelle Burke band is Big Time stuff . . . Those Gene Norman "Just Jazz" concerts are moving along at such a brisk pace that they're on the verge of being our favorite evenings entertainment. And if you want to har Jazz played as Jazz should be played, attend a J J session! . . .

ASIDE TO A WELL-KNOWN NEGRO ACTOR:

I hope you will give a little deeper thought to the matter before you go all out in support of a "Boys Town for colored youth," and then give your money to Father Flanagan for the support of Boys Town, period . . . Vocalist Chas. Brown stopping traffic temporarily in the jive sector of 42nd and Central Ave. to hello a few friends . . . Martin Gower (you know him as "Fuzzy") and Dorothy Howard (A N'Orleans debutante) were married a coupla Sundays ago. . . . Buddy Banks opens at Frisco's New Orleans club the 16th. He's currently at the Cricket. And wotta band! . . . The May Ebony photo-story on Dr. Charles W. Hill is a sweligent profile on Hollywood's most eligible Negro bachelor. His income is in the stratispheric brackets! . . . The Modernettes Cocktail soiree (April 25) is from 6-10, and will be held at 1919 So. Harvard. Lorenzo Flennoy and other "guest" stars will keep things moving along at a merry musical pace. Count me in . . . Nice pic, wasn't it, of Izzy Rowe, on the front page of the Hearld-Express the other edition with Joe Louis and Carole Faulkner? Carole's hubby names the champ in his divorce suit . . . And with that I leave you with this: "The only thing it isn't hard to get these days is confused!"

THE CLOWING FINALE brings smiles to the Nicholas Brothers and Gene Kelly starring in MGM's technicolor production of "The Pirate."

MGM Makes Forward Step In Starring Nicholas Bros. With Versatile Gene Kelly

NEW YORK (CNS) —The press preview this week of "The Pirate," a former Alfred Lunt-Lynne Fontainne successful vehicle, surpassed all expectations in proving that Metro Goldwyn Mayer still leads in the film industry for liberal-making pictures, for their dramatic idea of coupling the world-famous Nicholas Brothers with actor Gene Kelly not only produced good entertainment but good taste.

The story, filmed in glowing color, takes the setting of a mystical Carribean Island where Manuela (Judy Garland) is being married off to wealthy Don Pedro Vargas, the Mayor of their village, for financial reasons. The cargo ship brings the egotistical, adventurous Scrafin (Gene Kelley) to the Island with his troupe of clowns, actors and jugglers, among them the dancing Nicholas boys.

The musical direction, under Lennie Hayton and the production by Arthur Freed, both who have done much for the success of Lena Horne, rates the true MGM 4-star banner.

The most whimsical scene, however, was saved till the last twenty miles of the film when Kelly, Harold & Fayard Nicholas, dressed identically in satin clown costumes and pom pom hats, began falling over the stage, leaping high in the air, sliding sideways—all in perfect precision. You would've thought there were either three Nicholas Brothers—or three Gene Kellys!

Lady Day Makes Carnegie Engagement In Regal Style

NEW YORK CITY (CNS)—Billie Holiday Returns. In a blaze of glory the one and only Lady Day took her rightful place among the immortals of our time at Carnegie Hall on Easter Eve. She well satisfied a warmly appreciative audience that the name Billie Holliday connot go down. Looking subdued and regal, Billie moaned nearly 20 songs, many old time favorites, including the musician's number, "Lover Man." The gilt-edge box list read like Who's Who . . . Her manager and best friend, Joe Glaser, to whom she has been paroled, was racing around backstage checking all details and boasting in his big, heavy voice that Billie was still "the greatest."

Billie herself, who's being kept away from old influences and bad acquaintances, is well on her way to a new life in her freedom. Her career will be carefully guided as if she were just launching it . . . together with a prizefighter's diet of steaks and milk . . . and a baby's schedule of plenty of sunshine . . . With these A-1 prescriptions, Billie should emerge not only a better Billie Holliday, but a healthier singer than any on our top list.

Meanwhile, Billie is pretty happy about the way her life is turning out and as she walked off Carnegie Hall's concert stage, we think we saw a little tear under that mascara — which would indeed be something new in the life of Billie Holliday.

Rumor In Gotham

The Marva Louis Cosmetics and the Joe Louis Toiletries have combined into Joe & Marva Louis, Inc., out in Chicago . . . Reports sadly say their European tour is being unsuccessful as far as $$ is concerned . . . And we meant to state that though the press raved that Jackie Robinson was doing so well down on the Islands in training, Leo Durocher made a statement that Jackie was then "fat and lazy" and he didn't know quite what to do with him!

AVC To Show Movie At YMCA Tonight

American Veteran Committee will present a short movie and talk, "Home For The Brave," at 8 o'clock tonight (Thursday) in the 28th Street Y.M.C.A.

Home for the Brave is a movie showing the housing conditions in California, and how it effects the veteran and citizen of this area.

The movie will be free, following a short question period and discussion. Refreshments will be served.

Cabrillo Beach To Be Enlarged

Widening and extension of Cabrillo Beach, San Pedro, one of Los Angeles city's most popular seashore playgrounds, was scheduled to begin this week, according to word received by the City Recreation and Park Department.

Government dredging operations at oLs Angeles harbor were due to start, and approximately 2,400,000 cubic yards of sand were to be scooped up from the harbor bottom and piped to Cabrillo Beach

SPIDER AND THE FLY

By Freddie McCray

Said the booted Spider to the unhipped Fly
Trilly on with me to my pad of many nods, and stash
Thy righteous frame on my fine squatter
And I will spell many thing to you tonight.

Nay, nay, nix on that spite here I'm stashed
And I don't have to cop a plea to the head knock
And as long as I'm stationary here I'm great
If I fall on you it'll be my finale play.

Listen lame, the diggest me in an unrighteous manner
I'm the cat that can put you hipped to all action
You have picked up on propapandous rumors
So Poppa Stoppa wake up and come into the light.

Again on th. backbeat I must riff in my square manner
I dig thru the sweets of your spell that's great
It sound fine like a tree, all root, but Here's my playground so I'll pick up you another day.

'American Storybook' Program To Be Aired on Station KLAC

A new series of radio stories for youth telling adventurous incidents in the lives of noteworthy Americans will begin Saturday, April 10, on the Los Angeles City Recreation and Park Department's "American Storybook" program over radio station KLAC.

The series, endorsed by parents, teachers and recreation leaders as worthwhile listening material for boys and girls, will be heard every Saturday at 1:45 p.m. on KLAC.

Forthcoming programs include: April 10—Padre Sarria, the faithful padre of old Mission Soledad; April 17—Antonia Maria Martinez, romantic daughter of the commandante of old San Francisco; April 24—Dr. John Marsh, California's first American doctor; May 1—Thomas Larkin, one of California's first American business men; May 8—Kate Hayes, Irish singer of early California.

Ink Spots Others To Be Honored By Award Group

One of the most gala Hollywood all-star shows, headlined by many of filmdom's most famous figures, will be held next Tuesday night, April 13, at the Cricket club, Washington blvd., near Vermont.

The affair will be staged by FAN the Moviegoers Magazine sponsored by the Interracial Unity Award Committee.

Among those who will be honored will be the famous Ink Spots, Peg Leg Bates, Madeline Green, Louise Beavers, Clarence Muse, Dooley Wilson, Laura Bowman, Ernest Whitman and many others.

Dance music will be furnished by Eddie Davis and his sensational sextet from Pasadena. Davis, for years was a tenor sax man with Benny Carter, Noble Sissle and other leading orchestras.

Proceeds from the affair will go toward furthering the work of the Hollywood Race Relations Bureau, an organization which has been set up to help bring about greater understanding among minority groups in the film capitol.

The next issue of Fan Magazine, the groups official organ, will be published in June.

Talk of N.Y.C.

Bobbysoxers all but tore the dark suit off Nat King Cole as he tried to enter Abysinnian Baptist Church to get married Easter Sunday . . . Bridesmaid Elaine (Mrs. Bill) Robinson had to aid the bride-to-be Mari Ellington, to get from the car to the church steps as fans tried to snatch a pice of her icy blue wedding gown as a souvenir . . . Marie set a style in the daring off-the-shoulder dress designed by Zelda, and caused much comment among the surprised, many old-fashioned, guests . . . The flashiest wedding in show business, newsreels, scotch and celebrities were plentiful in an affair that cost the King a reported $18,000.

Mrs. Charlotte Hendricks, who was called to the bedside of her mother in Cleveland, returned home Sunday.

REAL GONE GAL—Nellie Lutcher is homesick for California. The multi-talented singer and pianist, who has been on tour since last September, is making plans to return to Los Angeles in May. Meanwhile, her Capitol records of "Fine Brown Frame," "He's a Real Gone Guy" and "The Song Is Ended" are racking up new sales marks from Cape Cod to San Diego. Capitol just released a Nellie Lutcher album featuring six sizzling sides, three of which La Belle Lutcher composed herself. Tip For Spring: Watch for her forthcoming "He Sends Me" and "Come and Get It, Honey" Capitol disc. Hipsters assert it will be her biggest click to date.

Caldonia Master Sets New Record In Coast Tour

After a triumphant sweep through Southern California during a three months stay, Louis Jordan, dynamic and tireless leader of his Tympany Five will take his crew into the Avodon Ballroom April 12 to play their farewell dance.

Playing theaters, and concert halls from Seattle, Washington, to San Diego, on the border of Old Mexico, that furnished the theme for one of Jordan's top numbers, "Manana," the master of "Caldonia" has set new box-office records, and sent a musical thrill coursing through his many fans on the western slope of this coluntry.

• Smashing the opinion of many that the old one-night stands were dead pigeons in California, Jordan amazed critics when he drew 4000 in Oakland, 1900 in Bakersfield, a reputable hard town, and 6000 in Seattle. Thirty-five hundred music lovers and Jordan followers jammed a San Francisco hall to dance to the "Barnyard Boogie" originator and his Jumping Seven.

Additional luster was added to the stay of Jordan and crew in California when he starred in a motion picture titled, "Look Out." In the opus, Louis stars, essaying the role of rollicking Westerner, under the supervision of Astor Pictures.

A record crowd is expected at the Avodon, the largest ballroom in downtown Los Angeles, to hear Jordan, and to pay him a reluctant farewell, and hear "An't That Just Like A Woman." and the other favorites that have placed the Jordan fellow at the top of the musical ladder.

When the lights go down in the Avodon, Jordan will hop off for Oklahoma City, Topeka, Kansas, St. Louis, Missouri and on into New York.

McNeil Robinson In Negro Folk Musicale Tonite

Afro American folk songs and traditional ballads will be sung by Earl Robinson and the Albert McNeil Choir at the Assistance League Playhouse tonight and tomorrow night at 8:15 p.m. (April 8 and 9).•

Robinson and Company will utilize Spirituals and narration to trace the history of the Negro People, "From Slavery to Freedom."

Three of Earl Robinson's original songs of democracy, "Free and Equal Blues," "Toward the Sun" and "The House I Live In," will also be featured.

SHARPS 'N FLATS

By Albert McNeil, California Eagle Music Critic

The ravages of a very annoying cold virtually incapacitated your writer this week, but thanks to my good man Friday, coverage of several musical presentations was assured.

The Stabat Mater

Included among the many fine oratorios presented during the Easter season was the presentation of Giacomo Rossini's "Stabat Mater" by the Senior Choir of the Wesley Methodist church. This oratorio, the literal translation of the title meaning "The Mother of Sorrow," was written by Catholic composer Rossini in praise to the Mother of God. It attempts to express her humility and honor at being chosen the Mother of the Saviour of Mankind.

It bespeaks the excruciating pain she suffered at the death of the Saviour. Unfortunately, the great message of the composer, which was written in the Latin text, is completely lost in the English text, which is not a direct translation of the original. However, the text used is sincere and carries only the partial effect of the entire work. The choir was under the direction of Lucille Blaychettai Huley, with James Warren and Florence Evans as accompanists. The chorus-quartet selection, "Lord Most Holy," was exemplary of the fine choral balance of this group.

Of musical significance was the tenor aria, "Lord, Vouchsafe Thy Loving Kindness," sung by a tenor, Mr. Gibson, a new singer in our community. Although not a polished singer, Gibson demonstrated a wide range and a clarity of tone, particularly in the high register. William Valentine, bass, was outstanding in the aria, "Pro Peccatis" or "Through the Darkness."

Music lovers will agree that there are few if any in our community who can sing the "Inflammatus et Accensus" or "When Thou Comest" as well as soprano Marguerite Chapman. This, as well as the duet, "Power Eternal," were handled excellently. Georgia Lassiter, of the W. D. Fisher Singers, sang the "Cavatina," a score written for contralto soloists. Charles and Evelyn Williams were also included as soloists. The entire work was excellently planned and beautifully presented.

Jeanette McDonald

This distinguished star of stage, screen and radio was presented in song recital last Tuesday evening before a packed audience in the Philharmonic Auditorium. Included in the evening's presentation were many excerpts from the popular light operas and musical comedies in which Miss McDonald has been heard and seen. From the standpoint of this listener, the soprano reached her musical zenith many years ago and is merely basking in a fame attained as a result of successes in years past.

There are still many thrilling tonal nuances which this decoded voice can emit; however, of particular significance was the excerpt from the light opera, "The Red Mill." The enthusiasm of the audience and their response to each selection was amazing.

Musicians in Art Exhibit

Included in a display of 31 paintings of outstanding members of the race, are those of singers Marian Anderson and Paul Robeson. Mayor Bowron, who brought the opening address at the formal opening in the main library, downtown, last Sunday, said: "We must look on this exhibit not only as one of works of art—which it certainly is—but also to remind ourselves of the contributions of Negroes in the fields of music, education, science and service to our country."

'Cafe Panorama' Plays at Avalon Theatre Tonite

"Cafe Panorama," first full-length play produced by the Thespians, a new inter-racial amateur drama group, will be presented this Thursday night, April 8, at the Avalon theatre, 52nd and Avalon.

An original social drama written by Frank Greenwood, the group's director, the play was first presented in 1945 by the Chicago Negro Art theatre. It is a vivid, exciting, panoramic view of life on Los Angeles's Eastside as seen through the eyes of an experienced cafe proprietress. Songs and dances in the finale lend a musical atmosphere as the play's thrilling events draw to a whirlwind climax.

Lecture on Songs Of Palestine, Tues.

On Thursday, April 13, at 8:15 p.m., Dr. Anneliese Landau will lecture on "New Songs of Palestine" at the Beverly-Fairfax Jewish Community Center, 8008 Beverly blvd.

Dr. Landau, who is music director of the Jewish Centers Association and a noted authority on music, will illustrate her lecture with many recordings of Palestine's new songs.

This lecture will be the second in a series devoted to Palestinian music. The third evening, Tuesday, April 20, will feature Doris Brenner, soprano, who will appear in a program of Palestinian folk and art songs.

After her first year at a New York dramatic school, Lucille Ball, now a top Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer star, was informed that she was wasting her time and money and was urged to "try something else!"

PORTRAIT OF A "NOTE-BOOK" ON A RAMPAGE:
"DISREGARD"

As one who by the Sphinx delays a space,
And on her shoulder finds a resting place.
Breathes an awed question into her stupored ear,
And lights a sulphur match upon her face.
. . . O. Khayyam

IT'S NO MYTH: about the stupidity of some of the SOUTHERN SENATORS aroun' the Nation's Capitol, I'll wager that they "balk" at eating the "left" wing of a "fried chicken"! . . . T'is reported via NEWSWEEK (April issue) that Gov. Folsom of Alabama, who has announced his candidacy for President, has no illusions. Actually his declaration is merely a move to grab his state's convention votes to prevent them from going to Truman. (unquote; how openly can bureaucratic bigotry be??) . . . AS FOR TRUMAN, who does he think he's kiddin he wants to be President again, LIKE I WANT A BROTHER NAMED "BILBO"! . . . add . . . anyway he's done all he could possibly do, he "solved" the MISSOURI EMPLOYMENT PROBLEM, and as a last stand "gesture" un-earthed the CIVIL RIGHTS (which hadn't "struck" him in all that time) . . . SO THEY WANT TO CALL IT TREASON if a Negro refuses to fight in a JIMCROW ARMY for the freedom of WHITE SUPREMACY, and for the freedom of Southern Senators who are intent on denying a Negro American CIVIL RIGHTS which the CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES SO indelibly prescribes, yes there's quite a complication in America's PLATFORM FOR PEACE to the rest of the world!!!

I WON'T ASK "WHY IS IT? . . . I'll just say that local 'daily papers' have it a very opportune practice to "run" pictures of Negroes whether they be out-standing or otherwise on their FRONT PAGES (only when they (Negroes) are involved in an "un-favorable," criminal or distasteful manner . . . for instance world's boxing champion JOE LOUIS received "front page" in the local EVENING HERALD - EXPRESS, yeah because he is alledgedly "involved" in a $500,000 (alienation of affection suit in connection with a Chicago minister's wife) . . . then, there's PAUL ROBESON, one of America's finest actor-singers and All-American athletes, who never rated Hearst's front pages until he had been "labeled" a Red . . . NO, NO, NO "so-called "AMERICANS," you can't walk over a "slate of peace and expect to issue it to the world until you clean the mud off your feet!

IN THE NEWS THIS WEEK: Oliver A. Cowans, Negro Policeman of Washington, D. C. was honored with the JIMMIE FIDLER "AMERICANS IN THE NEWS" award plus $500.000 cash award, after being chosen by noted radio singer ANDY RUSSELL, for his outstanding work combating juvenile delinquency, by (instead of arresting youngsters "labeled" as hoodlums) took a big-brotherly interest in them. organied them into youth clubs wherein they are taught to be good citizens, clean athletees and good Americans. All of Washington is proud of Officer Oliver A. Cowans, and certainly 15 million Negroes should be, like-wise every true American . . . Frank Sinatra has been offered the lead role in the filming of Willard Motley's great best-selling Novel "KNOCK ON ANY DOOR." but much dissention is being speared at the undertaking, certain voices are saying the "role" would lend a bad influence on Frankie's bobby-sox idolizers . . . WHAT IS "IFRG" DOING about Hollywood studios "modern" use of "black-face" in pictures where sepian talent could be utilized? . . . such as Eddie Cantors recent pic' IF YOU KNEW SUSIE isn't EDDIE "BIG" enuf to ask for what he wants, or, is he following a "pattern" ? ? ? . . . A BAG OF ONIONS: to the ERNIE POLICE Quartet, for their un-American carrying-on while doing their rendition of BYE, BYE, BLACKBIRD on their Sunday broadcast . . . add . . . one can't tell who's who' these days ! ! ! or can we ERNIE?

ABOUT PEOPLE, PLACES AND STUFF: Whisperers would have you believe that newly-weds Mable Scott and Bill Jones are "spiffing," don't believe a word of it, their hearts are beating like a BULLOVA (on standard time) . . . THERE MUST BE a "RECESS IN HEAVEN," because I met an "Angel" at Vernon & Central (the East Side's Hollywood & Vine) to'other awf-ter-noon, whose "earthly" name is Mildred Carr, she "birthday-ed" Tuesday, April 6 but she's gooing to marry the guy (the lucky fellow) who helped her to celebrate, they'll elope to Nevada, oop, that's a secret! ! ! that is it WAS . . . Atty. Curtis C. Taylor, the genial host of the Coast, is fast becoming ANGEL TOWN'S second most "eligible" bachelor right on the heels of suave Dr. C. W. Hill who maintains his 'topper' rating . . . Atty. Taylor's palatial mansion has all but become a weekly habit of being "the" place to go for those socially swank week-end "get-togethers" . . . Loyce Coycault, the diminutive Congo waitress, is really getting aroun', and "one" will get dizzy, if "one" keeps spinning ! ! ! . . . One of the town's "gayest" sophisticated belles is leading a "DOUBLE LIFE" mebbee before the "climax" she too will receive an "OSCAR" and HOW! ! . . . There's only one way to describe Christobel Morris: EYE-ARRESTINGLY charming! ! . . . Roy Glenn the ACtah, is rehearsing for some more "heavy drama via the AMOS 'N' ANDY show (radio) come Tuesday sundown, catch em' . . . Thunderous applause greeted the incomparable INK SPOTS when they guesstarred on the JACK BENNY show last Sunday . . . pleasingly plump, Mata Russell "mellowed Nature's way" is back in town from Chicago after many years "leave," plays "mucho" moosic too, you will soon be hearing her at one of Swing streets play spots . . . J. T. Gipson, one of my fave' partners-in-crime, has some "fine" irons in the fire and they seem "gold-filled," couldn't happen to a better guy . . . The LAST WORD management. Factor & Miller, are "itching" for something and we're not going to dissappoint them either, now that they've made the East siders money, they've forgotten how to treat citizens who enter their place . . . they evidently don't pay their entertainers regularly, because I've been listning to some sad stories from a "singing" employee and it wasn't a happy note . . . by FAR ! ! ! But, we shall see what we shall see ! ! ! . . . Bill Day, the "romantic" baritone whose enjoyed a share of success on the coast and in the east, is now the personable and capable manager of JACK'S BASKET ROOM at 33rd & Central. where every body "jumps for joy" and the sensational swing of King Perry keeps you feeling kinda fine . . . well all this and that fine bird in the basket, is yours for a nite, and nite and Bill Day will be right on hand to meet and greet you and yours . . . so there goes those "smoke rings I blow with my note book on a cloud, rolling, rolling into a neat.

UN; End of Jimcro in America

The United Negro and Allied Veterans of America this week voiced strenuous protest against President Harry Truman's recent speech before the joint session of Congress. In a letter to President Truman, UNAVA declared:

We Negro veterans of the War for Freedom, "with freedom yet to win," listened to your "War Mobilization" speech before the joint session of Congress. It left us cold.

During our hitch of service in the army we learned from our orientation booklets and numerous lectures that the Soviet people were willing to suffer untold hardship and the loss of millions of lives to defend their government, their homeland and their way of life.

We were told that our government believed this was sufficient evidence why we should respect and honor them as our fighting allies, whether we agreed with their philosophy or not.

Now you have told the Nation in an hysterical speech that the Aggressor today is that same Soviet Union, the same nation that is helping us lay the foundation stones for building the United Nations as a working monument to peace.

But the payoff, Mr. President, is that prior to your speech you made it clear as our Commander in Chief of the Country's armed services, that our government's policy is, and remains Jim Crow for the Negro people in Universal Military Training, Selective Service or any other form of military preparation.

As we listened to the speech we recalled that Isaac Woodward lost two good eyes at the hands of a South Carolina White Supremacy policeman, fighting Jim Crow. We recalled that Veteran Mieco Snipes was murdered in Taylor County, Georgia, when he struck a blow at the Poll Tax by attempting to vote. We thought of Veterans George Dorsey, Roger Malcolm and their wives, of Monroe, Georgia, who were lynched by a mob because they had struck a blow at plantation slavery by paying off their sharecropper farm debt. For these and other high crimes against our people, Mr. President, U. S. Attorney General Tom Clark has brought nobody to justice. This is the real danger to our nation's security.

Thus, it becomes clear that the real aim of our government's frantic drive toward war is to hide our impotence in the face of a raging campaign of terror now going on in this country with its main force directed at Labor and the Negro people.

No, Mr. President, you cannot give lip service to the fight for civil liberty, freedom and peace in our country while giving leadership to Big Business and the Brass Hats who would militarize America in the name of national security.

America's shame cannot be hidden with the false cry, "To Arms, the Communists are coming!"

That is why the United Negro and Allied Veterans of America rejects your call to arms and urges you to give active leadership to the job of strengthening the United Nations and to the fight for democracy at home. We urge this upon you in order that our government may prove worthy as a moral leader in the fight for world peace.

Respectfully yours,
George B. Murphy Jr.
National Commander

Grateful N. Y. Pays Tribute To Dr. Reddick

NEW YORK—The citizens of Harlem and New York City, at large, expressed their appreciation for the public services of Dr. L. D. Reddick in appropriate ceremonies last Tuesday at the Schomburg Collection of Negro literature of the New York Public Library. Dr. Reddick has been Curator of the Schomburg Collection for the past 9 years. He becomes Chief of the Atlanta University Library April 1.

Mrs. Gertrude Ayer, only Negro woman Principal in the New York Public School system, told the story of "what Dr. Reddick has meant to Harlem"—emphasizing the growth of the now world-famous Schomburg Collection. Dr. Algernon D. Black recounted Dr. Reddick's contributions to New York City—especially to such projects as the Citywide Citizenship Committee on Harlem and the Encampment for Citizenship.

In a letter, Mr. Byrne J. Hovde regretted the loss of Dr. Reddick as a teacher at the New School for Social Research. Mrs. Ruth Brall, sculptress, unveiled a "head" of Dr. Reddick which she had done.

Nash Singers Plan Social Gathering

The Luvenia Nash Singers are planning their second annual Musical Tea with the hope that the public will adorn the "New Look" and be present April 18, 3 to 7 p.m. at 506 E. 25th street.

A 1948 R.C.A. Victor combination radio will be given away to the lucky ticket holder.

Red Cross Work

More than a score of Negro women are serving as campaign leaders in the current Los Angeles Red Cross quest for $2,409,000 to support the organization's program in the community, across the nation and overseas.

With her workers still in the field, Miss Evangeline E. Woodfalk has turned in an enviable record. Serving as a "colonel" of division 33 in the University area, Miss Woolfalk reported this week that her group had more than doubled their quota. In addition to her Red Cross duties, she is executive secretary of the Sojourner Truth Home, 1119 E. Adams, where she resides.

Not only did Miss Woodfalk head the divisional team, but also served as a "major" and only worker of battalion "B." Fulfilling all door-to-door assignments herself, this volunteer reached the 500 per cent marker setting a rapid pace for other workers to follow.

9,013 Workers Get Disability Insurance

During March, state disability insurance benefits of $374,009 wer epaid to 9013 workers who were temporarily unemployed as a result of non-industrial sickness or injury in Los Angeles, and in addition $190,396 to 4592 workers in the county outside the city, it was announced this week by William R. Dougherty, manager of the Los Angeles disability insurance office of the California Department of Employment.

During the month 3124 workers filed new disability insurance claims in the city and in addition 1976 claims were received from the county districts.

Mrs. Marzella Johnson of Pasadena, entertained at luncheon Monday in hnoor of Mrs. Lena Handis of Bakersfield.

of Henry A. Wallace, candidate for the Presidency of the United States, was contained in a letter sent this week by Dr. Francis E. Townsend, founder and president of the Townsend Plan, to Wallace's running mate, Senator Glen Taylor, following Taylor's address to an audience of 12,000 at the Gilmore Stadium in L.A.

The letter accompanied a large 14-ounce ear of corn containing 800 kernels which Dr. Townsend said "is a symbol of the greatest material gift ever made to a country by any citizen." The ear which was plucked by Dr. Townsend in an Illinois cornfield two years ago "is a fair sample," he said, "of Henry Wallace's hybrid corn which has enriched the farmers of our country to the tune of billions of dollars."

NEW YORK—A mass picket demonstration urging a prompt prosecution of the anti-trust case against the Mortgage Conference of Greater New York was held here last week, headed by Canada Lee, stage and screen star who has been actively combatting racial discrimination in housing.

Marching with signs reading: "Why Hasn't the Case of the Jim-cro Housing Trust Come to Trial"; and "Are the Big Banks and Insurance Companies More Powerful than the U. S. Courts," the pickets drew attention to the fact that more than 30 months have elapsed since the filing of a federal complaint against the mortgage Conference and its 37 member banks and insurance companies.

The complaint includes charges of maintaining racial maps of the city, refraining from making mortgage loans in Negro blocks and inducing real estate owners to bar Negroes from white sections.

Romie L. Patterson Gets New Assignment

Technician Fifth Drade Romie L. Patterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Patterson of 912 East 20th St., Los Angeles, who had been serving with the U. S. Army in the Philippines, was recently assigned with the 574th Transportation Truck Company at Headquarters, Ryukyus Command on Okinawa.

Entering the Army in 1943, Cpl. Patterson has been on overseas service since September, 1945.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Education of the City of Los Angeles will receive bids for furnishing all labor and material for the following described work:

FURNISHING AND INSTALLATION OF AN AUTOMATIC FIRE SPRINKLING SYSTEM IN THE MAIN FRAME BUILDING AT THE HOOPER AVENUE SCHOOL.

Date of bid opening, April 22, 1948.

Each bid shall be in accordance with drawings, specifications and other contract documents now on file in the Building Branch of the Business Division of said Board, 1425 South San Pedro Street, Los Angeles. Prospective bidders may secure copies of said drawings and specifications at the office of said Building Branch.

Pursuant to the Labor Code of the State of California, the Board of Education has ascertained the general prevailing rate of per diem wages for each craft or type of workman needed to execute the contracts which will be awarded the successful bidders; and these prevailing rates are contained in said specifications adopted by the Board, and are as follows:

CLASSIFICATION

Foremen—All foremen not herein separately classified, shall be paid not less than 17½ cents per hour more than the hourly rate of the highest classification over which he has supervision as to the SIX BASIC TRADES; and not less than 12½ cents per hour as to the SUB-TRADES, more than the journeymen rate for the craft involved.

Apprentices—May be employed in conformity with Section 1777.5 of the California Labor Code.

Riggers—Same wage scale as craft to which rigging is incidental.

Welders—Same wage scale as craft to which welding is incidental.

Classification:	Hourly Wage Rate
LABORERS:
Laborers, General or Construction	$1.35
PLUMBERS and FITTERS:
Sprinkler Fitter	2.25
Sprinkler Fitter Helper	1.45

The rates of per diem wages for each of the various classifications of work shall be the hereinbefore set forth prevailing rates of hourly wages multiplied by eight (8). Eight (8) hours shall constitute a day's work; it being understood that in the event that workmen are employed less than eight (8) hours per day, the per diem wages shall be deemed to be that fraction of the per diem wages herein established that the number of hours of employment bears to eight (8) hours.

WORKING RULES

1. Where a single shift is worked, eight (8) consecutive hours between 7 A.M. and 5 P.M. shall constitute a day's work at straight time for all workers.

2. Forty (40) hours between Monday 7 A.M. and Friday 5 P.M. shall constitute a week's work at straight time.

3. All work performed in excess of eight (8) hours per day or forty (40) hours per week or on Holidays and Sundays shall be paid for at the rate for overtime of the craft involved.

4. Holidays as herein referred to shall be deemed to be New Year's Day, Decoration Day, Independence Day, Labor Day, Armistice Day, Thanksgiving Day and Christmas. If any of the above holidays fall on Sunday, the Monday following shall be considered a legal holiday.

It shall be mandatory upon the contractor to whom a contract is awarded, and upon all subcontractors under him to pay not less than said general prevailing rates of per diem wages to all workmen employed in the execution of the contract.

Notice is also hereby given that all bidders may submit with their bids, a sworn statement of their financial responsibility, technical ability and experience. Such sworn statement may be required to be furnished before award is made to any particular bidder.

Each bid shall be made out on forms to be obtained at said Building Branch of the Board of Education; must be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check or bidder's bond (issued by a surety company accredited by the Board of Education) for not less than Five Per Cent (5%) of the amount of the bid, made payable to the order of the Board of Education of the City of Los Angeles; shall be sealed and filed with the Purchasing Agent of the Board of Education, Room 200, 1425 South San Pedro Street, on or before 2:00 P.M. on the dates shown above and will be opened and read aloud in public at, or about, said time and in the public hall, second floor, of the above address.

The above-mentioned check or bidder's bond shall be given as a guarantee that the bidder will enter into contract if awarded the work, or any part thereof, and will be declared forfeited if the successful bidder refuses to enter into contract after being requested to do so by the Board of Education.

The successful bidders will be required to furnish labor and material bonds in an amount equal to 75% of the contract price, and faithful performance bonds in an amount equal to 100% of the contract price, said bonds to be secured by a surety company or surety companies satisfactory to the Board of Education.

The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids, and/or waive any informality on a bid. No bidder may withdraw his bid for a period of sixty (60) days after the date set for the opening thereof.

By order of the Board of Education of the City of Los Angeles.

Dated: Los Angeles, California, March 29, 1948.

Political Deportation Drive

During the past three weeks, the Justice Department has started new political deportation cases in Ohio, Illinois, Wisconsin, Indiana and California, it was reported this week. These cases make a total of 37 arrests in the past 17 months in 14 different states. Non-citizens affected were born in 21 different countries.

Among those arrested in the deportation dragnet are Alexander Bittelman, a leader of the Jewish people; Claudia Jones and Ferdinand C. Smith, leaders of the Negro people; Communist Party Leaders such as John Williamson; and leaders of different foreign-born communities, such as Peter Konialidas, Greek-American; John Velich, Yugoslav-American; and Joseph Emerly, Hungarian-American.

"It can be expected that the Justice Department will proceed with the arrest of about 90 more non-citizens—unless the people's protest put a stop to this campaign of terror and harassment," warns Abner Green, Executive Secretary, American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born. "Three weeks ago, the people's protests won the release from Ellis Island of five hunger strikers. The same kind of public action can put a stop to these illegal arrests and defeat the Justice Department deportation drive," Green declared.

Green urged that letters, telegrams and resolutions be sent immediately to Attorney General Tom Clark, Washington, D. C., demanding an immediate end to the illegal political arrests of non-citizens and protecting the attempt to deport legally-resident non-citizens because of their political opinions.

In Asia and Africa Bad, Says Official

GENEVA — Health conditions in Europe, affected as they are by reappearance of diseases thought under control before the war, are gradually approaching the 1938 level.

That favorable estimate of the health of Europeans was made here by Dr. Yves Biraud, Director of the Epidemiological Division of the World Health Organization's Interim Commission (WHO).

The WHO official, however, declared that conditions in Asia and Africa are less cheerful and that 2,000,000 persons die there every year of cholera and malaria.

CIO Schedules Confab On Endorsement of Candidates

Declared candidates for public office in California will be invited to state their positions to the California CIO Council in writing or in person at an endorsement conference to be held in Los Angeles April 11, State CIO Secretary Bjorne Halling announced today.

The CIO's official primary election endorsements will be made by the delegated conference at the time, Halling said.

He stressed that the official endorsement conference has been authorized by the last State CIO Convention and confirmed by the most recent State CIO Executive Board meeting, and that no other body is authorized or qualified to speak for the state CIO membership on political endorsements.

Candidates seeking support of the California CIO Council will be queried as to their positions on major political issues, Halling said. Among the items on which their views will be sought are civil liberties and poll tax legislation; price and rent control; Central Valley development; repeal of the Taft-Hartley law and the Portal-to-Portal law; universal military training and the Marshall plan; housing; national health insurance and anti-discrimination job legislation.

Directs Youth, Vet Drive For H. Wallace

C. B. Baldwin, campaign manager of the National Wallace for President Committee, announced today the appointment of Seymour Linfield to direct veterans and youth work for the National Wallace for President Committee.

In announcing the appointment, Baldwin stated: "The bipartisan collusion of the major parties has brazenly ignored the vital needs of the veterans and youth. The 'grass-roots' response of these sections of the population to Mr. Wallace's candidacy convinces us that a majority of them will actively support his program of jobs and peace. They will be a major backbone of the independent voters' movement in the 1948 elections."

The reason for the move was cited as the need to coordinate the dozens of youth and veterans groups which have mushroomed throughout the country in support of Mr. Wallace. All have expressed their dissatisfaction with the existing political parties and are anxious to support Mr. Wallace's program.

20 Organizations Help Draft Declaration of Negro Voters

Representatives of 20 Negro national non-partisan organizations, representing 8,084,000 members, met last Saturday at the Wendell Willkie Memorial Building in New York in response to a call from the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People to draw up a Declaration of Negro Voters.

The declaration reads, in part:

Meeting as Negro Americans but also as citizens of the United States, we reaffirm our devotion to the principles of democracy and our support of candidates who and measures which advance the cause of democracy.

We call upon Negro voters to utilize in the coming primaries and national elections the balance of power they hold in at least seventeen states with 235 electoral votes to the end that the best possible President, Vice President and Congress shall be chosen to guide America during the troubled years ahead. We warn Negro men and women to avoid hasty emotional and sentimental political decisions and commitments.

We urge meticulous scrutiny of not only the statements but of the voting and public records of every candidate, irrespective of party, whether he aspire to the Presidency or to Congress, or other federal, state or local office.

Spring Flower Show To Start April 22

Southern California's Spring Flower Show will be the most brilliant in 10 years, Glenn A. Hiatt, president of the Pasadena Flower Show Assn., sponsors, promised this week.

The show — largest in the Southland — will open April 22 for a four-day run at the Fannie E. Morrison Horticultural Center in Brookside Park, Pasadena.

Hiatt said one entire building of the center will be devoted to amateur and professional flower displays.

INITIATIVE

The word initiative, has several shades of meaning, and when you are endowed with it, you really have something! It means you have the power to make a start at things, to begin to do things on your own; and when you come up against a difficulty you won't just twiddle your thumbs until some kind friend comes along to smooth it away, but you will set to work to master it for yourself.

If you don't happen to have this wonderful power, when difficulties arise, perhaps Prof. Herman, can help you to cultivate it. Your daily Horoscope will also prove helpful, because it will aid you in making decisions, and help you to overcome your weak points. Send for yours today.

E.M.O. Dear Prof. Herman: I am a constant reader of your column, and was pleased to note that you are giving personal readings. But, would you please help me with this problem. Will my plans prove successful?

ANSWER: A careful analysis of your question indicates the fact that your brother has written to you suggesting that you come to Detroit, to work. It is evident that your brother has something definite in mind, in regards to employment, so if you feel that you would like to make the change, I suggest you do it.

E.N.C. What does the future hold for me?

ANSWER: Your lucky stars and Guiding Planet indicate far too many things for me to relate in this column, but I feel that you will be much happier than you have been. There will be several changes in your life that will cause this change in circumstances.

Miss M.R. Will I ever marry?

ANSWER: Ly Psycho-Mentalist Crystal indicates marriage in the very near future. You should not doubt yourself, you are an attractive girl, with many things to offer, and you would be surprised at the number of admirers you have.

P.T. Will he forgive me and come back soon?

ANSWER: Probing into the letter I find that you just had a misunderstanding which can be easily corrected if you both have a mind to do so. Since you started this argument, you should take the first steps toward amends. Don't let foolish pride stand in the way of future happiness.

Muriel Rahn Urges Continuous Fight To Destroy Jimcro

CHARLESTON, W. VA. — Soprano Muriel Rahn, off on the second leg of her college-sponsored concert tour, told newsmen and women here Easter Sunday that real and complete equality would be won "only through a continuous fight to guard one's rights as a human being."

Asked by one reporter what she was doing to aid the fight to eliminate discrimination, Miss Rahn answered:

"Certainly prayer is not going to take me out of a southern jim crow coach, nor teach a racist in Indiana that I should be allowed to ride in the hotel elevator placed there for paying guests.

"I go into every situation with two guns,' and when I encounter prejudice, I believe that it is only right to fire my guns by taking the matter to the courts. If this is what some people call publicity-seeking, then I intend seeking a great deal of publicity in my fight for justice."

Says P. O. In New Orleans Is Practicing Racial Bias

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Over eighty per cent of the persons eligible for appointment as clerks who were rejected by the Postmaster in New Orleans were colored, Clarence Mitchell, NAACP labor secretary, charged at a hearing before the Civil Service Commission last week.

The Labor Secretary appearing before the committee on behalf of seventeen colored applicants who charged that they were denied employment in New Orleans as clerks solely because of their race, asked that the Commission halt further appointments until the present controversy is settled.

Mitchell said he made this request because in the past, individuals who were found to be the victims of discrimination did not thereafter obtain employment because the openings had then been filled.

Leader Urges Federal Aid To Education

WASHINGTON, D. C.—"The benefit to Negroes in the South from the passage of Federal Aid to Education legislation now before Congress, will enable them ot secure their Civic Rights in half the time required without such federal educational assistance," Dr. John W. Davis, president of West Virginia State college, Institute, W. Va., said this week in an interview at the National Education Association headquarters here.

In an informal discussion of the two bills for federal aid to education, now pending in the 80th Congress, one in the Senate, and one in the House, Dr. Davis declared that equalization of educational opportunities for ALL American children will do much to strengthen the democratic way of life. Minority peoples in America need the basic value of education to enable them to chart their course for responsible participation in citizenship, Dr. Davis declared.

Leonard Roach Runs Unopposed For Re-election

Marking the first time in a quarter of a century that a Second Supervisorial District Supervisor has been unopposed for election, Leonard J. Roach issued a statement at the Hall of Records today.

"In the three years since my appointment to the office by Governor Earl Warren, I have endeavored at all times to justify the confidence which was placed in me," Roach's statement read.

"When the citizens of the Second District elected me so overwhelmingly at the primaries in June 1946, I felt an even greater responsibility because so many had indicated their trust.

"And while I should feel a great sense of satisfaction because no one opposed me for re-election this year, I feel, instead, a humbleness to find such absolute confidence placed in me by the splendid citizens in my district."

Easter Seals Sale Tops '47 Figures

According to Howard E. M. Miller, Managing Director of the Crippled Children's Society of Los Angeles, the proceeds from the sale of Easter seals topped last year's figure by over 11%. Although the Easter Seal Campaign officially closed Sunday, there is never a deadline set for contributions for this worthy cause. More and more money is needed each year to meet the ever-increasing expenses of the Socity.

Police Brutality Victim Will Call NAACP to Fight Case

Jeffie Cotright, 29, an employee of the Southern California Gas Co., was set upon by two young police officers last Friday evening as he neared his home, 343 E. 36th st., and severly beaten, he charges. His right eye, and the right side of his face are bruised and swollen, and there are bad bruises on his body.

Cotright is married, and the father of three small children, aged 2, 4, and 6 years, respectively.

Cotright asserts he does not know why the officers arrested him, nor why they beat him, since he did not attempt to resist them. Jailed on a "drunk" charge, Cotright was released after posting $20 bail.

Cotright said he will appeal to the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People to fight his case.

Appointment of Dr. S. Goldner As 'Salary Consultant,' Urged

United Public Workers, Local 246, a CIO union with 2,000 city employees among its membership, in a letter to City Councilman Don A. Allen requested that he appoint Dr. Sanford Goldner as one of the "salary consultants" to be hired to check salary standardization ordinances due for presentation soon.

Samuel J. Berland, business manager of the local which he claims to be the largest union of city employees, urged the appointment as a guarantee that labor's point of view would be considered in the making of the analysis. He lists Dr. Goldner's qualifications as follows:

Dr. Goldner, through his studies with the University of California since 1929, has obtained the following academic degrees: AB, MA, Ph.D. From 1934 to 1942 he has been economics instructor at the University of California. Since 1943, Dr. Goldner has been doing full-time work in the field of research and economics

"As a candidate for President Harry Truman should quit. The President of the United States is today the leader of world democracy. Truman has neither the vision nor the strength that leadership demands.

"World peace is again in danger, within three years of a world war. All nations are to blame, some for acts of aggression, some for lost opportunities. Our task is not to place the blame, but to halt the drift. America alone can lead the world to peace. But only if America is led.

"World peace can still be saved. But not under President Truman. If present trends continue, war will come and America will lose the war."

This quotation is taken from a recent edition of the New Republic.

I attended the Jefferson-Jackson Day Dinner Monday evening at the Biltmore Bowl, and I would have been most happy if the sentiment expressed in the above statement had been the keynote for the occasion.

James Roosevelt, son of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, who heads the State Democratic Committee, presided.

In his 1947 address to local Democrats, at this same Jackson Day dinner, Roosevelt admonished California Democrats that "First our party must stand for principles which make its position uncompromisingly clear and which will give to the voters a clear-cut choice from which to choose. The Democratic Party, if it is to live, must give the voters the choice between the Liberal Progressive point of view as against the Conservative reactionary."

This year Mr. Roosevelt, speaking not to but of his party declared: "We wish to prove to the people of California and America that the Democratic Party and its candidates will deserve victory next November. But," said he, "we would be less than honest if we did not state that there exists considerable confusion in the minds of Life Imprisonment Sentence of Ingram Family to Be Appealed

The Los Angeles Negro Congress, at its executive committee meeting last Tuesday evening, went on record for continuation of the fight for the unconditional release and safety of Mrs. Rosa Lee Isgram and her two teen-age sons, Wallace and Sammie Lee.

The death sentence which previously had been imposed on the trio for the self-defense slaying of a neighboring white farmer in Schley County, Georgia, was vacated on April 6 by Judge William H. Harper of Americus, Ga., following argument by NAACP lawyers on March 25 on an action for a new trial. The action was denied and the life sentence imposed.

The new sentences of life imprisonment for Mrs. Rosa Lee Ingram and her two teenage sons will be appealed to the Supreme Court of Georgia. Thurgood Marshall, special counsel for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People announced in New York last Wednesday. Working with Mr. Marshall is A. T. Rejects $23 7,500 'Gift' From Governor Caldwell

Votes $25,000 To Fight Suits For Equal Pay

JACKSON, Miss.—The sum of $25,000 to contest suits filed by Negro teachers for salaries equal to those paid white teachers was voted by the House of Representatives of the Mississippi State Legislature at its recent session.

The measure was passed following filing of a complaint by attorneys of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in behalf of Mrs. Gladys Noel Bates of Jackson and other Negro public school teachers seeking pay equal to that of white teachers.

MIMS, Fla. — In a sharply worded letter to Governor Millard F. Caldwell of Florida, Harry T. Moore, executive secretary of the State Conference of Branches of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, informed the state's chief executive that Florida Negroes would not consider as a "gift" his proffer of $237,500 to the Florida Agricultural and Mechanical college at Tallahassee.

The Governor was awarded the sum as damages in a libel suit against Collier's Magazine as the result of editorial censure of his alleged statements and lack of effective action in the lynching of Jesse James Payne in Madison County two years ago. At the time he filed suit against the magazine, the Governor promised to give any sum awarded to him to the state college for Negroes.

Negro Leaders Help Draft 8-Point Wallace Program

CHICAGO, ILLINOIS—An eight-point program for achieving full civil rights for the Negro people was unanimously endorsed by the National Wallace for President Committee after being drawn up by a group of 32 Negro delegates to the committee's first national conference here last weekend.

The resolution for civil rights was passed a few moments before the convention issued a call for the founding convention of the new political party, to be held in Philadelphia July 24, 25.

Three Negro leaders were named among the 18 Wallace supporters elected to committees to plan the new national party convention. They were: Mrs. Charlotta Bass, California, secretary of the executive committee; Roscoe Dunjee, Oklahoma, chairman of the nominations committee; and Mrs. P. T. Lochard, Illinois, secretary of the arrangements committee.

Mrs. C. A. Bass, EAGLE editor, this week accepted the position of National Co-Chairman of the Women for Wallace Committee. The only Negro woman to be so honored, Mrs. Bass will represent the entire West. The two other co-chairmen are Mrs. Lawrence Steefel of Minnesota, representing the Mid-West and Mrs. Elinor S. Gimbel, representing the East.

The convention was addressed by Paul Robeson, co-chairman of the National Wallace for President Committee, and George Murphy assistant campaign manager. Murphy is a former editor of the Afro-American.

Reverend Paul R. Turner, pastor of the First Youth Community Church of Chicago, presented the resolution, which declared that "the struggle of the 14,000,000 Negro people whose life blood is woven into the fabric of our country's Constitution and the Bill of Rights constitutes the very core of the strength of the new party."

The National Wallace Conference pledged itself to "fight and speak out vigorously during the coming months on the following issues:

1. Abolition of lynching, mob violence and legal lynchings such as the case of Mrs. Rosa Ingram. 2. Recognition that all forms of Jim Crowism religious, racial and political persecution and discrimination "must be wiped out." 3. To enact legislation to guarantee the full integration of all workers in "every phase of employment." 4. To pass a permanent Fair Employment Practices Act. 5. To pass a Fair Housing Practices Act. 6. Outlawing of the poll tax and voting barriers. 7. Abolition of segregation in education and 8. Abolition of segregation on buses and trains.

Pledging support to Henry Wallace and Senator Glen H. Taylor, his running mate for vice presidential candidate of the new party, the resolution drawn up by the 32 Negro delegates that "the new party in America today is a people's party whose roots spring from the common struggle for freedom that is the heritage of the whole American people."

The Democratic and Republican parties, the resolution said, "have used, misused and abused the Negro people, who have now come into the new party as American citizens thoroughly disgusted with the do-nothing, hypocritical betrayal of the two other parties."

Hails FCC Decision to Deny FM Radio License to Groups Disseminating Racial Bias

Rabbi Irving Miller, chairman o fthe Executive Committee of the American Jewish Congress, declared today that the Federal Communications Commission decision denying an FM radio license to the New York Daily News and its action in restoring the American Jewish Congress' evidence of the Daily News' policies to the record of the case "is an encouraging sign of the determination of the FCC to prevent the most effective medium of communication from being used for the dissemination of racial and religious prejudice."

Two vital facts are empha; sized by this decision, said Rabbi Miller. "The most virulent racial propaganda today comes not from the rabble-rousers who rant at meetings, but from far more respectable sources which disseminate rabble and, thus, far more dangerous racist views through mass media of communication.

At the same time, the FCC has recognized the American Jewish Congress' contention that when a newspaper applies for a radio license, its 'character' as an instrument of public service must be as fully considered as when the FCC considered the character of any other applicant. This decision is thus highly encouraging to all who are concerned with preserving the free communication of ideas in a free market, unpolluted by the virus of racist propaganda.

"We hope this decision further indicates the determination of the FCC to maintain its present policy of banning editorializing on the air by the owners of radio stations."

Immaculate Heart's Dramatic Club to Present a Fantasy

The dramatic club of Immaculate Heart college, Les Jongleurs de Notre Dame, will present the Kaufman and Conelly fantasy "Beggar on Horseback" April 10, 11 and 12 in the college auditorium.

A satire aimed at the commercial exploitation of art, culminating in a "factory" where caged artists turn out reams of stereotyped work, this comedy is the second major production of this season to be directed by Mr. Joseph F. Rice, Speech and Drama department head.

This comedy, described by Walter Winchell as "fantastically funny," with its eleven bizarre sets, outlandish costuming and quadruple murder, has long been hailed as one of the outstanding plays of recent times.

'47 Taxable Sales Exceed $10 Billion

SACRAMENTO—Rising to an all-time high, California's taxable sales during 1947 exceeded 10 billion dollars and produced State revenues of $265,636,859, according to figures released today by William G. Bonelli, Chairman of the State Board of Equalization.

The 1947 taxable sales of $10,825,474,360 were more than double the amount occurring in 1943, when $4,812,415,688 was considered a record total.

Crowded Schools, Unemployment Make Vets Shift Outlook

Limited school opportunities and a saturated job market are dictating the vocational futures of Los Angeles' veterans, stated Harry Carlson, Counseling and Testing Service Coordinator at the Los Angeles Veterans Service Center.

A survey of 5,000 veterans using the Board of Education's Counseling and Testing Service at the Center revealed that seven out of ten ask for immediate job be trade school opportunities in reach their "future" vocations while one year ago only three out of ten held this outlook.

The drop in academic opportunities was evidenced by the fact that one year ago 54% wanted to attend college to get their training and today only 28% express that desire.

Methods used by the City of Los Angeles in attempting to keep streets in congested areas free from trash by maintaining waste receptacles on public sidewalks for pedestrain use have attracted the attention of civic leaders in Honolulu, Hawaii, according to the Board of Public Works.

In a letter recently received by the Board from Frank E. Midkiff, executice secretary of Lau Lima Ho'oani in Honolulu, a request was made for details of the design of the aluminum waste receptacles now in use here.

U.S., British Imperialists Are Trading African Slaves For Italian Anti-Red Votes

By PAUL FRENCH

Haile Selassie, again rising like Banquo's ghost to confront the imperialist betrayers of Africa, has rudely interrupted the quiet "bargain" being made by American and British imperialism, to trade off African slaves for Italian votes "against communism" and for the Marshall Plan.

The voice of Ethiopia is raised against the "deal" to give back to moribund Italian imperialism the colonies of Eritrea and Somaliland, as tempting bait to the neo-fascists backing the "Christian" Democrat De Gasperi, in the same manner as Trieste is offered as a bribe to consolidate Italian reactionary forces "against Communism."

Africa and its millions are thus to be the first victims of the Marshall Plan's military scheme to make East Africa as well as Italy and Greece and Turkey, a war base for the insane imperialists of America and Britain who dream of destroying by arms the fortress of freedom of exploited and oppressed peoples, the Coviet Union.

The British colony of Kenya, in East Africa, is already far along in the process of being transformed into a war base, not only for the bankrupt imperialism of Britain, but for its present "receiver in bankruptcy," the arrogant and shameless Imperialists of Wall Street.

The fake "labor" government of Britain, whose leaders, Bevin and Attlee, frequently beat their breasts in protesting their undying devotion to peace and "democracy," and who call down imprecations from heaven on alleged "police states" (which unkindly hang British and American spies), nevertheless is making their own "police state" of Kenya ready for war against socialist democracy, the only real democracy.

The London Spectator in October last year wrote that: "Britain's policy now is to reduce her commitments in the Near East, where every acre of ground breeds bitterness, and to move her main base to Kenya."

A big war base has been begun near the port of Mombassa in Kenya. But this is not only to avoid "bitterness" in the Near East. It is also to avoid capture there, in case of war. Thus, the London Daily Mail says:

"Not only politics, but strategy, dictates the placing of the imperial line of defense through Africa. Modern weapons would make the Eastern Mediterranean untenable. Space is needed to wield them—and counter them."

Of course, there is the usual imperialist cant about Britain's "civilizing mission" in Africa. But if you can get hold of the book, "Crisis in Kenya," by S. and K. Aaronovitch, published in London by Lawrence and Wishart, you will get a fair picture of what Britain's "civilizing mission" has already done for—and to—the people of Kenya.

For over a century the British have had their paws on Kenya. But only since 1900 did they begin to "move in." Since then, the so-called "white masters"—following the custom of imperialist land robbers—have driven the native people off the best land, and stolen it for themselves. For "the blacks," there is left the poor, rocky and desert land.

Some 2,000 British thus hold up to 50 per cent of the best land, while to 4,000,000 Africans is left—well, what is left! And there they must remain, herded into what are called "reserves," or vast slave pens, from which the British "civilizers" draw cheap, unskilled labor. For the same kind of labor for which an European worker is paid one dollar, the African worker is paid just two cents! His "house" is made — "of thatched mud and wattle walls, deficient in light and air, often in bad repair, damp and rat-ridden," says "Crisis in Kenya."

"The African," the book goes on to say, "is fed below the physical minimum. Full efficiency is impossible." And, naturally, disease is rampant. Half of the children that are born, die in infancy.

On the infertile land held by the natives, the British make no attempt to improve cultivation by modern methods. There are even few plows! The principal farm implements are the hoe and the heavy bush knife, known as the panga. Of course there is almost no education provided for the black people. Most of them are, therefore, illiterate.

And as for "democracy," let the book "Crisis in Kenya" speak:

"In Kenya, civil liberties for the African may hardly be said to exist. Step by step, the European settlers, with the consent of the administration, have copied the repressive legislation of South Africa, where racial discrimination reaches heights of pathological violence."

These are the works of imperialist "civilizers," who are now making Kenya into a vast military base to make war on "communism" in the name of what is called "democracy." And these same Anglo-American imperialists are buying votes in Italy, trading off African slaves in Eritrea and Somaliland, to get an alliance for war against the Soviet Union with the "Christian Democrats" of a decadent Italian imperialism.

Justifies Wage Demands of CIO Meat Strikers

The position of the United Packinghouse Workers of America, CIO, in basing its wage demands on the actual needs of a workers family has been completely justified by the President's Board of Inquiry, Ralph Helstein, UPWA President, declared today.

Helstein's statement followed the release last week of the Board's fact finding report on the meat packing strike called by the CIO union on March 16.

The Board, Helstein said, "had now expressly stated that a consideration of the living needs of the workers could have justified an increase of more than the 29 cents we asked, but under any analysis, clearly justified an increase of more than the nine cents to which the companies stubbornly adhered."

Helstein noted that the report "restates in present terms the obligation of employers to give their employes a decent standard of living." The Board cited the inquiry commission of the bituminous coal industry in 1920 which stated that "'every industry must support its workers in accordance with American standard of living.'"

Old Gold Cigarettes Appoints Negro Sales Representative

Leonard A. Brinson has just been appointed by Old Gold Cigarets as their sales representative. He is the first Negro in the history of the organization to hold such a position.

Brinson is a former student of Jefferson High and of U.C.L.A. He formerly worked at the Los Angeles postoffice, and when war was declared, took an appointment as state camp superintendent for the California Farm Production Council. He recruited and supervised 300 Negro laborers, and 25 cafeteria and office workers. In 1943 he was appointed by Langdon W. Post as public and racial relations adviser for the Federal Public Housing Authority, working throughout the states of California, Nevada, Utah and Arizona.

During the initial sessions of the United Nations assembly, he was assigned to a special group delegated to showing the various foreign delegates the type of public housing used by the United States.

Brinson is well known locally, and is looking forward to giving his friends a "treat instead of a treatment."

GALL STONES

ULCERS, CONSTIPATION, GAS PAINS

Don't be discouraged, Read what this famous doctor says:

"Gallstones are alkaline concretions which form in the gall ducts or gall bladder, from the stagnation of thickened bile. It frequently takes years for their formation, during which time the alkaline accumulations pack harder and harder together, allowing the softer part of the bile to flow out, and leaving behind these hardened, calcareous substances. The blocking of the gall ducts leading to the intestines will produce symptoms often mistaken for other diseases.

"Fully one-half of the patients who come to me believing they have stomach ulcers or gastritis, are really affected with some form of gall bladder disorder. I have found a very large number of cases, improperly diagnosed as stomach ulcer by other physicians, which have responded so rapidly to treatment as gall bladder derangements, as to lose all symptoms in a day or two.

"Where there is a stoppage of bile in the gall bladder, either by thickened bile or by gallstone formation, there will always be a tender spot halfway between the navel and the ribs on the right side of the abdomen. The color of the skin usually changes every few days, becoming a yellow, sallow hue at irregular intervals. The tongue will be coated, there will be loss of appetite and there may or may not be sharp, colicky pains felt on the right side.

"I have had many cases where large gallstones have been removed by my treatment, where no typical gallstone colic had been experienced at all. If the sharp pains and contractions of the gallstone colic are present in their worst form, the patient will be unable ato stand or even sit up straight, but will be forced to lie down with knees drawn up to the chest. Even this position does not relieve the pain. I am convonced that these colicy symptoms are not present in most cases, and that a serious stoppage of bile or a blocking up of the bile ducts with a gallstone may be present without any of such symptoms being in evidence at all."

Dr. Chas. A. Tyrrell, M. D., eminent physician, says:

"The most rational and practical manner of dealing with this . . . breeding place of disease is to wash it out. With me, it has passed beyond the theoretical stage, for I have in my office fully 15,000 letters from grateful patients who have used this process, under my direction, with the most astounding results; scarcely a disease known to humanity, but has been relieved, and in ninety-five per cent of the cases, cures effected, while tens of thousands of gratifying messages have reached me from time to time; nor is the testimony in its favor confined to the laity, for hundreds of physicians (including some of the most prominent authorities) testify to the wonderful beneficial results achieved by its use."

Daniel C. Munro, M.D., says "If I were to write the story of all the cases in which colonic irrigations seems to lift the patient from the very jaws of death, it would fill volumes."

Radio-Television Shop To Be Opened in Watts

Radio service shops are not new in our communities, but the opening of television installment and servicing is an indication of what is "just around the corner" for many families.

Samuel E. Webb and Huleon L. Conwell are leading the way by opening an electronic shop at 9110 S. Graham Street, Watts. Conwell is a graduate of Jefferson high school, and Webb is a graduate of the Hollywood Sound Institute, where he specialized in Television.

Other Negro men who are at the Hollywood Sound Institute at present are: Henry M. Aitchison, 309 East 36th st.; Willard D. Robinett, 4062½ S. San Pedro; Rudolph Kellum, 5112 McKinley ave.; Bee A. Davidson, 4735 So. Avalon blvd.; Hubert Cheatham, 1931 West 35th st.; Sedell Roy Hearring, 253 N. Westlake ave. They are studying radio repairing, television installation and trouble shooting, as well as sound recording and transmission.

During the summer, the Hollywood Sound Institute will offer special trade courses for high school graduates who recognize the value of specialized technical training in any preparedness program. Many veterans at the school now are taking this training because they found that skills in this field enabled them to get promotion faster in the armed services.

Health Dep't to Sponsor Course

Internationally famed Dr. J. E. Moore, syphilologist, will speak at the next session of courses sponsored by the City Health Department and the UCLA extension division for several hundred Los Angeles physicians Thursday, April 22, at 8 p.m., it was announced yesterday.

"Penicillin in the treatment of early and late syphilis" will be the subject of Dr. Moore's lecture, slated for the auditorium of the State Building, 217 W. First Street, according to Dr. George M. Uhl, city health officer.

California Voters To Get Separate Ballots

California voters will receive separate ballots next Nov. 2 for their selection of candidates and their yes or no votes on proposed constitutional amendments.

Gov. Warren signed a bill last Wednesday placing all amendments approved by the Legislature and subject to ratification by the voters on a separate ballot.

MURIEL RAHN, luncheon guest of the Kiwanis Club last week in Portsmouth, Ohio, accepts "with great pleasure" the all-white group's Certificate of Appreciation. Remember that Ahoskie, N.C., incident? Miss Rahn reminded her audience about it and added that Negroes are more interested in jobs, education and civil rights than intermarriage as millions of whites have been told. Photo shows John L. S. Snook, Kiwanis head and banker, making the presentation as Elmar Burrows, the noted singer's accompanist, and Mrs. Jean White Haley look on.

Loren Miller Endorses Carver Ins. Co. Stock Sale Campaign

Loren Miller, who recently argued the NAACP restrictive covenant cases before the U. S. Supreme Court, issued a strong endorsement of the Carver National Life Insurance Company capital stock sale, this week.

Mr. Miller commended the vision of the company directors, including B. B. Bratton, Dr. Daniel Collings, Wm. Faulkner, John Ware, Wesley Johnson, Carl Kimbrough and Wm. A. Sharpe, in the development of Carver's popular plan of disposing of its stock.

"All of the men directing Carver National Life Insurance Company's affairs are well known in the entire State and their presence, alone, inspires confidence," he said.

"I am recommending the purchase of this stock as a sound business investment and one that will pay regular and substantial dividends," Mr. Miller said.

Local headquarters of the company are located at 2514½ South Central Ave. The stock is being sold at $20 per share. Seventy-five hundred shares remain to be sold to close out the current campaign.

Presents Award To Muriel Rahn

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio — Stepping out of her usual role as a stage and concert artist, Muriel Rahn, celebrated star of "Carmen Jones," addressed the local branch of the internationally famous Kiwanis Club here last Wednesday.

The theme of her talk "Not Alms—Opportunity" was particularly fitting in view of the fact that her listeners comprised the leading business men of the community.

Declaring that Negroes are most interested in having job opportunities, educational opportunities and other rights granted every American citizen, Miss Rahn wambasted the "enemies of real democracy who raise the false issue of inter-marriage as a means of continuing discrimination and segregation."

As a fitting finale, the versatile young artist sang "Let's Break Bread Together."

John L. S. Snook, local banker and Governor of Portsmouth Kiwanis, presented Miss Rahn with a certificate of appreciation.

Hahn Calls for Installation of Traffic Signals

Councilman Kenneth Hahn of the 8th District introduced a resolution before the City Council last week proposing for the best interests of the city and the most feasible route for fast and safe movement of automobile traffic in Los Angeles, that the proper departments of the city expedite the use of Long Beach Boulevard from Slauson Avenue to 9th Street.

He further recommended to the members of the City Council that if the Police Commission would put traffic signals at Slauson Avenue, 55th Street, 48th Street, Vernon Avenue, 41st Street, Santa Barbara Avenue, 25th Street, Washington Boulevard and 16th Street and other streets, if necessary, that this would expedite a safe journey along this boulevard.

Aged Auto Victim Offers Reward For Information

Injured critically while on her way to church, Mrs. Ida Oliver, aged 79, 1118½ E. 28th st., was struck by an unidentified motorist last Sunday evening.

Witnesses state the car was of black torpedo body type driven by a Negro with a woman passenger. Mrs. Oliver is the mother of Fred A. Houston, formerly in the drug business and well known in Masonic circles. A suitable reward is offered for information that will identify the driver of this car by phoning AD 0758.

Claims Freedom Gardens Assist Family Budget

The family budget is in for a savings of upwards of $150 during the coming year if you follow the suggestion of the Los Angeles Freedom Garden committee.

Gordon Baker Lloyd, chairman of the local Freedom Garden program, explains that the saving is based on the 1948 price of vegetables and can result from the planting of a family garden just 20 by 50 feet in area.

Object of the national Freedom Garden campaign is to encourage the planting of 20 million home gardens in 1948 in an effort to supplement the nation's food supply. A goal of one million gardens has been set for the Los Angeles area.

DOCTOR WARNS ALL WOMEN!

A well known New York physician warns women not to neglect Leukorrhea (the Whites). He says it is one of the most common of all complaints among girls and women of all ages. To relieve the discomforts of the "Whites" in cases not requiring medical attention he recommends douching with Avex—the clinically tested cleaning douche powder. Avex helps remove temporary discharge during use, relieves itching, soothes and cools irritated delicate tissues hides embarrassing odors.

Thousands of women use Avex and praise it highly. You can try it yourself without risking a penny. Order a box of 12 douche powders today. Use 3. Western States Parley On Training, May 10-14

The California Legislature in the Senate concurrent resolution has invited the governors of the other ten western states to attend the Western States Conference on Training to be held at the Sonoma Mission Inn, Boyes Springs, May 10-14. The same resolution endorses the encouragement of joint labor-management cooperation in training the necessary manpower to meet the needs of western business and industry, and compliments the western governors for their cooperation in this vital project.

Response from California and the western states indicate that approximately 1,500 representatives of labor, management, veteran, and government groups will be in attendance at the conference. First announced by Governor Earl Warren in December 1947, the Conference will study the trained manpower needs of the West's expanding economy.

Urges Re-Employment of Negro Officers in Merchant Marines

NEW YORK, N. Y.—Re-employment of Negro deck officers in the United States Merchant Marine was urged this week by Roy Wilkins, Assistant Secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored people, in a letter to President Truman.

Wilkins' letter cited the record of the S. S. Booker T. Washington under command of Captain Hugh Mulzac which, with a mixed crew of officers and men, "arrested attention in every port visited and became for foreign peoples a concrete demonstration of American democracy." Pointing to the need for additional shipping as a result of the launching of the European Recovery Program, Wilkins urged the re-commissioning of the Booker T. Washington and other vessels named in honor of famous Negroes. He further cited the request of Gov. James E. Folsom of Alabama for continuing the ship in service.

Since the cessation of hostilities, 37 Negro officers of the merchant marine have been without assignment. These men "are anxious to continue serving their country," Wilkins assured the President.

Heads Committee For Senatorial Reapportionment

Judge John W. Preston, formerly associate justice of the California Supreme Court, will serve as Southern California general chairman of the Citizens Committee for Senate Reappointment, it was announced today. A proposition to reapportion the State Senate on a modified population basis will be on the November ballot.

"The existing system of senatorial apportionment in California is obsolete and antiquated," Judge Preston declared. "The majority of voters is now denied adequate representation in Sacramento. 21 senators out of 40—a clear majority—represents less than 13 percent of California's population."

"Less than eleven percent of the voters elect a Senate majority under the present system," se said. "Less than six percent elect one-third of the senators, and because it takes a two-thirds vote of the senate to pass an appropriation bill, this six percent of voters can easily thwart the people's will. Only senate reapportionment on a population basis will restore majority rule."

Chairman of World Unity Movement to Teach at Institute

Pasadena, — The American Friends Service Committee announces that James Avery Joyce, London barrister and Chairman of the World Unity Movement, has accepted an appointment to the faculty of the Institute of International Relations to be held at Whittier college, July 2-11.

Joyce, who will lecture on the world government movement, is on the governing bodies of several leading social service and international movements. He was a delegate to recent international Congresses of the Movement for World Federal Government at Luxembourg and Montreux.

Second Health Class in Watts Slated April 19

"A recent survey has revealed that many expectant mothers in the Watts area have such low hemoglobin blood counts that their own lives, and those of their babies, are in great danger."

That statement was made this week by Dr. George M. Uhl, city health officer, who urged all women in the local arear to take advantage of a free nutrition class being offered here by his department.

Dr. Robert F. Kolts, Watts district health officer, meanwhile announced that the second class would be held Monday, April 19, at 2 p.m., at the Jordon Downs Housing Project, and was open to all residents of Watts.

The blood deficiency, it was pointed out, can be improved in most cases by correcting the diet, a change that can bbe made without increasing the food budget.

Approves Budget For L. A. Airport

A budget of $806,710 for operation of the Los Angeles airport during the 1948-49 fiscal year was approved Wednesday by the Board of Airport commissioners.

The new budget reflects an increase of approximately $350,000 over the 1947-48 figure, but includes nearly $300,000 for maintenance and operation of FIDO, a fog dispersal system. However, airport officials pointed out that airlines using FIDO will reimburse the city for the entire cost of maintenance and operation.

Help Celebrate His Birthday By Purchasing Booker Washington Memorial Half Dollars

Booker Washington Birthplace, Va., April 3, 1948—More than 90 years ago this month a Negro baby was born to a slave mother on the Old Burroughs Plantation in Franklin County, Va. This infant was destined to play such an important part in the affairs of men that his name was to be written in the Hall of Fame among those of America's immortals.

This Negro baby was Booker T. Washington. Because of his large contributions to our American way of lfie in the fields of Education, of Health, of Industry, of Religion, of Business, and of Interracial Good-will, the nation has time and again paid tribute to his memory. Two of the most recent of these tributes have been made in connection with the movement to establish at his birthplace a "Service Memorial" built in keeping with the guiding principle of his life—Helpfulness towards others.

These tributes were the coinage of 5 million Booker T. Washington Memorial half dollars and the establishment of a post office known as the Booker Washington Birthplace, Virginia, at the site of his birth. In paying these tributes, the 79th Congress which authorized the minting of the memorial half dollars, and the Post Office Department were laying the foundation for Americans of all races and creeds to join hands to do honor to a man who has directly or indirectly contributed to the success of millions of our lives. This can be done by purchasing Booker T. Washington Memorial half dollars at one dollar each. The half dollar which is paid above the face value of the coin is really an investment in the economic welfare of the Negro race. It will be used to help open trade and industrial training opportunities for Negroes of low educational status.

During the month of February, 10,000 Americans purchased Booker T. Washington Memorial half dollars on the strength of an appeal carried through the press in connection with Lincoln's birthday. These people's response was in appreciation of what Lincoln had done for an underprivileged group. This month we are appealing to you to pay tribute to one of these freed slaves who overcame obstacles without bitterness, served mankind without thought of race or creed, and through a program of unselfish service won for himself the respect and admiration of the world.

Honor this great American by using the coupon below to purchase Booker T. Washington Memorial half dollars. In doing this you will be helping to perpetuate the ideals and teachings which won for him a place among the stars and which will help to win economic freedom for a great number our group.

In our effort to cooperate with this worthy cause, we sincerely hope that you, as a reader of our paper, will cooperate by using the coupon below:

—Delgardo photo.

X-RAY of the patient's hand was the next step. The X-ray technician, rated as one of the finest in the city, develops the X-Ray and reads it from a 'Sky-gram." The X-Ray showed that Gene Williams suffered a severly sprained hand. —Delgardo photo.

Modern Laboratory Equipment to Be Shown at Open House Sunday

By J. M. BROWN

This week designated as National Public Health Nursing Week, is the layman's big opportunity to learn something about the provisions for his health which are made within his own community. It was the opportunity of this writer to visit the new office of Dr. Robert F. Harwell recently at 1128 E. Vernon avenue, and view the wonderful equipment with perfect explanation by his laboratory technician Abilena Hawkins, recent graduate of the Institute of Medical Technicians.

Dr. Harwell, a specialist in pedriatrics has been a resident of Los Angeles for a little more than one year. His wife is charming Laura Elizabeth Harwell and they have two little daughters, Everil, 7 and Phyllis 5. The late Dr. Crawford C. Harwell, who practiced in Los Angeles for quite some time was the father of the young physician.

His interest in giving the people of the community the best of care, is due reason for his investing money in top laboratory equipment. Dr. Harwell, physician to the Kappa Alpha Psi Frat Basketball team, was treating key player Gene Williams, when I made my visit. In the reception office, Gene and his wife Florence were received by Mrs. Mildred Robinson. A history of the case was taken in complete detail. The next step taken in the laboratory where routine lab work is done. An X-ray was taken of his hand by the little Technician, who operates the machine with exacting precision. From the X-ray room we entered the section where Ultra Violet, Infra-Red Treatment machines were placed. In this room two patients may be treated at once. On leaving the treatment room, we were given facts on the Skiagram or Shadow Box, where the X-ray was shown. An Autoclave Sterilizer and a Castyle Sterilizer were mentioned as vital parts of the laboratory that is a definite addition.

Dr. Harwell, a member of the Independent Church Health Department, the Lafayette Jr. High School Community Health group has always been interested in community health and has taken steps to do something to make it better. A graduate of Meharry, he interned at Homer G. Phillips in St. Louis Missouri, City Hospital No. 2. On leaving St. Louis he served as resident pediatrician and instructor in pediatrics for 2 years at the George W. Hubbard Hospital in Nashville Tenn. He then moved to Richmond Indiana where he practiced for seven years. In Richmond, he served as City Physician for the fire department and police force.

Though a specialist in pediatrics, Dr. Harwell plans a general practiec here. The local medical field gives every opportunity. Dr. Harwell is certain that he will be able to offer something to the community in service .

The public is invited to Open House Sunday April 18, from 2:30 to 8 p.m., at 1128 E. Vernon ave. At that time, Dr. Robert F. Harwell will personally show his well equipped office and Laboratory X-ray (Radiography).

DR. ROBERT F. HARWELL is shown in above picture at the completion of a Fluoroscopic examination of the hand. Gene's wife, Florence, observes over the doctor's shoulder. X-Ray Technician, Abilena Hawkins, watches her patient carefully. Note the heavy aprons worn by the doctor and assistant. —Delgardo photo.

DIATHERMIC TREATMENT was the next step. Note instrument above Williams' head is an Infra-Red Machine. Dr. Harwell feels that the Kappa player will be as good as new when he joins the rest of the team on Sat. night. (See story.) —Delgardo photo.

Sets Property Tax Deadline April 20

Property tax bill in Los Angeles county for the county, schools, and special districts for this year averaged $43.42 per capita, compared with the $40.09 per capita bill for last year and the $33.33 per capita for 1941-42, California Taxpayers' association said today. City property tax levies are not included.

For 1943-44, when the per capita levy for these governments throughout the state was at its war-time low of $29.21, the per capita in this county averaged $28.20.

Deadline for the second installment on 1947-48 property taxes far these governments is April 20.

Women Better, Safer Drivers, Says Crosley

CINCINNATI — California's licensed women drivers, estimated at 860,000, may take comfort from the observations of Powel Crosley Jr., pioneer manufacturer of lightweight cars, that women are better, safer drivers than men — when they're not strictly Sunday drivers.

"In fact, except for the male's greater physical strength and superior mechanical knowledge, there is little to choose between the sexes in driving ability," Crosley said. "Inherent caution and keen reflexes tend to keep women out of serious trouble and put less wear and tear on the cars they drive."

Although distaff drivers roll up less mileage than men and are outnumbered — by seven to one, according to a current New York State Motor Vehicle Bureau survey—Crosley pointed out that women also are involved in less than one-seventh of traffic accidents.

Fisk University Receives Third Microfilm Series

NASHVILLE—The recent gift of the Myrdal Collection microfilm series to the Fisk university Library by the Carnegie Fund is the third major microfilm sequence to be obtained by the Library, according to announcement by Arna Bontemps, librarian.

These basic documents financed by the Carnegie Corporation in connection with the famous Gunnar Myrdal study on the Negro in America have been microfilmed in toto in 13 reels. Nearly a hundred authorities collaborated on special research projects to collect the tremendous amount of material that went into THE AMERICAN DILEMMA, published in 1944 in two volumes. Four books growing out of the study have also been published independently, one of which is Dr. Charles S. Johnson's PATTERNS OF NEGRO SEGREGATION.

Other microfilm series owned by the Library are Bach Gesellschaft Music Collection in 13 reels and the Negro Newspapers Project, photographed by the Library of Congress for the American Council of Learned Societies in 21 reels.

Saving Bonds Sales Exceed $13 Million

Individuals in Southern California increased their holdings of Series E United States Savings Bonds by $13,362,639 last month, J. B. Messick, acting director of Treasury bond sales for the eleven southern counties, reported this week.

Combined E, F and G Bond sales of $19,589,561 in March brought the area's total for the three series to $70,285.011 for the first quarter of 1948. E Bond sales alone during the three months aggregated $45,333,748.

There were no bank failures in the United States in the year 1945.

Tuskegee Alumni Chapter Celebrates Founder's Day

Isiah H. Pillors, president of the Los Angeles Chapter Tuskegee Alumni Association, reports the successful celebration of Founders' Day by the local group. The celebration this year consisted of two programs—one was a fifteen minute radio program over station KFOX from 10:00 to 10:15 on April 4, in which Miss Mamie Hamilton, Jack L. Jones and Mr. Pillors of the local chapter and Lt Charles A. Black of the California National Guard were presented.

As an added feature Miss Nettie Washington, granddaughter of Booker T. Washington was interviewed by Warner F. Starks(Director of Public Relations.

The second program, held at Henderson Community Center, was highlighted by the Founders' Day address given by Mrs. Mary Lou Roberson, director of the Center. An interesting surprise was the appearance of several "old timers" of Tuskegee Institute who were once intimately associated with Booker T. Washington. Mr. Ellis Warren, perrenial treasurer of Tuskegee Alumi group in Los Angeles was presented with a placque in recognition of over 20 years service.

Those desiring Booker T. Washington Memorial Half Dollars are requested to contact the Business Manager, Warner F. Starks, as Box 134, Station K, Los Angeles 11, for immediate delivery anywhere in the city.

Museum to Sponsor Annual Art Exhibit

Artists intending to enter works in the 1948 Annual Exhibition of Artists of Los Angeles and Vicinity, which opens at the Los Angeles County Museum in Exposition Park on May 15 and continues until June 30, are advised by Museum officials that the deadline for filing entries is 5:30 p.m., tomorrow, April 16.

PCA Urges Voters To Support Reps. Douglas And Holifield

Registered Democrats and Republicans in the 14th and 19th Congressional Districts were strongly urged this week to help win the nominations of those parties for Helen Gahagan Douglas and Chet Holifield, incumbent congressmen, by the board of directors of the Progressive Citizens of America.

In an unanimous action, PCA's Douglas-Holifield primary endorsement was accompanied by a statement lauding the records of the two representatives, while expressing disagreement with their Marshall Plan stand "entrusting billions of dollars for supposed relief purposes precisely to those administration figures" whom the congressmen were said to have "repeatedly attacked for their political and military interference in the affairs of European nations."

Simultaneously, PCA called upon registered Independent Progressives to support the primary candidacies of Sidney Moore and Jack Berman, because they "unreservedly espouse the Wallace program" and "will help greatly to educate and clarify the thinking of the voters."

The PCA resolution put an end to widespread speculation that the organization would oppose Congressmen Holifield and Douglas in the primaries.

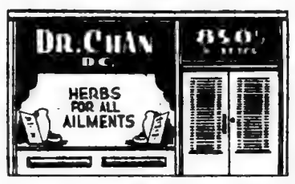
Foreign Medical Officer Lauds Health Center

Dr. Einar Rietz, M.D., Stockholm, Sweden, Medical Officer of Health, visited the Southeast District Health Center, Thursday, April 8, 1948, to observe the facilities and organization there.



Dr. Rietz is now in the midst of a three-month tour o fthe United States, studying public health administration methods in lareg cities, particularly in decentralized district health centers. The Doctor was particularly impressed with the staff and organizational program at the Southeast installation.

Next stop on the Doctor's agenda is San Francisco, where he will visit his old friend, Dr. Walter Brown, former Dean of the University of Californi aSchool of Public Health.

DR. CHAN'S NEW REMEDY IS SCIENTIFICALLY FORMULATED TO COMBAT THE DISTRESSING SYMPTOMS OF GAS, BELCHING, BLOATING, VOMITING, HEARTBURN, INDIGESTION, FULLNESS AND PAIN AFTER MEALS.

Natural health giving herbs have been used in China for thousands of years to rid the human body of toxic matters which hinders the function of practically all the organs of the body. They are known to relieve ailments that have been slow to respond to other forms of treatment.

THE BIBLE STATES HERBS WERE PUT INTO THE GROUND AS AN AID TO MAINTAIN AND RESTORE HEALTH—CAN THERE BE A BETTER AUTHORITY OR RECOMMENDATION?

So regain health nature's way which is slow but sure. Try our pure Chinese herbs for natural results. Feel once again the vim, vigor, vitality of a normal functioning body. Why live just a half a life when nature intended you to have a full, rich, healthy, enjoyable existence free from aches and pain. When other methods fail do not give up hope of getting well. Your case may respond to herbs when everything else fails. Why continue to suffer when others are regaining health daily. A fair trial will convince the most skeptic unbeliever.

many of our fellow citizens and in the minds of a few of us."

At the close of James Roosevelt's opening address, speech-making in the following order went on and on until past midnight: John B. Elliot, Senator J. Howard McGrath, chairman of the Democratic National Committee; Senator Warren Magnuson, Wilson Wyatt, governor Mon Wallgren, Danny Thomas, Senator Joseph O'Mahoney, Governor Herbert Maw, Congressman Chet Holifield, Congressman John A. Carroll, Mr. Van Heflin, and finally—the man whom the people came to hear—Senator Claude Pepper.

Without meaning to be vicious, few of the speeches said anything that the people wanted to hear.

Senator J. Howard McGrath, who reached climax and anti-climax in rapid succession before he apparently worked up sufficient courage to tell his hearers about President Truman's great leadership as national head, was knocked out in that round—and it took several minutes before he regained his equilibrium and was able to go on applying his verbal paint brush to the glorious picture of President Truman's achievements.

Most of the speakers failed to point out that the political freedom we would attain requires a choice between policies and names. They blamed Communism for the confusion in the ranks, and accuse Third Party Presidential Candidate Henry Wallace of accepting Communist shpport in his presidential race.

Not until the very last was there any mention made of the real evils that gnaw at our political vitals.

Senator Claude Pepper, the man from the Deep South with deep convictions, on this occasion was the voice of the people. In substance he said we need not fear Communism or any other foreign ideology if we lend ourselves to the preservation and extension of Civil Liberties to all the people.

There was one other voice heard in this Los Angeles meeting. It was a new fresh voice—Congressman John A. Carrol from Colorado. The young Congressman said he had not been a Congressional representative long enough to know the ropes. He had been on the battle front in the late war, "fighting to preserve the Democracy we are here discussing."

"I believe," said the young soldier Congressman, "the people are more concerned about war and peace than they are about political parties. We should concern ourselves less with individuals and deal with issues. The application of Progressive principles will develop Progressive Democracy, and will inspire faith in the people and the people's faith in the government."

Our people clamor not so much as we seem to think for party leadership, as for a vibrating spiritual leadership. Let the Democratic Party, let any political party give the American people the great spiritual depth and fervor which characterized Thomas Jefferson who founded the Democratic party as the party of the common people; of Andrew Jackson who revitalized it after it had begun to become smug and complacent with too little opposition; of Woodrow who first acted upon the vision of world peace; and of Franklin Delano Roosevelt who declared there should be the four freedoms—of speech, of worship, from fear and from want—everywhere, all over the world;—give us these, and there need be no machinations, no trickery to cajole the people of the United States into voting for every candidate that the party puts up.

Urges Support Of Strikers In Meat Industry

The local CIO Council has schedule d a luncheon conference at the Clark Hotel dining room, Washington and Central Friday, April 16 at noon to rally support of the community behind the strike of 2500 meat packing workers in Los Angeles.

"We are taking this action," Philip Connelly, CIO secretary-treasurer stated today, "because one third of the strikers are Negro Workers and because the "Big Four" packing companies are making an effort to create race dissention among the strikers by concentrating on the employment of Negroes as strike-breakers."

"By brazenly running Negroes through the picket lines," he continued, "the companies obviously hope to create resentment against all Negro workers among the Anglo and Mexican white strikers."

CRC Charges D. A.'s Office Failed To Prepare Adequate Prosecution In Salcido Case

"Preliminary hearing of Police Officer William Keyes held on manslaughter charge Monday morning in San Antonio Township court with Judge Stanley Moffatt presiding, has shown that L. A. District Attorney did not prepare prosecution adequately," William Bidner, executive director, Civil Rights Congress, charged in a telegram this week to Attorney-General Fred Howser.

"Deputy District Attorney Kemp left hearing before all pertinent evidence was presented," the telegram continued. "In order to assure full and honest prosecution of William Keyes by District Attorney's office, we strongly request that the L. A. National Lawyers Guild, and the L. A. Bar Association immediately investigate the failure of the L. A. District Attorney's office to adequately represent the interests of the people."

Officer Keyes, who is accused of manslaughter in the fatal shooting of Augustine Salcido, 17, 109 S. Olive st., March 10, was bound over for Superior Court trial in Department 42, at 10 a.m., April 27, with bail continued at $2,000.

Guillermo Gallegos, chief witness to the shooting, had signed a complaint charging Keyes with manslaughter.

"The Police Department's fear of exposure of the methods of the Police Department operation in minority areas was evident when Gallegos was framed on a 'possession of narcotics' charge," officials of the Civil Rights Congress declared. Gallegos is now out on $1500 bail, provided by the CRC.

Oscar Del Campo and Ella Moody, the two other witnesses to the circumsttnces surrounding the killing, have also been arrested on phony "suspicion" charges, threatened and told to leave town by the police, CRC officials charge. These were the witnesses who contradicted Keyes testimony at the Coroner's Inquest and who gave public testimony at t citizens' protest meeting called by the Civil Rights Congress at the Embassy Auditorium on April 1st.

After criticizing our foreign policy, Roosevelt declared that "we must have leaders who make and execute our laws with wisdom and unwavering courage."

Senator Claude Pepper of Florida, an outspoken liberal, said that many Democrats want to know whether the party has departed from the principles of Franklin D. Roosevelt and if not, they want someone to tell them it's not so.

Other speakers included Wilson W. Wyatt, former Federal housing expediter and national chairman of the Jefferson-Jackson Day dinners; Sen. Joseph O'Mahoney of Wyoming; Gov. Mon C. Wallgren of Washington; Rep. John A. Carroll of Colorado; Sen. Warren Magnuson of Washington; Gov. Herbert Maw, Utah; and Rep. Chet Holifield of Los Angeles.

Among the stars on the program and in the audience were Dinah Shore, who sang; Van Heflin, who read a touching tribute to the late President Roosevelt; Melvyn Douglas, George Montgomery, Myrna Loy and Danny Thomas.

"We want proof thae the President's Civil Rights Program is more than mere lip service," Forrester stated. "The pressure of public opinion influenced Judge William M. Harper to hand down a ruling changing the death sentence to life imprisonment. Public opinion can now secure the unconditional release and safety of the Ingrams," he added.

HOW WE GIVE YOUR VOICE A "LIFT"

1. It takes power, and lots of it, to push millions of telephone calls through our complex equipment every day. We buy our electricity, as you do, from public service sources. But to make sure calls keep going through in emergencies, we have many motor-driven standby generators to supply our own power when necessary.

2. Giant batteries... or many smaller ones ...catch the "juice" and release it as the direct current that sends your voice over our system. The number of calls we're handling today makes even these huge reserves run down quickly. They must be charged continually from public power sources or our own emergency generators.

3. When you pick up your telephone, you put electricity to work as it gives your voice a lift along wires and through switching panels. It takes little power to handle one call. But handling millions takes a lot. It makes us one of the West's big users of electricity. And it all adds up as part of our cost of furnishing telephone service.

4. Your telephone is more valuable today than ever before. For since 1940, telephones on the Coast have increased 75%. Today you can reach more people... more people can get in touch with you. Each new telephone added makes your telephone a more valuable servant.

EDITORIALS AND COMMENTS

THE CALIFORNIA EAGLE

Let's Do Something About It

Believe it or not the economic rope is tightening about the neck of the Los Angeles Negro population.

There are many reasons for this economic stagnation.

While Negroes had made some gains under F.E.P.C. in employment during President Roosevelt's administration in their affiliation with the labor movement the status quo is still the last hired, the first fired.

The Caliofrnia EAGLE, realizing that segregation is the forerunner of discrimination, feels that Negroes not on racial basis, should pool their finances and enter business fields on a co-operative plan.

For instance, in the Central Avenue district where Negroes spend thousands upon thousands of dollars weekly for food, shoes, and clothing, they are content with spending and watching these business institutions grow without realizing that in case of a depression when lay-offs come they have no claim to the job.

Too often Negroes are not protected in such cases because by and large they have been scared away from Labor affiliation under one pretext or another.

Why should I pay dues to a labor union out of my hard-earned wages? is a question often asked.

Such a question, as a rule, comes from persons whose minds are disorganized by propaganda given out by big bosses in industry and politics.

There is no good reason why Negroes should not own and merchandise some of the commodities they use.

Some of the biggest business enterprises in the Central Avenue District, started on a shoe-string and on Negro trade almost solely, have grown into industrial giants.

The heads of many such firms are slavocrats. They never come out in the open and protest the Negroes' changing attitude in politics. They work in an altogether different way instead.

For instance, a Negro community newspaper, if it dares to enlighten its readers on certain political issues for the advancement of their civil rights and a fuller measure of their citizenship rights —almost immediately this newspaper so far as advertisement is concerned is put on the black list.

Such a condition can be combatted in in one way—an increase in Negro business.

And this prompts The California EAGLE to issue a call for a survey of Negro business and a movement in the right direction for an increase in Negro owned and operated business.

Even though there have been some disappointments in co-operative efforts by Negroes, co-operation in business is nevertheless the only avenue of escape from poverty to independence.

To move up from consumer to producer is a rugged road. But it points the way to greater independence. It will not only gain respect for the buying power and the business ability of the Negro, but through the greater independence it will create, it will help solve the other evils that dog the footsteps of Negroes everywhere—the housing situation, restrictive covenants, discrimination, segregation, etc. etc.

Let's do something about it!

The Ingram Case As of Today

The present standing of the nationally famous Ingram case is that Mrs. Rosa Lee Ingram and her two teen-age sons—Wallace, 16, and Sammie Lee, 14 —have been sentenced to life imprisonment by Judge William M. Harper, of Southwestern Superior Court, Americus, Georgia.

Mrs. Ingram and her boys had been given the death penalty previously. Their crime was the slaying of a white sharecropper who had threatened the life of Mrs. Ingram with a shot gun. In the scuffle that followed as her sons sprang to her defense, the white man was killed. "Murder", said a Georgia white jury, for each of them.

But the people all over the country, Negro and white, came to the defense of these Negroes. Thousands of letters and telegrams of protest poured into the office of the Georgia judge. And he finally saw the light.

"They have been convicted on circumstantial evidence," decided Judge Harper, "and under the Georgia law I may, if I wish, commute the death sentence to one of life imprisonment."

So much, so far. But this is not enough, the NAACP and other organizations fighting for the Ingrams, have decided. They should be freed entirely, since it is a case of manifest self defense.

Counsel for the Ingrams has decided to appeal to the Georgia Supreme Court. Other organizations all over the country will unite in their efforts, and eventually their freedom will be won, they feel sure. It is a long, uphill struggle, but it pays to keep on fighting.

Long And Harder Work Needed

There is the greatest need for increased activity to combat the influence of the Un-American Activities Committee and to defend the victims of that Committee, it was pointed out at an executive committee meeting of the Civil Rights Congress held recently in New York.

The mass demand for the release of the five men held without bail on Ellis Island, and their eventual release, was cited as an example of what can be done by united effort.

In order to get rid of the un-American Committee, similar action must be instituted. It was agreed that the abolition of this Committee should be made a part of the election campaign, and that candidates should be questioned on their stand on this issue, together with other issues such as the "loyalty order," anti-lynching, anti-poll tax, and anti-discrimination legislation.

The Civil Rights Congress, always in the forefront in the fight for the liberties of the people, has taken a courageous stand in opposing this evil, the un-American Committee, that is a hybrid monster produced by a reactionary Congress.

Although it cannot legally try any man or woman for activities contrary to our American principles, this Committee can and does smear the characters of its victims until Ameriran citizens, who should not be afraid to walk with heads held high anywhere and everywhere, are becoming afraid of their own shadows, and speak furtively in whispers, lest the very walls should hear and reprint and distort innocent conversation.

Get rid of this monstor, by all means. And see to it that candidates to Congress are elected who will work for this abolition.

Democrats Meet—Plan

The annual Jackson Day dinner this year attracted to Los Angeles the bigwigs in the Democratic Party from all over the nation.

A review of the life and achieveuents of Andrew Jackson, in whose honor and memory these annual dinners are staged, got small mention. Tribute to the late Franklin D. Roosevelt was sprinkled throughout the program. But the real aim of the local and national Democrats was planning the strategy to win in the 1948 election.

Apparently the only obstacles that threaten Democratic success in '48 is Henry Wallace and his liberal following.

Senator Claude Pepper said he found but one fault with Wallace, and that was his bolting the Democratic Party. "But," suggested the Florida Senator, "sometimes the Prodigal Son leaves home when it is disorderly and distasteful to his ideals," and he opined that a little cleaning out might induce the return of the prodigal.

At this Jackson Day dinner little mention of the perplexing problems, such as Universal Military Training or Selective Service, was made.

The problems that are the people's problems, that have engaged the closest attention of Henry Wallace long before he was mentioned as a presidential candidate, were sidetracked Monday night. It is feared by many that both Democrats and Republicans will have to learn the hard way. The people who have followed their leadership are tired.

Those people are still poorly paid for their labor. They are still called upon to give their sons to fight for that cherished Democracy which insures to some and denial to others—Civil Liberties.

The people are tired of promises. They want freedom. Henry Wallace's voice is the only clear voice that has spoken for them. They will make it speak loud and long by electing him as the head of the nation that could and should lead the world away from the threat of war into the promise of a peace that will last.

THINGS I SEE

By Marian Inglewood

The story of the Piney Woods Country Life School and its principle, Laurence C. Jones, which Dr. Charles Satchell Morris touched upon in the account of his four months' tour of the South, is most intriguing. Piney Woods School is located in Mississippi, about 22 miles south of Jackson, Mississippi! The land of Bilbo and Rankin! Of course you ask immediately, "Can anything good come out of Mississippi?"

Well, there seem to be a great many good things in Mississippi, in spite of all the Rankins and the Bilbos, dead or alive. And Piney Woods School surely is one of them.

Piney Woods School, according to the story of its founding in The Reader's Digest of some two or three years ago, was begun by Laurence Clifton Jones in 1909. On a pine stump with three illiterate little Negro boys before him, most anxious to learn, and the tremendous sum of $1.85 in cash!

Laurence Jones was born in Missouri—the state where you say, "Show me." He graduated in 1907 from the University of Iowa, a favorite of faculty and students alike, and from that time on has been showing the world what one person with a vision of service for others and a determination to make that vision come true, can actually accomplish with scarcely even a shoe-string to work on.

Laurence had great musical and dramatic talents. That made him a favorite with all the Iowa University students. He also had scholastic ability and a sterling character. That made him well-liked by all the faculty. When he graduated he could have had almost any job he wanted. The father of a wealthy classmate wanted to finance a dramatic and musical career for him. The owner of the hotel where he had worked as a night clerk, a white man, was ready to set him up in any business of his own that he wished.

But Laurence Jones turned his back on all of this. "I want to do something for my own people," he said.

To learn, first hand, the hardships and sufferings some of his people had to endure, he went to the deep South, to Mississippi, where he hired out as a farm hand, a cattle herder, a porter. He lived with the sharecroppers, felt the hunger they felt, the misery, the gloom of sinking deeper and ever deeper into the slough of despond.

He shared their life, became one of them, that he might lift them to a higher level of living. At first they were suspicious. They didn't want any "furriners" coming in and telling them how to do things. But after he got his first three students really interested, it took only a few more months until more were aroused, and soon he had a class of 29.

A well-to-do Negro in the community donated a tumble-down shanty and 40 acres of land. Teacher Jones and his pupils fixed up the place for a schoolhouse. The county board of education appropriated $18 per month.

And that was the beginning of Piney Woods School. As the wonder grew of what was being done right in their very midst, others contributed, Negroes and whites. A wealthy white mill owner gave 10,000 feet of lumber. With their own hands, Jones and his students erected a substantial building and planted the 40-acre tract in corn and garden truck.

Piney Woods School became an agricultural and industrial school, where the students were taught not only how to read and write, but also how to raise better pigs than the razorback hogs they were accustomed to have wandering around their shacks, how to make better homes, how to live better themselves, how to care for better babies.

The school today has a plant valued at upwards of a quarter million. It has 1700 acres of well-tended land. An enrollment of something like 500 students. Its graduates have gone out as thousands of well trained farmers, mechanics, homemakers, teachers.

One member of the faculty is a white woman, Dr. Zilpha Ellen E. Chandler, of Iowa, who came to speak at a commencement and fell so in love with the school, its ideals, its students, that she came back the next fall to become a member of the faculty and to stay.

How did Professor Laurence Jones, the "Little Professor of Piney Woods," manage to overcome all those early difficulties and to keep on working until he won success?

"Well," he smiles whimsically, when anyone asks him this question, "I just prayed as if everything depended upon God, and worked as if everything depended upon me."

He still does. A splendid recipe for everyone to follow.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Mrs. Charlotta Bass, Editor,
California Eagle,
Los Angeles 11, California.
Dear Mrs. Bass:

Thank you for your splendid editorial last week on the lifting of hotel discrimination against Negro delegates after the fight put up by the Y's men. The Y's men were in the position of the baseball team with the Negro player. The hotels would accommodate all the various races from the 28 participating nations EXCEPT THE AMERICAN NEGRO. Here the Y's men differed from the baseball team in the recent player discrimination case. They stood on their PRINCIPLE, and WON.

Your readers may be interested to know that Y'S MEN'S CLUBS are service clubs of young business and professional men that correspond to ROTARY, KIWANIS, or LIONS clubs. LIONS, KIWANIANS, and ROTARIANS. do not admit Negroes, Y'S MEN do. Our own LOS ANGELES 28TH STREET Y'S MEN'S CLUB is the oldest Negro Club in the International Association. There are also inter-racial clubs. A convention of the Y'S MEN looks like a meeting of the United Nations with the exception of the fact that the Y'S MEN get more done—they don't spend their time trying to knife the other fellow.

The principle work of the Y'S MEN is with boys. Their four major fields are Young Peoples Work, World Outlook (other lands, other races), World Youth Fund (in which they help to reestablish YMCAs in foreign lands), and Counselling. They are by no means a bunch of goodie-goodies; they are a happy-go-lucky group of young men who perform personal services for the YMCA and the Community and have a whale of a lot of fun in the process. I know of no other group that does a better job in the field of race relations and talks less about it. Our own Y'S MEN'S Club sponsors the inter-racial Community Sing-Show at Lafayette Center. Thank you again for the fine publicity you have given our efforts.

LOS ANGELES 28TH STREET
Y'S MEN'S CLUB
TOUSSAINT L'O JENNINGS,
PRESIDENT.

Dear Friend:

I am taking the liberty of calling to your attention a matter of great community import. Although I have only recently come to Los Angeles to live, and am not a member of his congregation I share with you a keen appreciation for the fine unselfish community service being rendered by Dr. Frederick D. Jordan, pastor of The First African Methodist Episcopal church, familiarly known as Eighth & Towne. His rare organizing ability, and genial cooperative spirit constitute a genuine community asset.

He is being strongly supported both locally and throughout the country for election to the Episcopacy of his Church at their General Conference to be held in Kansas City, Kansas May 5-17. This is the meeting which Dr. Jordan at such great expense to himself and congregation labored to secure for Los Angeles.

I am asking you to join me in supporting the "Jordan for Bishop Club" in demonstrating that Los Angeles stands solidly behind the candidacy of Dr. Jordan. Contributions in any amount may be mailed to "The Jordan for Bishop Club" 801 Towne Avenue, Los Angeles 221; or reported in person at the Testimonial being given Dr. Jordan on Sunday evening, April 25 at the church.

Dear Drama Editor:

I want to express deep gratitude for the generous publicity you gave our group in regard to "Cafe Panorama."

The excellent turn out was brought about through your cooperation and that of the other generous friends of our group and we are most grateful. You are well aware of the struggle involved in making a successful theater group and have pitched in to help us to do it. It encourages us no end to learn that we have one of the most progressive Negro weeklies in the country supporting our modest efforts.

Again I say, thank you.

Theatrically yours,
Frank G. Greenwood

The Negro Vote

The Negro vote will have much to do in deciding who shall be the tenant of the White House for the next four years.

It is being wooed by both Republicans and Democrats, and both old parties some months ago, felt they had it sewed up in their pockets. Not that either party had done anything in particular to deserve it. They simply had a feeling the Negroes of the United States would vote either Democrat or Republican, and the party which could make the most attractive promises would win. They had no other place to go, reasoned both sides.

Then up came Henry Wallace, and in a burst of enthusiasm seldom equalled in political circles, swept away all those smug calculations in one brief stroke. There are three major political parties in the field today. And the Negroes, and all other members of every minority group and of the working people will definitely have some one to vote for.

In this situation The California Eagle would advise all Negroes and all working people everywhere to steer clear of those politicians who promise so much and do so little. We especially advise them to avoid Negro politicians, paid by Republican Big Business to deliver the votes.

Neither Stassen, nor Dewey, nor Taft has ever once mentioned the Ingram case. They have not condemned lynching. Nor the poll tax. Nor racial segregation. Nor restrictive covenants. The present occupant of the White House has made several feeble gestures along that line, it is true, but his deeds belie his many high-sounding promises.

Let us have done with such leadership. There is one man, and one man only, who can and will lead us out of this morass. That man is HENRY WALLACE, candidate for president on the Independent Progressive Party ticket. Vote for him, and all who support him. We fully believe the Negro vote will go for him. In all good conscience, it could go nowhere else.

There are only a few copies of STORIES FROM THE WORKINGMAN'S BOOK by Marian Inglewood left. Get one before they are all gone. For sale at the office of The California Eagle, 4071 South Central ave. Proceeds from their sale are used to fight restrictive covenants, especially the case of the Laws family, ordered out of their home on East 92nd street, because they are Negroes.

BOOKS AND AUTHORS

"Pilgrim's Inn" is the newest novel by Elizabeth Goudge, author of the popular "Green Dolphin Street" and "The City of Bells." Laid in modern England this is the story of the Eliots, keepers of Pilgrim's Inn. The eighty-six-year-old grandmother still directs the affairs of the family and the Inn. The eldest son, General George Eliot, his beautiful wife and their five children together with their friends and their dogs are inhabitants of this historic place which is situated in the fragrant country in a magic wood. The characters are sharply drawn and are depicted with humor and compassion. Even the dogs keep their distinct individuality. It is a rich satisfying novel, beautifully written.

"Home Nursing with Confidence" by Susan Lennox Briggs, RN, is a practical guide for anyone who is obliged to care for a sick person. It gives many hints for making the patient comfortable with whatever is at hand, such as a backrest for a bedridden person by propping him up with pillows with a chair placed in an inverted position in the bed. It is simply written and includes prenatal and postnatal care, care of the baby, and personal hygiene; besides information regarding communicable diseases.

"Devil Within" by Fanny Heaslip Lea, well-known author of light romances, records the various steps in the readjustment of a marriage that seems headed for the divorce court. It gives a sympathetic picture of a woman whose first marriage completely changes her nature. Her experiences have roused within her a passionate jealousy and after her divorce she seeks to convince her second lover that she is no longer the same. He refuses to believe her and in spite of his fine strong character she nearly wrecks his life.

"Book of Standard Letter Writing" by Lillian Eichler Watson contains all the answers to questions on this subject. It gives the correct physical characteristics of letters of all types, such as headings, body, closing and directions for addressing the envelopes besides hints regarding spelling, grammar and punctuation. There are general rules for social correspondence such as invitations and replies for all kinds of functions. It also contains "Thank you" letters, congratulations, condolences, friendly and family letters, club and business letters. A section on children's correspondence is a feature seldom included in these books. An appendix gives forms of address telling how to address people of all ranks, from the President of the United States to army officials and royalty and members of the clergy. With this as a guide there could be no excuse for an error in writing any letter!

"By This Strange Fire" by Edith Pargeter is a moving story of a woman whose search for a richer life leads her across the meridian of time into a strange fulfillment. Outwardly successful as an established writer and the mother of an attractive daughter, Claire on the death of her husband, finds her life is empty and retires to a remote English village. Unwillingly she becomes involved with the owner of the house and his nephew and when she turns to writing she seems compelled to write of a man who had lived there three centuries before and had been burned at the stake for witchcraft. Through the telling of his wrongs she fills a need in her own life. It is an absorbing novel within a novel with a haunting beauty.

SOUTHERN STYLE !

W. J. Wheaton Says

After doing justice to Mary Ann's culinary artistry, we prepared for our usual after-supper chat. Valmi, the little Russian classmate of little Mary Ann, was reading in the newspaper about some hotels downtown refusing to take in some actors, who had made reservations beforehand. As Valmi read it to me, it seems when the clerk found they were colored, he said there were no rooms. But when the man who runs the hotel was pinned down, he said that the hotel didn't take in colored people.

"These actors are great people and the play . . . "Deep Are The Roots," is wonderful," Mary Ann said.

"My folks gave me tickets to see it. It's great. But isn't there some law to make them accommodate you in a place that depends on the public for support?" asks Mary Ann.

We told her that was a statute or law in California that prohibits discriminations, and that the discriminators were subject to a penalty. Persons who are refused accommodation, because of their race, or color can file suit.

We are informed that the NAACP has taken up the case," we said. As Mary Ann said: "The managers of those hotels must be a residue of the 'Back Homes' who came to California during the war, and have not yet learned California ethics. When they pay a couple hundred dollars, for breach of the law, they will learn that 'Back Home' ethics are persona non grata in the 'City By The Golden Gate.'"

"Well," says Mary Ann, "the folks I work for say that they should be made to pay, and pay plenty. Then their license to run a hotel taken away from them.

The only criticism we make is this: Are we fighting such cases with enough vigor, are we knocking the Hydraheaded Monster—Discrimination—on the head with sufficient force? A force that will deter him from rearing his ugly heads again? If once the virus of racial hates and discriminatory acts get hold, it will spread. Let's kill the Monster before its poisonous breath taints our cosmopolitan democracy. Every right-thinking citizen in San Francisco, and they are legion, deplore that there should be narrow minds that cast a smear on the city that "Knows How."

"Well," says Valmi, "My parents came from Russia many years ago. They are Americans, so am I. They said that long ago the Russians under the Czars hated the Jews and treated them badly, even killed them. Like Negroes are lynched here. But the people got mad and killed all the Czarists.

"Being American, my parents don't know much about this Russian government, but my parents say they don't lynch," she said.

"What do you say about it?" Mary Ann asked me. "Ain't there some law to keep them from killing folks because they are black?" We thought for a minute before replying. Then we said, "Mary Ann, it has taken quite awhile, nigh on to a century, to arouse public opinion to the abolishment of this heinous 'American' crime. Leaders for a decent government have been throttled, and obstructed, by a certain element, who have killed all attempts to enact a law outlawing mob violence, including lynching.

"This brings to mind an article written for Current History 1924 by the late James Weldon Johnson. It was titled 'Lynching America's National Disgrace.' In that article he quotes two American Presidents: Wilson and Harding. President Wilson, in a pronouncement on lynching, said, 'There have been lynchings, and every one of them has been a blow at the heart of ordered law and humane justice. No man who loves America, no man who cares for her fame, honor and character, or who is truly loyal to her institutions, can justify mob violence, while the courts of justice are open and the Governments of the States and the nation are able and ready to do their duty.'"

That was, if we remember correctly, 1918. The more recent, the late President Harding, said: "Congress ought to wipe the stain of barbaric lynching from the banner of a free and orderly representative democracy."

Those were opinions of leaders in years past. The fight has been maintained to cement public opinion against the "American" disgrace: Lynching. It seems as though the goal has been reached. Senator Robert Taft said that the measure would come up for a vote on the floor of the Senate shortly, and with a surety of success, as there are enough votes to kill any attempt of a filibuster by the senators from the Southern states.

The Jackson Day dinner, held Feb. 10th in the Court of the Palace Hotel, was a howling success. The attendance was enthusiastic and the speeches of the National Committeeman, McGrath; Hon. James Roosevelt, State Chairman Democrat Committee; William Malone, Chairman Democrat County Committee; District Attorney "Pat" Brown, and others, were evidence of Truman popularity.

Franck R. Havenner bids fair to win both party endorsements at the June primaries. His popularity grows daily, as his record in Congress is studied.

To Secure These Rights

The Report of the President's Committee on Civil Rights

(Installment No. 18)

The adoption of specific legislation, the implementation of laws or the development of new administrative policies and procedures cannot alone bring us all the way to full civil rights. The strong arm of government can cope with individual acts of discrimination, injustice and violence. But in one sense, the actual infringments of civil rights by public or private persons are only symptoms. They reflect the imperfections of our social order, and the ignorance and moral weakness of some of our people.

There are social and psychological conditions which foster civil rights; there are others which imperil them. In a world forever tottering on the brink of war, civil rights will be precarious at best. In a nation wracked by depression and widespread economic insecurity, the inclination to consider civil rights a luxury will be more easily accepted. We need peace and prosperity for their own sake; we need them to secure our civil rights as well. We must make constructive efforts to create an appropriate national outlook—a climate of public opinion which will outlaw individual abridgements of personal freedom, a climate of opinion as free from prejudice as we can make it.

We do not have sufficient information to know all about the many variations of prejudice. We do know that most prejudice is learned. We know that is may result from actual experience, or propaganda, or both. It may derive from foolish generalizations about groups, from personal frustration, from enonomic or social competition, or from local environments that are built on discrimination. It ranges from the mild, secret feeling of the social snob to the violent, murderous impulses of the insanely prejudiced. It seems probable that no one can become a bigoted fanatic unless he has need for prejudice toward others to begin with. This may be a need for a feeling of superiority, for a feeling of being strong enough to exclude others from equality. The fear or insecurity which makes someone need prejudice is probably not enough to make a fanatic. There must also be ignorance to sustain the prejudice. Most prejudice can not survive real understanding of the great variations among people in any one group; or of the scientific findings which establish the equality of groups, and disprove racist nonsense; or of the fact that in a democratic commonwealth, prejudice is an immoral outlaw attitude.

The achievement of full civil rights in law may do as much to end prejudice as the end of prejudice may do to achieve full civil rights. The fewer the opportunities there are to use inequality in the law as a reinforcement of prejudice, the sooner prejudice will vanish. In addition, people must be taught about the evil effects of prejudice. They must be helped to understand why they have developed prejudices. It means trying to show them that it is unfair and stupid to condemn whole groups, that in every group they will find about the same proportion of people whom they will like or dislike; that each man must be judged by himself, on his own merits and faults.

We know from research studies that this can be done. We also know that we are not yet sufficiently skilled to have complete confidence in our educational methods. Since many bigots need their prejudices for reasons of their own, they do not like to give them up. Accordingly, they are very successful at avoiding written or spoken presentations which may disturb their prejudices.

On thing, however, which we can do, is to make certain that all Americans are familiar with the fundamental rights to which they are entitled and which they owe to one another. This is not the case at present. In October, 1946, the National Opinion Research Center at the University of Denver, asked a crosssection of our adult population a series of questions about the Bill of Rights. Only one out of five Americans had a reasonably accurate knowledge of what is in the first 10 amendments to the constitution. Completely confused and inaccurate descriptions were offered by 12 per cent. More than a third had heard of the Bill of Rights but could not identify it in any way. Another third had not ever heard of it. The NORC also reported that "Even among the best informed people, however—the more privileged, educationally, economically and occupationally—less than a majority can satisfactorily identify the Bill of Rights." There is no excuse for this kind of ignorance. It represents a dismal failure of our schools, our homes and our media of communication. Where efforts to overthrow democracy directly may boomerang, informing the people of the generally guaranteed rights to which all are entitled, almost certainly cannot. It is at least possible that this kind of information will ease the task of overcoming deep-rooted prejudice.

We are thus extremely sensitive t the general existence of lingering prejudices which must be overcome. It will take time. How much time will depend in a large measure on how quickly and aggressively we inaugurate a proggram of action under the leadership of the federal government. All of our governments, federal, state, and local, must be uncompromising enemies, of discrimination, which is prejudice come to life. In turn, they must be reinforced by education—education through carefully planned experience, to break down the fears of groups; education through information to dispel ignorance about our heritage and ourcivil rights. There is no need to choose between these approaches. Neither one is adequate for the complete securing of our rights; both are indispensable to it.

A Program of Action

Twice before in American history the Nation has found it necessary to review the state of its civil rights. The first time was during the 15 years between 1776 and 1791, from the drafting of the Declaration of Independence through the Articles of Confederation experiment to the writing of the Constitution and the Bill or Rights. It was then that the distinctively American heritage was finally distilled from earlier views of liberty. The second time was when the Union was temporarily sundered over the question of whether it could exist "half-slave" and "half-free."

It is our profound conviction that we have come to a time for a third re-examination of the situation, and a sustained drive ahead. Our reasons for believing this are those of conscience, of self-interest, and a survival in a threatening world. Or to put it another way, we have a moral reason, an economic reason, and an international reason for believing tthat the time for action is now.

THE MORAL REASON

We have considered the American heritage of freedom at some lengtht. We need no further justification for a broad and immediate program than the need to reaffirm our faith in the traditional American morality. The pervasive gap between our aims and what we actually do is creating a kind of moral dry rot which eats away at the emotional and rational bases of democratic beliefs. There are times when the difference between what we preach about civil rights and what we practice is shockingly illusttrated by individual outrages. There are times when the whole structure of our ideology is made ridiculous by individual instances. And there are certain continuing, quiet, omnipresent practices which do irreparable damage to our beliefs.

'MORAL EROSION'

As examples of "moral erosion" there are the consequences of suffrage limitations in the South. The fact that Negroes and many whites have not been allowed to vote in some states has actually sapped the morality underlying universal suffrage. Many men in public and private life do not believe that those who have been kept from voting are capable of self rule. They finally convince themselves tthat distranchised people do not really have the right to vote.

Wartime segregation in the armed forces is another instance of how a social pattern may wreck moral havoc. Practically all white officers and enlisted men i nall branches of service saw Negro military personnel performing only the most menial functions. They saw Negroes recruited for the common defense treated as men apart and distinct from themselves. As a result, men who might otherwise have maintained the equalitarian morality of their forebears were given reason to look down on their fellow citizens.

This has been sharply illustrated by the Army study discussed previously in which white servicemen expressed great surprise at the excellent performance of Negroees who joined them in the firing line. Even now, very few people know of the successful experiment with integrated combat units. Yet it is important in explaining why some Negro trtoops did not do well; it is proof that equal treatment can produce equal performance.

Thousands upon thousands of small, unseen incidents reinforce the impact of headlined violations like lynchings, and bbroad social patterns like segregation and inequality of treatment. There is, for example, the matter of "fair play." As part of its training for democratic life, our youtht is constantly told to "play fair," to abide by "the rules of the game," and to be "good sports". Yet, how many boys and girls in our country experience such things as Washington's annual marble tournament? Because of the prevailing pattern of segregation, established as a model for youth in the schools and recreatin systems, separate tournaments are held for Negro and white boys. Parallel elimination contests are poonsored until only two victors remain. Without a contest between them, the white boy is automatically designnated as the local champion and sent to the national tournament, while the Negro lad is relegated to the position of runner-up. What child can achieve any real understanding of sportsmanship, of rules of the game, after he has personally experienced such an example of inequality?

It is impossible to decide who suffers the greatest moral damage from our civil rights ttransgressions, because all of us are hurt. That is certainly true of those who are victimized. Their belief in the basic truth of the American promise is undermined. But they do have the realization, galling as it sometimes is, of being morally in the right. The damage to those who are responsible for these violations of our moral standards may well be greater. They, too, have been reared to honor the command of "free and equal." And all of us must share in the shame at the growth of hypocrisies like the "automatic" marble champion. All of us must endure the cynicism about democratic values which our failurees breed.

The United States can no longer countenance these burdens on its common conscience, these inroads on its moral fiber.

The Economic Reason

One of the principal economic problems facing us and the rest of the world is achieving maximum production and continued prosperity. The loss of a huge, potential market for goods is a direct result of the economic discrimination which is practiced against many of our minority groups. A sort of vicious circle is produced. Discrimination depresses the wagees and income of minority groups. As a result, their purchasing power is curtailed and markets are reduced. Reduced markets result in reduced production. This cuts down employment, which of course means lower wages and still fewer job opportunities. Rising fear, prejudice, and insecurity aggravate the very discrimination in employment which sets the vicious circle in motion.

'IN BUSINESS TOGETHER'

Minority groups are not the sole victims of this economic waste; its impact is inevitably felt by the entire population. Eric Johnston, when president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, made this point with vividness and clarity:

"The withholding of jobs and business opportunities from some people doese not make more jobs and business opportunities for others. Such a policy merely tends to drag down the whole economic level. You can't sell an electric refrigerator to a family that can't afford electricity. Perpetuating poverty for some merely guarantees stagnation for all. True economic progress demands that the whole nation move forward at the same time. It demands that all artificial barriers erected by ignorance and intolerance be removed. To put it in the simplest terms, we are all in business together. Intolerance is a species of boycott and any business or job boycott is a cancer in the economic body of the nation. I repeat, intolerance is destructive; prejudice produces no wealth; discrimination is a fool's economy."

Economic discrimination prevents full use of all our resources. During the war, when we were called upon to make an all-out productive effort, we found that we lacked skilled laborers. This shortage might not have been so serious if minorities had not frequently been denied opportunities for training and experience. In the end, it cost large amounts of money and precious time to provide ourselves with trained persons.

Discrimination imposes a direct cost upon our economy through the wasteful duplication of many facilities and services required by the "separate but equal" policy. That the resources of the South are sorely strained by the burden of a double system of schools and ther public services has already been indicated. Segregation is also economically wasteful for private business. Public transportation companies must often provide duplicate facilities to serve majority and minority groups separately. Places of public accommodation and recreation reject business when it comes in the form of unwanted persons. Stores reduce their sales by turning away minority customers. Factories must provide separate locker rooms, pay windows, drinking fountains, and washrooms for the different groups.

Discrimination in wage scales and hiring policies forces a higher proportion of some minority groups onto relief rolls than corresponding segments of the majority. A study by the Federal Emergency Relief Administration during the depression of the '30s revealed that in every region the percentage of Negro families on relief was far greater than white families:

	For cent of families on relief—May, 1934
	Negro	White
Northern cities	52.2	13.3
Border state cities	51.8	10.4
Southern cities	33.7	11.4

Similarly, the rates of disease, crime, and fires are disproportionately great in areas which are economically depressed as compared with wealthier areas. Many of the prominent American minorities are confined—by economic discrimination, by law, by restrictive covenants, and by social pressure—to the most dilapidated, undesirable locations. Property in these locations yields a smaller return in taxes, which is seldom sufficient to meet the inordinately high cost of public services in depressed areas. The majority pays a high price in taxes for the low status of minorities.

To the costs of discrimination must be added the expensive investigations, trials, and property losses which result from civil rights violations. In the aggregate, these attain huge proportions. The 1943 Detroit riot alone resulted in the destruction of two million dollars in property.

COST OF PREJUDICE

Finally, the cost of prejudice cannot be computed in terms of markets, production, and expenditures. Perhaps the most expensive results are the least tangible ones. No nation can afford to have its component groups hostile toward one another without feeling the stress. People who live in a state of tension and suspicion cannot use their energy constructively. The frustrations of their restricted existence are translated into aggression against the dominant group. Myrdal says:

"Not only occasional acts of violence, but most laziness, carelessness, unreliability, petty stealing and lying are undoubtedly to be explained as concealed aggression * * * . The truth is that Negroes generally do not feel they have unqualified moral obligations to white people * * * . The voluntary withdrawal which has intensified the isolation between the two castes is also an expression of Negro protest, under cover."

It is not at all surprising that a people relegated to second-class citizenshipclass citizenship should behave as second-class citizens. This is true, in varying degrees, of all of our minorities. What we have lost in money, production, invention, citizenship and leadership as the price for damaged, thwarted personalities—these are beyond estimate.

The United States can no longer afford this heavy drain upon its human wealtht, its national competence.

The International Reason

Our position in the postwar world is so vital to the future that our smallest actions have far-reaching effects. We have come to know that our own security in a highly interdependent world is inextricably tied to the security and well-being of all people and all countries. Our foreign policy is designed to make the United States an enormous, positive influence for peace and progress throughout the world. We have tried to let nothting, not even extreme political differences between ourselves and foreign nations, stand in the way of this goal. But our domestic civil rights shortcomings are a serious obstacle.

In a letter to the Fair Employment Practice Committee on May 8, 1946, the Honorable Dean Acheson, then acting secretary of state, stated that:

" * * * the existence of discrimination against minority groups in this country has an adverse effect upon our relations with other countries. We are reminded over and over by some foreign newspapers and spokesmen, that

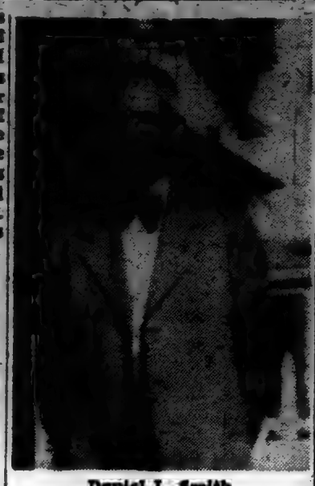
Trail Blazers:



By PHYLLIS SCOTT

Ever since Horace Greeley's "Go West, Young Man" proposal aroused the pioneering spirit of ambitious people, literally droves have trekked to California over the years to exploit the last of the American frontiers. There are many stories told about the development of this Glorious State but few are more colorful than the one told by Daniel L. Smith, resident of Los Angeles county 61 years.

Smith left his native Ft. Worth at an early age and went with his family to Austin, Texas. With an extenuating memory he related the details of his childhood . . . the dirt floor shanty, the straw bed, poor diet, and a mother's grief for her son's meager existence because she had been accustomed to the finest.

He never had any formal shooling. Work always interrupted his attempts to attend school regularly. But he learned a wealth of practical information that equipped him for a comfortable living for life. With a strong back and a stout heart, he began to grapple with life's complexities quite early.

His first working experience was as an errand and cleanup boy at Dohlman Brothers, a department store and tailoring shop, in Ft. Worth. It was there thtt he thoraughly learned merchandising. Since that time no one has been able to sell him an inferior tailored garment. When the family moved to Austin he went to work in a furniture store. Although he worked in a limited capacity, he learned practically every phase of the furniture business. So upon his arrival in Los Angeles it was relatively easy for him to secure a job at one of the leading furniture stores at that time. He worked at the Milwaukee Furniture Company, 4th and Main, as shipper, packer, stock worker, and other capacities until the panic of the early 90's.

During his employ at the furniture store he made the acquaintance of three young men—Joe, Al, and Charlie Barker—who were to establish a business that revolutionized the furniture trade all over the world. They were his friends until their death . . . and he still receives a hearty welcome whtnever he visits the store.

After he quit the store he went into the Express and Hauling business. His first day's earnings were only $1.75 but before his retirement he made as high as $15 a day. He was nuccessful because he worked and met the almost insurmountable obstacles with fortieude, earning the reputation of being the best in the business.

This was in the days prior to the advent of the automobile. With a two horse wagon he used to haul furniture for Barker Brothers to some of the wealthiest homes in Pasadena and Beverly Hills. Smith declares that hauling furniture in those homes

POTPOUR

The State CIO endorsement conference to be held in the CIO building, Los Angeles, Sunday, will endorse candidates for Congress and the Assembly who will fight to repeal the Taft-Hartley law, drive down prices, and halt the drive for Universal Military Training, the draft and war. The delegates to the conference will set in motion the machinery to nominate, or to elect if possible, those candidates in the June 1 primary. Candidates will be endorsed from all three parties.

Despite a majority vote in its favor, the Amalgamated Clothing Workers have lost a union shop election conducted by the Taft-Hartleyized NLRB at Man of California, a sportswear manufacturing firm in Los Angeles.

The vote was 19 to 17 in favor of the union shop. But the T-H law says the union must win a majority vote of all employes in the shop, not merely those who take the trouble to vote. M. of C. employs 40 workers.

See how the Taft-Hartley law works?

Think you can get a job as a seaman on an American ship?

Well, you can't. Said Anthony Lucio, NMU port agent in San Pedro, to one such ambitious seaman: "Sorry, son. Jobs are scarce right now. The Marshall plan, by transferring American ships to Greece, Turkey, Germany, and Italy, has thrown 25,000 seamen out of jobs. You can't work on a ship after Marshall gives it away."

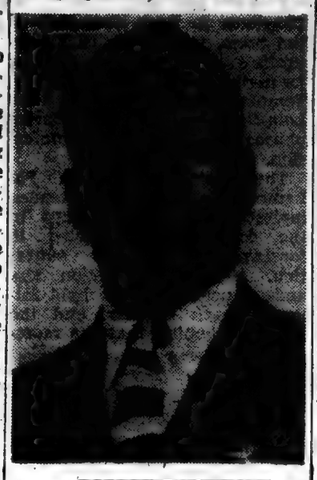
cal of old Europe. Dark, shadowy ways, barely wide enough to permit two persons to pass, are roughly-unevenly paved, veritable canyons between the quaintest most fascinatingly picturesque of ramshackle buildings.

Dark, evil smelling tiny shops yawn like mysterious caverns on either side, steep flights of wooden and stone stairs wind upward to the Lord knows what strange roosts and kennels among the itles and projecting balconies and latticed windows.

Wonderful too, is the color scheme of Curacao houses and buildings are gaudy with yellow, pink, rose, buff, pale-green, orange, lavendar, and heliotrope, in addition to glaring red tiles and green wooden shutters to the windows.



Overhead the sky is impassably blue. The streets are dazzling white. The women and girls flit about in all the gorgeous hues of tropical butterflies. And wherever there are trees or shrubbery or vines they are ablaze with scarlet, orange of cerise flowers.

(The End)

By ROBERT E. WESTON
(In Six Articles, Art. 6)

From Scots Head, the most southerly point of Dominica, it is barely 15 miles to Martinique, with Marne Pelee, dark, ominous, sinister, the most conspicuous feature of the northern portion of the famous island. At night the scene was indescribably grand. The smoke pillar rose quietly and the heavens took on a dull crimson hue with the lurid glow from within the crater. Cinders and lava bombs could be seen blazing in the darkness like giant star-shells.

Yes, scenically, Martinique is very beautiful. It may look the wild grandeur, the majestic proportions and the dense forests of Dominica. Its mountains cannot compare with those of its neighbors and far greater areas of its surface are under cultivation, but its surface is delightfully varied. It is green beyond belief and it possesses an inexplicable atmosphere of peace, brightness and promise peculiar to itself. Like all, or nearly all of the Caribbeans, the island is rough and mountainous in the north and slopes gradually to lower hills and more extensive valleys in the south.

Beyond St. Pierre the shores are precipitous, rising from the sea in a series of sharp ridges, with their seaward ends cut off so abrutly and smoothly that they appear as if sliced by a titanic knife. Thus, they give the peculiar effect of a long series of conical cliffs along the shore. In great green billows the ridges extend inland, in places broadening into fertile plateaus, in other spots left by deep, narrow valleys, while here and there mighty peaks soar abruptly toward the sky. Many of the more mountainous portions are clothed with primeval forests, and everywhere stretch fields of cane. Great areas of bananas and plantains, groves of cacao trees, orchards of lime, lemon and orange trees and gardens filled with yams, sweet potatoes, maize and other veretables abound. Everywhere too, along the shore are little villages tucked in between the headlands, their white houses and red roofs always dominated by a church spire, and looking like little bouquets of red and white flowers amid the palms. More and more extensive become the cultivated lands, more and more numerous are the villages and the estate houses upon the hillsides and in the valleys until, beyond a glaring red promontory, Fort-de-France appears.

The Harbor of Fort-de-France is one of the best in the Antilles, a great almost landlocked bay. About its shore cluster the innumerable buildings of this busy French West Indian city. It would be difficult to find a more attractive Antillean port as viewed from the sea. Upon the headland, ancient, rumbling, age-gray Fort Royal frowns down. The placid surface of the bay is alive with quaint, gaily painted boats and steamers. Sailing ships swinging at anchor are moored to the commodious quays. The brightly tinted buildings gleam in the sun, and in the background rises the islets dotting the water to the south.

As is the case with Dominica and all the other islands, the true beauty of Martinique can only be appreciated by taking trips into the interior. And as Martinique's roads are excellent this may be done quickly and easily by automobile from Fort-de-France. Every outlying village and estate is more delightfully picturesque than the last, and every turn of the road, as it ascends the mountains by easy gradients, reveals new and unexpected beauties of scenery and vegetation.

Often the highroad follows the brink of sheer precipices above interminable seas of forest. Often it winds along banks of trembling mountain torrents roaring down deep gorges amid rank jungle and for miles it passes through the dim cool aisles of the "high bush," or under long avenues of palms, with immense cane fields stretching away on every side. But it is hopeless to attempt to describe the fascination, the beauty, the luxuriance, the scenery and the charm of such an island as Martinique.

Not until the visitor has experienced them can he realize the true character and the irresistible lure of these islands.

To many persons the name Curacao means only a liqueur, a most essential component of certain delightful beverages of pre-Volstead days. A few may have a somewhat hazy idea that the liqueur is named for a certain island somewhere in the West Indies, which, presumably, is the source of the liqueur and still fewer may know that the island belongs to Holland.

But even with the vast army of tourists swarming the islands and the ports of the Antilles each winter, comparatively few visit Curacao, that strange bit of land that, by the magic of oil, has been transformed from an almost unknown, out-of-the-way spot to a place of vast importance and a most essential cog in the wheel of commerce and progress.

Of all the West Indian islands, Curacao is the most unique and most astonishing. At first hight the low-lying grayish-green, forbidding-looking island, with its terraced limestone hills, appears a most uninteresting spot; but as the ship approaches Willemstad, and the town comes clearly within view, the visitor rubs his eyes and wonders if his senses

Up from the edge of the sea spreads a city of red, tiled roofs, of multi-colored buildings, of chimney tops, gables, and dormer windows, as typically and unmistakably Dutch as any town in Holland, and yet as equally typically and unmistakably un-Dutch in its color and setting.

And, as the ship slowly swings into the narrow harbor that bisects the town, the voyager feels that he must be traversing a canal in the Netherlands with the Dutchmen gone color-mad.

On either side are the cobbled quays, lined with Dutch warehouses and buildings elaborately gabled, tile-roofed, quaintly dormer windowed, and lacking only the nestling storks upon the chimney tops to make the place a bit of Holland transported bodily overseas and dropped down here in a tropic setting.

Then, spanning the harbor and barring the ship's way, one sees a long, low bridge, across which pedestrians, carriages and water cars are passing. There seems no chance of further progress, until slowly amazingly, the bridge appears to come to life and, without visible means, swings bodily aside, leaving a broad clear channel for the incoming vessel.

Bordering the harbor are endless quays, hewn from the solid coral rock and everywhere are the great hulls and huge funnels of ocean-going steamships looming high above the chimney tops and gables.

Onward, into the very heart of the town, the steamer picks its way to come to rest at last beside a dock whose mooring ports are ancient Dutch and Spanish cannon, whose sheds and warehouses are massively built, peak-roofed structures with dormer windows, and where the chattering black-skinned stevedores are gabbling in a tongue spoken nowhere else in all the world. For one of the most curious and astounding features of this strange spot is the fact that it possesses a language all of its own.

This remarkable language is known as Papiamento, and, although composed of a mixture of Spanish, Portuguese, Dutch, French, English and Indian with a little Latin for good measure, yet it has its own grammar, its syntax, decensions and conjugations. It is the national and universal language of Curacao; books, magazines, newspapers and official notices are printed in Papiamento, and yet it originated and was developed and perfected on this island of barely 35,000 souls.

Finally there is the town itself, which runs true to form and proves its impartiality by adopting the Spanish names of Punta and Otrabanda to designate the two sections separated by the harbor of Santa Ana Baar—itself a splendid example if bilingual nomenclature — although known collectively by the Dutch name of Willemstad.

Many of the streets are wide, well-paved and well-kept. Many of the buildings are large, modern and even inspiring. But there is not a street building in the town that does not bear Dutch hallmarks, either wholly or in some feature.

The Cris Wrights were voted as hosting the gayest after-party. Their welcome mat was out for many guests following the formal dance. As an added bit of entertainment, pianist, Dorothy Donegon, played the latest, inspiring Herbie Swanigan, just down from Oakland, to hie off and return with his base fiddle, which gave way to a jam session that lasted well into Saturday morning.

With their annual formal now a successful thing of the past, the sorors of Alpha Kappa Alpha have started work on the Sorority's annual vocational guidance program.

GAY PRINT was the material of the Grecian draped gown worn by general dance chairwoman Ann Gordon. This marked her second year as chairwoman.

Jane Criner Entertains Crop 'N' Tails

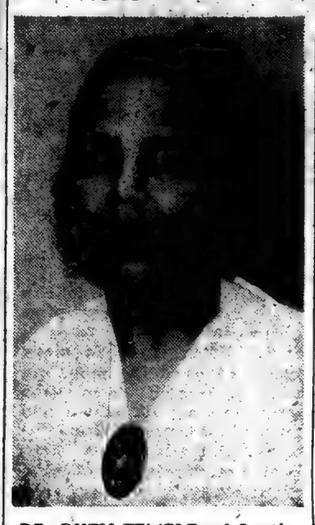
Miss Jane Criner entertained at dinner Sunday evening, for members of the Crop 'N' Tail Riding club. Following the brief business session, which included reports on the coming Barn Dance, April 24, participating in the Jabberwock, and resuming riding classes, the club members enjoyed a talk on "Trick Riding," by one of the city's leading horsemen.

Cut flowers were used through the house. The appointed table was centered with a bouquet of deep red tulips and white stalk. The members found their respective places by unique place cards styled from "Funny Paper" clippings.

The club adjourned to meet at the Henderson Center this week, to rehearse a clever dance number that will be used as a means of introduction at the Barn Dance.

Merry Wives Club Introductory Tea

The Merry Wives Club held their Introductory Tea, on April 4, at 2058 S. Harvard Blvd.



Promptly at 5 p.m. the following were presented: Mrs. Blanche Hall, president; Mrs. Louise Anderson, vice president; Mrs. Carrine Osborne, Secty. Treas.; Mrs. Blanche Strickland, Bus. Mgr.; Mrs. Francis Burke, reporter; Mrs. Maude Marks, critic.

Mmes. Katie Jones, Lillian Williams, Robbie Fleming and Elta Mae Martin, members.

Leading Business Women To Address Students at Nat'l Iota Phi Lambda Program

Chapters of Iota Phi Lambda sorority all over the country are in the throes of observing National Business Week. The celebration started Sunday April 11, and will reach a climax on Saturday April 17. Los Angeles will experience its first Iota program when on Saturday night at 6:30, the Business Week program will be held at Polytechnic high school. General chairman of the program is the chapter president, Mrs. Marion B. Jackson.

The entire procedure opening with a typing contest for senior high school girls will stress "Education for Business." Mrs. Edna Crian will serve as typing contest chairman.

DR. RUTH TEMPLE, of Southeast Clinic will discuss a phase of medicine.

Speakers on the businegs week program will include: Martha Malone Jefferson who will give steps to becoming a successful lawyer; Mrs. Helen Beavers Hodge, only woman officer of the Golden State Insurance Company, will detail her business background and the need for specialized trtaining; Mrs. Katherine Kenzie Alexander, of the California State Employment Service will appraise employer-employee responsibilities; Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, first lady of the press, will speak on opportunities offered in the field of journalism and Drs. Ruth Temple, Shelby Robinson and Lois Evans will discuss different phases of the medical profession.

The members of Iota Phi Lambda Sorority have extended invitations to other groups in the community interested in forelwarding business education. A regular question and answer period will be held following each speaker, and the Iotas are hoping that the meeting will prove a clinic to those interested in taking a sucessful place in the business world.

DR. LOIS EVANS — One of the youngest Chiropodists will answer questions about her chosen field.

Rummage Sale Highlights Wilfandel Activities

The Wilfandel Club will serve a delicious breakfast at the home of Mrs. Minnie Fortier, 2198 West 29th street, on Sunday, April 18, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Miss Janis Fortier, daughter of Mrs. Fortier, is one of the contestants in the contest being held by the Club.

The menu will consist of sausage nd waffles, bacon and eggs, coffee. Donation, 75c. Reservations can be made by calling CE. 27316 or PA. 7995.

Others assisting Mrs. Fortier will be Mrs. Ernestine Davidson, Club sponsor; Mrs. Lwendolyn Campbell, and Thelma Keyser.

The Club will present Miss Agnes Moreland, the popular senior of Jefferson High School who won the citywide oratorical contest conducted by The Daily News at a recital to be held Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock in Zion Hill Baptist Church. The program will be augmented by music furnished by the Federated Church Choirs and outstanding soloists. A silver offering will be taken.

Between the hours of four and seven Mrs. Gertrude Hicks will serve tea at her home, 1225 South Wilton Place, in honor of the Wilfandel Club. The proceeds from this affair will be accredited to the contestants Leonora Moore and Elanor Winston.

Mrs. Hicks is the recent recipient of the award by Zeta Phi Beta sorority as outstanding woman for 1947, and has also been awarded a national certificate of recognition by Opportunity Journal of Negro Life. Because she recognizees the need of a club house for the women of Los Angeles, Mrs. Hicks is assisting the Wilfandel Club in its efforts in this direction.

A big rummage sale will be held by the Club on Saturday, April 24, at 1054 32nd street all day. Come early to get the best bargains. Many fine garments will be sold in the building fund effort.

Birthday Dinner For Three

On Saturday evening a birthday dinner party was held for Charles Smith, Herkey Vaughn, and Rick Winney. The hostesses for the affair were Mrs. Freddie Vaughn and Miss Ehthlene Gray of the Douze Mignonettes Social Club.

The dinner table was set for twenty-four guests and was beautifully adorned for a seven-course meal with after cocktails. Party guests were invited in after dinner to enjoy an evening of dancing and gaiety.

Twosoming were Cairo Collins and Doris Pepper, Dorothy Calhoun and Louie Farley, Betty LaBeau and B. T. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Faulk, Gertha and Howard Swinger, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Carpenter, and Mr. and Mrs. Billy Gossip. Others present were Rufus Blake, Vivian Johnson, Ralph Wright, Ed Johnson, Raymond Smith, Raoul Reynolds, Catherine Dow, Chester Carter, J. T. and Robert Morgan, Clarence Lewis, Hortesse Stevens, Gert Jackson, Elsie Morgan, and others. A gala time was had by all.

Book Clubs Anniversary Party

Our Authors Study Club will celebrate its Fourth Anniversary Tea, Sunday, April 18, at the Sojourner Truth Home, 1119 E. Adams Blvd. from 3 to 7 p.m. An outstanding musical program has been arranged.

A surprise musical star will appear on the program. Miss Nita Blackwell will be the guest speaker. You will want to see the display of books by Negro authors. Come and bring your friends.

Mrs. Vassie D. Wright is president of the club.

Annual Fashion Benefit Given Pyramid Club

The "Queen of Angels Sodality" presented its annual Fashion Show Dance Benefit, on Saturday night, April 10, at St. Odelia's Parish Hall, located at 53rd and Latham Street. The affair started at 8:00 p.m. and lasted well into the night.

Alice Goodloe Honors Visitors

A dinner party was given recently in honor of Mrs. Garrett Dolton and two sons visiting here from St. Louis, Mo.

The lovely affair was held at the home of Mrs. Alice Goodloe, 5611 Hooper Ave.

Mrs. Dolton is visiting her mother, Mrs. Nettie Harris of 1264 E. 57th Street.

Allied Arts League Hears Mrs. G. Schuyler

The Allied Arts League met at the fashionable home of Miss Louise Beavers on Sunday morning, with Mrs. Ethel Bell as co-hostess.

Key speaker of the morning was Mrs. George Schuyler, mother of ehe famed Philippa Schuyler. She dealt with parent education, basing her speech on the nutritional effect on children.

The business part of the meeting was devoted to reports on the highly successful Langston Hughes presentation.

Ellen Whitman Off to Europe

Mrs. Ellen Whitman, wife of radio and screen actor, Ernest Whitman, left Monday for New York, where she will sail for Europe on the S. S. American on April 15.

Regional Fenderson, Mrs. Whitman's son, is playing in the European showing of "Anna Lucasta," and has given his mother the trip to Europe.

Mrs. Whitman will be in Europe for three months. Due to his work in the "Beulah" broadcast, Ernest Whitman will remain in the states.

McPhersons and Brights Tender Sun Reception for Celebrated Schuylers

The lovely Philippa Schuyler and her mother Mrs. George Schuyler could not have been welcomed more cordially or more officially to Los Angeles than they were Sunday afternoon at the beautiful twilight reception given by Dr. and Mrs. Henry McPherson and the Misses Birdielee and Consuelo Bright at the McPhersons S. Wilton manse.

It was a fitting welcome for the celebrated young lady who arrived in Los Angeles for her first performance, to be sponsored by the Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity on Sunday, at Philharmonic Auditorium.

In the formal receiving line were, Dr. and Mrs. McPherson, Mrs. George Schuyler, and Mrs. William Kaza. Miss Consuelo Bright received at the door and Miss Birdielee Bright presented the more than 200 guests to the members of the line.

Prominent social civic and religious leaders of Los Angeles attended the gathering. Coffee was served from a beautifully arranged table from 7 p.m. until 9. Promptly at 8:30 p.m., the reception chatter ceased, as Miss Philippa Schuyler made her appearance from the beautiful winding staircase of the McPherson's home. Gowned in a bouffant creation of pink taffeta, she was a picture of loveliness. For some 30 minutes Philippa acknowledged introductions, signed autograph books and answered questions. She then bade "good evening" to the guests.

Assisting at the appointed table, were: Dr. Veda Somerville, Mrs. Ursula P. Murrell, Mrs. Georgia Payton, Mrs. Rheba Butler, Mrs. Louise Collier and Miss Yolande Stovall.

Among the prominent guests were Atty. and Mrs. Clarence Jones, Dr. Alice Garrott, Dr. and Mrs. Leonard Stovall, Dr. E. I. Robinson, Mrs. Emily Brown Portwig, Miss Hattie McDaniels, Rev. George Garner, Mr. and Mrs. George Taylor Waugh, Mr. Waugh is general chairman of the Phylippa Schuyler concert; Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Davidson, presidents of the Alpha graduate chapter and Alpha Wives club, respectively; and a host of other civic and social leaders of the city.

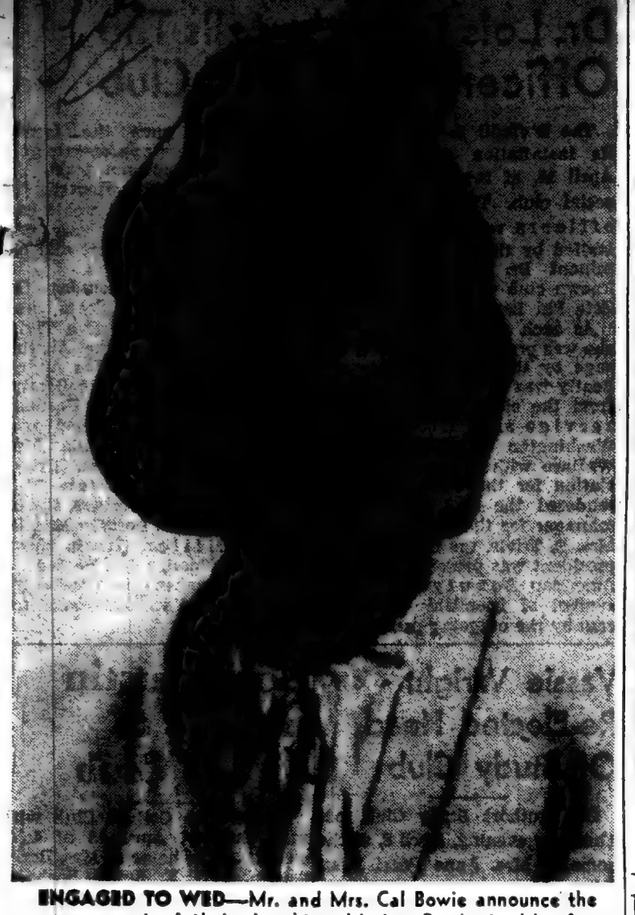
Interracial Frat Organized Here

Epsilon Chi Chapter last week received its official charter from the headquarters of Alpha Phi Omega Fraternity. The charter was presented at Los Angeles City and State College in what turned out to be a most impressive and important ceremony.

This inter-racial fraternity has elected as its first president a Negro student, James McDaniels, who receive the charter on behalf of his chapter from C. S. Carlson, national representative, who flew to Los Angeles especially for the ceremony.

Mr. McDaniels was also presented with a beautiful engraved president's gavel by Noel Brown, proprietor of the Brown Jewelry Company.

The new president has worked diligently to secure the local chapter, and his election to the presidency is a fitting reward for his efforts. This chapter, incidentlly, is the first interracial on campus chapter of Alpha Phi Omega Fraternity on the West Coast.



Dozen Roses

The One Dozen Roses social club held its meeting Sunday, April 11, at the home of Mrs. Sarah Brown, 812½ E. 25th street.

A report was given that Mrs. Eula G. Gary is on the sick list. The group wishes her a speedy recovery.

ENGAGED TO WED—Mr. and Mrs. Cal Bowie announce the engagement of their daughter, Marian Bowie to Mr. Jay Spears. The couple has planned a wedding for June 6, at Paradise Baptist Church. (see story)

HAPPY SIGMAS—This picture was taken at the very festive after-basketball game party given at the home of Dr. C. W. Hill for the men of the winning Sigma basketball team, other frat members, their wives and sweethearts. The Sigmas beat the champ Kappa team of '47. The gents are all out to take the victory cup home.

BONNIE—The famous French and Australian masseuse, cordially invites your presence at the premiere of her Grand Opening on Saturday and Sunday, April 17-18, from 6 to 9 p.m.

WHAT'S DOING IN THE SOCIAL SET

By JESSIE MAE BROWN

WHILE GRAD CHAPTER MEMBERS of Alpha Kappa made ready with formal attire for the annual dance, the undergraduates of Sigma Chapter were going through the musical skit "Jenny from Trinny" in the annual Campus "Backouts of '48" at USC last Friday night. It marked the first time any of the tan toned scholars of the local University ever took part in the activity that is opened to recognized campus groups. Dolores Bell, star of the show when it took top honors in the Delta Jabberwock last year, danced the group to top honors in the Friday night show. The gold cup that is transferrable from year to year, was proudly presented to Sigma Chapter when they won the vote of the judges and overwhelming applause of the capacity audience in Bouvard Auditorium. The whole body of Alpha Kappa Alpha is indeed proud of the Sigma girls, in fact all the Greeks are doffing their hats to the winners. By the way, Sigma chapter recently celebrated its 25th anniversary, so to them go a congratulatory bouquet of orchids from this writer's desk.

Child House, the very attractive structure that recently went up on West Adams Blvd., will be the scene of the annual "Mother of the Year" Tea, sponsored by the Child Study Guild. Mrs. Mable Martin, general chairman of this years event, is urging the different clubs to send in their candidate for the honors. The 4th Sunday of this month, the annual "Mother of the Year" Tea will take place. Understand that speaker of the afternoon will be Margret C. Harpstrip, one of the local county commissioners on Child care.

By the way, the First Anniversary Banquet of the Henderson Community Center was very well attended. From my seat at the banquet table noted quite a number of community leaders among the guests. Dr. Ralph Mayberry was toastmaster of the evening, and Mrs. Summer Spaulding gave very interesting suggestions in her key address. Of course Rev. J. R. Henderson was commended for taking the initial steps to secure the Center and much praise was given Mary Lou Roberson, Director.

PARTYING AND SUCH

Lucille Boswell added another candle to that birthday cake, and believe me, she had many a deb present to witness the littel ceremonial. It all happened on Saturday afternoon at a luncheon honoring Lucille. The hostess was her aunt, Mrs. Minor. To name who was there would take the whole of the column, so the following are simply the names that stayed with ye scribe. From Pasadena came Carolyn Hennington and Gloria Bunch, bearing birthday presents and looking very chic. Wrenna Clark, home from N. Y. for keeps, was o' so smart in a brown afternoon dress; Vashti Peake was much in evidence along with Faye Thompson, Evelyn Abney, Elizabeth Green Anita Williams, Bessye Wilson, Kitty Beard, and many many others were present. Lucille, who ye scribe still gives the handle of being the local Elsa Maxwell, did herself proud as the perfect hostess. Must mention at this point that her gifts were beautiful and definitely showed the true affection the gang has for the personality kid. Many happy returns of the day.

Also on Saturday, but during late evening, Phyllis Scott, fellow Eagle scribe birthday celebrated with an elaborate dinner party at the Dalton Street home of her parents. Arrived on the scene a bit late, however in time to enjoy the repast along with Libby Clark who has decided to return East for a spell. Yvonne Shephard, Earl Carter, Freddie Guiles, and Ellis Spears, all of the official EAGLE family were there to wish Phyllis the best of everything. Arriving even later than Yours Truly, and it is possible, were Don Barksdale, Evelyn Roberts and Joe Oliver, Dan Ferniel, Ishmal Evans and Bob Reed. Believe me, it was quite a party.

Am quite sure you Greeks will agree, the men of Sigma have come to the front with one of the strongest basketball teams the series has to offer. A bit surprising, due to the fact that this season makes their first. One of the proudest Sigma men, over the progress of the team, is Dr. C. W. Hill, due reason for the fine after-party he gave for the gents and their ladies Saturday. The Sigmas feasted and made merry 'till the early hours of Sunday morning. Though the affair officially started out as a closed Sigma party, many of the other Greeks made their way to C. W.'s Hollywood home and a grand time was had by all.

SHOWER NOTES

The expected addition to the Elbert Hudson family has occasioned several outstanding affairs with the stork motif. On Sunday morning, the Phi-Delphian club to which Mrs. Hudson (Marilyn Williams) is president, took her completely by suprise when she dropped by Puffy Hills home along with Corine Kemp and found all the club members present, ten outside friends and a host of adults welcoming her with gifts galore for the future little Hudson. The gifts were so plentiful, there were several duplicates, including repeats on the bathenettes. If the bundle of joy should be twins, than all would come in handy . . . On the serious side, the big event is scheduled for sometime in May. The maternal grandparents will be Mr. and Mrs. Paul R. Williams and the paternal grandfather, Dr. H. Claude Hudson.

Later Sunday afternoon Wini Allen opened gifts again at a pre-nuptial shower. Didn't get the complete list of hostesses, however, Zarelda Sealey was one. Gifts on top of gifts were opened by the soon to be Mrs. Ellis Toney. The decorations were refreshing to look at. A huge pink umbrella surrounded by tiney umbrellas was the center of attraction. A tiny doll bride, in a garden of fresh cut flowers completed the decorations. Ellis and Wini will say I do on April 25.

Speaking of showers, Yours truly, did a bit of gift opening and thanking guests at the Bridal Brunch given by Odessa Jones. More fun, and take it from me, very thrilling. Someone else should do the scribing at this point, so if you look over in the Silhoutte this week, you will find a full account. . . .

Ruth Mars will wear the gay hostess apron on next Sunday afternoon when she honors Doris Wearye with a Lingerie shower.

Bride-Elect Feted at Sunday Brunch

With her wedding date set for June 27, Jessie Mae Brown, bride-elect of LeRoy A. Beavers Jr., is being widely feted. Mrs. Odessa Jones entertained Sunday morning with a Bridal Brunch at the home of Mrs. Alice Harvey.

Among those present were: Mmes. Housing Theme for Y.W.C.A. Rededication Service

Woodland Branch of the Young Women's Christian Association, like hundreds of other YWCA branches and centers throughout the nation, will pause to rededicate its work to young women on Sunday, April 25, the date set aside for national rededication.

At this time it seems imperative that a re-examination of purpose and direction should be viewed, not only from a world-wide perspective but our local focus should be sharpened in order to understand how we can serve more effectively in our own community," stated Miss Matred McKissick, branch executive director at the planning meeting on Thursday.

Housing has been selected as the theme around which a splendid program is being arranged by the chairman, Mrs. H. A. Howard.

While the rededication service is planned for the branch membership totaling close to three thousand; friends and interested members of the community are requested to attend. Following the rededication services a tour will be conducted through the residential section of the building. OPEN HOUSE for the entire week will be held for the interest of the public. Exhibits from the Y-Teen, Young Adult, Arts and Crafts, Interior Decoration and other special interest groups will be on display.

On April 29th at 10:15, over station KECA, the national rededication program will be heard with Mrs. Sumner Spaulding serving as panel leader. At this time emphasis will again be placed on housin gin relation to women and girls. The week will be climaxed with a local broadcast over Station KFOX, on Sunday, May 2, at 10 a.m. Mrs. Joan J. Willis will be in charge of the broadcast.

A PROGRESSIVE NEWSPAPER FOR A PROGRESSIVE PEOPLE

KINLOCH'S KORNER

Dedicated to the memory of John Kinloch, who died in the struggle to destroy Fascism

Raisin' Cain

By CARL L. CAIN

Now don't let anyone tell you that Russia has suicide divers. Regardless of how the statement sounds now, some of the papers tried to indicate no less last week in sensationalizing the story of the British and Russian air collision, which took the lives of fifteen persons. It seems that, in detail, a Russian plane collided with a British flying boat and the deaths resulted. The Russian pilot was killed too, the same as the fifteen other passengers.

No matter what the details were, or whose fault the crash was, the Russian government, in formal and traditional international policy, asked Britain to accept the country's apology for what happened—which should not have been necessary, in view of the fact that the Russian pilot was killed. No survivors remained to tell whose fault the crash was, but the news stories in some of the American presses were definitely slanted.

No real peace can come among the nations of the world as long as they have the type of headlines that we had in some of our papers last week. The average person bases his convictions of other nations, in many cases, upon what he reads in the papers. That is why the press should be particularly careful in reporting the news if we really want peace.

TOPIC OF THE WEEK

The Wisconsin elections last week proved one thing; that, in the minds of the American people, General Douglas MacArthur is not the man for President. However, it was surprising in every sense to see what happened to New York's governor Dewey in that election. Harold Stassen gained the lead in Wisconsin, but the general feeling is that he won't get past the Republican convention.

Many people believe that a general who is in the army at this time would not make a good president. They hate to see the name of General Douglas MacArthur being dragged through the mud and slander of a political election, knowing that all is fair in love, war, and political elections.

America was never as close to a complete military government as it is now. Most of the top men in Washington were, at one time, army men. The election of General MacArthur would, more or less, accentuate the grotesque face of militarism in Washington, although MacArthur has served well in the army.

Perhaps it was because General MacArthur has not announced his policy, if he has one, on world and national affairs that he got so little ballot-box recognition in what was supposed to be his leading state. But, after all, could you really expect the people to vote for a man of whose principles they know nothing?

Surely the man of the hour must have some definite stand on the problems of the hour. And there could have been no better time to announce that stand than before the Wisconsin elections.

Now I sincerely hope that in the election campaigns it will not become necessary for any of the political bodies to bypass the principles of democracy. I hope World Peace will be the goal of every candidate and that the people who elect our government officials will accept nothing less. Too, let's all hope that some will not promise UMT and selective service, and so forth, merely for the purpose of collecting votes and not thinking of the international effect the plans have. I hope still others will not be too strongly persuaded by the wishes and desires of Wall Street. Briefly, the principles of democracy should come first in every endeavor in America.

YOUTH LEADER OPPOSES UMT

"As some men would not be slaves, I would not be a master," said Thurston Carlock, student body president of Jefferson High school last week. "Any peace won by force and military violence would not be a lasting peace. We must not become masters or peddlers of fear and violence, while others become slaves to these menaces of peace."

Thurston Carlock is a seventeen year old member of Jefferson High's honor society, and expresses typical sentiment, on the question of UMT, of the youths who will be most affected by the plan. He feels that peace can only be maintained when the hearts and minds of peoples of the nations of the world are not in the strength of the military, but in the attempts for satisfaction and international understanding. Men of the nations should be able to discuss their problems and reach intelligent answers without the necessities of war and violence and destruction. America, young Thurston Carlock feels, would be taking the first step to war and violence.

The other youths who feel the same as this youth leader, Thurston Carlock, should not hesitate in expressing their feelings and views. The congressmen would be glad to receive your letters, your dreams for citizenship, and recognition as citizens, would not be futile.

But before writing, careful thought and consideration should be given to every side of the plan. The national and international effects should be studied. You should be able to answer such questions as: How would I feel if another nation took a similar step? What will other nations do if America builds a large army—and Russia? Who will make the profits from UMT? and other questions, just as important.

FOOTNOTE: It was a sad young man who explained: Mark Twain, at sixteen, was disgusted as how little his father knew. When he reached twenty one, he was surprised at how much his father had learned in five years. But you see, my father didn't know anything at sixteen, and still doesn't now that I'm twenty one!

'Highways, Byways To Music' Is Theme of Youth Program

"Highways and Byways to Music" is the theme of a program of events for children planned, directed and produced by Arts and Artists, Inc., and given at the Wilshire-Ebell theatre, 8th and Lucerne, seven Sunday afternoons at 2:30 o'clock.

The first program, "Follow the Drums," was given last Sunday. It followed the drums around the world and through the ages, from the savage rites of African jungles to a modern symphony orchestra.

"From the Pampas of the Argentine to the Halls of Montezuma" will be the theme for next Sunday. It will show how the music of the Spanish conquerors met the weird chants of the natives and eventually became the fascinating music of Latin-America.

Other subjects will be "Meet the Woodwind Family," the history of wood instruments, April 25; "Singing Across America," following the pioneers across our country, May 2; "The Soul of the Orchestra," giving the history of string instruments, May 9; "And the Trumpet Blew Down the Walls of Jericho," telling the story of brass instruments, May 16; and "Melody, Harmony, Rhythm," musical composition, May 23.

More than 50,000 artists will appear in the course of these events, Dr. Leonard Walker, eminent conductor, musicologist and lecturer, will direct each event.

Press Members To Attend School Meet

Representatives of different phases of journalism in Southern California will speak to high school journalism students Saturday, April 24, at the first annual Publications Roundup at East Los Angeles Junior college.

Participating on the panel discussion on the topic, "Opportunities in the Field of Journalism Today" will be five well known representatives of the pres, including Adela Rogers St. Johns, Donald L. Kirby, Bob Hunter, Bill Payette and Roy Marshall.

Thomas Jefferson was governor of Virginia from 1777 to 1781.

Annual Educational Confab Held at Lincoln University

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo.—The Annual Spring Educational Conference jointly sponsored by the Department of Education, Lincoln University Mo. and the College Section of the Missouri Teachers Association, is scheduled for April 16 and 17. Under the theme "Effecting Better Articulation Between the High School and College in the teaching of English and Foreign Languages," the program will be projected through three separate sessions. The first session, Friday evening eight o'clock, will be highlighted by an address by Dr. S. I. Hayakawa, Professor, Hinois Institute of Technoloy.

The second session, scheduled for 9:30 Saturday morning, will present Dr. James B. Thorp, Professor, Department of Education, Ohio State University. Several additional outstanding persons are expected to be present for contributions at sesions of interest to them. The final session, Saturday afternoon, will be devoted to a panel summarizing the salient points of the previous sessions.

Boy Scouts And DAPS Aid In Crime Prevention Week

During the recent Crime Prevention Week, a half million homes in Los Angeles received a crime prevention card from the Police Department through the coordinated efforts of some eight thousand Deputy Auxiliary Police and Boy Scouts.

The crime prevention message was brought into each household by a house to house distribution of the card containing the emergency police dial phone number and helpful home protective measures.

This second annual Crime Prevention Week was sponsored by the Los Angeles Police Department to acquaint the public with civic and individual responsibility in crime prevention.

Families who failed to receive this card may obtain one by calling at the nearest police station.

Blighted Areas Aid Delinquency, Leader Charges

Blighted areas of Los Angeles must be eliminated if Los Angeles is to win its fight against juvenile delinquency, Mrs. Curtic S. Albro, presidentof the YWCA, co-chairman of the public affairs committee of the Friday Morning club, and member of the Police commission, said today.

Mrs. Albro said taxpayers cannot support the high cost of police protection in these areas indefinitely and urged support of Mayor Fletcher Bowron's recent proposal to create a five-man urban dedevelopment commission.

"Los Angeles police records prove conclusively," Mrs. Albro said, "that juvenile delinquency is seven times greater in substandard areas than in the well-maintaine dsections of the city."

Mrs. Albro said 1,693 juveniles were apprehended in the central part of the city during 1947. More than 70 per cent of violations in this area she said, occurred in the triangular district formed by Figueroa street, the Los Angeles river and Sixth street. This section, she added, has the poorest housing conditions in Los Angeles and includes the highest population density.

Public School Teachers Get Pay Increase

"Average public school teacher salary increase of 19 per cent in California is the increase in median or midpoint salary of all full-time teachers in California for 1947-48 over that for 1946-47 as reported by the California State Department of Education's Bureau of Education Research," California Taxpayers' association said today, replying to the recent challenge of its figures by Dr. Herschel R. Griffin, executive secretary of the Affiliated Teacher Organizations of Los Angeles.

Median salary for full-time teachers in California for 1947-48 as reported by the State Department of Education is $3,321, compared with $2,793 for 1946-47.

Examination of the percentage increases paid by Los Angeles city schools quoted by the Teacher Organizations' representative shows that they are increases in pay 1947-48 over 1946-47 for the same step in the salary scale.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By REV. IKE EVANS, D.D.

Subject: The Return from Exile, Lesson Text and Outline, Ezra 1:1-4; 4:24; Hag½ai 13-14. Motto Text, Luke 9:62.

Introduction

There were three deportations to Babylon from Jerusalem: the first including Daniel in 606 B.C.: the second including Ezekiel in 597 B.C.; and the third following the fall of Jerusalem in 586 B.C. Counting from the first deportation by Nebuchadnezzar to the first return from exile under Cyrus of Persia in 536 B.C. we ascertain the accuracy of Jermiah's prediction a half century before its fulfillment. It was during his first year as ruler of Babylon that King Cyrus issued an edict declaring his purpose to rebuild the temple at Jerusalem, granting the Jewish exiles permission to return, and making financial provision for the emigration.

Comments

1. It is said of Cyrus that he knew not God, nor how to serve him; but God knew him, and how to serve himself by him. God governs the world by his influence on the spirits of men, and, whatever good is done at any time, it is God that stirs up the spirit to do it, puts thoughts into the mind, gives to the understanding to form a right judgment, and directs the will which way he pleases.

2. At some periods the church has suffered more by the coldness of its friends than by the heat of its enemies: but both together commonly make church-work slow work. We need the help of God's prophets and ministers to exopund to us, not only the judgments of God's mouth, but the judgment of minds, that we may understand his mind meaning in his rod as well as in his word, to discover to us not only wherein we have offended God, but wherein God shows himself offended at us. Our expectations from the creature are often most frustrated when they are most raised; and then, when we look for much, it comes to little, that our expectations may be from God only, in whom it will be outdone.

Whatever God will take pleasure in, when it is done, we ought to take pleasure in the doing of, and to reckon that inducement enough to set about it, and go on with it in good earnest; for what greater satisfaction can we have in our bosoms than in contributing any thing toward that which God will take pleasure in? It ought to be the top of our ambition to be accepted of the Lord. It is worth to bestow all possible care, and pains, and cost, upon that by which God may be glorified.

3. When God has work to do, he will either find or make men fit to do it, and stir them up to it. The consideration of God's sovereign dominion in the world by his providence, and his covenant-relation to his people by his grace, should stir up our spirits to act for him, and for the advancement of the interest of his kingdom among men, to the utmost of our power.

Comment on the Motto Text

Those who begin with the work of God must resolve to go on with it, or they will make nothing of it. Looking back inclines to drawing back, and drawing back is to perdition. Those are not fit for heaven who, having set their faces heavenward, face about. But he, and he only, that endures to the end, shall be saved. Christians must have singleness of aim, decision, and perseverance. Without divided heart or diverted look they must seek earnestly, strive steadily, and serve faithfully. Otherwise, they are not fit for responsibility or even respect in the kingdom of God.

The man who does not work for the love of work but only for money is not likely to make money nor to find much fun in life. —Charles M. Schwab

IN RECITAL—Yvonne Snadden, mezzo contralto, will be presented in a recital at the Neighborhood Community church, San Pedro st. and 47th pl., Sunday, April 18, at 7:45 p.m. Miss Juanita Lommone will serve as accompanist.

Born in St. Louis, Mo., Miss Snadden attended Los Angeles public schools, then moved to Monrovia. Now a nurse in the Pasadena hospital, Miss Snadden was in the semi-finals in the Atwater Kent radio program last year.

Church Groups Praise Golden Gate Quartet

The Golden Gate Quartet, famed interpreters of spiritual music, have been praised highly by church groups throughout the country for the success they have been having in re-introducing religious folk music on their current tour of the United States.

Because of the unexpected increases in requests for concert dates, the Golden Gaters have had to cancel a scheduled trip to Hollywood to begin work on another motion picture. They recently starred in a Technicolor epic for Sam Goldwyn Productions.

Mrs. Louisa Banks Succumbs; Funeral Rites Mon., April 19

Mrs. Louisa Banks, widow of the late Rev. W. P. Banks, passed away at 8 a.m. April 13, at her residence, 2131 W. 28th st.

Mother Banks came to Los Angeles in 1920 from the state of Kansas, where her late husband pastored in many of the prominent Baptist churches throughout the state.

She joined the Second Baptist church, 24th st. and Griffith ave., under the pastorage of the late Rev. T. L. Griffith, where she served as a faithful member until her illness prevented her attending. Being affiliated with many Christian activities in the various churches of the city, she was known by many as Mother Banks.

She leaves to mourn her loss a daughter, Miss Mary Ruth Banks, well-known school teacher of the city; a son, Theodore C. Banks; two granddaughters, three great-granddaughters, a host of relatives and friends.

The body can be viewed at Conner-Johnson's mortuary Friday evening, April 16.

Funeral services for Mother Banks will be held at the Second Baptist church, 24th st. and Griffith ave., Monday, April 19 at 10:30 a.m. Interment will be in Evergreen Cemetery.

Musical Program At Victory Baptist

To Air Religious Dramatization Sun.

The life of Dr. Leo Baeck, world famous rabbi, will be dramatized in "The Man Who Remembered Lincoln," presented on the Eternal Light program, Sunday, April 18, over station KFI, 10 a.m.

Written by Morton Wishengrad, "The Man Who Remembered Lincoln" tells how Leo Baeck refused to leave his congregation in Berlin, despite Nazi threats, and how later, the 75-year-old Jewish scholar spoke of Lincoln to his fellow prisoners at Theresienstadt. Joseph Cotten will be narrator.

Dr. Baeck is now in the United States on a special mission for the Union of American Hebrew Congregations.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere appreciation to every one who helped us during our berievement. Your kindness during the illness and passing of our dear sister, Katie Guilmynot will never be forgotten. The beautiful floral offering, inspiring remarks by Rev. B. O. Byrd, Rev. E. A. Nancy Juliet Scruggs, nine year old soprano, will be presented in recital by the Massingill Voice Studio, 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon, April 25, at the Bethel Church of Christ, accompanied by her 11 year old brother, Edgar.

Nancy has shown unusual talent since the tender age of two. She is endowed with a remarkable memory, and has a repertoire of classics to equal that of a much older person. Her sincere personality has won her many opportunities to render request numbers at various churches and schools. She has sung at the Ambassador hotel, Santa Monica, as well.

Nancy and Edgar traveled with their parents from the Pacific coast to Canada and sang in several states on their tour.

You are inivted to hear these future artists in person. Please be prompt.

Baha'i News

The True Source of Happiness is the subject to be discussed by Mrs. Virginia Foster at the public meeting of the Baha'i World Faith to be held at their Los Angeles headquarters, 331 South New Hampshire avenue, on Sunday afternoon, April 18, at 3 o'clock.

Abdul Baha said, "Happiness consists of two kinds: physical and spiritual. The physical happiness is limited. Spiritual happiness is eternal and unfathomable."

Christian Science Text 'Doctrine of Atonement'

The Golden Text of the Sunday Lesson-Sermon on "Doctrine of Atonement" in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, is from I Timothy and reads, "There is one God, and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus."

A Bible passage from Matthew's Gospel relates this incident of healing by Jesus, "There was a man which had his hand withered. And they asked him, saying, Is it lawful to heal on the sabbath days? that they might accuse him. . . . Then saith he to the man, Stretch forth thine hand. And he stretched it forth; and it was restored whole, like as the other. Then the Pharisees went out, and held a council against him, how they might destroy him. But when Jesus knew it, he withdrew himself from thence: and great multitudes followed him, and he healed them all."

"Jesus established his church and maintained his mission on a spiritual foundation of Christ-healing," writes Mary Baker Eddy, in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures." She adds, "He taught his followers that his religion had a divine Principle, which would cast out error and heal both the sick and the sinning."

Mrs. C. A. Bass Discusses 'Women of Post War Period' At St. John Baptist Rally

The need of women today in church, political, and civic life was stressed by Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, editor and publisher of The California Eagle, in a talk on "Women of the Post War Period" at a mammoth mass meeting and Old Testament rally held in St. John Baptist church last Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Bass told the story of how Miriam, sister of Moses, led the women in a dance and song of rejoicing after the Children of Israel had crossed the Red Sea.

"If," she said, applying the story to modern times, "the 13,000,000 Negroes in the United States would raise one loud united shout of protest against the life imprisonment sentence of Mrs. Rosa Lee Ingram and her two teen-age sons, the reactionary forces in America would shrink back as frightened as the Egyptians did, and we would cross our sea in triumph. We could do that not only in the Ingram case. We could do that for every difficulty we encounter. United, the waves of hatred, of fear, of discrimination and segregation, that seem to threaten our very existence at times, would part as did the waters of the Red Sea for Moses, and for his sister Miriam and the women of Israel."

Mrs. Bass pointed out that in this postwar period, out of six women employed, one woman is a Negro. "The leadership of the women of today is needed desperately," she declared. "Especially that of Negro women. If we spent less in playing cards, in keeping up with the latest fashions, we could devote more time to the real needs of our time. To politics, the real issues of our government. To all the things needed so badly, but in which our interest is so lacking."

Dr. William L. Young, executive director of Southern California and Arizona of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, ex-president of Park College, and writer, told of the need of unity of all in fighting the discrimination against minority groups, especially that of Negroes and Jews. The reversal of the United States in its policy toward Palestine must be combatted, he said, and that policy must be brought back to what the government of the United States had pledged to the Jewish people.

Others who took part in the program were: Dr. W. A. Beck, who acted as master of ceremonies; Mrs. J. Sydell Peterson, who gave a piano medley; Rev. J. A. Brooks, who read the Scripture lesson; Rev. Dr. W. I. Rector, of San Antonio, Texas, who spoke for the love offering; Mrs. Henrietta H. Childs, who introduced the master of ceremonies; Miss Minnie Jones, who gave a reading; Miss Norma Peterson, who sang "The Lord's Prayer"; Rev. J. Sydell Peterson, pastor of St. John Baptist, who introduced Dr. Young; Mr. James Wilson, who gave the invictus; Dr. Foster Driver and Mr. W. A. Fisher, who made the financial appeal; Miss Ruth E. Matlock, B.R.E., the campaign directress, who gave the report on the Books, Chapters, and Verses of the Old Testament Rally; and Dr. George W. Coffield, who introduced Mrs. Bass.

A total of more than $1700 was contributed at the rally. This is part of the campaign for $5000 being staged by St. John Baptist.

The St. John Baptist Choir sang several selections, and led in the congregational singing.

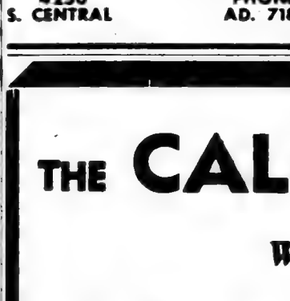
Antioch Baptist News

PHOENIX, Ariz.—Rev. Charles S. Morris, of Los Angeles, gave the Antioch Baptist congregation a soul-stirring message last Sunday morning. His theme was: "The Search for the Best." Baptism followed immediately after the services. Sunday school was held at 9:45 a.m. with Supt. Walters and staff at their posts of duty.

The B.T.S. met at 6:30 p.m. with President Watson in charge. The Antioch Spiritual Five gave two numbers at the 7:45 p.m. service. The devotional services were very inspiring. Two additions were made to the church, which is growing steadily.



Rev. R. N. Holt, pastor of the church, accompanied Brother I. F. Nelson and Mrs. Nelson to Los Angeles, where their son, who was killed in an airplane accident in Ohio, was buried. Brother Nelson has the prayers of the church.

The Junior Mission is planning a big time next Sunday, the third Sunday in April.

Urban League Plans Annual Meet Sunday at 2nd Baptist

Joseph S. Dunning, President, Board of Directors, Los Angeles Urban League, announced today that the 27th Annual Meeting will be held Sunday, April 25, 3:15 p.m., at Second Baptist church, corner 24th St. and Griffith.

One of the highlights of the meeting will be a panel discussion on "HOUSING—OUR NUMBER ONE PROBLEM." Judge Stanley Mosk, R. E. G. Harris, Chief Editorial Writer, Los Angeles Daily News; and Attorney Loren Miller will be among the participants.

In addition to the above feature, a summary report of the Urban League's activities for 1947, and introduction of the newly elected members of the Board of Directors will be made.

Dunning stated that the local Urban League, founded in 1921, is in interracial social work organizations for improving the living and working conditions of Negroes, and for bringing about greater cooperation and better understanding among the many groups in our community. He stated further, that the Urban League is a Community Chest Agency, a member of the Welfare Council of Metropolitan Los Angeles, and one of fifty-six local affiliates of the National Urban League, with headquarters in New York.

Slates 12th Annual Drama, Arts Confab

Plans are rapidly being completed for the 12th Annual Meeting of the Southern Association of Drama and Speech Arts which will be held at Florida A. and M. college. The theme of the conference this year is The Negro Educational Theatre in the Post War World.

Nationally known authorities in the drama, demonstrations and exhibits, a drama festival by members of the association, and a special festival of plays of Randolph Edmonds, founder of the association, by former students now directing plays in colleges will be features on this year's conference program.

Dr. W. E. B. DuBois Speaks at Texas U.

HOUSTON. — Inaugurating a series of Sunday Vesper programs, Dr. W. E. B. DuBois, noted educator and author, spoke to an appreciative audience last week in the Texas State university auditorium.

Dr. DuBois discussed the Marshall Plan for relief in Europe. He said there are four things about the plan which should be clear: relief of hunger and illness and restoration of normalcy; industrial rehabilitation and restoration of economy; investment while the plan is in operation, whether or not it is to be a gift or a fund from which there will be some returns; and the fight against Communism.

"Most Americans," Dr. DuBois pointed out, "do not know what war is. The United States has had no direct contact with war and does not know what war means to the people of the world, particularly Europe."

Sigmas, Alphas Turn Back Kappas; Omegas Meet Saturday Night in Frat Series Natural

IT'S STILL A LONG WAY JOE—Alpha Basketball Coach Bill Jones stops veteran Black and Gold guard Joe Oliver in the midst of a recent practice session to warn him that the Alphas have a long way to go before winnong the '48 Inter-Fraternity basketball crown. The undefeated Alphas meet the hustling Sigmas in the feature game of the 2nd round series game Saturday night at Loyola.

By Stanley Robertson, Eagle Sports Editor

The stage will be set for an upset Saturday Night.

The unbeaten Alphas—boasting a team that is probably the finest ever seen in Inter-Fraternity competition, will trod out upon the court at Loyola High School Gym to engage the Sigmas, three weeks ago a team that was generally conceded to be the doormat of the 1948 Inter-Fraternity Basketball Series. But ehings have changed.

Led by Dauntless Douglas Shaw, the Sigmas made it two victories in a row Saturday Night when they handed the defending champion Kappa team their third straight defeat, 37-32.

GUTS, HEART, AND SHAW

Playing at times like high school freshmen and at other times like bewildered college boys, the Sigmas played hustling ball Saturday Night to completely out fight and oueplay the once mighty Crimson and Cream. It was Doug Shaw, the husky policeman with the dead eye who again sparked the Sigmas. Shaw hit the hoop for 17 points for high point honors.

Setting up a very unorthodox man to man floating zone type catch as catch can defense, the Sigmas held the Kappas nonchalant set shot artist Lowell Stewart to 1 free throw, and Nate Shaw and Lloyd Thomas to 3 and 4 points respectively. Had it not been for the two dependables, Center Gene Williams and guard Wilbur Ashford who sent 12 and 11 points through the hoop respectively, the score would have been greater in the Sigmas favor.

ALPHAS ALL THE WAY

In the night cap, the Alphas with Emerson Chapman chalking up 17 points and Don Barksdale slipping 18, rolled to an impressive victory over a fighting Omegas squad that never stopped trying, 58-53.

Displaying that fast breaking offense that has caught the rest of the teams napping so far, the Black and Gold rolled up a commanding lead over the Omegas, and with the reserves playing the last part of the game, coasted in to win by five points. The Alphas were definitely the superior team all the way, but Ivan "The Terrible" Robinson and his side kicks Ralph Kaufman and Vernon Melton did themselves right proud. Robinson, playing against real tough, experienced competition, looked better than ever. On several occasions "the Terrible" one, faked Oliver, Chapman, and even Barkndale, out of their socks as he drove for the basket. All but two of Robinson's 14 points were scored in the first half when the Alphas were really hustling. Ralph Kaufman was high scorer with 15 points, but 11 of his points were scored in the closing moments of the game with subs playing most of the way.

IN THE AIR

So the upset feeling will definitely be in the air Saturday Night; a feeling that was probably prevalent when the Small David slew Goliath—a feeling that's always in the air when an underdog meets a heavy favorite. If the Alphas can take this one, they will almost be in possession of the championship—if the Sigmas win, they will be an almost certain participant in the play off game. The two teams meet at 9:30 with the Kappas meeting the revenge seeking Omegas in the first game at 8:00.

CARDINAL CENTER MENDING

CHICAGO—Bill Campbell, Chicago Cardinals center, has been released from Michael Reese Hospital following an operation for removal of a boen growth. The growth was the result of an ankle injury suffered in the preseason game last season against the Giants.

Impressions on the Inter-Frat Basketball Series

Getting a Few Things Straight
Odds and Ends

WHEN THE TALK BEGINS TO CENTER AROUND THE '48 INTER-FRAT SERIES AND THE OUTSTANDING PLAYERS WHO PERFORMED IN IT, the names of Don Barksdale, Ivan Robinson, Dave Minor, Wilbur Ashford, and Douglas Shaw will probably be mentioned a great deal . . . Of their play so far, these men will probably justly so be mentioned, but although these men have grabbed all the headlines and the reems and reems of newsprint, there will be other men who will have contributed just as much to the success of their individual teams and to the Series in general . . . These "unsung heroes" who barely ever get the large oviations and big applause are the guys of the third and fourth strings; the reserves . . . In every sport, on any field or gridiron, or in anything where competition is the foundation, there are men who sit on the bench and watch the game from the sidelines . . . The Inter Fraternity Basketball Series is no different than the rest . . . To mention all the "subs" who come out to practice night after night and sit the big one out on the bench, would take to long, but just take a few . . .ALTHOUGH NOT TALL as basketball players go, SHERILL LUKE of the Kappa Alpha Psi is a young man who may develope into one of the best cagers the Kappas can boast in a few years . . . LUKE played high school basketball at L. A. High and AAU ball with the locally prominent Comets . . . ALTHOUGH ONE OF THE BEST that the Purple and Gold clad Omegas could boast last season, JETTY VIOT rides the bench most of the time now . . . VIOT played his high school basketball down in New Orleans and at Southern for a while before coming to L. A. to attend George Pepperdine College . . . Fast, aggressive, and a real team player, VIOT may again gain a starting berth with the Omegas . . . DR. FRANK PETERSON is a man whom you'd look at and right away think of him as being sonomoyous with basketball prowess . . . BUT Long Frank hasn't had the time to develop his cage powers . . . He's been too busy working for his recently obtained D. D. S. . . . BUT when Coach Bill Jones issued the call for Black and Gold basketball material, "Pete" was one of the first to put his John Henry down on the line . . . PETERSON may not develope into one of the finest players ever to dribble a ball, but he's already got my vote for one of the gamest . . . CORNELL "THE RIP" GRIDLEY, admits he doesn't know too much about coaching basketball . . . Sure he played the game back in his native state of Indiana, but when it comes to coaching a team, he admits he doesn't know too much . . . But when the call came for Sigma basketball material, naturally a coach was needed, that's when Cornell "the Ripper" became a cage coach . . . Anybody's who's been out to the Inter-Frat games, Sigma follower or not, has to admit that these Blue and White clad men have more fight and sincere enthusiasm than any team in the league . . . No matter how bad they've looked or how unorthodox their play has been, the Sigmas haven't stopped trying and fighting . . . THE MAN behind this "Sigma Stanima" (as they call it) is CORNELL "THE RIPPER" GRIDLEY . . . No he's not a sub, but he is a bench warmer, but of all the above mentioned "unsung heroes," Gridley is the most unsung and the most deserving.

LAST WEEK, WE DROPPED THE AX ON THE NECK OF HAILLY HARDING for calling the Alpha Hymn a "theme Song" . . . It seems however that Harding was only repeating what someone who should have known told him . . . So we retract or statement to Harding . . . But we just like to say something that's not directed at anyone person, but to anybody who's interested . . . We are not afraid to report what we see no matter who it concerns nor will we be scared away by any "bully boy" . . . We aren't interested in "riding" anyone—that's as long as they are in the right or playing square—So as long as American newspapers are allowed to print what they please (as long as no laws of libel are violated) and as long as the Boss is satisfied, we'll be at the same old stand doing business . . . We hate to waste our valuable space getting a few narrow minded people straight but it's necessary . . . IT's okay for the EXAMINER, TIMES, OR HERALD to critize someone's performance, but just let a NEGRO newspaper do it and you're threatened and almost tarred and feathered . . . FROM THE LITERARY SHELF . . . If you have a copy of the April Esquire around, read "miles and miles of basketball" . . . IT's a very well written article on the famed Harlem Globetrotters . . . Jackie Robinson's story pinned by Courrier sports editor Wendell Smith is set to be released on the 19th of this month . . . In the recently published book on baseball famed sportswriter John P. Carmicheal in conjunction with several other top flight writers, called "My Most Thrilling Day," there's a chapter devoted to the great Satchel Paige . . . and in the May Esquire (we don't work for the mag) if you're at all interested in the fight game, there's a fine expose of the fight racket . . . don't remember the name . . . HERE AND THERE . . . BIG BOB BOYD, regular end on the U. of Loyola's disasterous '47 football machine, looks as though he's cinched the same spot again . . . BOYD's been rockin' the boys like it's mid-November and he recently grabbed a pass for a ID in the inter-squad tussle last Friday . . . UP AROUND EUGENE, OREGON, WOODLY LEWIS and JOHN FINNEY reported last week to headman Jim Aiken as Oregon University opened it's '48 Spring Football drills . . . Aiken has already said that his boys will be the western team in the Arroyo Secon come Jan. 1, 1949 . . . You'll remember Lewis and Finney as the two JC stars from LACC and Compton respectively.

ON THE TURF

— Geo. A. Ramsey

CALIENTE, Old Mexico—Stunned by the defeat of the highly-touted Italian champion Torero in the feature race last Sunday, more than 5500 lovers of the Sport of Kings couldn't believe their eyes when the great son of El Greco-Talbooth finished last in the field of eight.

Made six to five favorite on the morning line, Torero looked like the best bet of the day at his last race two weeks ago when he defeated the same field. Only at one part of the journey did the Italian show any speed and that was on the back stretch. However, it was only momentary—because from that point, he began to drop back in last position where he finished, beaten by 8 lengths.

Rancho Rider, a mild second choice, was the winner with Nitrate, a game little mare, finishing second, and Noble Mark, a longshot, third. The winner paid $6.00 in the mutuels, and time for the mile and one-sixteenth was 1:44 4/5.

"The Solons Beach" handicap, secondary feature, was won by the good sprinter Latal from the same stable as Torero. He paid $11.40 and ran the six furlongs in 1:11

The daily-double combination of Markmowd, winner of the second race, and Fancy Presser, victor of the third, rewarded its lucky backers with $291.80.

The Quiniela paid $132.80 when Reughzuseven finished first and Royal Circus, second.

A little excitement stirred the fans in the second race when Sepulveda, who hadn't started since October 1944 at Bay Meadows, opened at 30 to 1 on the morning line. Money that looked like the smart boys knew something began to pour in and the odds began to drop until he was played six to one. Fans even made him the key horse in the Daily-Double. After some investigation by the stewards, the horse was ordered scratched. Was this horse a ringer? Or was he unfit for racing? Or was a well planned coup spoiled? You may learn the answer later.

This Sunday, General Manager Walter C. Marty offers for the main event "The Little Rock" at six furlongs. "The Shreveport" will be the secondary attraction, while "The Birmingham" will be the third.

Nine other races will support the three feature events. General Manager William Collyer, of the Caliente Greyhounds, arrived at the track and began to make plans for Night Hare and Hound Races. This will be the second year. For further details watch the Eagle.

ASSIVE NEWSPAPER FOR PROGRESSIVE

Vol. 69—No. 2 Los Angeles, California, Thursday, April 15, 1948

HEADED FOR THE INTERCITY TITLE—between Los Angeles and Berkeley are the Medical Pharmacy's Whizz Kid cagers, who recently won the undisputed championship of the Los Angeles Basketball League. Roster of the Whizzers: Back, L to R, Randall, Garland, Dow, co-sponsor Jack Bratton; middle, co-sponsor and coach Fred Griffin, Knght, Hill twins; front, Louis, Wells, Dow, Oliver.

Whiz Kids Trim Esquires, 43-30 Inter-City Series Resumed Fri.

BERKELEY—Boasting one of the flashiest offenses seen here in many a moon, the Medical Pharmacy of Los Angeles' famed Whiz Kid Basketball Team poured it on in the closing moments to roll to a 43-30 victory over the Bay Area Champion Berkeley Esquires, at the Berkeley YMCA Saturday night.

Lead by forward Puckett and Bowlin, the Esquires looked for a time as if they were going to send the Los Angeles boys home winless. The Esquires were only trailing by 1 point 17-16 at the half, but lead by Kenneth Hill and Calvin Garland who hit the hoop for 8 points each, the "Kids" got basket happy in the last stanza to win in a walk.

CHANCE FOR REVENGE

This coming Friday night, April 16, the Esquires get a chance for revenge when they journey to Los Angeles to meet the Whiz Kids in a return match at Loyola High School Gym in the angel city.

The Berkeley Boys will be out to even the inter-city series when they meet the vaunted Kids. The Whizzers on the other hand will be attempting to preserve one of the finest records in Pacific Coast Basketball. In more than 35 games, the Medical Pharmacy's boys haven't tasted defeat.

The first game gets underway at 8 p.m. with the Comets meeting the Bombers.

Bucks End Exhibitions Prep. For Red Soxs

LITTLE ROCK, Ark.—Special—After winning 8 to 0 and 9 to 4 victories over the Birmingham Barons and Chicago American Giants last weekend, the Cleveland Buckeyes, champions of the Negro American League, called a halt to spring training exhibition games in order to devote a week to intensive drills in baseball fundamentals.

While Manager Al Boone expressed hibself as pleased with the play and condition of his charges, he believes that these sessions on fundamentals will prove beneficial and pay a reward in more games won and more pleasing ball games for the fans.

The Bucks resumed their exhibition series Sunday at Martin's Stadium, Memphis, when they tangled with the Memphis Red Sox.

Herb McKenley, Harrison Dillard Head Star Studded Coliseum Relays May 21

Herb McKenley, world record holder at 440 yards; Earle Meadows, former holder of the world pole vault mark; and current eastern vaulting king, Richmond Morcom, of University of New Hampshire, have been the first to accept invitations to compete in the eight annual Los Angeles Coliseum Relays on Friday evening, May 21, according to Willis O. Hunter, chairman of the selection committee.

Among others tabbed in the highly selective cinder affair are several champions of the 1947 Relays. They are Harrison Dillard, 14 flat winner of the high hurdles; Northwestern's Bill Porter, who staged the big upset by beating Dillard in 22.7 in the lows to tie the Coliseum mark; University of Texas broad jumper John Robertson; and Penn State miler Gerry Karver. Texas, which gave a sensational baton-passing exhibition to win the 440-yard relay from the hometown SC team, has been invited to send its four-man team to compete in this year's 400-meter race.

Hunter, who has UCLA's coach Elvin "Ducky" Drake and U. S. Olympic team head coach Dean Cromwell on his selection committee, emphasized that leading West Coast cinder artists would also be invited. Almost certain candidates among the defending champions from the Pacific clope are 100-yard world record holder Mel Patton, of SC; LAAC's Wilbur Thompson, who hit 54 feet in the shot last year; pole vaulter Guinn Smith, of the Olympic Club; and the Trojan mile relay quartet.

With a look to future Olympic Games, track and field fans will also be treated to the All-City High School Championships during both afternoon and evening of May 21.

Following is the initial list of men and teams invited to compete in the Coliseum Relays:

University of Michigan — Charles Fonville, shot put, 1600 and 3200 relay teams.

Baldwin-Wallace—Harrison Dillard, hurdles.

University of Illinois—Norman Wasser, shot put; Bill Mathis, 100 meters (alumnus); Bob Richards, pole vault (alumnus); Bob Rehberg, 1500 meters (alumnus).

University of New Hampshire—A. Richmond Morcom, pole vault (alumnus).

Howard Payne — Earle Meadows, pole vault (instructor).

Ohio State—1600 and 3200 meter relay teams; Lloyd Duff, hurdles.

Penn State — Gerald Karver, 1500 meters; Barney Ewell, 100 meters (alumnus).

University of Texas—Jerry Thompson, 1500 meters; John Robertson, broad jump; 400 meters relay team; Charles Parker and Allen Lawler, 100 meters.

Unattached — Herb McKenley, 400 meters.

San Diego State—Willie Steele, broad jump.

Wayne — Lorenzo Wright, broad jump.

Northwestern—Bill Porter, hurdles.

Unwritten Law Bars Negroes From Derby

CHICAGO—Despite a glorious tradition as jockeys, Negroes will again be barred from riding in the 74th running of the Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs next month says a photo-editorial in May Ebony which states that unwritten law rather than official rules bars colored jockeys from the classic.

Citing the lead set by big league baseball with the signing of Jackie Robinson last season and the recent lowering of the bars in amateur tennis, Ebony insists that the bigots in sports must be smoked out of their high places exactly as Hitler was. With the announcement last week that Negro racing drivers would be allowed to compete on all types of tracks including the 500-mile Indianapolis classic, three major U. S. sports are now well on their way to true democracy.

It is felt, according to Ebony, that envy of white jockeys is one of the primary reasons for the unofficial ban against Negro jockeys in the Derby. Isaac Murphy who rode in the early 1900s won three of the classics.

Glove Champ Banned By State Board

SACRAMENTO—The name of Cornelius "Connie" Smith, 1947 Los Angeles Golden Glove Heavyweight Champion, was on the list of boxers declared "ill and unavailable" on the California State Athletic Commission's weekly bulletin.

Smith, who caught the eye of Golden Glove officials and local sportsmen with his fine showing in the '47 amateur tournament, was declared to be unable to take part in boxing matches "until further notice" because of "injuries."

Smith has been fighting locally since he turned "pro" shortly after the 1947 Golden Glove finale.

The State Commision's Bulletin also contained the names of 20 other fighters ruled "ill and unavailable," 14 others suspended, and four boxers who had their licenses revoked.

Butler Sparks Elans Victory

Sparked by the heavy hitting of ex-Jefferson High School star Claude Butler, the East Los Angeles Junior College Baseball Huskies turned back the El Camino Junior College Warriors, 11-7 Friday afternoon at Montebello.

Butler connected with a homer and a single as the ELANS garnered runs in almost every inning.

The Huskies meet their first Metropolitan Conference competition on Foreign soil this coming Saturday whe nthey journey to San Diego.

Some men break your heart in two
Some men fawn and flatter,
Some men never look at you,
And that cleans up the matter

NOTES FROM A NEWSGIRL'S NOTEBOOK

All music lovers far and near are hoping sincerly that the recovery of Duke Ellington, one of America's top maestro's will be soon and speedy . . . Vocalist Billy Eckstein has been fronting the Duke's band during his illness . . . The angel city's curvacious Artye Young now a headliner at "the apple's" Club Ebony . . . I still maintain that Clarence Samuels sings the blues like the blues should be sung, when Clarence gives out with "I'm Gonna Tell the News" makes you wanta holler! . . . Sportsman and popular man-about town, Dr. Charles Hill, owner of that Real Estate, has a sore throat, probably from counting his money out loud!! . . . Aha! cute Marilyn Hall says "Love comes unseen; We only see it go" . . . The McLeMore's are infanticipating, she's the attractive Beverly . . . Judy Lawson (she's the pretty Nawth Clina visitor) and pianist Bill Davis will tell it to a preacher in a very short time . . . In spite of all the moola Nellie Lutcher is making, she's quite homesick for the Angel City . . . Word comes that the mild and pleasing voice of Billy Holliday sounds better than ever . . . Billy will open at one of the New York niteries . . . We never tire of praising people when people are as nice as Mr. and Mrs. . . . The handsome Dr. Lincoln Shumate has a "new beautiful doll" to go with that new and beautiful Roadmaster of his . . . The dance team of Byron and Bo she's the cute Louise Franklin going over with a bang at the Cricket Club . . . C. T. Webb whose method of handling women ALWAYS works . . . This year makes the 11th that comedian Rochester has been with radio and screen star Jack Benny, and just in case you might not realize it, brother that's great! ! ! and that's a record too! . . . Pugilist Ike Williams (excuse us Stanley but this a must) will serve as guest referee for the V.Y.O. at the Ross Snyder Playground Hall . . . SUDDEN THAWT: When we have not what we like, we must like what we have" . . . Mable Scott and hubby Bill will leave the middle of the month to open at a nitery in Detroit . . . If it's a fast moving and entertaining show you wanta see some even'g then you'll wanta catch the show at the Club Congo that Broomfield has produced . . . it should be a must on your list . . . Well, I guess Harry Bigelow is satisfied now, he has a girl like the girl that married Harry James (AH! well, almost anyway.)

LOOSE THREADS FROM A SILK DRESS

The ultra ultra voice of Thelma Carpenter can be heard at one of the niteries out on the strip . . . Congrats to Phyliss Scott, EAGLE writer, who birthday'd last week with a groovy party . . . Helen Lane, of the social register caused raised eyebrows at a cocktail poddy t'other even'g when she announced her intention to wed a gambler from the other side of the tracks . . . You're probably wondering why Velma Miles eyes have that sparkle all a sudden, well, she changed her name to Ramierz over the weekend, the fella is Nick, they were wed in Yuma . . . Irving Ashby in town for a few days while Nat was honeymooning, flew back to Chicago where the Trio will open at the Regal Theater . . . The w-o-n-d-e-r-f-u-l cocktail party given by the Cosmopolites Sunday afternoon . . . the drink of the afternoon was nothin but CHAMPAGNE and oooodles of it too . . . The place started rockin and all of the folks came down to earth when The "Jones" family took over, the family we're talking about is none other than William "Bill" Jones and wife Mable Scott Jones, Bill sang "Don't Take Your Love From Me" and dedicated it to yours truly and Mable followed with "Red Light," then Ricky Jordan, vocalist out at Earl Carrolls, Jay LoftLynn, Effie Smith and one of the best piano players I've listened to in many a moon, he answers to the name of Ed Durley, he plays anything from Bach to Boogie, why in the heck he hasn't been discovered by some talent scout is a mystery to me . . . So here's a bouquet of orchids to the group for one of the best affairs of the season . . . To hear the wolves argue it, Lois Rankin (no kin to that Senator) oughta get a screen test, her face is pretty and her legs are shaped like this ! ! . . . J'a ever notice how the temperature goes up in any place whenever the handsome Dick Williams strolls in . . . We've printed this before we know, but we happen to be discussing "bigotry" the other afternoon with a group of friends and someone reminded—us again—of this: that bigotry doesn't start with children about the little 3 year old boy who wanted to know why the maid next door always went in the back way, the neighbor explained that she was colored, "What color?" asked he."

NOTES, NEWS AND NONESENSE:

Artie Graves has a big eyed little girl calling his name in her sleep, she's got it bad and that ain't no good . . . Forest Hampton wil take care of the drums in the trio that Lena Horne has taken with her to Canada . . . Annie Laura the girl who got her break on "Since I Fell For You" to open at the Downbeat as the next featured attraction . . . Sarah Vaughn's "Everything I Have is Yours" is ear pleasing, and the wordage tugs at the heart . . . Aha! pretty Angelle DeLavallade Stratton has a heckuva good pschology about marriage, she says "Success in marriage is much more than finding the right person; it is a matter of being the right person" . . . Good hearing that Leonard Young is recovering after a recent appendectomy . . . Next time you see our sis Lil call her "Red" and watch how fee-yoo-ree-uss she gets! . . . The gracious manner in which Esvan Mosby seats you at the "Downbeat" makes it a pleasure to go there . . . If everybody goes, that's talking about going (to the fights in N. York we mean) somebody's gonna have to move over cause there will be no sleep for the weary . . . The King Cole's recording of "Nature Boy" should be a must on your record shelf . . . Guess I'll bring the column to a close for now or these "sniffles" will bring me to a close, wanta leave this thought with ya: "You gotta learn to take advice, if you wanta keep on taking bows."

2,000 Visit Birthplace Of Booker T. Washington

BOOKER WASHINGTON BIRTHPLACE, Va.—More than 2,000 Virginians of both races visited the birthplace of Booker T. Washington April 4, 5, to attend the Third Annual Birthday Program presented by the Booker T. Washington Birthplace Memorial. This program was held in connection with the 34th annual observance of National Negro Health Week and the 92nd birthday of Booker T. Washington.

S. J. Phillips, President of the Memorial, stated that on Sunday, Dr. W. J. Simmons, Pastor of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church, delivered an outstanding address on "The Legend of Booker T. Washington." Dr. Simmons pointed out that Booker T. Washington's program of Industrial Education and inter-racial goodwill was growing and being felt more and more everyday.

California has been described as a sporteman's paradise in the March issue of Sports Afield magazine. In an illustrated article, author Ormal I. Sprungman outlines the major hunting and fishing areas of the State.

Ink Spots Break Up Benny Act

HOLLYWOOD—The Ink Spots were handed the unprecedented honor of being selected to guest star on radio's two leading programs, the top comedy show and the top musical program, when they appeared on the Jack Benny program on April 4 and followed by appearing on the Carnation Contented Hour the very next day.

They appeared on the show as guests of Rochester and did a take-off on their unofficial theme song, "If I Didn't Care."

Vinson Threatens To Go Long Hair If Opera Stars Continue Burlesquing Blues

BALTIMORE — Eddie Vinson, the colorful "Mr. Cleanhead" of the music business, dropped a time bomb that threatens to shake the staid formal music adherents to the marrow, when he announced angrily here last week that he will start including operatic arias in his stage repertoire unless the so-called formal singers cease attempting to sing blues.

Vinson's ire was aroused when he heard a nationally-famous baritone soloist attempting to sing the "St. Louis Blues" during a coast-to-coast radio show. Eddie, livid with rage, snarled, "Blues are as much a legitimate folk idiom as any other music and as such should be sung only by those singers who have a genuine feeling and love for them.

"I object to these singers who take an attitude of superiority to this type of music and who do nothing but burlesque it when they try to sing. Bessie Smith has given us just as much a musical heritage as Grace Moore or others of the opera and concert stage. How would they like it if I started burlesquing the Barber of Seville? But if they keep it up, I'll start kicking the classics around and then you'll hear them scream."

Original Arrangements of Buddy Banks Destines Him To Stratospheric Heights

Buddy Banks and his band is the newest swing sensation to zoom across the local musical horizon in a blaze of glory! Who is Buddy Banks? Pull up a chair and siddown.

Banks, whose real name is Ulysees, formerly tooted his tenor-sax with some of swingdom's leading exponents of rhythm. His style of toying with a tenor is as refreshing as a Cole Porter tune. He has a natural in the five men and a girl making up his Sextette. Using an original instrumentation of piano, trombone, guitar, bass, drums and tenor (plus the sultry-styled singing of Fluffy Hunter, whose voice blends in most of the original arrangements), Banks has a combo that sounds like something out of a musical dream.

Every music addict and night-club writer has his or her favorite small band and brand of music that sends them. Banks just so happens to head my list, because his type of music can send you and bring you back without missing a beat.

I have heard the band in rehearsals, on theatre stages, at ballrooms and nightclubs, in swing concerts and recording studios. I talked with the men backstage in dressing rooms, over the dinner table and at bars. I've talked with them, wrote about them, soaked myself in their music so that I could better argue that Buddy Banks' style of playing is the finest in all swingdom!

There might be some swing groups that are superior to the Banks' crew (tho I doubt it) it all around excellence, but we'll bet there's none in their class when it comes to velvety smoothness in superb musical arrangements, and originality.

Buddy has surrounded himself with a group of young musicians who play for the sheer love of playing. In Ralph Bateman, the pianist of the group, Banks has a man who plays with a beat. And, as the saying goes, can literally "read fly specks!" Wallace Huff is a trombonist of no mean ability; "Man Man Monk" McFay is the hep and happy drummer; Frosty Pyles makes you forget about other so-called "greats" of the guitar-plucking school; "Basie" Day plays a bass violin like a bass violin should be played and, of course, there's always Buddy's powerhouse (but smooth) tenor tooting to keep the rhythm moving along at a merry musical pace. All that, and singer Fluffy Hunter, too! She's a chocolate-colored lass who makes with the vocals in a manner that keeps you whistling, stamping and yelling in approval. She has a voice as soft as the underside of a butterfly's wing, and is equally at home doing a torchant or a blues ditty—just whatever the customer calls for.

Closing a smash six-week engagement at Paul Rubin's Cricket club, the band moves into the ultra-smart New Orleans club, San Francisco, April 16, for an indefinite stay.

Proof of their popularity and growing success is the fact that Bert Gervis, manager of the popular Dorothy Donegan, happened to drop into the Cricket club one evening and caught the Banks crew in person. He immediately signed them to a long-term contract and has already booked the band into some of the smartest clubs on the eastern nitery circuit.

Following their San Francisco engagement, the band moves into the Capitol Bar, Chicago, for a six weeks run, after which they fill other lucrative dates in Boston, Philadelphia, New York and other points east.

All in all, here is a crew destined for success, and unless I miss my guess, they'll sail stratospheric heights before the year 1948 rolls into oblivion! —GIP

Concerts Close At Philharmonic On April 22-23

When Alfred Wallenstein mounts the podium in Philharmonic auditorium on Thursday evening, April 22, and Friday afternoon, April 23, and raises his baton over the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra, it will be for the last concert pair of the 1947-48 season.

Since Nov. 13, when the aggregation played its first concert of the season, the Philharmonic has been unusually active. By April 25, when the last concert will be presented in Riverside, almost one hundred engagements will have been filled within 22 weeks both in Los Angeles and 18 Southland cities and communities.

Critics Acclaim Radio Program

Here Comes Tomorrow is a dynamic new 15-minute radio serial about an American Negro family, thoroughly typical and thoroughly enjoyable. It was created and produced in Chicago, and in its first 20 weeks over the air, the response from its listening audience was terrific.

Critics have declared this show was one of the most unusual and entertaining programs ever to hit the airways. It is so interwoven with the culture and lives of all the people of the land, all races, all creeds.

Says Variety of this show, "Here Comes Tomorrow" is the first soaper in Chicago, if not in America, to be completely Negro in all details."

The Chicago Star speaks of it as a show whose characters "live in a real world." Other papers seem to think its showing is a minor revelution in the radio business. All praise it highly.

Factor In Success Is Accompanist Says Star Sarah Vaughn

NEW YORK—Sarah Vaughan, the nation's greatest new singing star and winner of every major popularity poll during the past year, came forth with a bit of sound advice this week for young singers who might hope to emulate her spectatcular success.

"One of the most important factors in the success of any singer is her accompanist," declared Miss Vaughan. "I believe I am very fortunate in having a superb accompanist in Jimmy Jones, whom I consider one of the finest pianists in the business."

Harry Carey, Jr. In 'Blood On The Moon'

Harry Carey, Jr., son of the late star, has been given an important supporting role in RKO Radio's "Blood on the Moon." Following in his famous father's footsteps, he is portraying a cow boy in the cast headed by Robert Mitchum, Barbara Bel Geddes and Robert Preston.

Over 90,000 Tickets Sold For Police Show

Over 90,000 Police Tickets in two weeks!

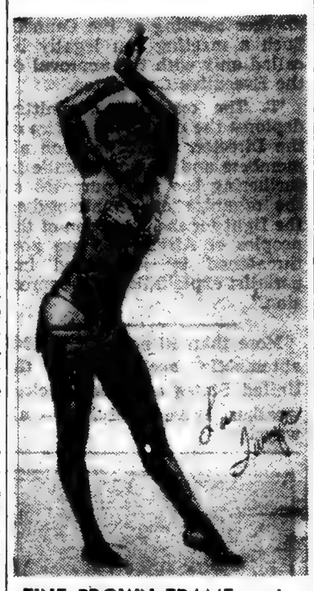
No, that isn't the number of violations handed out by the Los Angeles Police Department.

It's the number of tickets already purchased by citizens for the 14th Annual Police Show which will be held at the Shrine Auditorium beginning April 28 through May 11.

According to executives of the Los Angeles Police Relief Association, sponsors of the annual affair, the avalanche of 90,000 tickets sold in the first two weeks of sales sets an all time record.

Douglas Fairbank's Jr.'s co-starring role with Betty Grable in 20th Century-Fox's "That Lady in Ermine," has made that set a mecca for internationally famous folk from the youthful honeymooners, the Duke and Duchess of Montero, to the latest visitor, Dr. Bernard Drzewieski, Director of UNESCO's Reconstruction and Rehabilitation Section.

'Singing Editor' Takes Over At Crystal Center



Earl M. Wright, whose columns, "The Roundtown Lowdown" and "The Creole Corner" appeared in various Los Angeles newspapers for a number of years, announced that he returns to show business on the night of Friday, April 23. This time the singing editor will portray the role of host at the Crystal Center Tea Room, 4818 Avalon boulevard.

Mr. Wright has outlined a program for the Tea Room, patio and music room, which will hum with activity daily and nightly. The newly erected Center is available to all groups and the prices on food have been slashed. There is no admission or cover charge being asked. Reservations can be made by phoning ADams 3-4751.

Illinois Jacquet Recordings Drive Japanese 'Berserk'

SAN FRANCISCO—Illinois Jacquet, who at the ripe old age of 25 has already become a legendary figure in the world of jazz music, is rapidly becoming an internationally-renowned personality.

According to Sgt. Ralph Blake and Cpl. Frank Wisniewski, who have returned to the United States from serving with occupation forces in Japan, Jacquet's frantic sax-tootin' has caused the greatest excitement in Japan since the atomic bomb. Blake and Wisniewski declared that the Japanese people literally go berserk whenever they hear a Jacquet recording, and go into a special type of frenzy at Jacquet's platters of such items as "Blow, Illinois, Blow!," "Mutton Leg" and "King Jacquet," on which the exciting young instrumentalist rides the very highest upper register on his saxophone.

FINE BROWN FRAME — La Tanya, the exotic torso tosser, just closed a successful engagement at the Stork Club on Western Avenue. She is now being featured at the Manchester Club on Manchester and San Pedro Streets.

PEARL PRIMUS, serious scholar and spectacular performer of African dances, will be among the noted artists and authorities in folk culture who will participate in Fisk university's 19th Annual Festival of Music and Art, April 29-May 1. Other participants include Marjorie Kinnan Rawlings, author; Eddie Matthews, baritone; Doctor Robert Redfield, anthropologist; and Charles Seeger, chief of music division, Pan American Union.

To Conduct Road Tour

NEW YORK—Negotiations are being conducted for singing idol Billy Eckstine to pilot Duke Ellington's orchestra on a series of road dates during the Duke's present illness, it was announced this week by Milton Ebbins, Eckstine's personal manager.

PLATTER CHATTER

The new Howard Dietz-Arthur Schwartz musical will open on Broadway within the next few weeks. One of the most publicized shows in Broadway's history, this adaptation of John Gunther's famous book Inside U.S.A. contains several particularly fine songs. Columbia has chosen four for recording by Buddy Clark and two for Pearl Bailey, all of which have been incorporated into an album which appears on this release. Two of Buddy Clark's and both of Pearl Bailey's numbers are in a light vein; the humorous show material that makes Broadway musicals the delight of the nation. These are Rhode Island, First Prize at the Fair, by Buddy, and Blue Grass and Protect Me by Pearl. Buddy also sings My Gal Is Mine Once More and the dramatic ballad Haunted Heart, which already has attracted considerable attention.

The dynamic drummer, Gene Krupa, picks up a nifty old one, You Turned the Tables On Me. Dolores Hawkins sings the number in a torchy style, after which the band takes a rocking chorus featuring some grand tenor work for a half chorus. Backing this is Teach Me Baby, a production number on the novelty side done in a medium tempo with outstanding intricate and interesting band work on the first chorus.

Buddy Johnson, the young man with the "Magic Touch" at the piano keyboard, presents the first movement of his own Piano Concerto via his new Decca record of "Far Cry," which is slated to hit the record stalls throughout the country on April 19.

A brand new album by Count Basie is scheduled for release by RCA Victor next week.

The new Basie album includes eight superb sides by the "Jump King of Swing," including "My Buddy," "Backstage at Stuff's," "Shine On, Harvest Moon," "St. Louis Boogie," "I Never Knew," "Basie's Basement," "Sugar" and "Swingin' the Blues."

SHARPS 'N FLATS

By Albert McNeil, California Eagle Music Critic

EARL ROBINSON AND ALBERT McNEIL CHOIR

The following was taken from the April 9 edition of the Daily News, and was written by Frank Eng, News music critic: "The faithful were on hand last night (Thursday) at the Assistance League Playhouse, where Irwin Parnes presented Earl Robinson and the Albert McNeil Choir in joint recital. To all appearances they were quitesatisfied with the evening's format of half-concert and half-informal folksy numbers the soloist and his colleagues alternated and collaborated on.

Smoothly blended, well-trained and full-bodied, the chorus exhibited a sharp sense of timing, good feeling for nuance and projected their efforts with resonant firmness.

In our estimation they hit a peak of expressive power in their rendition of the perennial "Were You There?" After such a number and the rhythmic "Rockin' Jerusalem" encore, we wished the program had given greater scope to their more sophisticated talents.

Robinson himself is a fellow whose very diffidence is expressed without affectation one way or the other in his casual approach to this folk-singing. He is obviously much more interested in what he is singing than how he sings it, and often his very informality lends a charming touch to earthy material. His considerably larger claim to fame—as a composer—was represented in an excerpt from his opera, now in work and based on Carl Sandburg's "The People, Yes." The piece, "In the Folded and Quiet Yesterday," was talked, chanted and sung by soloists and the choir.

METROPOLITAN OPERA

And this week the famed Metropolitan came to our town complete with 325 singers, ballet dancers, conductors, musicians and stagehands all direct from New York. Incidentally, 43 years ago the fabulous "Met" played to capacity audiences here in Los Angeles' old Opera House. Next week I shall include in the column a complete review of the opening night performance of Bizet's "Carmen." We were fortunate to secure good seats to witness Rise Stevens as Carmen; Nadine Conner as Misaela; Thelma Votipka as Fasquita; Martha Lipton as Mercedes; Ramon Vinay as Don Jose; and Martial Singher as the toredor Escamillo.

PHILLIPA SCHUYLER

This distinguished young prodigy, with a vegetarian diet, will be presented in a recital of standard piano works and compositions of her own origin in the Philharmonic Auditorium, Sunday afternoon at 3. Miss Schuyler, who is 16 years of age now, has appeared with the New York Philharmonic Orchestra. This renowned group of musicians has also included several of her orchestral works in their repertoire. The concert promises to be of great significance musically.

VESPER SERVICE

It is with sincerity that we commend the Connor-Johnson Mortuary for establishing in our community another dignified cultural outlet. On last Sunday in the Chapel, William Starks, tenor; Victoria Rice, violinist; Ernest Anderson, dramatist; and Fannie Benjamin, organist, initiated a series of monthly vesper services which will include solo selections from favorite operas and other standard vocal literature; violin works by distinguished composers, and poetic expressions from the great wealth of literature.

MARIAN ANDERSON

The Bell Telephone Hour on last Monday evening presented America's Goddess of Song, Marian Anderson, in several selections. Included on the program were the two spirituals, "Lord, Fix Me" and Hall Johnson's arrangement of "Roll, Jordon, Roll." The final selection was from the work of the great lieder composer, Johannes Brahms, "Eternal Love." There is still no voice as captivating and as thrilling as this. The great maturity and depth of tone were exemplified in the Brahms selection.

WALTHEA JONES AND WILLIAM VALENTINE

These two young artists, contralto and bass, respectively, are scheduled to appear with the Highland Park Symphony Orchestra this month. This marks the initial appearance of race artists here.

Gillespie Pens 'Swedish Suite' For Carnegie Hall

NEW YORK CITY—Not satisfied with just being known as a topflight bandleader, Esquire ALL-Star trumpeter and originator of the most-talked about new form of music, Be-Bop, Dizzy Gillespie has turned concert composer. He is currently secluded in his 122 Street apartment, in New York, working on a musical tribute to the pleasant times he had on his just-finished European tour. Called "The Swedish Suite," Dizzy will debut the new compositon at Carnegie Hall on May 8th.

Already three radio stations are bidding for the first radio performance rights to Dizzy's new composition and New York music critics have already decided to break a precedent, of not attending jazz concerts, and are planning to cover the musical event.

Ravin' Ravens Top Theatre Records In Chicago, Detroit

DETROIT—The spectacular Ravens quartette, winners of virtually every important award for singing groups this year have just put two more records in the books by racking up unprecedented box office totals on successive weeks at the two major midwest theatres—the Regal in Chicago and the Paradise here. The Ravens headlined a bill here that included Eddie Vinson's seven piece combo, Jimmy Carrington, Gwen Tynes, funsters Coke and Poke and George Hudson's orchestra.

Dragon Skates In Movie

A roller skating dragon will be used in the Universal-International picture "Are You With It?"

After many experiments producer Robert Arthur and art director Emrich Nelson found that the desired effect for movement of the 30-foot fantastic monster will be to have it motivated by six girls on roller skates.

Los Angeles . . .

A reporter "omelet" . . . Harristyle; Speaking of "rebels" . . . it rhymes so easily with "devils," which reminds me of South Carolina's Senator Olin Johnston and the Jackson Day Dinner held recently at the Mayflower Hotel, as reported via "Time" mag. quote; Senator Olin Johnston, a coon-shouting white-supremacy man, had bought ten tickets, he and his guest stayed away, he said, because his wife feared that she might have to sit next to a "Nigra" . . . unquote; you see the "sena-tah" is so bigoted and ignorant, his prejudiced tongue can't be trained to pronounce the word N-E-G-R-O, as for his wife, she ought to try sitting beside some refined NEGROES sometime, she no doubt would "inhale" enough good American Culture to straighten out her "warped" southern ideas . . . add . . . I recommend it, but definitely SUH! ! . . . "Time" also reports that Champion Joe Louis contributed $100 to the Wallace campaign recently . . . well what's wrong with that? He contributed an entire fight purse to Uncle Sam, and what did Uncle Sam do but clothe him in khaki and send him over-seas in a Jimcro army to fight the enemy!! . . . "Time" music critics has this to say of the new "wonder" song-stylist Toni Harper; musicians make no concessions to her age. Toni doesn't need any. Her breathy voice is grown-up, her phrasing fresh, and her rhythm as good as if she had been singing since the birth of the blues . . . add . . . Toni says; "I just like to sing, it sounds pretty to me, that's all" . . . After witnessing Stan Kenton's Carnegie Hall concert in New York, Barry Ulanov, editor of Metronome remarked: "Kids are going haywire . . . over the sheer noise of this band, there is a danger of an entire generation growing up with the idea that 'jazz' and the 'atom bomb' are essentially the same natural phenomenon." . . . The "great" Duke Ellington is scheduled to undergo an operation this week. . . . When Nat (King) Cole and new bride the charming Marie Ellington landed at the Mexico City airport for their honeymoon, it was another case of a "royal" reception. . . . while, at an "Angeltown" nite-spot, the CRESBAR to be exact t'odder moon-time a veddy dashing and smilin' two-some turned out to be none other than Nadine (the "King's 'ex' ") Cole and "maestro" Eddie Beal . . . add . . . Nadine still has that personality that should draw 'royalties' from a Pepsodent ad . . . IS IT TRUE that that "ace" music arranger can hardly wait for that anticipated "middle-aisle" date with the lovely Helen ? and she's not "legally loose" yet!! Joe (and her tears flowed like wine) Green, tells me he has just completed the score for Broadway play scheduled to open in Noo Yawk veddy soon . . . had quite an interesting "bull-session" with Joe Reddy at the Angelcity Press Club's confab-dinner hosted by Dr. J. Annette Alexander and Dr. Mabel L. Oliver of RUIS PHOS HODOS OIKOS fraternity house last Friday night, Senor Reddy is one of the "biggies" of Disney studios, also an "4th estater" of the 'ole school' and a heckuvva swell guy . . . add . . . ORCHIDS to Drs. Alexander and Oliver for that most "sumptuous" and tasty repast and the best of success with your grand project . . . among those present at the confab were Lawrence F. LaMar, Pres. of ACP, John R. Williams, Pitt Courier, Mrs. Betty (Martina) La Mar and Arthur Duncan, pres.-host of the frat house (R-P-H-Oikos) . . . Many of ANGEL TOWN'S socially-elite no doubt had a swell time at the AKA formal, but take it from me; if you were veddy unfortunate if missed the after formal "swankeroo" at Atty. Curtis Taylor's "mad" pad, most of the "gay" greats were there, to spot a few; Medico John Coleman and his "lovely," Dr. John Robinson, Vaino Hassan, George and Camille Cannady, Joe and Elizabeth Green, Christobel Morris, Eddie Grubbs, Doris Reed, Jay Moss, Miriam Jo Lawless, John Kelso, Ruth Beane, Jimmie Mundy, Margie Porter, Cliff Davis, Victor Jordan and scads more . . . I do hope pulchritudinous Margie Porter holds my "rain-check," umh, humh! . . . Tall, tan'n'tur-rific Hazel Smith, has "told-it-to-the-preacher," she's the lovlie sales-manager of the S. Urbach millinery sales co. at 7th & Hill . . . add . . . her orchidacious cousin who answers soft and sweetly to the name of Ethel Lee Williams is a recent arrival from gay New Orleans, yea 'ANGEL TOWN'S' "gain" . . . The Ringside Club and its backers are doing an "el-foldo"!! . . . Is it true that celebrated concert artist Dorothy Maynor has to bow to "programming" orders which state that she must include 'spirituals' in all her concerts, or NO "contract"?? if so, why must some of our rising artists submit to being "typed" . . . and too, why can't they receive press notices in our "daily" papers without referring to "race" and solely as an artiste??? Bonnie Jennings, Chicago's talented and dimpled "gift" to L.A., Australian-French Masseuse personified, will premiere her Western Ave. "Ladies Club Salon" with an exclusive "Open-house" soiree come Saturday eve, Apr. 17th. yes for that discriminating "touch," this is it, the haven of nostalgic moods . . . add . . . Bonnie is ably assisted by her charming sister Carol, also from Chicago . . . Now It Can Be Told: An "avenue" (Central) liquor store chain made a smart move by publicizing (the not-so-factual) story of John (boxer) Thomas being named "manager" of one of their stores, for which they paid Thomas a "measly fee" for the "use" of his name in said capacity . . . but the irony of it all is the fact that "ex-leather-pushin" John is takin' "orders" from so many "bosses" roun' the jernt, that he's not so sure who "owns" the store . . . this is the price of "Fronting" on Central Avenue, of course you citizens know the rest . . . or do you??? . . . Luscious Ramona Johnson is the competent and charming assistant to Masseur Jimmie Harris, whose gyro-ducing method is revolutionary in its scope . . . Yvonne Kinnard, as quiet and unassuming as she is charming, is another Chicagoan who has invaded Angel town and started out in marchandising, her very smart gift shop is located in the Dunbar Lobby . . . stop by and . . . Johnny Otis and his "groovsational" combo rounds out a successful and sensational engagement at the Downbeat this week and will open soon at the popular Cricket Club on W. Washington, Is it true: that the incomparable Ravens are inked for an engagement at one of the Avenue sin-shops, could it be the Down Beat?? It would mark their initial L.A. appearance, well anyhow they "land", lookout for the s.r.o. sign . . . There couldn't be a more fitting trademark for Amelia Dudley than "Be Lovlier," for she certainly knows how . . . she maintains one of the avenues most unique businesses . . .the Jack Bells (nee Henri Turner, former of JANET'S 5th Ave. of N.Y.) are ogling over their "new" image, it's a bouncing baby boy (Jack Jr.) . . . that luscious bit of feminity who pilots the elevator at the 7th & Hill St. Milliners Bldg. is none other than Vada Pyles, oo, la, la!! . . . Thanks all you fine gals and guys for the complimentary letters and cards anent this ole "colyum" . . . Chicago's gift of "single-blessedness" in the person of Juanita Moore just arrived in the "village," she's house-guesting with the very busy Blanche (Cupid) Groggs.

Council On African Affairs To Aid In Fight For Freedom Condemns Yergan's Red-Baiting

NEW YORK—The executive board of the Council on African Affairs this week reaffirmed the Council's primary interest in supporting the fight for the liberation of the African peoples, and condemned Dr. Max Yergan, director, for seeking to distort this fact by resort to public red-baiting in an effort to cover up his own retreat from genuine struggle on behalf of African freedom and against imperialist oppression.

The full statement issued by the executive board follows:

"A recent statement to the press by Dr. Max Yergan, director of the Council on African Affairs, is so replete with errors and distortions that, in the interests of the Council's work for the peoples of Africa, we are impelled to make the following public declaration of the real issues which confront the organization.

"1. Chairman Paul Robeson, and a majority of the members present at the March 25 meeting of the Council, voted to condemn the imperialist foreign policy of the United States which is now supporting an intensified drive to exploit, and hence further oppress, the peoples of Africa. For reasons of his own, and quite in contrast to his former position, Dr. Yergan is now unwilling to challenge the imperialist policy of the United States State Department. He tries to hide his retreat by recourse to the thread-bare device of yelling "communist."

"2. Dr. Yergan's claim that an effort is being made to have the Council on African Affairs endorse the candidacy of Henry A. Wallace is completely contrary to the facts. No such proposal whatever, either directly or indirectly, has been made at a Council meeting or by any officer of the Council.

"Moreover, Dr. Yergan's listing of several Council members as belonging to a so-called 'anti-Third Party bloc' was entirely unwarranted, and has already been denounced by certain of the members named.

"Further, we can but express amazement at the assertion attributed to Dr. Yergan by the New York Times, to-wit — 'If the South votes Democratic, Negroes belong in the party with them.' But his views in the matter we leave to him.

"3. Another issue before the Council concerns certain serious mismanagement of financial affairs by the director. The facts in this matter were fully established at the recent meeting of the Council; and in the light thereof, the membership voted to censure the director sharply.

"4. Still another issue concerns the fact that, in the past, the Council has been run by the director as a one-man enterprise. The recent meeting voted (a) to vest control of the Council's property at 23 W. 26th st. in a committee of three trustees; (b) to create a functioning executive board of 11 members, including officers, and (c) to institute several other reforms to the end of more democratic procedures. Dr. Yergan resists all of these changes.

"5. Dr. Yergan's statements concerning what happened at the March 25th meeting of the Council represent complete distortions. In this connection the following facts should be noted:

(a). The members present, together with valid proxies, constituted a majority of the membership, and hence a quorum.

(b). Dr. Yergan attempted to use a number of proxies assigned to him for previous meetings of the Council, several of which were known to have been revoked and assigned to Mr. Robeson for the March 25th meeting. The members present voted to honor only proxies specifically authorized for use at the March 25th meeting.

(c). When it became clear that the members present would vote to censure the director for proved mismanagement of financial affairs, Dr. Yergan and several of his supporters walked out of the meeting.

"6. The executive committee sharply condemns the director for his summary discharge of Dr. W. A. Hunton, educational director, the day after the recent Council meeting. Such treatment of one of the Council's most valuable officials can be interpreted only in terms of narrow, factional persecution.

"7. The executive committee notes Dr. Yergan's statement to the press that he intends to call another meeting of the Council. Such a meeting can legally be called only with the approval of the Executive Committee.

"8. The executive committee deplores the disruptive tactics of the Director, and calls upon all members and friends to unite in furthering the real purposes of the organization—to strengthen the fight for the liberation of the peoples of Africa who are now threatened by intensified imperialist exploitation and oppression."

Membership Renewal Drive at Sojourner Truth in Full Swing

The first report meeting of the membership renewal drive of Sojourner Truth Home was held last Thursday with excellent results. The membership Chairman, Mrs. Nettie B. Reese, presided, and a very enthusiastic group reported the new members received. Several teams have been formed and are working very hard to go over the top. Awards are to be made for the winning team or individual bringing in the largest number of members.

The executive director, E. Woodfolk, is leading, with Mrs. E. A. Johnson, second, and Mrs. Myrtle Cook and Mrs. Nettie B. Reese tied for third place.

The drive is in full swing and the home is hoping that all who have not been contacted by one of the captains or workers will cooperate by getting in touch with the executive director, phone ADams 9426. Sojourner is increasing in scope by adding an executive director who will direct the activities of the home on a wider scale as well as a housekeeper.

The regular monthly meeting of the Educational-Membership committee will be held at the home April 26, from 2 to 4 p.m. Mrs. Ruth Harper, of the Church World Service-Church Federation, will be the guest speaker. She will give some interesting facts on the type of service the federation is rendering in Europe. Mrs. Wilmas will have charge of the music and Mrs. Ella Washington will sing.

"Draws Crowds Everywhere!"

Maxine Sullivan

Her first big-time appearance, at New York's famous 52nd Street Onyx Club catapulted petite Maxine Sullivan to overnight fame. For it was there that she introduced the now almost-legendary swing version of "Loch Lomond." Since then, her soft voice and lilting style have won her an army of devoted fans wherever she has appeared. Such old favorites as "Annie Laurie," and "Loch Lomond" have found new popularity through Maxine Sullivan's delightful artistry.

PUBLIC NOTICES

(California Eagle—11383)
NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Education of the City of Los Angeles will receive bids for furnishing all labor and material for the following described work:

FURNISHING AND INSTALLATION OF AN AUTOMATIC FIRE SPRINKLING SYSTEM IN THE MAIN FRAME BUILDING AT THE HOOPER AVENUE SCHOOL.

Date of bid opening, April 22, 1948.

Each bid shall be in accordance with drawings, specifications and other contract documents now on file in the Building Branch of the Business Division of said Board, 1425 South San Pedro Street, Los Angeles. Prospective bidders may secure copies of said drawings and specifications at the office of said Building Branch.

Pursuant to the Labor Code of the State of California, the Board of Education has ascertained the general prevailing rate of per diem wages for each craft or type of workman needed to execute the contracts which will be awarded the successful bidders; an dthese prevailing rates are contained in said specifications adopted by the Board, and are as follows:

CLASSIFICATION

Foremen—All foreman, not herein separately classified, shall be paid not less than 17½ cents per hour more than the hourly rate of the highest classification over which has has supervision as to the SIX BASIC TRADES; and not less than 12½ cents per hour as to the SUB-TRADES, more than the journeymen rate for the craft involved.

Apprentices—May be employed in conformity with Section 1777.5 of the California Labor Code.

Riggers—Same wage scale as craft to which rigging is incidental.

Welders—Same wage scale as craft to which welding is incidental.

Classification:	Hourly Wage Rate
LABORERS:
Laborers, General or Construction	$1.35
PLUMBERS and FITTERS:
Sprinkler Fitter	2.25
Sprinkler Fitter Helper	1.45

The rates of per diem wages for each of the various classifications of work shall be the hereinbefore set forth prevailing rates of hourly wages multiplied by eight (8). Eight (8) hours shall constitute a day's work; it being understood that in the event that workmen are employed less than eight (8) hours per day, the per diem wages shall be deemed to be that fraction of the per diem wages herein established that the number of hours of employment bears to eight (8) hours.

WORKING RULES

1. Where a single shift is worked, eight (8) consecutive hours between 7 A.M. and 5 P.M. shall constitute a day's work at straight time for all workers.

2. Forty (40) hours between Monday 7 A.M. and Friday 5 P.M. shall constitute a week's work at straight time.

3. All work performed in excess of eight (8) hours per day or forty (40) hours per week or on Holidays and Sundays shall be paid for at the rate for overtime of the craft involved.

4. Holidays as herein referred to shall be deemed to be New Year's Day, Decoration Day, Independence Day, Labor Day, Armistice Day, Thanksgiving Day and Christmas. If any of the above holidays fall on Sunday, the Monday following shall be considered a legal holiday.

It shall be mandatory upon the contractor to whom a contract is awarded, and upon all subcontractors under him to pay not less than said general prevailing rates of per diem wages to all workmen employed in the execution of the contract.

Notice is also hereby given that all bidders may submit with their bids, a sworn statement of their financial responsibility, technical ability and experience. Such sworn statement may be required to be furnished before award is made to any particular bidder.

Each bid shall be made out on forms to be obtained at said Building Branch of the Board of Education; must be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check or bidder's bond (issued by a surety company accredited by the Board of Education) for not less than Five Per Cent (5%) of the amount of the bid, made payable to the order of the Board of Education of the City of Los Angeles; shall be sealed and filed with the Purchasing Agent of the Board of Education, Rool 200, 1425 South San Pedro Street, on or before 2:00 P.M. on the dates shown above and will be opened and read aloud in public at, or about, said time and in the public hall, second floor, of the above address.

The above-mentioned check or bidder's bond shall be given as a guarantee that the bidder will enter into contract if awarded the work, or any part thereof, and will be declared forfeited if the successful bidder refuses to enter into contract after being requested to do so by the Board of Education.

The successful bidders will be required to furnish labor and material bonds in an amount equal to 75% of the contract price, and faithful performance bonds in an amount equal to 100% of the contract price, said bonds to be secured by a surety company or surety companies satisfactory to the Board of Education.

The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids, and/or waive any informality on a bid. No bidder may withdraw his bid for a period of sixty (60) days after the date set for the opening thereof.

By order of the Board of Education of the City of Los Angeles.

A. S. NIEBECKER, Jr.,
Business Manager and Architect.

Dated: Los Angeles, California, April 6, 1948.

63rd A. D. Rallies To Support Of Candidate F. E. Williams

Honoring the birthday of Thomas Jefferson and urging improvements in the Jefferson St. area, residents of the district rallied to the support of Frances E. Williams, candidate for the state legislature, 63rd assembly district, Tuesday night, April 13, at a "Jefferson Day Banquet" at Salamander Hall, 3115 Fifth ave.

Miss Williams made a dramatic plea for immediate improvement in the Jefferson St. district and stated that in order to cure our ills, "we must go to the right sources and elect representatives who understand our own community problems and are willing to fight for them." Miss Williams was introduced by Atty. George Cannody, chairman, who also presented other guests at the meeting which followed a buffet dinner.

Basing her campaign speech on "equal rights for all people, regardless of race, creed, color, age or sex," Miss Williams declared, "We believe every American has the right to buy, rent and live in a home of his own choosing." She also outlined principle points in her platform, including endorsement of fair labor legislation, veterans rights, old age pensions, adequate pay for school teachers, child care centers, and specific urgent needs of the 63rd district.

Fund Drive for Lincoln Stadium Wins Momentum

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo.—Students, alumi, faculty and friends of Lincoln University Mo. are rallying to the drive for funds for a new football stadium.

According to the Lincoln Stadium Fund Committee's chairman, Roy Kemp, "The interest in the stadium project is keen and widespread.

A special directive designating a plan of contribution both for individuals and organizer associations is being prepared. Any Lincoln alumnus not afficiated with a recognized alumni organization should contact the Lincoln University Office of Public Relations at once."

Residents of 63rd A. D. Campaign For Frances E. Williams

Residents of the 63rd Assembly district are rallying to the support of the Frances E. Williams for Assembly campaign, with many citizens who have never before worked in any political campaign volunteering for house-to-house canvasses, it was learned today.

All residents are urged to visit campaign headquarters and discuss community problems in person with Miss Williams, every Wednesday evening, from 7 to 10 o'clock, at 1725 W. Jefferson Blvd.

Citizens are reminded that only one more week remains before the closing date, April 22, when those who wish to vote in the primary elections must register.

U.N. Facts and Faces . . . . . LIBERIA

Liberia, whose 350-mile coast line on the South Atlantic Ocean is backed up with the heavy tropical forests of West Africa, was founded more than 100 years ago by freed slaves from the United States. With the help of colonization societies, the freedmen settled at Monrovia, Liberia's capital. Today an independent republic, Liberia includes among her leaders many descendants of the original settlers from the United States. Most of Liberia's 1,500,000 people are occupied in agriculture and forest industries. Among the most important products are plassava, palm oil, coffee, rubber and timber. Her delegation to the United Nations General Assembly is headed by Gabriel L. Dennis. Her flag has red and white stripes and a blue corner containing a white star.

Unlock the Door

You can unlock the door that is keeping you from the things you want. You can unlock the door to inner knowledge and your real self.

Music, laughter, comforts and true love can be yours once you ta pthe hidden depths of your own nature. You need not be a slave any longer, you can get away from the feeling that everything is against you, and know that life is well worth while. Consult Prof. Herman, for his advice on ho wto unlock the DOOR to your inner-self.

W.M. Dear Prof. Herman: I have been reading your column for quite sometime and find it very interesting. Would you please advise me regarding this matter. Will I be able to sell my business soon?

ANSWER: A careful analysis of your question indicates the fact that you haven't publicized the fact that you want to sell the business. You will have to make it known so that you will have the chance to accept the best offer.

C.P. Will my wife change her mind regarding me?

ANSWER: Probing into the matter I find that your wife still cares a great deal for you. But, you will have to regain her confidence, as the past misunderstandings have definitely left their mark. Perhaps I can help you further, if you will write in for a private reply at your earliest convenience.

M.W. Will I marry soon?

ANSWER: Your Lucky Star and Guiding Planet indicate marriage in the very near future. There is a certain young man in your group, that is interested in becoming better acquainted with you. Cultivate this friendship.

J.K. I am interested in further ing my education, but don't want to give up my job or leave home What do you suggest?

ANSWER: There are colleges in your city that offer courses which you may take at evening class. In this manner you can began to get the credits you need and study at the same time. I will no doubt require a little sacrificing, because this would take up your extra time. But, I don't viison your regreting it later on

R.T. Will I make a success o my endeavors?

ANSWER: According to your Zodiacal Sign you are nedowed with many fine qualities which should prove helpful in your line o fbusiness. Your Horoscope will also prove helpful. Send for your copy at your earliest opportunity

WITH THE EIGHTH ARMY IN GIFU, JAPAN — April 8, 1948. Captain Clifford Allen of 732 E. 27th St. Los Angeles, Calif., Adjutant, 2d Battalion, 24th Infantry has recently been joined overseas by his wife, Mrs. Clara Allen, at Camp Gifu, Japan. (Signal Corps Photo.)

Willowbrook Protests Slums

'Government Should Make Civil Disobedience Unnecessary,' Says White

Walter White Informs Senate On Control Stand

NEW YORK. — Disavowing "civil disobedience as an effective technique for solving the race problem," Walter White, secretary of the NAACP, expressed the hope in a letter to Senator Wayne Morse "that sufficient courage can be mustered by the government to do the simple thing which will make unnecessary and unthinkable any campaign of civil disobedience. That simple act is to wipe out segregation forthwith."

Mr. White's letter of April 14 was in response to a wire from Senator Morse deploring what he deemed NAACP "encouragement" of the proposal made by A. Philip Randolph for complete non-participation in any selective service or universal military training program which does not specifically prohibit racial segregation.

Meanwhile on the floor of the senate, April 12, Mr. Morse, a member of the NAACP board of directors, demanded to know "how far Mr. White would go, as secretary of that association,

Eagle Editor Nearly Mobbed In City Col· Student Fracus

Frenzied demonstrations, fistfights and rotten fruit barrages caused the cancellation of a rally against universal military training, which had been planned under the auspices of the Student Committee Against UMT, and was to take place at the Campus Theatre, 1020 North Vermont avenue, Monday, April 19.

Mrs. Charlotta Bass, publisher of The California EAGLE, who had been invited to address the group of students, arrived at the theatre about 1 o'clock and observed what appeared to be a seething mob in front of the theatre, but the doors were not open. Upon making inquiry of people standing around, it was learned that the management had refused to open its doors.

A parade which had been scheduled to form at noon, at the end of the "V" carline, failed to materialize, as hundreds of students resenting the proposed meeting blocked the efforts of the sponsors.

"For the first time in the history of my life," stated Mrs. Bass, "I realized the meaning of a lynch mob. I was approached by wild-eyed, panting young students who asked such questions as: 'Are you for Henry Wallace?' When I answered in the affirmative, they almost screamed: 'Do you want to go to Russia?'"

Mrs. Bass explained to her young inquirers that she had no interest in or cosnection with Russia, but that she was willing to discuss both sides of any question. That she considered their behavior an indictment

Willowbrook Citizens Protest Living Conditions

After a meeting with Supervisor Darby, asking for relief from certain restrictions prohibiting them from building more and better houses on their land, citizens in the Willowbrook area held a mass meeting last Friday night at the Evangelistic Baptist Tabernacle, 117th and Holmes Avenue, of which the Rev. Brown is pastor.

The committee that waited on Supervisor Darby reported that they reminded their representative in the supervisorial department that due to crowded, inadequate housing conditions within the past month, ten people, mostly children, had been burned to death in fire traps called homes; that insufficient lighting and absence of stop signals on street crossings was endangering the lives of school children.

The fenced in area occupied by Negro citizens in the Willowbrook section of Los Angeles County is, no doubt, the back wash of Feb. 5th, 1944 between the residents of Willowbrook, the surrounding territory adjacent to the then proposed Palm Lane

Bullets End Argument On Crowded Streetcar

Passengers aboard a crowded "P" car Friday night were shocked as they witnessed the murder of attractive Beatrice Imogene Thompson, 23, of 319 S. Olive Street by Sylvester Black, 34, who gave his address as 10351 Gorman Avenue.

Witnesses state that the couple boarded the streetcar at 11th and Broadway and proceeded to argue in quiet tones for several blocks.

SYLVESTER BLACK

Suddenly, as the car reached 4th and Broadway, the woman stood up and said:

"I'm leaving."

Black, a husky Negro man, quickly pulled her back into the seat, pulled a .38 Colt revolver from his pocket and fired three shots into the woman's body.

It is rumored that the young white woman, and Black were married in Mexico, two years ago, and that she had recently tried to leave him because her parents objected to the marriage. Rumor has it also that she married Black, squeezed him for everything he had, and had started paying attention to other suitors.

LATEST BULLETIN

At the Coroner's inquest, held yesterday, at 2 p.m., Sylvester Black was held to answer for the murder of Mrs. Beatrice Thompson. Black's employer testified that the dead woman had appeared at his factory on numerous occasions to pick up the accused man. He also testified that Black's conduct on the job was satisfactory. The couple seemed happy together, as man and wife, he stated.

Homicide officers who quizzed Black were unable to immediately establis ha motive. They said it was apparent that the shooting stemmed from his jealousy.

Black was seized, immediately following the shooting, by Special Officer, James Patrick, Metropolitan Division, who happened to be riding the streetcar at the time.

28th Street School Principal Charged With Anti-Semitism

Formal notarized charges of Anti-Semitism, Anti-Negro and Anti-Union feeling active in the city school system will be presented to the Board of Education, the C.I.O. United Public Workers said today.

A meeting of community and Union leaders is scheduled for Monday afternoon in the Tropic room of the Downtown Clark Hotel to take action on a statement the public workers officers were not allowed to present at the Board meeting, it is announced.

The conference is called by the American Jewish Labor Council, to discuss methods of combating racial and union discrimination in public schools, the council stated.

Harry Jung, representing Public Workers, said he was notarizing the evidence deposition documenting the statement he was not allowed to present at the Board Thursday at the public session. The Board stopped his presentation and adopted a motion for him to present forms notarized for the Board investi-

On The Sidewalk

By C.A.B.

In commenting on the anniversary of the death of Franklin Delano Roosevelt in the April 12th issue of the New Republic, Henry Wallace had this to say:

"This week which includes the third anniversary of Roosevelt's death, is a good time to count the immediate and ultimate costs of our cold war policy.

Roosevelt had the most friendly relationship with our wartime allies, and in that policy he had the support of the American people, as evidenced by the 1944 election. But after his death his polices were more and more scuttled by the Military, the State Department and those who succeeded him.

Every spring since his death we have taken a fresh descent toward that pit which is war. A year ago, the Truman Doctrine was announced, and now on the third anniversary we suddenly have the nation confronted with a bi-partisan call for extreme militarization, the near destruction of the UN by the actions on Palestine and Trieste, and the creation of war hysteria."

These are not idle words. The terrible inroads that this war hysteria is making in the minds and on the lives of our youth was brought home to me this week:

I had been invited to speak to a group of Junior College students Monday, April 19th, at noon, at the Campus Theatre, 1020 North Vermont Avenue. Upon approaching the point of contact, I observed what appeared to be a heaving, turbulent, rip-snorting mob. I approached the entrance door to the Theatre and found it locked. Moving sometimes and being pushed along until I, too, became a part of the mob, I peered into young faces bearing down upon me from every angle, trying to discover what had or was happening.

Of course, I had a Wallace button in the lapel of my coat. One young skirt, with something between a grin and a snarl, looked at my button and smirked—So you are for Wallace?—I answered, "You bet." This reply brought forth a wild yell. From the nearby crowd someone yelled "Why don't you go to Russia?—I answered: "I prefer Mississippi, for there I believe I could do more good among my own people, victims of lynch mobs, I imagne, much like this one. In Russia I have neither kith nor kin, hence I would be a stranger in a strange land."

I understand that this frenzied mob started in some of the classrooms under the tutelage of certain teachers.

Two students visited my office a short time after the fracus and informed me that the head of the Speech Department told his students that a Negro woman newspaper publisher was going to speak at the meeting, and that they should treat her to a shower bath of rotten eggs and tomatoes.

Yes, Mr. Wallace, this war hysteria is becoming a dangerous threat to democracy at home and abroad. I am more concerned about the nature of the internal destruction of our own government than I am with what is happening in Russia and Italy.

I think my national indignation would be as greatly stirred if someone screamed from a platform, or over a street corner—down with the United States!

When college professors and citizens who can't see eye to eye, politically, work up mobs to intimidate, browbeat or assault with rotten egges and tomatoes, their opponents, its about time for us ,the American people, to stop and take note of what is happening to us.

Social Worker Reject Token Salary Boost

"Man bites dog" has always been real news, but people returning a wage increase is today's topper.

Delegations of workers in 12 Federation agencies, including Jewish Community Centers, Jewish Family Service, Jewish Employment and Counseling Service and others last Thursday returned to their executives the token increase accorded them by Federation management in lieu of their union contract.

Federation management and the Union, who have been negotiating since January, reached an impasse on April 7th when Federation refused to submit to arbitration disputed matters of salaries, un-

Mexican Health Official Visits District Center

Dr. Ricardo Hernandez Villadoz, Director of Tuberculosis Control Division of the Ministry of Health of the Republic of Mexico, was escorted through the Southeast District Health Center, Wednesday, April 14.

The Doctor, who is in Los Angeles observing the facilities of Governmental and Voluntary public health agencies, was introduced to the various division directors and in turn escorted through their departments.

Mr. Edward Roybal, Los Angeles County Tuberculosis and Health Association Health Educator, accompanied Dr. Villadoz on the tour.

PANDEMONIUM—Above are mob scenes on City College campus, Monday, April 19th, as certain student factions attempted to break up the planned rally against Universal Military Training. Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, publisher of the California Eagle, who was scheduled to speak, but prevented from doing so, is shown with a group of students who heckled her with questions.

Eagle To Celebrate 69th Anniversary April 30th

A mammoth program and dinner, celebrating the 69th Anniversary of the California Eagle, will be held in the annex of the Zion Hill Baptist Church, 51st and McKinley Avenue, Friday evening, April 30th, 1948.

This celebration is being planned in order to give everyone in the community whom the paper has served, through the years, an opportunity to pay their respects to this institution and to also learn some of the many accomplishments it has made during the course of its history.

Mrs. Idell Bateman, one of the California Eagle's oldest employees, will give a history of the paper, and Mr. Wm. Bowers will give a comprehensive background of J. J. Lemore, the man who started the California Eagle. There will be many other interesting numbers on the program.

The entire staff of the Eagle is leaving no stone unturned to make this one of the most brilliant affairs of the season. They especially urge and request that all former employees of the Eagle, who happen to be in the city, reserve this date on their calendar, and plan to be in attendance. It is an event no one will want to miss.

Preceding the program, a delicious dinner will be served in the dining hall.

For further information and details concerning this event, you are urged to telephone the California Eagle office without delay.

Negroes Given Police Certificates In Texas

HOUSTON, Texas — Thirteen Negro applicants for positions with the Houston Police Department completed a thirteen week course and were awarded certificates at a banquet held in the Texas State University cafeteria, Monday night, April 12.

The program of training in Public Administration was sponsored jointly by the University of Houston, the Texast State University for Negroes, and the Police Department of the City of Houston. Inspector L. D. Morrison of the Crime Prevention Bureau was director of training.

Popular Leader In Pittsburgh On IPP Staff

Alexander Wright, prominent Negro labor leader leader and official of the United Stone and Allied Products Workers of America, CIO, has joined the staff of the Progressive Party of Pennsylvania in Pittsburgh, it was announced by the Party headquarters today. He will work as full-time organizer in Western Pennsylvania on the Henry Wallace campaign.

In coming to work for the Progressive Party, Wright resigned from the board of the Allegheny County PAC and reported he was doing so "because I am determined to carry on the fight for the policies of the late Franklin Roosevelt" and that he believed he would accomplish this by "devoting my full time to helping build the Progressive Party and support the candidacy of Henry Wallace and Senator Glen Taylor."

Author Picks Ten Foremost Leaders of Negro America

CHICAGO—Declaring that no Negro clergyman or newspaper publisher exerts national influence on colored Americans, author Roi Ottley lists in May Negro Digest as the "Big Ten Who Run Negro America," three educators, two trade union leaders, two organization leaders, a singer-actor, and a philanthropic executive.

ACCEPTS APPOINTMENT—George B. Murphy, former editor and publicist and until last week national commander of the United Negro and Allied Veterans of America, has taken a leave of absence from that organization to accept appointment as assistant campaign manager of the National Wallace for President Committee, it was announced last week by C. B. Baldwin, campaign manager for Henry Wallace.

Listing his nominees in the order of their emergence to leadership rather than in order of relative importance, Ottley, who wrote the best-seller "New World A' Coming," names his talented tenth as follows:

W. E. B. DuBois, "Boston Brahmin and Elder Statesman," A. Philip Randolph, "Mystic Radical," Charles S. Johnson, "The Diplomat," Mrs. Mary McLeod Bethune, "First Lady of the Struggle," Walter White, "The Lobbyist," Willard S. Townsend, "The Advocate," F. D. Patterson, "The Conservative," Channing L. Tobias, "The Honest," Paul Robeson, "Othello of the Struggle," and Mordecai W. Johnson, "The Preacher."

Remarking on the fact that he included no publisher or minister in his list, Ottley explains that the church and the press are the two most important factors in Negro leadership. But he insists that no single publisher or clergyman exerts any widespread influence.

Awards Contracts For Better Street Lighting Systems

Although the present shortage of steel has retarded to some extent the actual installation of street lighting systems in Los Angeles contracts have been awarded by the Board of Public Works for 23 projects during the past 18 months, according to a report made to the commission this week by W. E. Lauer, Street Lighting Engineer.

These lighting projects represent various classes of improvements, such as replacement of defectiv posts, modernization of existing equipment, and the complete replacement of hopelessly obsolete types of units.

49th Street School PTA Sponsors Red Cross Health Courses

Sponsored by the 49th Street School P.-T.A., a streamlined Red Cross course "Care of the Sick at Home" was completed this week with certificates going to six Negro women successfully finishing the class instructed by Registered Nurse Mrs. Maxine McMurray.

The class was conducted in the spacious basement of the Vernon Branch Library, 4504 So. Central Avenue.

According to Mrs. Lloyd Aldrich, chairman of the Red Cross home nursing committee, who presented pins and certificates to the class, two additional nursing courses have been scheduled for the same building starting April 26 and 27. "Women interested in enrolling in these newly programmed classes are asked to contact Red Cross nursing representatives at Fitzroy 5261, extension 68."

The streamlined course in "Care of the Sick at Home," starting April 27, will meet Tuesdays and Thursdays for three consecutive weeks from 10 a.m. to 12 noon. On Monday, April 26, a Red Cross course in "Mother and Baby Care and Family Health" will open for three weeks meeting Mondays and Wednesdays from 12:30 to 2:30 p.m.

"Students" completing the course this week were Mmes. Ellen M. Grose, Adell Duncan, Harrie Lee Artis, Dorothy Johnson, John H. Norris, and Martha Pugh.

Scientist Tells Gains Of Insurance Capital Stock Owners Here

In an analysis of savings investments made by the general American public within the last five years, Dr. Daniel A. Collins, distinguished University of California professor and chairman of the board of directors of the new Carver National Life Insurance Company, stated in an interview this week that a rising share of U.S. savings goes into insurance.

Dr. Collins

"For the most logical reasons in the world — simple cases of thrift, love of family, and the desire for self-made economic independence, people are buying more life insurance," Dr. Collins said.

"Simultaneous with the fast growth of life insurance assets over the past 20 years, is an equally eager desire of small and large investors to get ownership of capital stock in insurance companies.

"But chances are rare for this choice type of investments. This is true because, in practically every instance newly organized companies keep their capital stock ownership among a few top officials. An example of the rise in value of capital stock is that of a Los Angeles firm whose capital stock originally sold for $100 a share and is now, less than 15 years, worth $1500."

Dr. Collins pointed to the current campaign of the Carver Life Insurance Company which has placed 7500 shares of its capital stock on the public market.

"It is the hope of Carver National Life Insurasce Company officials that the small investor —the laboring man, who has from $100 to $500 surplus; domestic workers; clerical employees as well as persons of larger incomes, will take advantage of the chance to buy into partial ownership of this company. Each share is sold for only $20, which enables a large number of persons to own one or more shares of the stock," he continued.

Los Angeles headquarters of tre firm are at 2514½ South Central avenue. A staff of well-trained stock salesmen are available for persons wishing to reserve or purchase shares. B. B. Bratton is president of the company.

Early Treatment Avoids Birth Of Syphilitic Babies

Five babies are born with syphilis each month in Los Angeles, Dr. George M. Uhl, city health officer, said today.

"About 71 babies were born with syphilis in 1947, of these 16 died because treatment was given too late. All 71 babies were born with a handicap because their mothers didn't receive proper medical attention until they went to the hospital for the delivery," Dr. Uhl said.

Syphilis is a curable disease, and the baby can be born without acquiring its mother's infection if she receives treatment before the baby is born, but particularly before the fifth month, he explained.

"Approximately one out of every five babies born with syphilis is stillborn, or dies soon after birth because of the extensive damage done by the germs to the fetus," the health official declared.

The numbers of cases of congenital syphilis have dropped from what they were previous to state laws making premarital blood tests a requisite for marriage licenses and the pre-natal blood test law, he said, adding:

"Most of the mothers transferring syphilis to their babies were married in states not having such laws. The others acquired syphilis after they were married."

Open House PTA

Open House and the night meeting of the 36 Street School P.T.A. were combined in their yearly get together Wednesday night April 14, in the school auditorium with Mrs. Clifford Gantt, president, presiding.

The Capella Chorus consisting of 150 voices presented "Twenty Minutes of Music" under the direction of Miss Vivan Slike. Pictures of the chorus were taken by Life Magazine to be used in a series of articles in one of the issues. The Girl Scouts had charge of the registration in the rooms and also helped with the serving in the cafeteria.

The final paper drive of 36th Street P.T.A. for the year will be held April 28.

300,000 Free Meals Served At Mt. Sinai

More than 35,000 new applications for service flowed into the headquarters of the Mt. Sinai-Duarte National Medical Center during the past year, it was announced today by Louis Tabak, president of the organization, and the non-sectarian institution kept pace with the major proportion of them.

"Cold statistics," said Tabak, "sometimes go far in showing the depth of human sympathy and understanding in people. In the course of the past year, more than 300,000 free meals were served at the Mt. Sinai-Duarte National Medical Center; our records show that each patient accepted for care was given an average of sixteen months hospitalization at no cost.

"All this emphasizes the enormity of the burden of caring for the indigent ill. Yet whatever the cost of this great undertaking, it could never have been achieved if the men and women of our many auxiliaries had not been of such sympathetic nature. . . ."

Opposes Ordinance Changing Exposives Anchorage Area

Proposed ordinance changes that would permit vessels to load high explosives at any dock in Los Angeles Harbor, were protested today by the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union.

The protest was directed to Councilman George Moore, representing the Harbor district, and was signed by William S. Lawrence, regional director of the longshore union.

"Rule 48, now being proposed, is too general and does not afford protection to the people of the community," Lawrence said in his letter.

Under the proposed ordinance, he pointed out, it will be left to the general manager of the harbor and the chief of the fire department to use their own discretion as to where explosive-carrying ships may dock or be loaded in the harbor.

At present all such loading is confined by ordinance to the explosives anchorage area in the outer harbor, far removed from any business, industrial or residential part of San Pedro.

Public Schools Week Begins April 26

The 29th annual state-wide observance of Public Schools Week, will begin Monday, April 26th.

Mrs. Samuel C. May, of Berkeley, president of the League of Women Voters of California, says:

"A public educational system of high standard, providing educational opportunities for all children and participating adults, with attention given to exceptional needs, is the goal for public education in California as seen by our organization. In the interest of better schools in California, the league has always supported legislation for adequate educational facilities, services, and personnel to make this attainment possible."

Students to Take Iowa Educational Development Test

Los Angeles will know where its pupils stand in their school work, come next month.

April has been named by the Los Angeles City Board of Education as the month for surveying the educational progress of the 12,512 pupils now in the A10 grade in the high schools of the city. During the month each student will take the Iowa tests of educational development, a national test being given this year in 134 high schools in California and in more than 1500 high schools in other states.

Use of New Syrum Urged To Modify Measles

With more than seven times the number of cases of measles reported last week in Los Angeles county than was reported last year for the same period, attention is called by Dr. Kenneth H. Sutherland, assistant Los Angeles county health officer, to the use of a serum preparation used in modifying the disease.

This immunizing agent, known as immune serum globulin, may be secured through the family physician or at the local health center, the health officer said. If these contacts to measles are given the serum globulin within the first four days after exposure the disease can be prevented, of if given later than four days after exposure, the attack can be modified.

"However, it is better, with certain exceptions, to have a modified attack of measles," the doctor advised, "since the latter will produce more or less lasting immunity and protect against future exposures.

"The effect of the immune globulin wears off in a matter of three weeks, and if the child has not had this modified attack it will have no protection against future exposures," he concluded.

Supplies by Calif.

Supplies and materials valued ts $92,316,882 were furnished for the Federal Government by California manufacturers and dealers during the first three months of 1948, it was announced here yesterday by John R. Dille, regional director of the Wage and Hour and Public Contracts Division, U. S. Department of Labor, in the eight Western states.

Lillian Russell, noted American actress, was born at Clinton, Iowa, in 1862. She died in 1922.

DISEASE AND ITS CAUSES

Don't be discouraged. Read what this famous doctor says:

ARTHRITIS: "Mild attacks of muscular rheumatism may occur when subjected to exposure of cold, when the circulation of fluids in the body becomes congested and the elimination of toxins retarded. The congestion may occur in the muscles, and in such cases the trouble is called 'muscular rheumatism.' This condition may exist for years, with varying attacks of shooting pains and soreness of the muscles, until finally the congestion of toxins locates in some joint of the body. The fingers and toes are usually affected first, but it often spreads to the elbows and shoulders, and in this stage is called 'articular rheumatism.'

"If the disease is not arrested at this stage, the soreness spreads to the hips, and finally to the spine. In this latter stage it is most serious, Every effort must be exerted by the patient to attempt to keep the inflammation from developing to this dangerous point. If the rheumatism in the joints continues, the bones will throw out a liquid bone around the joint, apparently in an attempt by the body to protect the joints against the irritation of acid enlargement of the joints, twisting them out of shape, and producing a disease called 'arthritis deformans.'

"The muscular form of rheumatism is usually to be found in the lower back, over the lumbar section of the spine, where it is called 'lumbago,' or in the muscles attached to the ribs, in which case it is called 'intercostal neuralgia.' If the inflammation extends to the nervous system, and deposits of irritating material accumulate around the nerve trunks, it will develop the disease commonly called 'sciatica' or 'neuritis.' Real neuritis is an inflammation of the nerve cells, and is a very rare disease, but rheumatism of the nerves of the arm is so often called neuritis, that I am simply referring to this form of the trouble by the name under which it commonly passes.

"One of the principal causes of rheumatism is toxemia produced from the fermentation of an excess of carbohydrate foods, or from poison generated by fermentation when these foods are used in wrong combinations.

"In addition to the toxic condition of the blood being a cause of sciatica, it will be found that a certain amount of pressure is being exerted upon the nerves going to the legs by an impacted feces in the rectum, or by the pressure of gas on one or the other or on both sides of the colon. If a tumor exists in the womb this may be an irritating cause of pains in the legs because of the pressure exerted upon the pelvic nerves. If the gas pockets in the colon exist only on one side, it will be noted that there is a poor circulation in the leg on that particular side, often enough to produce sciatic pains."

ASTHMA: "Difficulty in breathing is the most characteristic symptom of asthma. Inhaling and exhaling of the necessary air for the body's use are accomplished mainly by the action of the diaphragm, which is a flat muscle separating the lungs from the stomach and intestines. When the diaphragm is contracted the patient exhales the air and poisonous gases, and when it is expanded, air is drawn into the lungs. If stomach or intestine gases are pressing the diaphragm upward, the patient will have difficulty in forcing the pressure down sufficiently to inhale. A weak diaphragm will be unable to do its work properly under this condition, and there will be a struggle to draw enough air into the lungs, resulting in the peculiar wheeze of the asthmatic when attempting to inhale. Of course, there are contributing causes such as irritating dust and pollen of plants, also a deranged condition of the nervous system. The patient usually wheezes along to a good age, with the misery of seeing every proposed remedy fail, until he dies from the effort of drugs taken in an attempt to relieve his symptoms. It may be truly said that at first he is afraid of dying and then afraid he will not.

"If much bronchial mucus is present in the lungs the cure will be slower but none the less sure. Advanced cases seem to yield as readily as those just beginning, so do not think you are an exception because you have tried everything from climate to vaccines, as I do not know of a single case coming under my observation where the cure was not complete and permanent if the patient followed instructions carefully. Probably the reason the old cases respond to this method of treatment as easily as the mild ones, is because the patient who has suffered so long will follow a strict regime without deviating in a single degree, whereas the patient whose symptoms are just beginning has hopes for a remedy which will relieve, and allow him to live without diet regulations. Do not waste time looking for an easier method: there is no other way."

"CONSTIPATION is one of the greatest causes of disease, misery, inefficiency and premature senility and should be most earnestly combatted," says Dr. Kellogg of Battle Creek Sanitarium fame. "Every case of constipation is curable, but not by means of any panacea. Each case must be studied and individual conditions must be dealt with in an intelligent and rational manner.

"If the bowels do not move three times a day constipation exists. The constipation may be latent. It is necessary not only that the bowels should move, but that the colon should be completely emptied.

"A coated tongue, sallow complexion, dark circles around the eyes, appearances of brown spots upon the hands or other spots, offensive breath and perspiration, a thin and elastic, parchment-like skin, dullness of mind, mental irritability or depression, cold hands and feet, headache, arthritis, neuritis, rheumatism, asthma, pains around the heart —diabetes, these and a score of other symptoms are certain indications of chronic poisoning.

"A thorough cleansing of the colon, removing the cause, may prevent more serious conditions such as hardening of the arteries, Bright's Disease, apoplexy with paralysis."

DIABETES: "This disease is present only with those patients who are so enervated that their metabolism becomes faulty, that is, their cells are literally dying faster than they are being built up. It is not essentially a kidney disease, but one evidence of the disorder is the elimination by the urine of large quantities of sugar. The patient generally voids a large quantity of urine during the 24 hours, and has to urinate frequently. In every case the sugar in the urine is caused by the liver's inability to take care of the sugar and starch assimilated.

"From this point of view you will see that the kidneys are really saving the life of the patient by throwing out the waste sugar which the body cannot use, because the liver cannot do the extra work it has been called upon to do. Often the appetite will be enormous, and the trouble is more liable to occur in those people with a tendency to obesity. The saliva is usually scanty, and often sores will form in the mouth. There will be a strong thirst, and the patient will want to drink large quantities of water. The breath has a peculiar smell similar to ether, caused by the acetone which is being eliminated by the breath. Men are more susceptible to the disease than women.

"Anything which produces enervation and makes the body lose its resistance to disease may have an effect in producing diabetes — mental shocks, nervous strains, overwork, worry, anxiety, all have a tendency to favor the development of the affliction. Autointoxication is always present, and the cure of this condition of self-poisoning is always necessary before the diabetes itself can be tackled. A tendency to derangement of the pancreas and liver always exists, with functional impairment of the liver and clogging up of bile in the gall bladder.

"In spite of the seriousness of this disease, it is easily curable in the case of middle-aged patients. The younger the patient is the more difficult the cure, because if the metabolism is imperfect at an early age it shows a radical functional impairment of the liver and pancreas, while with those of more advanced age a certain amount of lost resistance may be expected.

"The start of the treatment of diabetes depends upon a treatment for the liver and gall bladder."

FEMALE DISORDER: "Many women suffer from genital derangements. This is undoubtedly no class of disorder which has so far-reaching an effect upon the nervous system as derangement of the genital organs. Chief among the irritating sources are:

1st. A sluggish state of the blood stream which is productive of congestion in the womb and ovaries, and creates an engorged state which interfers with the normal functionin gof those organs.

2nd. The pressure of prolapsed abdominal vescera upon the reproductive organs and the distention and irritation of intestinal gas.

3rd. Repression of the normal instincts and function through psychological resistance, physical malformation, or misplaced position of organs.

4th. Rectal disorders, piles, hemorrhoids.

In each individual case you may look for one or more of the above causes, which must be removed if the patient is to enjoy perfect health. The digestive disorders may be corrected through proper attention and the prolapsus caused by weakened muscles of the abdomen may be overcome through development of muscular tone."

"Women who suffer are unhappy. They reflect their entire attitude and in many instances destroy the happiness of their home and family. Those who suffer from painful, scanty, irregular, or profuse periods—uterine fibroids; prolapsed, sagging or misplaced organs; childless complexes — you would do well to take steps to correct the cause immediately.

It is impossible to estimate the amount of evil caused by an engorged colon (pot-belly), monopalizing several times its allotted space, crowding and hampering other organs in their work."

"GALLSTONES are alkaline concretions which form in the gall ducts or gall bladder, from the stagnation of thickened bile. It frequently takes years for their formation, during which time the alkaline accumulations pack harder and harder together, allowing the softer part of the bile to flow out, and leaving behind these hardened, calcareous substances. The blocking of the gall ducts leading to the intestines will produce symptoms often mistaken for other diseases.

"Fully one-half of the patients who come to me believing they have stomach ulcers or gastritis are really affected with some form of gall bladder disorder. I have found a very large number of cases, improperly diagnosed as stomach ulcer by other physicians, which have responded so rapidly to treatment as gall bladder derangement, as to lose all symptoms in a day or two.

"Where there is a stoppage of bile in the gall bladder, either by thickened or by gallstone formation, there will always be a tender spot half way between the navel and the ribs on the right side of the abdomen. The color of the skin usually changes every few days, becoming a yellow, sallow hue at irregular intervals. The tongue will be coated, there will be loss of appetite and there may or may not be sharp, colicky pains felt on the right side.

"I have had many cases where large gallstones have been removed by my treatment, where no typical gallstone colic had been experienced at all. If the sharp pains and contractions of the gallstone colic are present in their worst form, the patient will be unable to stand or even sit up straight, but will be forced to lie down with knees drawn up to thechest. Even this position does not relieve the pain. I am convinced that these colicky symptoms are not present in most cases, and that a serious stoppage of bile or a blocking up of the bile ducts with a gallstone may be present without any of such symptoms being in evidence at all.

HEADACHE: "The cause of headache seldom can be found in the head itself, but must be understood to be the symptom of some other disorder located in another part of the body, which affects the nerves in the head by reflex action. If the ache seems back of the eyes, it is either caused by constipation or eye strain. If the ache occurs only on sunny days it indicates suitable glasses should be worn. If not manifested in this way, you may expect that constitpation is the cause, and often you will find a pressure in the rectum of impacted feces.

"Billious 'sick' headache is accompanied by nausea, and can only be cured when biliousness is overcome. Anemia produces a peculiar dizzy feeling in the head, and will persist until the proper changes are made in the blood. Low blood pressure headache is caused by fatigue. High blood pressure headache is usually evidenced by a feeling of pressure around the head, as if a band of iron were being drawn tightly around the skull. Headache at the top of the head is caused by some disorder of the bladder.

"The form least understood is that which occurs at the base of the brain, and is always brought on by uterine congestion. The principal causes of this congestion in women are troubles of menstruation, prolapsed uterus, constipation (which makes pressure against the uterus), and congestion in the womb.

"MIGRAINE is a form of headache which makes habitual visits at certain definite times. I have never treated a case which could not be cured by the methods used in the ordinary form of headache. Cases of many years' standing, which have resisted all medicinal remedies used, are often cured as quickly as an ordinary bilious headache."

"HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE should only be determined with an examination by a competent physician. If the pressure registers above 140 at any age it should be considered positive evidence of high blood pressure, which is brought about either by hypertension of the arteries, as in gout or rheumatism, excessive mental strain or worry, or is due to hardening of the arteries.

"Hardening of the arteries may be only a thickening of the arterial walls or may be due to deposits of lime on the inside of the arteries. I have never had a case under my observation and control where the pressure was not reduced to the normal by my method. The thickening of the walls or deposits on the walls is caused in every case by a toxic state of the blood."

"LOW BLOOD PRESSURE is the condition which precedes tuberculosis, diabetes, cancer and all disorders where there is great enervation. In every case low blood pressure and enervation precede the above mentioned diseases, and are not caused by them. With low blood pressure are arteries become flabby and relaxed, and the muscle tissues of the body are found to be in a similar state. Every cause which is weakening to the body may be responsible for the production of low blood pressure.

"The cure consists of building up the blood stream and devoling all the functional powers of the body. The extrmee weakness will be gradually overcome.

LIVER: "This condition is very common, and is present in nearly every disease. Often when a complete physical examination will not disclose any organic disease, and where the diagnosing physician is baffled as to the cause of the patient's depression, it will be found that he is simply suffering from a form of self-poisoning from the products of perverted metabolism, the poisons thus engenere dnot being sufficiently eliminated through the usual channels for the purpose.

"In my office experience I have had many patients present themselves to me for examination, who had been put through most exhaustive examinations by other physicians who had told them to go home and forget about their troubles; that there was really nothing wrong with them; that they only imagined they were sick; or that they must be nervous. If these patients do not suffer from pain, and I cannot discover any organic disease, I always assume that they are suffering from some form of toxemia, which is, in almost every case, produced by poisons manufacturer within their own bodies, but which have not been eliminated. The toxins produced in the organism alter the chemistry of the blood and other fluids in which the tissues of the body live.

"Perfect health depends upon the proper chemistry of the fluids of the body.

"This self-poisoning is produced mainly by the following factors:

"When the body is enervated by a waste of mental or physical energy there will often not be enough nerve force to operate the eliminative functions properly, and the normal wastes of the body will not be thrown out rapidly enough, but will remain in the tissues and interfere with the normal functioning of the organs and glands. Constipation exists in nearly every case of auto-toxemia, and is responsible for providing much toxic material which overburdens the blood with waste products. If more food is used and digested than the tissues can assimilate there will be an excess of unabsorbed food material in the blood stream with a consequent state of self-poisoning. If food material in the blood cannot be used by the body for repairing tissues, it will in every case act as a poison until it is eliminated.

"Another cause worth mentioning is too free a use of those foods which make an excess of bile. The bile is used as a digestive fluid, and also as a method of excreting poisons. Certain foods must pass through the liver in the changes necessary before they can be used by the cells of the body.

"If the liver is overworked with these food materials, it will not have sufficent time or energy to perform its regular function of excreting the normal wastes of the body.

"Anyone suffering from autotoxemia will feel very depressed, will be tired at all times, and sleep will not refresh him. He will have a coated tongue, a poor circulation, bad color of the skin, and will have 'the blues' without any good and sufficient reason."

SKIN DISORDER: "ECZEMA: This disease is due to irritants in the fluids of the body which seek an outlet through the skin and mucous membranes. Eczema is characterized by extreme itching, making it a very discomforting and irritating disease. The skin is scaly and generally exudes a serum, making an additional danger of easy infection from outside bacteria. I have had many very serious cases of infection starting with eczema which was poisoned by scratching, bacteria into the irritated skin, thus setting up a state of acute septicaemia.

"PSORIASIS is similar to eczema, but occurs mostly on the skin where there is hair growing. White mother-of-pearl scales form a red base, but these is no itching as in eczema. The causes of psoriasis are identically the same as in eczema, and the cure depends upon the same treatment. The hair will come out in patches if this disease is not arrested quickly. Local treatment will get wonderfully quick results, but the disease is never cured until the systemic causes are removed.

"ACNE, blackheads, pimples, scales, pustules, crusts and inflammatory redness, appearing mostly on the face and back. These disorders are especially liable to appear at the age of puberty, because of the systemic changes taking place at that time. The underlying cause is, however, an unwholesome state of blood, produced by dietetic errors. Constipation exists in nearly every case, and poor circulation of blood to the parts affected is often present. A contributing cause is often stoppage of the pores and sebaceous glands. The cure depends upon the elimination of those excess materials in the blood stream which have produced the disease."

"THE MOST RATIONAL AND PRACTICAL MANNER OF DEALING WITH THIS... BREEDING PLACE OF DISEASE, IS TO WASH IT OUT. 'Daily Worker' Urges 'Ebony' To Correct Misrepresentation

Ebony, one of the foremost Negro magazines in the country, recently sent out a questionnaire to various newspapers and magazines in the country, asking them the number of Negroes employed on their staff. Through some misunderstanding, the number for The Communist Daily Worker was given as only two. The Worker has many more Negroes employed than two, and in a letter to Ebony has corrected that error.

We are printing the letter to help correct the mistake.

Miss Willa Bea Harmon
Associate Editor
Ebony
5125 South Calumet Ave.
Chicago 15, Ill.

Dear Miss Harmon:

We wish to protest the treatment given our newspaper in an article appearing in Ebony for April 1948. You will remember that last Fall, at some considerable effort on our part, we sent photographs and biographies of our Negro editorial employees. The story appearing in Ebony ignored this material and dismissed our paper with "daily newspapers hiring most Negroes is The Communist Daily Worker which has two."

Aside from the three editorial employees—two editors and a reporter, we have a number of other Negro employees. In your questionnaire, you asked only for the biographies of Negro editorial employees. In your story you credit the St. Louis Post Dispatch with an editorial employee classified as "receptionist." Since your article went beyond Negro editorial employees, we feel it only proper that you correct in a coming issue of the magazine the wrong impression which your article made.

We are appending below a list of our Negro employees together with their classifications.

John Pittman, Associate Editor, member of Editorial Board; Abner W. Berry, Feature Writer, member of Editorial Board; John Hudson Jones, Reporter; Harold Cruse, Librarian; Connie Carter, Receptionist, Switchboard Operator; Harold Harris, Copyboy; Robert Rucker, Copyboy; Melvina Summers, Head, Bundle Dept.; Lilyhan Beane, Head, City Circulation; Jaclin Fanning, Advertising Manager; Gloria Manuel, Advertising Asst.; Dorothy Robinson, Supervisor, Mail Room; and Ernestina Tate, Mail Room Asst.

Although we do not apply a percentage basis, yet our personnel policy is reflected in the fact that out of a total of 68 employees, 13 of them are Negroes.

You will note that our personnel policy conforms to our editorial policy—namely, we are not a white newspaper but a newspaper representing in all phases of its activieles the interests of the workingclass, the Negro people and all who have a common interest in expanding democracy in our country.

We need not emphasize our indignation at the way in which Ebony's article handled the policy and position of our paper. We hope that in the interest of truthful information and proper journalistic relationship, you will correct this misrepresentation.

Respectfully,

John Gates
Editor

Urban League Airs Program Tues- April 20

Results of the 3 recent forums on household employment sponsored by 33 local social agencies and the California State Employment Service will be the subject of discussion on Urban League Reports, KRKD's popular public service broadcast, when it goes on the air Tuesday, April 20 at 2 p.m. Miss Anna Louise Keck, manager of the Service Section at the metropolitan Los Angeles service office, will explain the purpose of the forums and describe their achievements.

"We in the California State Employment Service have long been aware of the many problems involved in the placing of efficient household workers, and in the filling of the very specific and difficult job orders. Now that we have discussed the problem and brought it out into the open, we invite the community's housewives and household workers to give us their views," Miss Keck said.

The first affair sponsored by the group and hosted by Roy Milton and Orchestra was a tremendous success and was held at Corregidor Park, where over 3000 children were in attendance. Five hundred pounds of hot dogs and fifty gallons of punch were also furnished by the band leader for the music festival.

Negro Troops Participate In Army Day Observance

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Negro troops in Army camps throughout the nation, and in major cities and villages, last week joined in the annual April 6 observance of Army Day. Participating groups ranged in type from Infantry training units to Mechanized Cavalry and Parachute Infantry companies. Also represented were numerous Reserve and National Guard organizations.

Among the cities in whose Army Day observance Negro troops joined were Pittsburgh and Norristown, Pennsylvania; Baltimore, Maryland; Washington, D. C.; Chicago, Illinois; Raleigh, North Carolina; Louisville, Kentucky; San Antonio, Texas and Seattle, Washington.

Demarville Group Presents Mrs. White

Mrs. Edna G. White, director of playground activities with special classes in dramatics, was presented in a dramatic recital at the Mexican Methodist Church, 1715 Santa Ana Blvd. last Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock by the Demarville organization.

Mrs. White is a Tuskegee graduate, having finished under Dr. Booker T. Washington, and studied under Dr. George Washington Carver. She specialized in teacher training at Tuskegee and in Los Angeles. She is a tireless worker in community and church work. Her membership is with the Tabernacle of Faith Baptist church, where she is superintendent of the junior department in Sunday school.

The Demarville organization comprises a group of people who started a colony near Lake Elsinore. They have bought land to build homes, land for a park and school, and a tract for a rest home and a church. They have set a precedent in Southern California in trying to establish and promote economic security, and to convert their fellowmen into assets instead of liabilities drifting with the tide and becoming social as well as economic parasites.

Ward's New Play Excerpted In May Masses-Mainstream

The May issue of Masses & Mainstream will feature two pieces of special interest for American Negro people. An entire scene from the new play "Shout Hallelujah!" by the talented young Negro playwright, Theodore Ward, who recently won a Guggenheim Fellowship, will appear in this issue. This play brought the author of "Big White Fog," and "Our Lan' ", the 1947 award of the National Theatre Conference and on the basis of its completion Ward has just been awarded that Conference's 1948 award.

In the same issue of the magazine will be printed for the first time the earliest document to come from the pen an an American Negro. Dated 1661, it is an appeal for freedom, and was recently discovered in the archives of the New York State Library by Dr. Herbert Aptheker.

Citizens Sponsor Amnesty Committee

The addition of prominent Americans, including Franklin P. Adams, columnist; the Hon. William Phillips, former ambassador to Italy; and Jacob S. Potofsky, president, Amalgamated Clothing Workers, as sponsors of the Committee for Amnesty, was announced by the Rev. A. J. Musto, chairman, as part of a new drive of the Committee for an immediate amnesty to restore civil and economic rights to Selective Service violators.

"Every day's delay is a new injustice to these men who have been punished severely because of their opposition to war," Mr. Muste said. The Committee for Amnesty is proud to report that public concern for religious liberty and political minorities is bringing new support to our campaign daily."

Approves Request For Crosswalks

This week Councilman Kenneth Hahn announced that the Police Commission approved of his request of having crosswalks placed on Long Beach blvd. at 52nd st.

The Councilman pointed out that at the present time the pedestrians get off the Pacific Electric red cars at this corner and have no protection crossing Long Beach blvd. This request came through Mrs. Iola Green and several other people who called it to his attention.

Councilman Hahn said that the crews should be painting the street in the near future.

Spectacular Ceremony Planned For West View Ground-Beaking May 23

It was announced this week that Jack Stearns, prominent Hollywood musician and musical director of the Westlake college, had volunteered his services and that of the college orchestra for the ground-breaking ceremony for West View Hospital, to be held at the hospital site, Main street between 53rd and 54th streets, Sunday, May 23, at 3 p.m. The Westlake college orchestra of 30 talented musicians will provide music and accompany the host of stage, screen and radio artists who will participate in the ceremony.

The Westlake group are now working on a special arrangement of the "West View March," the official West View Hospital musician composition written by Dr. Thomas Roy Peyton, one of the 25 charter members of West View. The selection will be premiered by a nationally famous vocalist at the ground-breaking ceremony as a highlight of the event.

It was learned from Allen C. Woodard, third president of the West View Board, that plans were well advanced for a spectacular and memorable ceremony, involving public officials and civic leaders, as well as a stellar entertainment program, to launch construction of the initial unit of Los Angeles first interracial, non-sectarian, non-profit hospital. He advised that thousands of individuals and organizations had reviewed announcements of the event and urged that the citizens give "all-out support at this time." He pointed out that "this community project deserves and needs the wholehearted support, both financial and otherwise, of every person in the community."

The public is urged to reserve Sunday afternoon, May 23, for West View's ground-breaking. Watch this newspaper for details of the star-studded program that will be held.

UPW, CIO Urges $30 Per Month Wage Increase

The United Pulic Workers of America, a CIO Affiliate of Civil Service employees, in a letter to the City Council, the Board of Supervisors, the L.A. Board of Education and its personnel commission and L.A. City Housing Authority, requested a flat $30 per month across-the-board increase, and the establishment of a $200 per month minimum wage.

The Union bases it request for the $30 per month raise on the rise in wages in private industry during the past year and claims its figures are substantiated by the joint survey conducted by the City, County and Board of Education, etc., as well as by the United States Department of Labor, Bureau of Labor Statistics. Other wage demands by the CIO Union, which claims to represent 4000 employees in Los Angeles, are:

Full "Flat Union Rates" to all Civil Service Employees in the skilled, semi-skilled and unskilled jobs which are related to jobs in the Associated General Contractors Agreements with the Unions of the Building and Construction industry.

Elimination of the 5 step plan now in effect under which Civil Service Employees are required to work for less than average wages during their first two years of government employment.

Under this plan they also have to wait at least 4 years before obtaining the top step. The Union proposes the dropping of steps 1 and 2 of the existing plan and urges a reduction of the waiting period to 6 months between steps. Under the Union proposal no Civil Service Employee would earn less than the average wage paid in private industry.

The Union also asked for time and a half for all overtime and Saturday work and double-time for all work on Sundays and holidays.

Navy Experimental Recruit Unit Has 12 Negro Members

Twelve Negro enlisted men are members of the Navy experimental recruit unit which has begun training at the Naval Training Center, San Diego, Calif., to determine the adaptability of present Navy recruit training methods to universal training.

The number represents nearly four per cent of the total of 320 recruits participating in the program, and is more than 50 per cent greater than the number of Negroes in regular Navy recruitments.

Men assigned to the unit represent a cross section of new Navy recruits. In addition to standard Navy training, they will be given other training based on ideas and suggestions contained in the report of the President's Advisory Commission on Universal Training, including personal supervision of the individual recruit.

No previous breakdown of personnel by race, color or creed has been available under the Navy policy of non-discrimination, which has precluded listing any of the three factors on the forms from which applicants were screened or selected.

DR. CHAN'S NEW REMEDY IS SCIENTIFICALLY FORMULATED TO COMBAT THE DISTRESSING SYMPTOMS OF GAS, BELCHING, BLOATING, VOMITING, HEARTBURN, INDIGESTION, FULLNESS AND PAIN AFTER MEALS.

Natural health giving herbs have been used in China for thousands of years to rid the human body of toxic matters which hinders the function of practically all the organs of the body. They are known to relieve ailments that have been slow to respond to other forms of treatment.

THE BIBLE STATES HERBS WERE PUT INTO THE GROUND AS AN AID TO MAINTAIN AND RESTORE HEALTH—CAN THERE BE A BETTER AUTHORITY OR RECOMMENDATION?

So regain health nature's way which is slow but sure. Try our pure Chinese herbs for natural results. Feel once again the vim, vigor, vitality of a normal functioning body. Why live just a half a life when nature intended you to have a full, rich, healthy, enjoyable existence free from aches and pain. When other methods fail do not give up hope of getting well. Your case may respond to herbs when everything else fails. Why continue to suffer when others are regaining health daily. A fair trial will convince the most skeptic unbeliever.

Starting its second year as sponsor of the first national weekly news program ever presented by a trade union in this country, the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America (UE-CIO) announced the addition of more than 50 new stations to its coverage.

The UE also revealed the fact that its program will be heard over the American Broadcasting Company network rather than the Mutual Broadcasting System, and for the first time, will be coast-to-coast.

Starting Monday night, April 19, the program—which features Arthur Gaeth, ace news reporter, was carried by more than 112 stations in 36 states, including station KECA in Los Angeles.

This program originates from Washington, D. C., at 10:00 p.m. every Monday night and will be heard in Los Angeles at 9:00 p.m.

UE is one of the largest unions in the nation, representing 600,000 men and women in the electrical manufacturing industry.

Educator Speaks At Eastside Confab

Mrs. Charlotta Bass, editor and publisher of the California Eagle and Dr. Herbert B. Alexander, Professor of Sociology at Los Angeles City College will be the featured speakers presented by the Collegians of Los Angeles City College at 8 p.m., Sunday April 25, 1948.

The program will be the first annual benefit for their University Religious Conference Camp Fund Drive. The two Los Angeles campuses, the University of California at Los Angeles and Los Angeles City College have,

It has been said that the professor who heads the Speech Department at City College advised his students to get all the rotten eggs and over-ripe fruit they could find and heave them at the Negro woman publisher who was coming to speak to this particular organization at the Campus Theatre.

If this is found to be authentic, Mrs. Bass has stated that she will bring suit against the professor and City College.

since 1931, sponsored this inter-religious camp. The children are chosen from the playgrounds of this and other communities from groups whose circumstances would not ordinarily allow them to go to camp.

Dr. Herbert B. Alexander, graduate of Stanford University, is a member of the Scholastic Society, Phi Beta Kappa. He is one of the foremost sociologists in the United States. Mrs. Charlotta Bass is one of the foremost fighters for rights of minority groups in America.

The program will also include vocal and piano selections by Miss Georgia Patterson and Miss Mary Louise Whittley.

The public is urged to attend.

San Pedro NMU Strike Preparations Committee Girds for Action

SAN PEDRO, Calif.—The Strike Preparations Committee of the San Pedro Branch of the National Maritime Union met Monday in the NMU library and set up sub-committees to prepare to meet the shipowners' offensive, when contracts expire June 15. All committeemen agreed immediate action wa snecessary to answer the shipowners' rebuff of NMU demands made through the Union's negotiating committee. The shipowners countered NMU demands with technicalities concerning the Taft-Hartley law.

The San Pedro preparations committee urged organization of the membership for all phases of strike preparations, and appointed necessary working committees.

These committees will report at the next meeting of the full committee, Friday, April 23, 3 p.m. in the NMU library. Committee sessions are open to all NMU members.

against American Democracy.

"Furthermore," she stated, "If I were to make a trip anywhere I'd like to go to Mississippi with the hope of helping to clean up the lynch evil there."

As Mrs. Bass left the scene she was followed by scores of heckling students who yelled catcalls at her.

Her only comment was: "The behavior of those who denied a peaceful body of students to hold a Wallace meeting is a denial of the most important of the Four Freedoms — freedom of speech. This shows the definite trend in which we, as Americans, are moving at the present time."

Present at this meeting was a Mrs. Randolph, representing an all-white citizens committee, Robert Wayne Burns and Mrs. Sumner Spaulding, Commissioners of the Los Angeles County Housing Authority, and Regional Director, Langdon Post.

The exact statement made by Mrs. Randolph to Mr. Post follows: "This is a group that represents the residents in the territory surrounding the project at Wilmington and 120th Street, Compton, Lynwood, Willowbrook, and all the territory in that district; what we have come for is to ask you, Mr. Post, to use more consideration with us and put that into a white project, because if we do not we are going to have a race war which we do not want; it is inevitable; there will be bloodshed."

In answer to Mrs. Randolph's threat of a race war, Mr. Post retorted: "I cannot believe that the people in Los Angeles are going to really start a race war; I know that it has happened in Detroit; I cannot believe the people of California would do such a thing."

There has been no race war, as such, in the Willowbrook District, but supinely the County Board of Supervisors have seen the Negro section zoned in such order as to keep it dark, unsanitary and with housing conditions equaled only by the ghetto section of Mexico.

From the Friday night meeting an enlarged committee was formed to again visit Supervisor Darby, Tuesday morning, April 20th.

UE Rally in Embassy Mon.

A "Wage Fight" rally of UE members, to be held Monday night, April 26, at 8 p.m., in the Embassy auditorium, was announced this week by Carl Brant, president of Local 1421, United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers.

Seven shops in the Local, having reached serious snags in negotiations for a wage increase, are about to strike the companies involved. The companies—Sterling Motors, Square D, Domestic Thermostat, Allied Records, Mullenbach Engineering, Zinsco, and Ames-Frey—are all represented in negotiations by De Voe Rea, of the Biddle Trade Bureau, a labor-busting outfit operating in the Los Angeles area.

Members of the UE in these shops, completely dissatisfied with managements' stand and Rea's tactics, will use the rally as a means of expressing their feelings on the need for a wage increase at this time.

The managements of the seven companies involved in the present struggle have been invited to attend the rally, and say their piece to the assembled workers, who are looking forward to asking questions about the wage increase they need.

The rally will also be participated in by members of other UE shops and locals in the Los Angeles area.

gation before any public hearing would be allowed.

In the statement Jung was not allowed to give, the exposure of a letter said to be written by Mrs. Nell Maloy Hass, principal of the 28th Street Elementary School, requesting the School District Superintendent not to send any more "Russian Jewish" teachers to her school as they were pro-union and were not "A moral builder when placed in a school with Negro teachers."

"We feel the people should know this exists and is proved" said Jung when he was interrupted at Thursday's meeting. "People will then have opportunity to bring additional cases which we know exists before the Board."

Maynard Toll, chairman of the School Board, said "the cases may not be presented in public session until the board has first had a chance to investigate them."

The Board, however, refused to commit itself on whether it would conduct a public hearing should charges on race discrimination be substantiated, according to Jung.

"Without public knowledge of disciplinary action by the board," said Jung, "other school officials might continue violation with impunity."

United Public Workers American Federation, previously protested the Board's refusal to give any public reasons for its closed session refusal to renew the contract of Vierling Kersey, Supt. of Schools for 12 years.

Members of the Citizens delegation who also called upon the board for public hearing on the Union charges included: Jack Steinhart, International Executive Board Member of C.I.O. Longshoremen and Warehouse Union; Sandford Golmier of American Jews Labor Council and Rudolph Pacht, American Jewish Congress.

Negro Congress To Hold Vital Meeting Sunday

The Los Angeles Negro Congress invites its members, friends and public to its membership meeting, Sunday, April 25, 4:00 p.m. at the Henderson Community Center, 911 E. 25th Street, adjacent to the Second Baptist Church.

A speaker representing the United Packinghouse Workers of America, C.I.O., will acquaint the audience with the facts of the strike that is now prevailing at the Meat Packinghouses in Los Angeles.

The Congress also urges friends and members to bring with them to this meeting contributions of canned foodstuffs which are desperately needed to aid the strikers and their families.

The Congress will also hold further discussion on what our members and the public can do in aiding the continuation of the fight for the unconditional release and safety of the Ingram family.

Anti-Segregation Amendment Upheld By Congresswoman

Speaking on the floor of the House of Representatives in support of the Anti-Segregation Amendment to the 70-Group Air Forces Bill, introduced by Congressman Powell, Helen Gahagan Douglass, fighting Congresswoman from California stated:

"It is a matter of simple justice to abolish segregation in all the branches of the armed forces.

"We should be especially mindful of the Negro soldier, remembering that he fought and shed his blood for a freedom which he has not as yet been permitted fully to share. He made his contribution in World War II as he has in every other war in which we, a free people, have fought. It should never be forgotten that Negro heroes in that war achieved their proud records under handicaps that did not have to be overcome by most of their white fellow citizens. To ask them again to bear arms in the face of continued discrimination would add to those handicaps and go beyond the bounds of common decency."

employment insurance, overtime pay, etc.

Federation immediately and unilaterally put through a 7.44% increase which was unanimously rejected by the membership at a special meeting held Saturday, April 10. The Union negotiating committee at this meeting was authorized by the membership to call a strike if further negotiations fail and if Federation management continues in their refusal to arbitrate.

Peace Train Delegates Will Travel To D. C. By Plane

Robert B. Pettengill, Chairman of the Southern California Committee for the Peace Train, announced this morning that because of the urgency of the mission, it had been decided to go by plane to Washington and New York.

An Executive Committee Meeting was held this morning to draw up final plans for the trip, and local committees are being set up in various Southland towns to complete arrangements.

The Peace Train was a way of demonstration to the world of the need for a lasting peace program, and was started by a group of church and lay people who are interested in presenting their proposals for World Peace to government leaders in Washington.

To date, 143 Southland churches have signified their intentions of sending delegates. Dr. Pettengill said that the plane, or planes if more than one should be necessary to carry the delegates, will provide a most spectacular demonstration for what they are preparing to do in Washington.

Land or People?

The Oil Men, the Associated Farmers, and the Big Industrialists generally are up in arms for what seemingly is a case of justice for the little fellow.

It is the measure to be on the November ballot for the reapportionment of the state senate. According to this measure, the number of state senators in the Legislature at Sacramento will be distributed more equably according to the population.

For example, according to the present system, Los Angeles County although it has a population almost equal to that of the rest of the state of California combined, nevertheless has only one senator to represent it in the State Senate in Sacramento — the notorious Jack Tenney.

At the same time counties comprised almost entirely of grazing land or of deserts, with a population of only a few hundred sometimes—they are usually called "cow counties"—elect a senator to the State Senate, the same as Los Angeles County with a population of something like 2,000,000.

Is that fair?

The Associated Farmers and the Oil Men think it is. You see, it is much easier, of course, to persuade a few people to vote as you say than to persuade some 2,000,000 or more. So the owners of those great ranches or any one else with money in his pocket and a persuasive tongue in his cheek, can easily influence those few voters in the "cow counties" to vote for their candidates at election time.

Under the new measure those counties will be combined. Forty-three counties which now elect 25 senators will elect only eight. It will be done according to the number of people they represent, not the number of acres of land.

Time and again, good bills that have been passed by the Assembly in the State Legislature have been defeated when they came to the Senate by the senators elected by the few voters in those thinly populated counties.

That is the thing we want to get rid of. We want to get rid of Jack Tenney, for example. Los Angeles county would have ten senators under the new system. Surely not all of them would be like our un-American Jack. Los Angeles County would have ten votes then, not one in the State Senate.

Of course, we the common people want more representation. We want the people to be represented, not the land. So we'll vote for that proposition, sure thing.

How "Civil Rights" Was Licked

"The 'Civil rights program,' proclaimed with vote-catching fanfare as a mighty assault on Jim Crow—today lies mouldering on the broad White House shelf reserved for such minor matters as the United Nations and the policies of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt," said the official publication of the National Wallace for President Committee, The Citizen.

The Citizen goes on to tell how this program was killed and laid up on the shelf, ending with the defeat of a bill proposed by Vito Marcantonio, of New York, that would have made the civil rights measure a law.

On that day, March 8, when the members of the House voted upon the bill, Mr. Marcantonio noticed how few of the Northern Democrats and Republicans were there.

"A most unusual situation," he commented. "I have never in a long time seen so many Southern Democrats on the floor and so few Republicans in this Congress."

Southern poll tax Congressmen killed the bill, 119-40.

President Truman pronounced the final rites a few days later when he said, at his press conference, that he had no intention of backing up his civil rights message with administration-sponsored bills designed to put the program into effect.

So that's the situation in Washington today. It will continue to be the situation unless we, the people, go into action and elect a president and a Congress that will do the will of the people who elected them.

First election in June. Final election in November. Vote.

What Goes On?

It doesn't require a philosopher, a scientist, a politician, or even a horse thief to answer this one.

Climbing to the topmost round of our editorial ladder, we can easily discern what goes on in our world below.

There it is—the seething mob of greedy politicians who have waited and relied upon political campaigns to fill their coffers and fatten their bellies. The newspaper and radio pirates who by the use of deceit and lies, rounded out into high-sounding words ,to suit the limited taste of the uninformed, keep them looking in the opposite direction, away from the oncoming enemy of their peace and security. The phony labor leader who spends time and uses great patience dividing the common interests of Labor's devout followers, those who have come over to the Labor movement because they see in it the leaders of the great struggle for a decent way of life for all.

These are our enemies, and the enemies of the peace.

If our readers would stretch their imagination they would see the picture and start moving in upon it, with a determination to defeat the enemy's plan to destroy all that is good and healthy, and an equal determination to move towards a better world in our time.

Can you see what goes on?

Well, here is the way the combined evil force works. First it denies the declaration that "all men are created equal," with the right to liberty and the "pursuit of happiness."

The second point in this what-goes-on question is so clearly brought out in a quotation from the March issue of New Century, but taken by us from In Fact! This is a declaration by anti-Semite, Allen MacDougall, Jr., a product of one of our supposedly best American educational institutions.

Mr. MacDougall's statement: "I am Princeton, class of 1941, and I sincerely hope your Liberal Union fails. If it succeeds, Princeton is not the college that I believe in. Maybe you will call me bigoted or some other name. I don't think so. I have nothing execpt goodwill for Negroes and Jews, but that doesn't mean I want to live or associate with them constantly. We have a right to organize communities and clubs, restricted to our firm friends.

"People pay money to send their sons to Princeton; that is a privilege, and they do it for certain reasons . . . If I wanted my son to go to a college with an unlimited number of Negroes and Jews, I could send him to college for practically nothing at any number of state universities."

This type of sentiment expressed by this Princeton man is the sort of propaganda that laid the foundation for the Fascist state built in Germany under Hitler.

And we here in the West don't have to leave home to find it. We see it here in California. Groups of citizens, tell other citizens, "You can't live here because you are a Negro or a Jew." College professors advise their students to throw rotten tomatoes and eggs at a young Jewish speaker at a Pasadena meeting, and a Negro woman at a Los Angeles meet.

Our Board of Education permits a teacher in an Eastside school, where the student body is largely composed of Negroes, to recommend against the further employment of Jewish and Negro teachers.

In the Fremont, Main Street, and Gompers Schools, such grape-vine channels used by teachers have spread racial hate that broke out in student riots. But none of these has been attacked as un-American activities by our newspapers, our radios, or our politicians.

So we ask again, What goes on? Or who are they that would overthrow our government?

Czechoslovakia and the Iron Curtain

So Czechoslovakia was rudely kidnapped and snatched behind the "Iron Curtain!" So scream all the headlines of the monopoly press.

But they show no picture, no newsreels, no snapshots of any Russian troops in Czechslovakia. Nothing of any Russian emissary of Stalin haranguing the people. Not a shred of evidence that any force or terroristic methods were used.

The truth is that the rightist members of the Cabinet resigned. President Benes then asked Prime Minister Gottwald to form a new cabinet. The new cabinet consisted of ministers who were more anxious to carry out the people's program, adopted also by the former cabinet, than the erstwhile cabinet ministers were.

What was that program?

Division of all landed estates of more than 125 acres; nationalization of factories employing more than 50 workers; heavy taxes on upper income groups; expansion of social security, old age insurance, and medical benefits.

What's wrong with that?

The Czechs seem to like it. The trouble was the former cabinet members were elected on virtually the same platform, but they didn't carry out their promises. So, at the instance of those who could and would do what they said, they were asked ot quit. They did.

And Czechoslovakia today is peacefully going about its own business, and the people are working together as never before to bring about the state of the nation they desire. Behing the Iron Curtain!

THINGS I SEE

By Marian Inglewood

Thousands of Angelenos took time off from their troubles and the troubles of the world the past few days, and became children again as they attended the Clyde Beatty Animal Circus. Some oldsters really had the excuse of taking their own children, or in many cases their grandchildren, but others frankly braved the ridicule of others who weren't quite so strong-willed, and went to the circus themselves. Just for the fun of it.

These oldsters, unchaperoned, laughed as heartily at the antics of the clowns, fed peanuts to the elephants, drank pop, bought little feathery monkeys on a stick, ate popcorn, and did everything else the ten-year-olds are supposed to do, with as much gusto as the liveliest youngsters anywhere could have done.

There was the clown with the very large, red nose, who made it a point to parade "down the aisle" with every young lady he could catch unawares. Everyone took it good naturedly.

"Lawse," said one who might have been a great-grandmother, "I ain't had a chance to have someone beau me like you're a-doing for nigh unto forty years. Come on. Let's go."

Then they hooked arms, and marched ahead, proud as punkins.

Everyone seemed happy. Or at least free from their burdens, and relaxed. Even the elephants had a whimsical twinkle in their eyes, as if they knew they were providing a lot of enjoyment for everyone, and were having a good time themselves doing it. And those beautiful horses! Every dancing, prancing little movement told better than words how perfectly well satisfied they were with themselves and with the world in general.

Yes, everybody forgot for a while about Stalin and Russia and those awful Communists and what the Hearst papers say they are doing or supposed to be doing. The Truman Doctrine or the Marshall Plan wasn't even mentioned. And if anyone saw any war clouds on the horizon, he turned them inside out and looked only at the lining. We don't need to have a war. Maybe we won't. If each one would be just a little more tolerant, a little more willing to see the other fellow's point of view, we surely wouldn't have another war.

Being like little children again, even if it's just to take in a circus, would be a good thing for everyone. For our politicians, our statesmen, our diplomats. It clears away so many cobwebs that have gathered in our sky.

Those wide-eyed little four and five-year olds, gazing for the first time at those wonderful fairy-like creatures flying through the air. Watching breathlessly as they jumped rope on horseback. Or were swung gaily aloft on the trunk of an elephant. We can't have any war that could hurt them. We must have peace, for their sakes.

And so, after having been a child and gone to the circus, you may wonder if perhaps, after all, the other fellow could not have a few things in his favor, too. You know, it wasn't only the bigotry and stubbornness of the slave-holders that caused the Civil War, as we so love to think. It was, our own bigotry and stubbornness, those of us who lived in the North, as well.

We, or our grandfathers, just decided among ourselves that there positively couldn't be anything good in the South. That everything there was perforce of the devil, and that therefore we couldn't have any traffic with any Southerner, not even so much as to say "Howdy."

As a consequence, the U. S. government was forced to pay out millions of dollars—equivalent to billions today — as the cost of a horrible Civil War that destroyed thousands of lives in both the North and the South. It wouldn't have cost the government one-tenth that sum to have bought the slaves and set them free. The bigotry and stubbornness on both sides prevented that humane solution of a very difficult problem.

Are we pursuing the same inane and bigoted and stubborn course today? Can't we realize that the other fellow has a right to his point of view, as well as we have? Can't we understand that there must be something of good in what he believes, else he wouldn't cling so stubbornly to it? Become a child again, go to the circus, from President Truman on down, and you'll know then we can solve our problems without a war.

BOOKS & AUTHORS

"How to Make Paper Flowers and Party Decorations" by Natalie Morgan is called "The Complete Book of Paper Handcraft," and is exceedingly useful for the beginner or an experienced worker. There are hundreds of illustrations by Clare McCann giving designs for all occasions from nursery school days to favors for wedding parties or club entertainments. Do you want to make novelty dolls, tie graceful bows, decorate nuts, make costumes for plays or accessories, or decorate your home for dances, or glamorize a banquet table? You will find an answer here. There are suggestions for rainy-day fun for children and projects for camps, schools, churches, etc., and directions for touching up the home by means of simple but artistic and colorful decorations. The Final chapters are on How to Make Money with Paper Crafts and General Directions for the Use of Crepe Paper.

In "Hill of the Hawk" Scott O'Dell, who was born in Los Angeles, writes of the country with which he is most familiar. In preparation he has talked with descendents of the Spanish who settled the territory and has studied the old Spanish books. The story is of the American conquest of California and is laid in and around Los Angeles in 1846. Grady, the hero, is a man with appreciation of the splendor he must help destroy. Though he seeks peace, America is at war and he is a leader in the American plan to seize the town. In the greater drama are many individual heroisms. Three beautiful women play a part in Grady's life, among them is Lug whose father holds his ancestral home, "The Hawk" against all interlopers. It is around this ranch that much of the action takes place. The novel is epic in scope and fascinating in detail, full of color, movement and romancing. It is an outstanding book; powerful, yet tender, terrible yet humorous.

"How to Run a Meeting" by Edward J. Hegarty gives suggestions for getting meetings out of ruts. The author has had much expeplence in working with discussion groups of clubs, educational courses and committees and has been guest speaker at hundreds of meetings of all kinds. He gives "Do's and Dont's" from his own experiences from the planning end through making arrangements of all sorts which include getting the room in order, procuring the guest speaker, making new members feel at home and keeping things moving by means of well-planned entertainment or discussions. He gives many interesting and helpful tips on how to make meetings successful and varied.

"The Kimballs" is by Mitchell Wilson, a New York man who took his M.A. at Columbia university. His previous novels have been in the mystery or suspense field. In this more ambitious story the hero, Steve, returns from the army to Dolson's Point where he had spent his happy childhood, looking for peace and a sense of emotional balance, but instead he becomes involved in the greatest struggle of his life. He falls in love with Ann but finds that her father, ruthless, powerful and evil, is determined that Ann shall not marry him. This is an engrossing and dramatic story of the conflict between the lover and the father for the possession of the girl.

"Play Ball!" by Bert Dunne, a former professional baseball player, is an analytic book which gives practical instruction for the amateur as well as the professional. It will also increase the spectator's knowledge of the game so that his appreciation of the sport will be enhanced. The "Magic Tee" is introduced here for the first time, showing the completely new way of learning how to hit every kind of pitch. Besides the information given in an original manner there are many good baseball anecdotes.

Angeline Taylor, author of the new novel "Black Jade" was born in Philadelphia and was raised in England and India but is now living in New York City. This book is tld against the warm tropical setting of San Dominique at the time when that lush island of the Caribbean Sea was one of France's most prized colonies. It is a bold story of Ballard, a young English planter and his dusky slave-mistress Jade. During the Haitian Rebellion of 1791, a period notorious for intrigue, cruelty and wantoness, occurs this love affair which knew no sanction. Ballard's great ambition is to return to England and seek the high recognition he believes his due. How he achieves his long-sought goal and yet is compelled to turn to Jade for solace and the kind of love only she can give makes this a novel which probes deep into the perversities of the human heart. It is an unforgettable story of two people whose strong love lies beyond the conventions of their time.

"The Bishop's Mantle" by Agnes Sligh Turnbull is a thoroughly enjoyable story of Hilary Laurens, a young Episcopalian minister, the rector of a fashionable city church. He is idealistic and genuinely religious yet appealing and human —and in love with the beautiful Alexa who finds it hard to exchange her gay life for the conservative demands of a rectory. Here are all the dramas of human life—tragedies, weddings, funerals, hurried midnight calls to give comfort to the dying or bereaved. It is a revealing and honest novel about a prominent profession. The Scotch-Irish author who has written several other novels, was formerly an English teacher.

"Sir Pagan" by Henry I. Colyton is a story of love and adventure during the 12th century just after the only Crusade which took Jerusalem and during which Sir Pagan, bastard son of a Count wins his spurs and a "castle." He falls in love with another man's wife and then sets off to bring back Sibilla, reluctant daughter-in-law of his adored one, and returns her to her husband. The novel is full of excitement and realism in an age when one's life and love depended upon fighting and outwitting the enemy.

Letter to the Editor

City Council of the City of Los Angeles, City Hall.

My dear Mrs. Bass:

I would certainly like to commend you personally, and the California Eagle, on the 69th Anniversary of your newspaper.

The freedom of the press is one of our cherished rights in this country and you have certainly kept the press free and independent in your community. Your newspaper has carried forward many progressive movements for the Negro people and for other groups.

At this time, as Councilman of the 8th District, I commend you personally and you have my continued wish for many more years of successful newspaper publishing.

Very sincerely yours,
KENNETH HAHN,
Councilman, 8th District.

BALTIMORE, Md.—With impressive ceremonies in the chapel at St. Frances Convent here, seven Negro nuns took their first vows in religion last week as Oblate Sisters of Providence, Negro Sisterhood. The vows were pronounced during the mass which was offered by Monsignor Harry A. Quinn, Superior of the Oblate Sisters. Shortly after this ceremony, 13 other young women were received as candidates into the Oblate novitiate, training-school of the Sisterhood.

W. J. Wheaton Says

"Going Home, Going Home," we listened as that sweet contralto voice of Mary Anns died down to the hum that always followed. Then we made our presence known. "How you been standing out there?" was our greeting. We told her that if she had continued to sing we might have been standing there yet. Well: Everything is ready waiting and I know you alls hungry, she said. Answering in the affirmative; we told her that we would be able to do justice to whatever she had prepared: Which we did. "What's all this 'bout them Jews and Arabs fighting and killing out there in the "Holy Land," she asked. Seems to me, 'en I confess I don't know much, that any human, Jew, Arab, or what not, ought to know better than kill each other, 'n soak, with blood, the very ground where Jesus told us to love one another. "Aint that so," she ask. We thought for a while: Then we said, Mary Ann, from what we have read, and made an analysis of what History tells us, we have determined that man, in spite of his veneer of culture, termed by many, Civilization, has been unable to shed some things, which we are told, Adam inherited when he was banished from Eden. If we read Genesis correctly, and we acknowledge our fallibility; Cain was the first exemplifier of that basic thing, which, in spite of man's progress in conquering Nature, has never been eliminated. The urge to kill, whether it is glorified through war between nations, or murder in the dark, and crimes; like the burning and killings, which in America are called "Lynchings" all show and have the same tendency. From Cain to this era of Civilization, is a long stretch, if our imagination will stretch that far, but the Jews and Arabs can't seem to subornate killing to reason. We paused to see if Mary Ann was following us: She nodded to assure us that she understood; then summed up the whole by saying, "I wonder if Cain inherited that urge to kill, and if so, where did Adam get it?" Mary Ann paused for an answer. "Too deep for me we said, "Let's talk about something nearer our times," "I'd just like to know," she persisted. Just like to know why them Jews and Arabs can't stop killing and murdering when Jesus said Love ye one another and Moses, the Jew, said "Thou Shalt Not Kill." It might be that in the next million years or so men may know better" we said, Mary Ann cocked her head as much as to say, are you joking, I wonder if they's going to turn them boys 'en their mother loose. You know they's jailed for killing that share cropper, who was threatening to shoot. What's the names? "Ingram," we replied. "Olga, the little Swede, who is one of little Mary Ann's classmates, was reading to me where the Judge of the court had decide not to hang them, but send them to jail for their life time." They ought to be set free, said Olga, and so do I, said me." I dug down and scraped a dollar and fifty seven cents; it was all I had with me, 'en Little Mary Ann and me walked home. They was taking up a collection to raise money to set the woman and her boys free. When I was telling the folks I cook for 'bout it; the Missus slips me a five dollar bill, 'en acted as if the Boss man didn't know she was doing it. But me!! I knows better. Them's sure good folks. Got a letter from Josh and my Mary Ann, Everythings, So-So, they said, Had a bit trouble leaving Back Home, but since they got to Utah things have been better. They's going travel the way that will take them through Los Angeles; say it will be better. Guess they'll have a lot to tell when they get here. Hope they'll get here in time to vote. They'll be in time for the big election anyway. There was a man here the other day, and he was telling me about some man running for Congress 'en how good a man he was. I listened and waited for him to call the name. When he had done, I says "No mister" I'se for Mr. Franck R. Havenner. First Last 'en all the time!!! Well: he's a good man: says he." They tell me that the B. T. Washington Service Center is putting on a drive to raise money for new building. The one they's using belong to the Japanese who meet in the same building and join in the same tivities 'en there's no friction nor trouble whatever: Even among the children. One of the women officers told me that at first they had a bit of trouble teaching the children they's all human beings: now they play together and enjoy it. Sometimes they have a Japanese teacher, and then a Negro teacher. Well: I hope that us Negro folk and our civic minded white friends, will cooperate and see that one of the problems of juvenile delinquency will be solved when we give the children and adolescents, properly supervised recreation. Say: Said Mary Ann, "don't you know that them folk that holler loudest 'bout doing things for the betterment of the Negro, 'en talk 'bout the sacrifices they're making, when you come to find out, have axes to grind, of the most selfish sort. Guess self ego is a human trait: only more prominently developed in some, than in others. "What's the matter 'Honey' you hav'n't been talking a bit. Aint you feeling well?" We told Mary Ann of our inability to shake off a severe cold. She immediately got up from the table and commence to blend a decoction and filled a bottle with the injunction that we were to take a table spoon, before retiring. Certainly we feel better. Who wouldn't? There was some of the best pre-war Brandy, ever.

The Road to Health

THE EARS

By RICHARD M. FOWLER, M.D.
Atlantic City, New Jersey

One Sunday morning last winter I met Mr. and Mrs. Spencer and their two little boys coming from church. They invited me to go home with them to see their new house.

As we sat in the living room after a brief tour of the new house, I noticed that six-year-old Tommy was going through some strange motions. He seemed to be trying to get his elbow up to his right ear. I asked him what he was doing.

His eight-year-old brother, Louis, broke in to say that the teacher told the class "to put only their elbows in their ears" and that was what Tommy was trying to do. I laughed and explained that the teacher was actually advising the children against sticking small or pointed objects into their ear because serious injury might result. The little fellow listened attentively as I added that the ear was a precious organ that gave him his hearing and that injuring and abusing it might make it hard for him to hear and even make him deaf.

Mrs. Spencer said the incident reminded her that she was beginning to worry about Louis' hearing. He was always turning the radio up very loud and he often asked her to repeat what she had said to him. She added that his last report card had shown he was not doing as well as usual in his classes.

At my suggestion, the father brought Louis to my office the next day for an ear examination. I discovered that the boy's hearing was impaired, although not too seriously, by an accumulation of wax in both ears. I cleansed the outer ear canal and advised Mr. Spencer to bring Louis back later in the month for a check-up.

Hearing defects may interfere with a child's mental and physical development and handicap him seriously in later life. Defective hearing can result from diphtheria, scarlet fever, mumps, meningitis, measles and other diseases. In addition, violent blows or punches on the ear, loud noises and explosions, can injure the organ and its functions. Foreign objects which get into the ears, or which small children stick in their ears, can injure the organs. Blowing the nose vigorously with the nostrils held closed frequently forces infection into the ear canal. Lack of proper food and nourishment, constant fatigue and exhaustion, can eventually lead to deafness.

Certainly, habits of cleanliness are important to good hearing. But proper cleansing of the outer ear means simply washing it daily with a clean, soft cloth held over the finger tip and making certain the ear is wiped dry. The wax formation in the ear is nature's way of cleansing the ear canal. The wax should never be removed with hairpins, paper clips, etc., that can puncture the eardrum, cause earache, infect the outer ear and impair the hearing. If too much wax collects, the ear canal must be cleansed carefully by a doctor, never by jabbing a hard metal object like a hairpin into the delicate parts of the ear.

Parents who notice a child straining to listen, constantly asking that words be repeated, failing to follow instructions or falling back in his school work should consult the doctor immediately and find out if the child's hearing is defective. Reports of hearing tests in schools reveal that 3,000,000 American children have imperfect hearing. Ear specialists believe that over 50 per cent of these children can be saved from permanently impaired hearing when the causes are discovered and treated in time. Delay in consulting the doctor when hearing loss is suspected makes the condition worse and may lead to deafness.

To Secure These Rights

The Report of the President's Committee on Civil Rights

(Installment No. 18)

The International Reason

Our position in the postwar world is so vital to the future that our smallest actions have far-reaching effects. We have come to know that our own security is a highly interdependent world is inextricably tied to the security and well-being of all people and all countries. Our foreign policy is designed to make the United States an enormous, positive influence for peace and progress throughout the world. We have tried to let nothing, not even extreme political differences between ourselves and foreign nations, stand in the way of this goal. But our domestic civil rights shortcomings are a serious obstacle.

In a letter to the Fair Employment Practice Committee on May 8, 1946, the Honorable Dean Acheson, then acting secretary of state, stated that:

". . . the existence of discrimination against minority groups in this country has an adverse effect upon our relations with other countries. We are reminded over and over by some foreign newspapers and spokesmen that our treatment of various minorities leaves much to be desired. While sometimes these pronouncements are exaggerated and unjustified, they all too frequently point with accuracy to some form of discrimination because of race, creed, color or national origin.

Frequently we find it next to impossible to formulate a satisfactory answer to our critics in other countries; the gap between the things we stand for in principle and the facts of a particular situation may be too wide to be bridged. An atmosphere of suspicion and resentment in a country over the way a minority is being treated in the United States is a formidable obstacle to the development of mutual understanding and trust between the two countries. We will have better international relations when these reasons for suspicion and resentment have been removed.

I think it is quite obvious . . . that the existence of discrimination against minority groups in the United States is a handicap in our relations with other countries. The Department of State, therefore, has good reason to hope for the continued and increased effectiveness of public and private efforts to do away with these discriminations.

The people of the United States stem from many lands. Other nations and their citizens are naturally intrigued by what has happened to their American "relatives." Discrimination against, or mistreatment of, any racial, religious or national group in the United States is not only seen as our internal problem. The dignity of a country, a continent, or even a major portion of the world's population may be outraged by it. A relatively few individuals here may be identified with millions of people elsewhere, and the way in which they are treated may have world-wide repercussions.

NUMBERS OF MINORITIES

We have fewer than half a million American Indians, there are 30,000,000 more in the Western Hemisphere. Our Mexican American and Hispano groups are not large; millions in Central and South America consider them kin. We number or citizens of Oriental descent in the hundreds of millions. Throughout the Pacific, Latin America, Africa, the Near Middle and Far East, the treatment which our Negroes receive is taken as a reflection of our attitudes toward all dark-skinned peoples.

In the recent war, citizens of a dozen European nations were happy to meet Smiths, Cartiers, O'Haras, Schultzes, di Salvos, Cohens, and Sklodowskas and all the others in our armies. Each nation could share in our victories because its "sons" had helped win them. How much of this good feeling was dissipated when they found virulent prejudice among some of our troops is impossible to say.

We cannot escape the fact that our civil rights record has been an issue in world politics. The world's press and radio are full of it. This Committee has seen a multitude of samples. We and our friends have seen and are stressing our achievements. Those with competing philosophies have stressed — and are shamelessly distorting — our shortcomings. They have not only tried to create hostility toward us among specific nations, races and religious groups. They have tried to prove our democracy an empty fraud, and our nation a consistent oppressor of underprivileged people. This may seem ludicrous to Americans, but it is sufficiently important to worry our friends. The following United Press dispatch from London proves that (Washington Post, May 25, 1947):

"Although the Foreign Office reserved comment on recent lynch activities in the Carolinas, British diplomatic circles said privately today that they have played into the hands of Communist propagandists in Europe . . ."

"Diplomatic circles said the two incidents of mob violence would provide excellent propaganda ammunition for Communist agents who have been decrying America's brand of "freedom" and "democracy."

"News of the North Carolina kidnapping was prominently displayed by London papers . . ."

The international reason for acting to secure our civil rights now is not to win the approval of our totalitarian critics. We would not expect it if our record were spotless; to them our civil rights record if only a convenient weapon with which to attack us. Certainly we would like to deprive them of that weapon. But we are more concerned with the good opinion of the peoples of the world. Our achievements in building and maintaining a state dedicated to the fundamentals of freedom have already served as a guide for those seeking the best road from chaos to liberty and prosperity. But it is not indelibly written that democracy will encompass the world. We are convinced that our way of life—the free way of life—holds a promise of hope for all people. We have what is perhaps the greatest responsibility ever placed upon a people to keep this promise alive. Only still greater achievements will do it.

The United States is not so strong, the final triumph of the democratic ideal is not so inevitable that we can ignore what the world thinks of us or our record.

The Committee's Recommendations

I—To strengthen the machinery for the protection of civil rights, the President's Committee recommends:

1. The reorganizations of the Civil Rights Section of the Department of Justice to provide for:

The establishment of regional offices;

A substantial increase in its appropriation and staff to enable it to engage in more extensive research and to act more effectively to prevent civil rights violations;

An increase in investigative action in the absence of complaints;

The greater use of civil sanctions;

Its elevation to the status of a full division in the Department of Justice.

The creation of regional offices would enable the Civil Rights Section to provide more complete protection of civil rights in all sections of the country. It would lessen its present complete dependence upon United States Attorneys and local FBI agents for its work in the field. Such regional offices should be established in eight or nine key cities throughout the country, and be staffed with skilled personnel drawn from the local areas. These offices should serve as receiving points for complaints arising in the areas, and as local centers of research, investigation, and preventive action. Close cooperation should be maintained between these offices, local FBI agents, and the United States Attorneys.

The Department of Justice has suggested that heads of these regional offices should have the status of Assistant United States Attorneys, thereby preserving the centralization of federal criminal law enforcement. The President's Committee is fearful that under this plan the goal of effective, courageous and nonpolitical civil rights protectiin in the field will not be reached unless satisfactory measures are taken to prevent these assistants from becoming mere political subordinates within the offices of the United States Attorneys.

Fascist Imperialism

By PAUL FRENCH

The vast human slaughterhouses where Geerman fascists murdered millions, are convincing proof that fascism cultivates brutality, a reversion to barbarism. Do you think American fascism would be more "gentle," a bit "kindly" or more "civilized"? If you do, then listen!

On March 28, the Los Angeles Times published an article by James Marlowe, an Associated Press writer. That article smells of the same Hitlerism which taught "civilized" Germans that to smash the heads of Jewish babies, disembowel Polish women, rob Russian children of their blood and throw millions of human beings into raging furnaces was—the very heighth of "civilization" and "morality." Fascist Marlowe began by saying:

"Would you kill one innocent man to save two men? Would you kill one man to save 100 men — or 1,000,000 — who would otherwise die?"

He then continues with a long-winded question which he said "illustrates" his point, and may be summarized thus: You are standing on the edge of a volcano. So is another man, a stranger who has "done you no wrong." But, "a crack appears in the volcano and boiling lava pours out." Below, in the valley, a million people will die if—if you don't push that innocent man into the crack and stop the lava. "Will you do it?"

Now, aside from the fact that such a murder as Mr. Marlowe tries to induce you to think would be a "good deed," would be entirely useless, because neither one nor a hundred human bodies could possibly stop any lava flow, there is the further fact that you are not and never will be in any such dilemma on any volcano. So the whole business is just plain crazy.

But Mr. Marlowe isn't crazy. Neither is the multi-millionaire publisher of the Los Angeles Times. They have their reasons for publishing such nonsense about volcanos and "good" murders.

Because, you were perhaps impressed a bit. As you read the story, you thought that, well . . . just maybe . . . you would be willing to commit just one little "innocent" murder if—a big IF—it would "save a million lives." So, Mr. Marlowe and the "civilized" Los Angeles Times leads you on from fantastic volcanos to something much more likely—a war of aggression. So he finishes up by saying:

"You can extend this question in a lot of directions and argue about it. For instance: Is it right for one government—thinking it may have to go to war anyway with some other government—suddenly to start the war by attacking the other? It might argue that this would mean a shorter war and thus save more lives."

This is plain, unadulterated barbarism, put out by Wall Street imperialism's propagandists, Mr. Marlowe and the Times, to persuade you to approve of its cannabilistic plan to attack, suddenly and without warning, the Soviet Union. Starting out with a lot of nonsense about volcanos, they end up asking you to agree that the United States "start the war" without any reason or provocation whatever, and murder millions of innocent people with atomic bombs—on the false "theory" that, after all, this would "save more lives" than the lives such mass murder would destroy.

This cult of brutality, inherent in fascism, is being cunningly taught to the American people by such people as Marlowe and the Times, in pursuance of what Joseph and Stewart Alsop (L. A. Times, Jan. 23) called "the motto of the State Department: 'Eventually, why not now'?"

Raymond Moley, in the L. A. Times of March 16, declared that the State Department's fascist slogan has already influenced "some" people. He said:

"The advertising slogan, 'Eventually, why not now?' characterizes a feeling which has rapidly gained ground in this country in the last few weeks. . . . Some people believe in letting the war come at once."

Now, of course, wars do not merely "come." Somebody "brings" them. Nobody makes volcanos; they are a phenomenon of nature. But men make wars. And it is clear who is making the next one. It is clear who is trying to get you to agree that they shall make it.

The cannabilistic bankers and monopolists who insanely dream that they can destroy socialism with atomic bombs, also imagine that they can convince the American people that mass murder is a "good thing"—providing somebody else, "the Russians," are the ones to be murdered. But nothing is more certain than that the brutality of American fascism will, also, be turned in all its horror upon the Negro, the Jew, the Mexican, and that every progressive, democratic and enlightened mind will be darkened or destroyed.

Would other peoples help us fight this horror? Not if we don't fight it ourselves! Henry Stimson, former Secretary of War, writing in the Ladies' Home Journal against the idea: "Why not drop the bomb on Russia now?" has said: "This is a cynical incomprehension of what the people of the world will tolerate from any nation." Yes, the people of the world would help the Soviet Union win the war and defeat and destroy us — as we deserved.

How can we fight this thing? We can vote for Wallace. That will help. But that isn't enough. The New Republic recently spoke the truth when it said that the Truman administration is getting the war machine so steamed up that, no matter who is elected, Wall Street and the Brass Hats are going right ahead to make war. They could do that after election day, before Wallace could be inaugurated, even if elected.

What then? Obviously, you will betray your own interest in peace if you merely vote for Wallace on election day, then quit. Wallace is just one man, and with the best of intentions he, alone, would be helpless against the vast and brutal bureaucracy of the generals and admirals and their masters of Wall Street and Spring Street.

No, the people, millions of them, but meaning YOU, must build up their own power by organization, organization to fight against the war makers, to back up Wallace, so that, if he fires the generals and admirals and suppresses the fascists like Marlowe who try to "start the war," he will have the people's power to make his orders stick.

Michael Straight, owner of the New Republic, wrote in that journal on April 5: "If present trends continue, war will come and America will lose the war." Nevertheless, the madmen of Wall Street and Washington may try to commit the insane crime of "starting the war now." The people must be ready to warn these lunatics that, if they do, that will be their finish.

Doctrine Murderous Hoax

By WILLIAM L. PATTERSON

Any illusion that what has been called the Truman Civil Rights program will voluntarily be carried into life are extremely dangerous. They must be smashed without ceremony. There can be no compromise. Such illusions can only disarm both the Negro people and their labor and progressive allies. The fight against lynch law and segregation must now be waged with over greater intensity for they form a part of the whole fascist pattern now being developed in America. Any weakening of the will-to-struggle can only endanger lives and democratic institutions. Illusions that Harry Truman will voluntarily make concessions to democracy, law and order, can only water down the development of the people's movement and struggles. These struggles alone can win for and guarantee to Negro Americans an enjoyment of those rights to which centuries of unrequitted toil and the shedding of rivers of blood in defense of their country entitles them.

It is the memories, the traditions, and most of all the lessons of those past magnificent battles against slavery and jim-crow fought by Negroes to their eternal glory that must now be revived. The freedom struggles and dreams of Frederick Douglas, Sojourner Truth, and other heroic Negro fighters must be made a guiding line for today. What a naive fellow is he who argues that our deadly enemies, the white supremacists who are the enemies of all mankind, will make concessions to black folk simply because they are preparing for war against the Negro people's greatest friend — the champion of all oppressed mankind—the Soviet Union. The contrary is the reality of today. Those who prepare to fight the Soviet Union will everywhere seek to destroy every vestige of democracy. We have Italy, Greece and Turkey as a living example.

The Truman administration is a combination of Democrats and Republicans. As a coalition they are engaged in putting over Wall Street's imperialist war program. They are trying desperately to reduce the home front to a terrified or confused acceptance of this program of death and destruction. But the American people want peace, security and democracy. They cannot all be fooled or confused by the Truman crowd. Therefore terror becomes for that outfit an imperative necessity. Negroes will not only be exempt, instead that fascist terror threatens the very physical exisence of the Negro people.

No, it will not be democratic concessions fundamentally changing the position of black men in the USA that will be offered us. Rather it will be terror, more terror, and still more terror in an attempt to educe the Negro people to dehumanized acceptance of their lot. This is the two party order of business for black men in 1948 and thereafter. This is the direction of Wall Street democracy, this is the character of its Civil Rights. Those who are duped must fool themselves for history dies not fool them. Shall we passively wait while the order of business is carried out?

The alternative is to break the backbone of the two party political system. Only the closest unity of the outraged white and Negro masses in the fiercest political struggles America has ever known can realize this end.

To those who ask: "Where is the Proof?", the answer must be that the proof lies in our practical and deeply painful experience since 1864. These experiences must be the starting point and the central point in drawing our conclusions. To these experiences can be added humanity's practical experience with fascism. In the light of this history American imperialism stands exposed. This history teaches nothing so much as it teaches that democracy is only won in bitter struggle; it is not given.

Reaction in America cannot wipe from the minds of black America the memories of endless lynchings, the ravishment of its women and the debasement and dehumanization of its youth. No offer of concessions will bring black America to accept an invitation to help to do unto others what has been done unto it. He who thinks Negroes will be so easily gulled has little respect for their thinking and less for their morality. Fascism cannot be sold to Negro America and with a few honied phrases about civil rights to come.

In drafting the President's Civil Rights report the ruling class of America put on paper its monstrous record of thousands of lynchings. Not a lyncher has ever been punished. The Civil Rights report spells out the record of mob violence and of bestial exploitation through forced labor, share-cropping and peonage by which the Negro people have been robbed of billions of dollars since Lincoln's Emancipation day. Some small part of the Ku Klux Klan's record of violence and murder was cited in that report. But what stands forth most clearly is that the Klan unchallenged by the courts or the "Justice" Department of the Federal Government can only be viewed as an unacknowledged weapon of that government and of those states which have not outlawed it. The kind of democracy which under pretext can tolerate the KKK is not a people's democracy. That is the essence of the Civil Rights Report. That is the major lesson it teaches. There is nothing in the past or present history of American imperialism that sustains another reasoning.

The Civil Rights report of the President of the United States reveals the utter political bankruptcy of American ruling class democracy since Lincoln. It reveals the utter contempt for black men that is nurtured and permitted to flourish.

The report should make unmistakably clear to democratic white Americans that the nation which permits the violation of the human dignity of millions of men and women because of creed or color cannot itself be free. Negro persecution but lays a firmer basis for terrorization of labor and progressive white America. Loyalty tests, Taft-Hartly laws, and the persecution of militant trade union leaders are some evidence of this.

What kind of governments have we had since 1864?

Since that year we have had 14 Republican and 7 Democratic administrations. Here are 84 years of practical experience under the Elephant and the Donkey both of whom drag the chariot of big business; two party government by twin parties.

What features dominate this period where Negroes are concerned? Terror and legalized persecution have been and remain the major features of Negro-white relations in America.

Why is this so?

It can be said without fear of contradiction that terror and legal persecution are the policy of Federal, state ond municipal governments where Negroes are concerned. Where there is a difference it is a difference of degree and not of kind. The policy is without exception.

In the North the course of segregation and jim-crowism differs in degree from the South. There are few lynchings north of Dixie. Terror is less frequent and less widespread. Yet race riots have taken place in Boston and Springfield, Mass., in Chicago, E. St. Louis and Springfield Illinois and in New York. When a nd where the protests against the hell of ghetto life, vice, unemployment and lack of medical ficilities threatens seriously to weaken the policy of state and to curtail profits terror comes North". The "cold war of Northern Republicans can turn into the war of the rope and faggot.

This policy of government deeply influences and affects the daily lives of all white Americans. Church, school, press, theaters, radi and movies take their cue from these official sources. But the lines they utter —the dictrine of white-supremacy—is dictated in Wall Street and the driving force is profits that can be extracted from the flesh and blood of black men in the billions.

There are some Negroes who will deny this. Others will apologize for American imperialism's murderous record. But facts are stubborn things and they flow from life itself.

There is no governmental policy for even curbing the lynchers and the protests of the Negro masses and their white friends are ignored or proclaimed to be not "politically expedient" or Communist inspired. Truman said this openly to Paul Robeson. The policy is frozen. There will be no thaws of a lasting character under Republican or Democrats. The few changes Franklin D. Roosevelt brought hardly survived his life-time and lynching did not even end during the perior of the war. These are but a few of the facts.

Into this scene President Truman, who killed Roosevelt's FEPC, projects the Truman Civil Rights Doctrine. Negro America will bet as much benefit from it as the masses of Europe and Asia will get from the Truman Doctrine and the Marshall Plan —misery and death.

Harry Truman is as well aware as the most benighted, hood-covered lynchers, that the enforcement of the Constitution or his civil rights report under existing conditions demands the use of the courts and the protection of all available power including that of the Federal government. Only the police power of the state can today guarantee to Negroes the enjoyment of "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness". This is eloquently borne out by the attitude of the lynchers in high places who brag that southern streets will run blood before Negroes vote as free Americans.

Harry Truman has not taken one step to assure that protection to Negroes. One who only talked about civil rights was murdered in cold blood in Alabama for that simple exercise of "freedom of speech". Tom Clark head of the Department of Justice has not moved. Edgar G. Hoover head of the F.B.I., notorious for hounding labor leaders, has never corralled a lyncher.

The civil rights statement is a blood stained hoax. The yunchers are not deceived. The Klan greets Truman's statement with the fires of burning crosses.

Truman has not taken pen in hand to create a Fair Employment Practices Order. Yet that is all he needs to do.

Truman has not lifted pen to paper to end jim-crow in the army. Yet that is all he needs to do.

Truman has not raised his pen to sign a decree ending discrimination in employment in the various departments and agencies of the Federal government.

Who can be deceived save those who so desire. The Truman statement on civil rights for Negroes has further loosed the terror.

"The US News and World Report" that paragon of bourgeois virtues says:

"Revolt is real in the deep south. The Klan is raising again.

"Southerners are seething with anger at President's proposal to give equal rights to Negroes."

The South has no fears of Truman. The South increases the terror because Negro youth is taking up the mantle of its fallen heroes of days gone by. The southern lynchers fear the voice of Henry A. Wallace calling on poor white and poorer black alike to "come out fighting." The southern landlords fear the rising tide of a people's movement that is destined to be greater than any political movement that ever wen before.

But say some "since Truman's Wall Street bosses are preparing war they will make sweeping concessions to lure Negroes into their armies for fear of defection in the ranks of the Negro people.

He who prepares aggressive war abroad today must prepare fascism for the home front. No outside force threatens America.

As Wall Street prepares for imperialist war the government offices are filled from top to bottom with war making militarists, brass hats, bankers and those southern experts in murdering democracy.

These are not the men who make concessions to liberty and democracy.

These are the men who repudiate the partition of Palestine and betrayed the hope of the people of Trieste.

These are the silk hatted terrorists, the men who have used Truman's loyalty tests to terrorize white liberals and have had enacted the Taft-Hartley law as a weapon of terror against labor.

Will these men who make millions out of the vice infested ghettoes they control and into which they have forced Negro citizens, now meekly come forward to abolish the ghetto?

Will the men who have created the myth of white superiority to divide labor and progressive white America along the color line and who have made millions by it destroy their own false gods?

Will these men who have perpetuated the chain-gang, peonage and share-cropper and made millions out of the savage feudal remnants on the land, abolish all this?

Will these protectors of lynchers and of lynch law put an end to this cannibal practice which yields them untold millions?

He dreams a fool's dream of paradise who says they will.

A few more "big" spots will be found for Negroes who are willing for a price to sing the praises of those who have violated every Constitutional and moral right Negroes should have.

Some Negro papers will be subsidized.

But American imperialism prepares for the Negro masses a bloody program of lynch terror. Hitler's fascism had its Jews. American fascists will profit by its example. The dangers confronting Negro America were never greater.

It is not the Klan alone which stands guard over the "American Way of Life" as it is written by the National Association of Manufacturers and their lynch landlord confrers. The American Legion, St. Sebastian the Second World War, the Crusaders, the American Action Brigade, National Veterans of Sentinels of the Republic, Silver Shirts, Knights of Columbus. These are a list of organizations financed by Big Business and prepared to maintain its power over the people. They are jim-crow organizations, anti-Semitic and anti-labor.

These are the watch-dogs of reaction that the imperialists will throw into the arena against the Negro people if black men voice a demand for justice and equal rights.

There forces cannot be beaten by Negro America alone. Therefore is emancipation cannot be achieved alone. But these forces can be beaten by labor, the Negro people and the progressive forces of our country and the organized channels through which this progressive coalition must work is The Wallace Movement for a Third Party.

Trail Blazers: Clayton D. Russell

By PHYLLIS SCOTT

Fresh out of high school, Clayton D. Russell made a decision. Being the son of a widow he early realized that he would have to help earn the living. He became a salesman for the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance company and quickly acquired the reputation for having the ability to do things by putting into a job all the intelligence and energy at his command.

Immediately after graduation young Russell attached himself to the Independent Church of Christ and became a close associate of its first pastor, Rev. H. H. Gregge. Rev. Gregge found favor with his young student and one day asked him if he was interested in the ministry. It was the contagious smile of Clayton that won the heart of the older man. And from that time he took him under his wing.

His affiliation with the Golden State Insurance company necessitated his leaving Los Angeles for a time and working in the northern part of the state. However, the young salesman never lost sight of the fact that his chief desire was to become a minister.

He pined to be back by the side of Rev. Gregge, who was his inspiration and encouragement. He returned to Los Angeles and pondered whether he should leave the insurance company or enter the ministry for a few weeks. Before making this decision young Russell consulted many of his older friends in whom he had abiding faith, among them the present editor of the EAGLE, as to their opinion whether the ministry was his field.

The advice was to "go forward, young man, for herein you can do a fine job in building character and spreading gospel of good living." From that time on young Russell stuck close to the pastor of the church, fitting himself into every avenue in the life of that institution where he could be of the greatest service.

When Rev. Gregge answered the summons to another world the deacons and trustees of Independent Church of Christ immediately called young Russell to the pastorate. From that time on the history and development of Independent Church under the leadership of this dynamic young minister reads like fiction. He is married to the former Gwendolyn Diggs, daughter of the prominent deceased surgeon.

Unselfishly, but always understood—as few leaders are, he has branched out in every endeavors to better the cause of racial relationship and to establish a basis for better economic foundation for his people.

The treasurer of Los Angeles County has invested over $50,000,000 in U. S. Treasury bonds, according to Supervisor Leonard J. Roach. Many of the bonds were purchased during the war, not only as an investment, but also as a means of helping the war effort. Roach says these bonds and certificates will lessen the tax bill by more than $700,000 per year.

Playgrounds at 23 Los Angeles schools will be open during the summer to the public. Among them are: the Ritter school, 11109 Watts avenue; the Ascot Avenue school, 1447 East 45th street; and the Holmes Avenue school, 5106 Holmes avenue. The City Schools administration will light these playgrounds not already lighted, and will provide the trained personnel.

Supervisor Leonard J. Roach deserves much of the credit for this forward step in providing playgrounds for children when not attending regular school sessions.

The Board of Directors of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce has gone on record as opposing the reapportionment of the State Senate, an initiative measure which will be on the November ballot.

The C of C says this measure would disenfranchise voters in about 96% of the state's area. But the proponents of the measure aren't talking about area. They are concerned with people, and with the fact that L. A. county with a population of more than a million has only one senator to represent it, while counties with a population of only a few hundred have just as many senators as L. A.

The California Legislature has invited the governors of the other ten western states to attend the Western States Conference on Training to be held at the Sonoma Mission Inn, Boyes Springs, May 10-14.

Approximately 1,500 representatives of labor, management, veteran, and government groups will be in attendance at the conference, which will study the trained manpower needs of the West's expanding economy.

O. G. Lawton, President and General Manager of Food Industries Employers Labor Relations Council, Inc., will be the host representative on the panel on Service and Distribution.

The Industrial Mobilization committee of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce will keynote the conference.

Labor representatives who are to explain labor's responsibility on industrial mobilization are: Lloyd Mashburn, secretary, Los Angeles Building Trades; E. E. Schell, secretary, Metal Trades Council of Southern California; and J. Elro Brown, director, Oil Workers International Union, District No. 1, C.I.O.

Mainly the Negro

What citizen do we note
Being deprived of his vote?
He's mainly the negro.

What citizen is denied
Safety our laws provide?
He's mainly the negro.

What citizen fought a war for hope,
Returned and found his hopeful scope
Abused by Bilbo?
He was America's fighting man—
The black, the white, the yellow man—
But mainly the negro.

The Peace Committee of the Southern California-Arizona Conference of the Methodist Church announced today that it is appointing Dr. Harold Case, pastor of the First Methodist church of Pasadena and Dr. Walter McCleneghan of the Union Avenue Methodist church delegates to accompany the Pease Train to Washington.

This was revealed by Dr. Robert Pettengill, Southern California Chairman of the Peace Train, who said the above information was received in a letter from the conference. Funds have been provided for the expense of both.

The letter stated the Committee feels the Peace Train undertaking is a worthy one and highly necessary and wishes to have a voice in the project at Washington.

They urged stringent proposals for world government and a strengthening of the United Nations.

Registrations and applications for the Peace Train are being received daily at headquarters of the Southern California Committee, Room 310, Bridge Tall, USC.

27th Annual Meet Of Urban League Slated Sunday

Final plans are set for the 27th Annual Meeting of the Los Angeles Urban League to be held Sunday, April 25. 3 p.m., at Second Baptist church, corner 24th and Griffith avenue, Joseph S. Dunning, president, Board of Directors, stated today.

Some of the highlights included in this program will be: a discussion of the subject, "Housing —Our No. 1 Problem," by Judge Stanley Mosk, Superior Court, Los Angeles County; R. E. G. Harris, Chief Editorial Writer, Los Angeles Daily News; and Attorney Loren Miller. Selected vocal numbers by Toni Harper, nine-year old singing star who recently appeared on the Eddie Cantor Show. Eddie Beal will be her accompanist. A summary report will be made on the Urban League's activities for 1947. Introduction of the 21 newly elected members of the Board of Directors will be made. A number of musical selections will be rendered by the popular "Symphonic Choristers."

Dunning stated that the Urban League is confronted with a tremendous task in the days ahead in working for better jobs, housing, health, education, recreation, and vocational guidance for Negroes. He emphasized that solid, lasting and worthwhile strength for the Urban League can only come from participation of many members in a vital program of community activities. The public is invited to attend the open annual meeting.

Ingrams Defense Collection Nears $16,000 Total

NEW YORK—The NAACP today announced receipt for a total of $15,853.50 for the defense of Mrs. Rosa Lee Ingram and her two teen-age sons convicted of a self-defense slaying of an all-white jury in Americus, Geoamountrgia. The sum represents the total amount received by the national office and does not include funds sent to the Americus, Georgia branch.

Although the death sentences first imposed on the Ingrams have been vacated, they still face life imprisonment. Edward R. Dudley, assistant special counsel for the NAACP, left this week to consult with Austin T. Walden and other Georgia attorneys in preparation for an appeal to the State Supreme Court for a new trial. The NAACP is prepared to carry the case to the United States Supreme Court if necessary to gain the freedom of Mrs. Ingram and her sons.

Mrs. Robeson Challenges Max Yergan's Attack On Council Leaders

This week, by wya of an open letter, Mrs. Paul Robeson declared that she found it surprising that it is now suddenly of such grave concern to Max Yergan whether or not some of the fellow members on the Council on African Affairs are Communists, since it was in his own home on Hamilton Terrace that she first met Earl Browder. This very well known Communist, she stated, was the guest of honor there.

Speaking as one of the founders and first contributors to the work of the Council, Mrs. Robeson had this to say:

"Max Yergan has not—until now—ever challenged the political opinions of Paul Robeson, Alphaeus Hunton, George Marshall, Doxey Wilkerson, Ferdinand Smith and others in the Council. He, along with th egeneral public, has always known what the political opinions of these men were and are. Knowing full well their opinions, Max Yergan welcomed these men to the Council and made consistent use of them in a great many important ways.

"It seems to me this cry of Communism in the Council on African Affiars is a recognizable part of the frightening and very un-American pattern of the cry of Communism in our country: when we bring up the relevant question of a normal, detailed financial report from our Executive Director to the members of our Council, we are met with the irrelevant answer, Communism; when we bring up the normal, relevant questions of American expansion and American intervention abroad, including Africa, we are met with the irrelevant answer, Communism.

"We Negroes are by now accustomed, unfortunately, to name-calling," says Mrs. Robeson, "and are not distracted by it. We have learned to ignore it and to proceed to the solid foundation of facts and truth. In a confused and frightened world, facts and truth form a very solid and comfortable foundation, indeed, and I respectfully suggest that my fellow Council members, together with all those who are interested in the work of the Council, come and stand on this foundation with me."

FEPC LAW

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Donald R. Richberg, former NRA administrator, said in a recent radio address that a Federal FEPC law would be unconstitutional.

"To compel an employer to make contracts of mutual service with persons with whom he is, for any reason, unwilling to make contracts," said Richberg, "is to force him to accept an involuntary servitude, which the Constitution declares shall not exist in the United States."

FEPC would make it unlawful for any employer to refuse to hire, to discharge, or discriminate in promotion or conditions of employment against any person because of race, religion, color, or ancestry.

A home, a bank account, two fine kids, a lovely missus, and a $2500 Life insurance policy . . . I thought I was above the average.

But I earn $3380 a year, my Golden State Mutual Agent reminded me. In 10 years I'll earn a small fortune of $33,800 . . . if nothing should happen to me.

$33,800 earning power made that $2500 policy look mighty small, especially when I thought about the $2890 mortgage, my wife, and the kids' plans for college. Better write another policy for me, I said, while I'm still young enough to rate a low premium, and earning the salary to save it!

Let a Golden State Mutual agent show you what Life insurance can do for you . . . in the safest way!

NATIONAL NEGRO INSURANCE WEEK, May 10-15 is the best time to look over your plans for the future and make sure your insurance is in line with the increased cost of living.

PHENOMENAL GROWTH OF CHURCH CITED. The St. Paul Baptist Church, 21st and Naomi, pastored by the energetic young minister, John L. Branham, has, in the past two years that he has been at the helm, made phenomenal progress and is perhaps one of the best known religious institutions throughout the country today. This is due, in large part, to the famous "Echoes of Eden Choir," composed of 150 picked voices, whose spiritual melodies go out over the airlanes each Sunday night from the main auditorium of the church, over radio station KFWB. The choir, under the direction of Prof. J. Earl Hines, formerly of New York City, boasts many outstanding soloists, both men and women. The St. Paul Church choir has been outstanding for many years, and the enlarged Echoes of Eden Choir is composed of the original choir members to whose group other singers have been added to form the gigantic radio choir which is gaining nation-wide popularity.

was assistant to the Rev. S. A. Williams, one of the most outstanding ministers of his time, who laid the foundation for the work that is now prospering the church organization. These two men worked together as father and son, like Paul and Timothy of old, in perfect understanding and harmony; hence, Rev. Branham had a solid foundation on which to build his present program, having benefitted by the wisdom and courage of his predecessor.

Rev. John Branham is the second son of the late Rev. J. L. Branham of Chicago, who for many years was assistant pastor at the great Olivet Baptist Church of which the late esteemed Rev. L. K. Williams was the pastor. ....

Since Rev. Branham assumed full pastorate in April, 1946, the membership has increased by some 1800 persons. The church recently purchased a site at 49th and Main Streets and is now launching a drive to build a $250,000 institution at that location. The proposed edifice will house every necessary department for full community integration, including day nursery, kindergarten, community house, recreation center, thus fulfilling a vital need in this vicinity.

Rev. Branham is fortunate to have the help and guidance of his very efficient advisory committee, composed of the following persons: Howard Hill, Esther Bailey, Irvin Cook, Ethel McKinney, Frank Baker, Storms Harmon, Estella Clifton, Addrena Ecles, N. W. Bennett and Ira Walder. A very comprehensive program is being mapped out for the future work of this religious institution by these energetic workers and Pastor Branham.

Charles Trammel is the capable announcer for the "Echoes of Eden" radio choir of St. Paul Baptist Church, which can be heard each Sunday night at 11:00 o'clock over Station KFWB.

Saddle Pals

The Saddle Pals Athletic Social club will make their debut to the public at their first installation tea, for the benefit of the F.E.P.C. to be held on Sunday afternoon, April 25, from 3 to 7 p.m. The event will take place at the home of Mrs. L. B. Thompson, president, 3687 2nd Ave.

Although it has been organized a year, S.P.A.S. has had little publicity. This club promotes such activities as bowling, swimming, horseback riding and basketball playing.

The newly installed president will be Maxine Thompson.

Barbers And Beauticians

The Barbers and Beauticians Progressive Civic Association of the West Coast met Sunday, held open house in the new home of Attorney and Mrs. blvd.

Two new members were pledged to join at the next meeting, and more barbers and beauticians are joining every month.

The next regular meeting will be held Sunday afternoon, April 25, at the same time in the Huse of eBauty. All interested are invited to visit and join this organization.

La Gaiette Club In Auspicious Presentation

If their auspicious debut is any index to its future career, the La Gaiette Club of girls which had their introductory tea last Sunday, will be one of the most important social and charity clubs in the city.

Approximately 200 guests were entertained by the hostesses with fine entertainment and refreshments adding to the pleasure. It was held at the beautiful mansion at 2067 South Harvard boulevard with Carl Johnson, well known political and civic figure as master of ceremonies.

Highlights of the entertainment were members of the famed Hidden Talent Club with Madame Katie Miller, sponsor and musical director, accompaning dancer Clayborne Williams and other members. Also several talented children dancers from Nettie Jetta school added to the entertainment.

Among the guests were:

Madames Mary Saunders of Chicago, Viola Ross, Emanuel Leonard of Pasadena, Earnest Cunningham of Pasadena, Rufus Portwig, Noby Christian, Lorraine Allen, Weacer, Powell, Lydia Shalls, Foust Merrill, Franklin, Alberta Jones, Lucille, Thelma, and Betty Jones, Clarieve Dandridge, Emerson Chotuen, Allen, Ray Hilborn, Lee and Co., Littlernk, Faronce, Ircing Wells, Frank Bradley, Lee Gibson Sharp and guest, C. CACU Visit Santa Barbara

The California Association of Colored Women, Southern Section, made their annual trip by bus April 15, to visit their sister club at Santa Barbara. Besides the chairman of transportation, Mrs. Mildred Moore and State President Esther T. Greenley, there were 27 representatives from the various local clubs. Awaiting the group as Santa Barbara were the representatives from Victorsville, Monrovia and Santa Barbara. The session was held at the Second Baptist Church.

Each woman present was thoroughly aroused when Mrs. Mabel V. Gray made a report on the Ingram case, and that of 17 year old Bobby Short. Instantly the body collected more than $21 to make a person to person call to Gov. Earl Warren asking him to defer execution of the young boy until the case could be further investigated. Mrs. Jones, chairman of citizenship and legislation, Mesdames Stewart, Howard, and Gray, with the assistance of Mrs. Verrell, of Santa Barbara comprise the committee.

in supporting Mr. Randolph's position, because if he or the other officials of that association are going to support to any degree whatsoever Mr. Randolph's civil disobedience program, I serve notice now that I shall dissociate myself from the board of directors of that association."

Asserting that "we have not counseled Negroes to refuse to serve their country," Mr. White concluded: "We would be less than honest and grossly derelict to the membership of the NAACP and to America itself if we did not say bluntly that the Negro is totally fed up with segregation in the armed services and will oppose in every legitimate and legal fashion such segregation."

He cited the "galling injustices" and discriminations endured by Negro troops in the last war and charged that "the unnecessary and dangerous emphasis on racial separation broadens the chasm of antagonism between Negro and white Americans because the Army and Navy lack the courage to abolish segregation. This practice has caused the United States to be ridiculed throughout the world, particularly among the two-thirds of the people of the earth who are colored."

Block Head of AME West African Work From General Conference

Rev. I. E. C. Steady, who has been in charge of the work of the African Methodist Episcopal Church in West Africa during the continued absence of the bishop assigned to the district has been informed by Dr. L. L. Berry of New York, secretary of missions, that no funds are available for his trip as a delegate to the Quadrennial General Conference of A.M.E.'s to be held in Kansas City next month.

Friends of Dr. Steady maintain, however, that the real reason for this excuse is the fact that Dr. Steady made the mistake of disclosing the sorry condition of the work in West Africa. He revealed that when Secretary of Missions, Berry, made the only trip of inspection of African work which he has ever carried out, some six years ago, he only made pop calls, spending two or three days in the three or four cities he visited, some of them less.

In Sierra Leone where the steamer stayed for several days, he did not even come ashore although the membership was worked up to a fever expecting the mission head from America. Instead, he had Dr. Steady come aboard ship to report to him. AME Missionary circles at home are said to have been shocked when they laerned how incomplete the secretary's inspection had been.

Dr. Steady, an African, is a graduate of Wilberforce and Yale universities in America and has been a delegate to the last two general conferences.

Strikers Hold Round Table Luncheon

Leaders of the Packing House Workerse, on strike, other Labor leaders and leaders of minority groups sat down to a round table luncheon last Friday noon in the Clark Hotel, and discussed strike conditions freely and frankly.

A bad situation, it was brought out, was the fact that the United States Employment Agency and other agencies in the community are endeavoring to induce Negroes to become strike breakers.

Philip Connelly, executive secretary of the Los Angeles CIO Council, presided at the discussions. Among those who took part were Gus Hawkins, member of the Assembly from the 62nd Assembly District; Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, editor and publisher of The California EAGLE, and others.

More education is needed, it was agreed, to acquaint the public of the cause of the strike, and the necessity of securing the cooperation of the people who buy meat to cooperate with the strikers.

Brunch Is Colorful Affair At SoJourner

One of the most beautiful affairs of the season, was given by the Ways and Means Department of the SoJourner Truth Home last Thursday. A color scheme of green and white predominated with large shamrocks in evidence. An outlay of white sweet peas and palms, with candle holders fashioned out of Irish potatoes with greencandles. Artistic shamrocks were pasted on white napkins.

A full course Turkey Dinner was served to nearly a hundred patrons.

A musical atmosphere prevailed with several piano selections among them interpertations by Miss Elaine Miles, and solos by Mrs. Ella Washington and note pianist Mrs. Lucille Bacote. The ways and means Department is headed by Mrs. Myrtle Brown who was assisted by Mrs. Dodge, Mrs. M. Cook, Mrs. Nettie Reese, Mrs. M. Moore, Mrs. Lewis who acted as Mistress of ceremony, and Mrs. Mary E. Williams, and Miss Ethel Bruington.

Southern Belles Welcome Members

The Southern Belles Club held its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Harriett Beal, 3009 So. Hobart Blvd. on Sunday evening.

President, Ruby Eberhardt, presided at a brief business session and plans were made for the club's May 9th Brunch. The public will be invited and it promises to be one of the interesting affairs on 'Mothers Day".

Mmes. Anna Mae Jackson and Leora Eckles, former members rejoined the Southern Belles.

Gardenia Girls

Business manager of the Gardenia Girls club, Mrs. Ida Mae Perry, is very busy completing final plans for the club's Leap Year Cocktail party.

These girls plan to link charity in with their pleasurable works. Mrs. Minnie Frere, chairman of the committee, spent last week spreading sunshine in homes of families less fortunate.

The Gardenia Girls wish to thank the Lone Wolf club for its invitation. It also extends thanks to the Golden State club and Jollyette Girls for invitations to their formals.

Minnie Buckner Hostess To Bridge Club

The East-West Bridge club met Thursday evening at 8:00 p.m. with Mrs. Minnie Buckner as hostess. The Easter theme was carried out in beautiful cut flowers and decorations.

Mrs. Arcella Thomas, president held as the main topic of discussion the Bridge Tournament that will ge held at the club on Saturday, April 10 at 8:00 p.m. All bridgeres interested in contract are invited to take part. Further information may be obtained by calling AD. 6576.

Before the meeting adjourned several changes of bridge were played. Prizes went to Mrs. Davis, Mrs. Chappus and Mrs. Thomas.

Las Vegas Wedding Scene For Couple

Mr. and Mrs. Arol J. Hunter recently returned from Las Vegas, Nevada, where they were married.

The bride is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Brown of Los Angeles. Her husband, a Navy man, was called away shortly after the marriage and the wedding reception was postponed until a later date.

More Restrictive Covenants

Mrs. June Beckler, a few days ago bought a home at 1250 East 90th street, and with her nine children moved in. One of the nine is her 21-year old son, Cecil A. Becker, who served in the army eleven months and two weeks—almost a year.

The home is in a modest neighborhood. The occupants on both sides of the Becker home are Mexicans.

Less than a week after Mrs. Becker and her family moved into their new home, a group of white citizens led by an individual who claimed he was a GI, visited their new neighbors. But not to extend the welcoming hand of friendship. The group gathered on the porch—quite a crowd of them—the leader rang the door bell, and when Mrs. Becker came to the door, she was greeted with the information:

"We white people have decided we don't want Negroes in this neighborhood. You'd better get out."

Another instance pointing to the advancing tide of racial restrictions is that of Mrs. Emily Williams, 520 Echo Park avenue. Mrs. Williams and her two small children have been ordered to move, because they are Negroes, she says.

Mrs. Williams has two older sons, both of whom served in the army three years.

What promises were made to those boys who risked their lives for our American democracy and freedom! Nothing was too good for them. We said then.

Smart Set Readies Inter-Frat Frolic

ALPHA YELL QUEENS set the pace when they came on the scene a few weeks back leading the Alpha Phi Alpha rooting section with yells that have carried the team as winners to date. Black skirts and gold belts carry out the fraternity color scheme. Left to right, Kathleen Mason, member of AKA Sorority; Donzella Coulter, senior at Dorsey High; and Gloria Crouch, member of Alpha Phrateries at City College. Not pictured is Joanne Johnson, former Ivy Leaf at Ohio State. These vivacious young ladies have definitely added the "new look" to the series.

Trophy Dance To Be Gala Climax To Frat Series; Hadda Brooks Does Honors

The Inter-fraternal Basketball Series of the dear ole Southland has for the past few week-ends been the highlight affair in social and collegiate circles. Preceding the regular Easter promenade and following, the feminine spectators and male as well have been the last word in dress. The before and after-parties have been numerous, making the Inter-Frat season a very hilarious time. Saturday night will bring the curtain down on the '48 series. To date the players of the Alpha Phi Alpha team are in the lead, with the Kappas, Sigmas and Omegas lending much competition.

TROPHY DANCE

The Second Annual Trophy Dance slated for the night of May 1 at Elks hall, promises all the glamour of climaxing a perfect Inter-Frat season. Vivacious Hadda Brooks will present the awards to each of the honor gents of the casaba tossing teams. To date rumor has it that Don Barksdale and Emerson Chapman are in competition for outstanding player of the Alpha team, while Lowell Steward and Gen Williams for the Kappas, and Ivan Robinson and Ralph Kaufman for the Omegas and Douglas Shaw and Fred Bluett for the Phi Beta Sigma. Just who will receive honors will come into the open on the night of the big trophy dance.

Creating a friendly spirit among the fraternities of the city has been the main objective of the Inter-frat council, so the Trophy dance will also be a means of fellowship and goodwill among all the Greeks. The scheduled orchestra is one of the city's best and the Trophy Dance is certais to be one of the finest yet.

The gents stirring plans for this gala affair are, include, Joe Oliver Jr., council chairman of Alpha Phi Alpha; Harry Penn, vice chairman of Omega Psi Phi; William Hendricks, secretary; Edwin Sneed, Kappa man, treasurer; William Land, Phi Beta Sigma; and council members Robert Green, Julius Brown, Bernard Johnson, Norman B. Houston, Andrew Wallace, Charles Lindsay, Roy Brown, Weldon Atkins, Charles King, Artis Grant, R. Henderson, Jimmy Robinson, Cornel Ridley and Commodore Wynn.

The fraternity yell queens and kings, as well as the wives' auxiliaries and sororieties, along with the masy non-orgs of the campus, are expected to be in attendance at this final Trophy Dance closing the Inter-Frat basketball season.

Bids to the dance may be found in the souvenir programs.

Aluminum is a metallic element having properties of a light weight, pliability and great strength.

KAPPA SPIRIT was given a lift when Ann Smith, Evelyn Strickland, Murnie Hardon and Frances Tabor of the Delta Pledge Club followed the Alpha yell queens in leading the old one-two-three. The wearers of the Crimson and White definitely received that "Old Kappa Spirit" that is always out in front. (see Trophy story) Delgardo photo

WHAT'S DOING IN THE SOCIAL SET

By JESSIE MAE BROWN

ST. BARNABUS, acquint little white church in the heart of Pasadena, made a perfect setting for the marriage ceremony uniting Geridine Stewart and Emile Jones, during the twilight hours of Saturday, April 10. Only members of the immediate families were in attendance and a few very close friends. Simplicity reigned at the informal ritual with Reverend Jesse Moses presiding. Gerry, who answers to the tall willowy requirements of any designer, chose a smart afternoon dress of pink floral print on a background of black silk. Her hat was of delicate pink tulle covering a row of matching roses. Her gloves were elbow length net. She carried a dainty spray of Lillies of the Valley, centered with a row of pink camellias. In definite contrast to the bride's apparell, Corinne Ashby, serving as matron of honor, chose a navy blue informal dress with accessories of Copenhagen blue gloves and hat. She carried a crecent shaped bouquet of Blue Delphenium. Tom Lanton served as best man, and the bride was given in marriage by her father, Mr. Leslie Steward. At the close of the ceremony, the happy young couple were felicitated by the guests, in the adjoining reception hall.

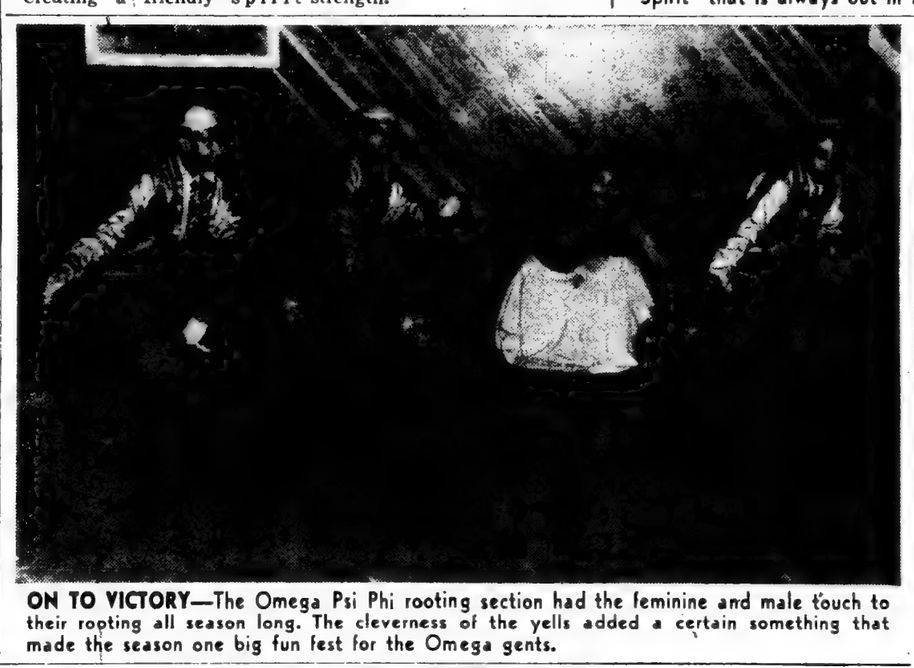
Though many of us knew Emile and Gerry were planning to be married, the exact date was somewhat a secret. Congratulations are definitely in order and Mr. and Mrs. Emile Jones are now at home to friends at 156½ E. 47th Street. By the way, among the guests noted at the ceremony were Joyce and Leslie Steward, of course, Betty and Johnny Alston, Gwendolyn Duese, Eunice Gross, Jane Hampton, Bill Faulkner, and a host of others.

Marcella and Donal Miller, who took all of us by surprise with their marriage a few months back, invited a large group of their friends in for the official house warming Sunday. Believe me their 37th Drive abode is quite ideal, following modern colors and furnishings. Marcella and Donald proving the perfect host and hostess had the welcome mat out from 2-8 p.m. Already a good hand with the culinary arts, Marcella did herself proud with the tasty service. Up from Long Beach, just for the occasion, came Hattie and Babbie Brown and their two little cherubs. Mr. Charles Monroe was there throughout greeting old and new friends. By the way, the gifts received by the young couple meet every description of usefulness, beauty, etc. . . .

On Sunday afternoon, Ruth Mars entertained with a Lingerie Shower honoring bride-elect Doris Wearye, who will be married to Nelson Galloway on May 16. The hostess was assisted by her mother Mrs. Booker Stevens and Antoinette Renty. The wedding theme was carried throughout with the main table as center of attraction. A huge wedding bell hung from the crystal chandeliers and a dainty wedding arch was used as the table center piece with miniature bride and groom. Among those present were Mary Frances Peterson, Edith Price, Gladys Stafford, Evelyn Brown, Erline Hopkins and many others . . .

SMART EVENT

The flurry of informal gatherings that paved the way to the Phillipa Schuyler Concert on Sunday afternoon, reached a new high, for they were plentiful. Am quite sure, George Waugh, general chairman and other Alpha officials are still gloating over the overwhelming success of the Sunday concert. Much credit goes to Morris Hampton of the publicity committee and his co-worker Leonard Grimes, for their job went into effect weeks before the concert actually took place and gave way to the wonderful audience.



As per usual, the glamour, excitement and fashion consciousness of those attending the performance of the Child prodigy, was a definite note. The women were looking O so chic. Glancing over the crowd before the curtain went up and during intermission, took special note, of Mrs. Alice Harvey, Rev. and Mrs. J. R. Henderson, Mrs. Emily Portwig, Mrs. Audrey Bradshaw Jones, Mrs. Clarence Jones, Mrs. Phyllis Allen, Dr. Shelby Robinson, Dr. Lois Evans, Lorenzo Jordan Cole, Mrs. Helen Hodge, Mrs. Warren Boswell, to name a few, for the young artist played before a full house and the majority of those attending were well known figures in social, civic and religious realms.

The reception that followed at the home of Dr. H. H. Towles put a perfect climax to the Los Angeles visit of the Schuylers. Receiving were: Mrs. Sadie L. Davidson, president of the Alpha Wives club; Mrs. Lois Carr, reception chairman and Mrs. George Schuyler. Much in evidence were Alpha wives, Angelle Stratton, Gwendolyn Harris, Camille Cannady, and the rest of the roster.

Kappas Observe "Guide Right" April 25, May 1

Members of Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity will conduct their annual guide right activities during the week of April 25-May 1. During this week the fraternity concentrates the year-long program of vocational and academic guidance for high school and Junior College students. The program will be taken to various high schools at assemblies and will culminate with scholarship and achievement awards which will be given at church services on Sunday, May 1. Among its guests to be heard over station KFOX Sunday, April 25 at 10:00 a.m., will be Ed Young, outstanding student and track star of Jefferson High School.

ON TO VICTORY—The Omega Psi Phi rooting section had the feminine and male touch to their rooting all season long. The cleverness of the yells added a certain something that made the season one big fun fest for the Omega gents.

50 CLUBS TRY FOR ENTRY IN DELTA SIGMA THETA JABBERWOCK SLATED FOR BOVARD JUNE 26

On Monday evening at the South Hobart Blvd. home of Delta Sigma Theta soror, Sydnetta Dones Smith, a gay group, representing at least 50 of the city's leading social and fraternal groups answered the call of Delta Sigma Theta to participate in its 3rd Annual Jabberwock to be held in Los Angeles. The Alice in Wonderland event, as explained by chairman, Chrystabelle Armstrong, will follow the theme of "Fables Old and New," and will be held in Bovard Auditorium of University of Southern California on the night of June 26 at 8:00 p.m.

Out of the 50 clubs represented, a group of eight will be chosen to take part in the Jabberwock this year. Elimination will start on April 26, when rough drafts of the various skits must be turned in to co-Jabberwock chairman, Ida Bowman, at 193 E. 48th Street.

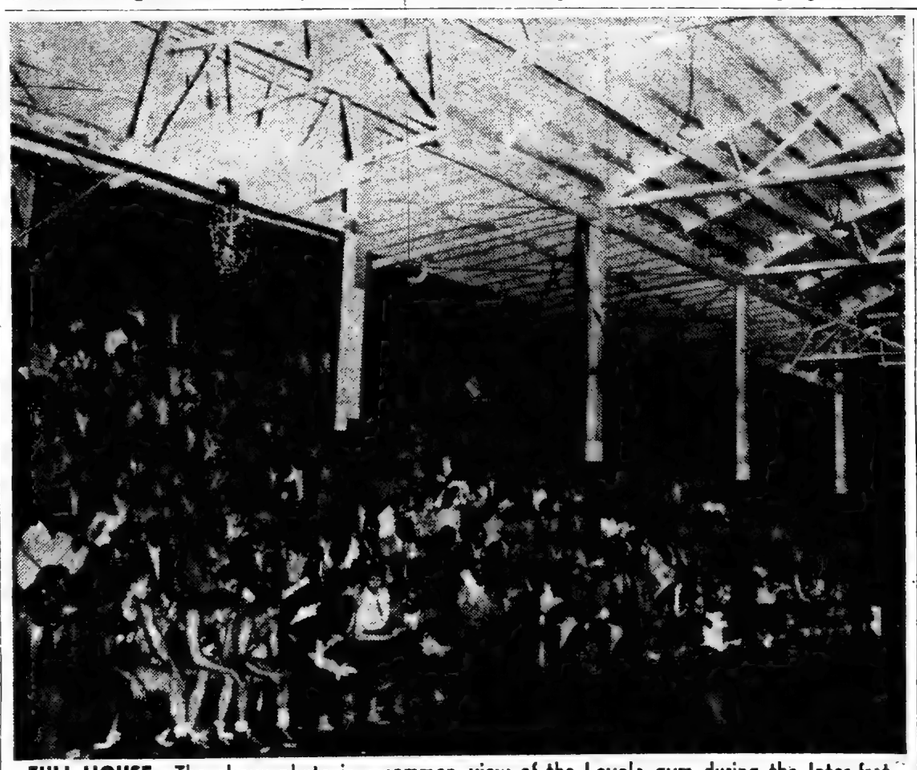
The following rules must be adhered to by the competing clubs: The skit must be played by amateurs only holding membership in the organization; not more than 12 may take part in the skit; presentation will be judged according to originality and the minimum amount of scenery used.

Prizes will range from $50.00 to $15.00.

The members of Delta will present the prologue and epilogue.

Jabberwock officials this year include Ida Bowman and Chrystabell Armstrong, co-chairmen assisted by Genevieve Redfuc Leola Beavers, Lorraine Tennet Fay Hopkins, Tycine Webb, Jea Watkins, Angell Woodruff, Jun Brown, Jean Holmes, and Ange Woodruff.

Representatives of the variou clubs enjoyed a very tasty buffe supper in the "Rumpus" Roor of the smart Hobart Blvd. res dence. Among the many club represented were Alpha Kapp Alpha Sorority, who won 1s prize last year, Zeta Phi Bet Sigma Gamma Rho, Iota Ph Lambda Business Sorority, Bet Pi Sigma, Alpha Phi Alpha Kappa Alpha Psi, Omega Psi Ph Phi Beta Sigma fraternities; Cro 'N' Tails, Douze Mignonettes, Le Femmes, 20th Century Girl Kappa, Alpha Omega and Sigm Wives clubs, Royal Knights, an a host of others.



Delta Sigma Theta expects th Jabberwock of '48 to be one o the finest presented in its his tory.

Serreta Comorgo Maps Routine for Teen Age Follies

Serreta Comorgo, dance director for the YWCA Follies of 1948 has been putting the participants through the first workouts for the dance routines and ensembles that will be the largest feature of the Follies. Miss Comorgo, well known for her outstanding talent in this field both on the screen and stage, is successfully operating a studio of the dance at Western and Santa Monica Blvd.

It is at no small sacrifice that she takes time out of her busy professional schedule to serve as a volunteer on this project.

The Follies will be staged at the Jefferson High School Auditorium under the direction of Mike Stewart.

Proceeds will help send girls to Summer Camp. Send your donation now to Mrs. Betty Hill, Camp Fund Chairman, YWCA, 4260 Woodlawn Avenue.

Prominent Chicago Fraternal Matron Feted at Party

Mrs. Mary Brazleton, well known social and fraternal matron of Chicago, was entertained Saturday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Edmond, 1669 E. 50th place by her lifelong friend, Mrs. Reene Vay Oliver, formerly of Chicago.

Mrs. Brazleton is a past daughter ruler of Pride of Chicago I.B.P.O.E. of W. & A.M. and is widely known for her fraternal activities.

Among those present were Mr. Charles M. Edmond, Arabic Order of A.A.O. of N.M.S., Mrs. Mayme L. Edmond, Dtr. of Sphinx and treasurer of Naomi chapter No. 11 O.E.S., Mrs. Joseph P. Henry of Friendly Lodge No. 19 of A.F. & A.M., Mrs. Ann Henry of Naomi Chapter No. 11 and Dtr. of Sphinx, Miss Lillie Frederick of Hiawatha Temple, Los Angeles, Mr. B. J. Davis, formerly of Chicago, and many others.

PRETTY CONTESTANT—Joyce Robinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alphonso Robinson is out to win the title of "Miss Wilfandel" with Leontyne King as her sponsorer. The popular coed is an officer of the L.A. Y-Teen club and is a member of the Independent Youth Council of Independent Church. On Sunday, April 25, Leontyne King will entertain in her honor from 4 to 9 p.m. (see social set)

Elizabeth Lewis Crowned "Miss American Woodman"

The regular monthly meeting of the Moonlight Social Club was held at the home of Mrs. Esther Comia, 5123 Latham Street, Friday evening, April 16. Mrs. Odell M. Rhodes, the president, gave reports of the American Woodmen State Conference and the "Battle of Flowers" held in the Oakland City Auditorium the previous week. Miss Elizabeth Lewis, the contest from the Club, which is an auxiliary of Los Angeles Camp No. 2, had been crowned "Miss American Woodmen" of California for 1948." The report included a message from District Manager Eugene Robinson who is an honorary member of the club. Commander Clarence D. Hargrave, another honorary member, was present and gave brief remarks.

Announcement was made of the sudden illness of the club's business manager, Edgar S. Browne Sr.

Refreshments were served by the hostess. Those present included: Ellen T. Richardson, Louise Chatman, Jessie Triggs, Janie Joiner and Willie Watson.

Gardenia and Song Add to Westview Ballerina Ball

Copies of a song dedicated to Westview Hospital entitled, "Westview March Song" will be sold to the public at the Ballerina Ball on May 29 at the Elks Ballroom. Words and music were written by Dr. T. R. Peyton.

The Ballerina Ball is being given under the auspices of the Westview Hospital Women's Guild.

Stella Rae Williams, who will be in charge of flowers, says: "Help build Westview by buying a Gardenia and a Song."

MISS NORMA L. WINSTON, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Winston is being sponsored in the Wilfandel popularity contest by Mrs. Bernice Barnum. The Junior College student will be honored with a breakfast on Sunday morning, at her parents home, 2266 W. 29th street.

Parents-Girls On Panel

The YWCA Parents Council will feature a panel discussion on April 29th at 8 p.m. at the Woodlawn Branch, 4260 Woodlawn Avenue. The panel will consist of three parents and five girls who will discuss what they think the YWCA should do to help meet the needs and interests of girls and parents.

Mrs. Alice Lynch, chairman of the Parents Council, stated that emphasis would be placed on what we can do now but with our attention focused on planning for the future. Mrs. Lynch urges parents of girls who are now enrolled in YWCA Clubs to attend this meeting and help determine how these needs and interests can be met.

South Los Angeles Youth Take Active Part In Coed Work Shop

Misses Eula Starr and Shalmir Green, Messrs. Clarence Bell, Bill Easter and Lloyd Davis of the SLAYAC, South Los Angeles Young Adult Canteen attended the first Southern California Y.M.C.A.-Y.W.C.A. coed Workshop at Pacific Palisades April 10-11.

Miss Green and Mrs. Easter conducted the workshop on officer training for the conference. The importance of good officers, the officers responsibility, quality of a good officer, parliamentary procedure, etc., were some of the sub-topics discussed during the two workshop periods.

The workshops on social and recreational activities, educational programs and public affairs and the successful club were attended by the other delegates and immediately plans were under way to use some of the ideas gained in the club program of the SLAYAC.

The final session of this Southern California Coed Workshop was a business meeting at which time the Y.M. and Y.W. Coed Council was formerly set up. Shalmir Green from the SLAYAC was elected secretary of this group.

Social dancing, indoor and outdoor games along with the session made the workshop both enjoyable and profitable for all attending.

LEADERS of the South Los Angeles Young Adult Canteen is the foursome pictured above. At a recent YM-YW Coed Workshop held at Pacific Palasades, this group took a leading part. Mrs. Ira Pulliam Voted "Mother Of Year" By Child Study Guild

Child House will be the scene of the third annual Child Study Guild Mother-of-the-Year award presentation. The honoree, Mrs. Ira Pulliam of 128 W. 57 St., was selected Friday night by a committee who met at the home of Mrs. Myra Cretien. Questionnaires which had been sent to club and fraternal groups were considered by the committee, composed of Mrs. P. Price Cobbs, Dr. W. A. Beck, Mrs. Theodore Lumpkin, Mrs. William Tatum, and Mrs. T. Wilson. From the many well-qualified candidates submitted the committee chose Mrs. Pulliam to be the honor mother of 1948.

Principal speaker for the occasion will be Mrs. Margaret Harpstrite, director of the Los Angeles County Children's Court of Conciliation. Mrs. Harpstrite is a native daughter of Los Angeles and was a practicing attorney for 7 years. She was chosen from a group of 36 candidates for her present position after having proven her efficiency through her work as a volunteer in this same court. In the two years since her appointment she has been exceedingly successful in restoring the marriages of a large percentage of couples whose parting of the ways would have brought unhappiness and insecurity to their children.

The Child Study Guild is pleased to be able to present such an outstanding speaker to the community.

The public is invited to attend the event Sunday, April 25, from 4 to 6 p.m. at Child House, 2225 W. Adams Blvd. Mrs. A. R. Traylor is president of the Guild.

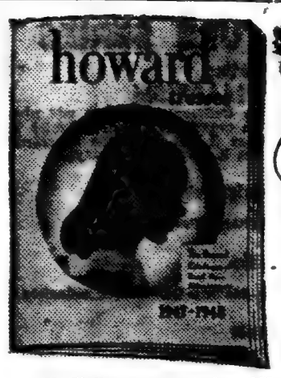
Brilliant Pianist To Play for Benefit Of Italian Children



Many film celebrities and Italian community leaders are expected to join Los Angeles music lovers Tuesday night, May 4, at the Wilshire Ebell theater to hear the distinguished pianist, Jakob Gimpel, in a concert sponsored by the Welfare Association for Italian Children.

Total proceeds from the concert will go to establish an orphanage in Milan, as one of the numerous projects now being conducted by the Welfare Association.

Credited by the leading critics of this country and Europe as one of the foremost pianists of all time, Jakob Gimpel makes his home in Los Angeles when not touring the United States. His latest appearance in New York's Carnegie Hall was on March 6, when he played two new numbers especially dedicated to him by the composers.

IN THE SOCIAL SET

The Alpha gents certainly received full support from wives, sweethearts and friends in general.

Under the sub-head of smart events falls the 69th Anniversary of the California EAGLE. This year we celebrate with a banquet in the Annex of Zion Hill Baptist church. Believe me, this banquet will be one of the smartest events of the spring season. The EAGLE staff members are more than proud over the history-making years of the Oldest Negro Weekly in the West. As your Society editor, I take this means of extending you an invitation to attend the banquet on the night of April 30 at 8:00 p.m.

The Wilfandel Club in its effort to raise funds for a new club house has gained recognition of all during its recent popularity contest. Each week, the Wilfandel events highlight the social calendar. With the closing date of the contest not too far away, Press chairman Irene Bradford certainly has her hands full meeting deadline with the different affairs scheduled for the debutant contestants. Lending her a hand this week, I list the following as outstanding affairs that should be on your "must" list. Cocktail parties seem to have the order of the date April 25, for starting at 10 a.m., Bernice Barnum is honoring her contestant, Norma Lee Winston with a cocktail breakfast that will end at 2 p.m. Leontyne King, who happens to be a Queen hostess, will open the doors of her smart apartment at 1046 E. 42nd Place with a cocktail party whose proceeds will go toward the fund for Joyce Robinson, whose mother, Mrs. Louise Robinson will be assisting. Between the hours of 4:00 to 9:00 p.m. a host of friends and their friends have been invited to the King Apartment for quite a party. Leontyne King, as you know by now, really gives a party to be remembered. Starting at 3:00 p.m. Sunday afternoon and lasting until—will be a benefit cocktail party for contestant Elinor Winson, given by her sponsor, the diligent Wilfandel worker Irene Bradford, who will be assisted by Lois Winston, Cecil Lewis, Virginia Osborne and Elizabeth Johnson. The address is 1164 N. Virgil and this affair will go on and on into the night. In marking your weekend events, be sure to schedule the above mentioned Wilfandel fetes. They should be loads of fun . . . Sideline, just received an important call on another Wilfandel "must." Dolores Bell's grandmother, Mrs. Helen Thompson is expecting one and all to make way to the Thompson residence Sunday morning 11-2 p.m. to sip coffee and take a chance on an electric roaster. 2106 West 31st street is the address and to do your part is the rest . . . So much for the Wilfandels.

WELL! WELL! WELL!

The Crop 'N' Tails will take over at the Elks Saturday night, April 24, with the annual Barn dance of all Barn dances. Many a celebrity will be out to trip the light fantastics in blue jeans and plaid shirts. The club members are urging all to forget about the fancy rig and attend the basketball game Saturday night in blue jeans, etc., making the barn dance after the game . . . Invites have been extended many a younger set member by Dr. and Mrs. Gregory Murray to join them in welcoming Omar and Vernell Stratton back to L.A. The couple has been living in N.Y. since their marriage last year, while Dr. Stratton interned at the Harlem hospital . . . Camille Cannady will be entertaining in honor of candidate Frances Williams on Saturday night, and Dorothy Nicholas has opened her doors to members of the Negro Congress . . . Comes Sunday afternoon and the Smart Set will take over at the Florentine Gardens with their invitational affair.

Martha and Bernard Jefferson (attys.) will hie off to the redwoods on a brief vacation during mid-June . . . Elvira Redd is receiving full support from her C.C. friends in her new music venture . . . Wishing her loads of luck . . . We make deadline. Next Week.

Pasadena Sorority Holds Annual Mother Daughter Banquet At Social Hall

The Zata Chapter of Phi Gamma Delta Sorority held its first annual Mother - Daughter Banquet, Thursday evening, April 15, at the Community Baptist church social hall, 1115 North Fair Oaks avenue, Pasadena.

The theme of the program was "A Mother's Relationship to a Daughter." The banquet was designed to stimulate the interest of mothers to their daughters. Mrs. A. R. Traylor was the principal speaker of the evening.

Plates were laid for 150 guests. The head table was reserved for the participants on the program. Motif for the occasion was typical of spring. Each table had a beautiful centerpiece of gladiolas, carnations, sweet peas and lilies. The sorority colors of pink and blue were beautifully carried out in the flowers and other decoration. A pink carnatios was given each guest. An orchid was given to the most deserving mother and daughter selected by the sorority.

The popularity contest ended on this date. Miss Frasces Palmore, Basileus of the Chapter, was the winner and was presested a sorority pin as prize.

Miss Vertie Malette, publicity manager.

Silver Spurs To Ride At Jacksons

111th Street P. T. A. Opens Drive

There are many persons in the community who inquire as to the merits of the Parent-Teacher Association.

Mrs. L. Brown, a member of the 111th Street PTA, gives the following report on the activities of her group:

PTA endeavors to help the child, and encourage the aid of the home, school, and church to further this aim.

The 111th Street group has brought speakers from local churches and civic organizations to address the meetings, as well as 10th District officers and council officers of the Fremont Council and Exposition Council.

In April of '47, aid of the school cafeteria were listed to entertain the annual Fremont council meeting. Supplies were given needy children and during the Christmas season, baskets were filled and delivered by the PTA members. The group has sponsored shows, paper drives, luncheons and other activities to promote parent and teacher relationships. The members have also chaperoned excursions and provided entertainment and refreshments for children during the holiday season.

The group purchased drapes for the cafeteria, bric-a-brac for the faculty room, approved literature for room prizes, games, sponsored a drive for robes for children of the student choir and provided refreshments for the graduating classes.

To make the hospitality table attractive various drives for dishware, glassware, etc., were collected by the PTA.

When your child presents you with a PTA membership envelope please fill and return it to the school. The public is invited to help by serving on one of the active committees.

Newly elected officers are: Mrs. J. Edmonson, president; Mrs. G. Reynolds, first vice president; Mrs. F. Withers, second vice presidest; Mrs. E. Small, secretary; Mrs. W. Burson, financial secretary; Mrs. J. Sanders, parliamentarian; Mrs. W. Evans, treasurer, auditor; Mrs. F. Keslin, principal.

Indiana Club Change Sections Of Constitution

The Indiana State Club was entertained by Mrs. Rachel Kirkpatrick, 4250 South Central avenue, last Tuesday, April 18.

It was agreed to change the constitution so that elections will be held in June; that the hours for club meetings will be from 3:30 to 6:30 p.m. each third Sunday in the month, and that anyone who has anything to sell to the members of the club, such as tickets, etc., must contact the publicity man, Lyman E. Starks, 1637 East 23rd street, in time for the 3rd Sunday of the month.

The quartette from the Mu-So-Lit Club gave several selections, with Mrs. Marie Gill at the piano.

Mr. Homer Tutt, at Rancho Los Amigos hospital, Hondo, was reported better.

Visitors at the meeting were Mrs. Beatris Smith of Evansville, and Mrs. Augustus Cox of Bloomington, Indiana. Both Indianans joined the club.

Refreshments were served, following the program. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Minnie Morton, 815 East 27th street. Robert C. Jackson, president of the club, presided.

Reno, Nev., is farther west than Los Angeles, Calif.

Eastside Settlement House Redecorated And Remodled

We are most grateful to the Board of directors, staff and friends who helped to make our dream come true. For several years our board has wanted the building remodeled to make it more adequate for our youth and adult program at the Settlement House. On February 12 the Board took action to have the work done. They secured Mr. E. E. Brown, contractor and husband of one of our Board members to do the work. The project cost $700, the women raised the money and paid for entire project in three months which was most commendable. Plus interior redecoration of building, screening and repairing entrances which was done by the Community Chest at a total cost for remodeling done of $1500.

Mrs. Lucy H. Jones recently appointed group worker to the Eastside Settlement staff is doing beautifully at getting adjusted to our program of the Settlement. Mrs. Jones comes to us with background of public school teacher and volunteer group work in Y.W.C.A. She is very talented and has a pleasing personality. Already the children are very fond of Mrs. Jones.

Mrs. Eva Thompson — Our housekeeper finds it necessary to take three months rest because of her health. We regret to lose Mrs. Thompson for the three months and we are all praying for a speedy recovery and that you will hurry back to us with same broad smile and lovely spirit of cooperation. We will miss you Mrs. Thompson but we want you to have the needed rest.

Hostess to Neighborhood Committee—The Eastside Settlement House will be host to the Neighborhood Committee on Settlement work Wednesday, April 22 at 10 a.m. Sidney Pasum of the Soto Michigan Center is the presiding officer for the Committee. Officers for 1948-49 will be elected at the meeting.

The Eastside Settlement Annual Membership Drive opened April 1 and will continue through May. Mrs. Mattie Hurd is heading the 1948 Membership Drive and is also one of the lieutenants. the other lieutenants are Mmes. Betty Johnson, Mildred Moore, Elizabeth Edwards, Myrtle Brown, Julia Lee, Pauline Bruce. Malinda Mae Garland, Johnnie M. Ferrell, Mattie Austin, Octavia Mathews, Emeline Brown, and Lucille B. Bell. These women have accepted a goal of one thousand members for the 1948 drive. We need to reach our goal in order to meet our program needs. The number of youth coming to us for Service at present is almost double the number of youth we were serving when our budget was set up for 1948, which means that any increase in funds for the program must come from us.

Reports on the membership drive are to be made each Monday at 3 p.m. This is most important since a quilt has been chosen for the project, the quilt is made up of one thousand blocks which cannot be made into the quilt until the members are reported. Please each lieutenant make your report each Monday that the project may move forward.

Mrs. Willie Willingham is in charge of the quilt. The pattern used is the wedding ring which wil be carried out in orchid and white. Hhis promises to be a beautiful quilt, which will be on display at Eastside Settlement over the weekend during the drive.

NATURE'S LESSON

With an early Easter to mark its beginning, the Spring of 1948 has flung itself upon the world and Mankind. Nature has set forth new crops of life and spurred the living things on to new production. We looked about one day to find suddenly that the winter bareness and bleekness had been driven away and new life had come to the earth.

It proves that at one time in the year, nature brings about new life and changes. The old and worn-out is replaced by new and fresh growth. It proves, too, that God—through nature—never allows the earth to go famished and bleek and bare. Once a year there is a housecleaning.

I think mankind should learn a simple age-old lesson from this method of nautre. Indeed, we should be able to realize that in order to enjoy the fruits of autumn, we must have plented new growth and vines in the springtime. That may dillingly apply to the so-called international situation. Yo ucan only get out of a thing what is put into it. Now regardless of how long or how affectively we talk of World Peace and Security, until we have had a general spring housecleaning and a renewing of lost faith and ideals, there can be no fruits for autumn—no World Peace.

The well-cultivated orchard of life might be said to consist of well trained, well informed minds; liberal, progressive, and freedom loving minds. Only through the proper cultivation of an orchard can trees be expected to produce good fruit.

It may be that human beings have always been the fruit trees in God's orchard. It may be that He has been waiting for a long time to see something good and useful come from His fruit trees—the hearts and minds of men. Maybe He's still waiting. Now when a farmer has a tree that does not bear, he cuts it down and replaces it with something more productive. Time has seen many civilizations and people swept away and replaced with people more interested in doing good in the world. Careful, mankind, that you are not replaced with something more productive!

ITALIAN ELECTIONS SUPERCEDE WORLD AFFAIRS

The Italian elections a few days ago took precedence to world affairs completely, as the people were interested to see which form of government would rule Italy: the Communists or the form of religious democracy. And the Italians have certainly taught us Americans a lesson about that Constitutional provilege of voting. Over ninety percent of the people turned out to the polls and voted.

Most people were pleased—and surprised—by the quietness and the order of the election compaigns and the election itself. Some believe that uncontrolled rioting will break out in Italy sooner or later. However, the two election days there were remarkably peaceful. The elections, too possessed all the characteristics of democracy. Whether or not the Communists or the democracy won, I think Italy is well on the way to recovery in the economic sense.

As long as the situation in Italy is controlled and orderly, nothing can be said. If the Communists should win and things are still orderly, I wonder what sort of a barrage the American papers would let loose here? Anyway, no one can presently say that the Communists forcefully took over Italy.

PEARSON PLEADS WITH KKK LEADER

In view of the recent floggings of American Negro citizens in Georgia, Drew Pearson, on his Sunday night radio broadcast, appealed to Klavern Leader Greene of Atlanta, Ga., to spare his daughter (Greene's daughter) from the mental anguish that she suffers each time the KKK commits one of its disgraceful deeds. Now it seems that Greene has a daughter in school. Every time the KKK goes on the rampage, the little girl suffers from the things her friends say. I wonder how she feels about the victims of Leader Greene's mob violence?

Mr. Pearson feels that the leader of the Klavern should stop hurting his own daughter along with the people upon whom he inflicts that mob violence. He asked Greene to disperse the Ku Klux Klan. That is something to watch, for it will really prove whether or not Greene is a barbarian. It is, indeed, a cruel person who knowingly inflicts upon his own daughter the worst torture known to mankind—mental torture.

FOOTNOTE: Now about common sense: some have it and don't use it, other don't have it to use, few find that HAPPY MEDIUM!

YWCA SPRING FOLLIES will feature many Y-Teen club girls from the Woodlawn branch to be held June 5 at the Jefferson High school auditorium. Participants are Eula Lee Narcisse, Shirley Ann Qualls, Jeannette Williams, Barbara Hilliard, Sylvia Griggs, Jennie Smith, and Harriet Young. All proceeds will go toward the Camp Fund. The production is under the direction of Mike Stewart with dance directions by Serreto Comargo.

According to Roger Willis, District Scout Executive for McKinley District, Cub Pack 345-C was the first Unit to win the Tom Tom for ticket sales. Mrs. Marie Smith, Mrs. Mildred Miller and Mrs. Thelma Vanden are the Den Mothers of this Pack. Cub Pack 750-C sponsored by the Buffalo Post of the American Legion, Mr. Robert Evans Cubmaster, was the second Unit to win the Tom Tom on the basis of ticket sales. Cub Pack 346-C sponsored by the Eastside Settlement House has the Tom Tom for selling the highest number of tickets this week. The Cubmaster is Mr. Groves, and the Den Mothers are Mrs. Alice Conway and Mrs. Lucy Jones.

The Boy Scouts of America are holding a gigantic Scout-O-Rama on April 30 and May 1. Many Scouts and Cubs of the McKinley District are taking an active part in this spectacular event.

Boy Scouts to Hold Scout-O-Rama In Gilmore Stadium

Three hundred Scout Troops, Cub Packs and Senior Units of he Los Angeles Area Council have gone into action in developing live demonstrations for the great Scout-O-Rama to be held at Gilmore Stadium April 30 and May 1. In the picture above, Scout Troop No. 508 sponsored by the Highland Park Sportsmen Club, Foothill District, B.S.A. is portraying metal work and will show every process used in working with copper. They will also show many beautiful pieces of work which have already been completed. Amongst the other booths will be crafts of all types; such as model airplane building, soap carving, tin can craft, bead work and hundreds of other crafts. More than 170 merit badges will be demonstrated.

One troop on the dairying merit badge will actually demonstrate mechanical milking and the process of milk through separators, churning, etc., including the care of the animals. Other merit badges will be blacksmithing, angling, reptile study, automobiling, and many others. More than 18,000 tickets have already been sold, according to Jim Buehner, attendance chairman. There will be three shows, Friday, April 30 from 7:00 to 10:00 p.m., Saturday May 1st from 2:00 to 5:00 p.m. and from 7:00 to 10:00 p.m. The price of admission is 50 cents.

'Youth Faces New World,' Address Of Camp Fire Confab

Dr. Paul Popenoe, director of the American Institute of Family Relations, will be the keynote speaker at the Region V Horizon Club Conference to be held here April 24.

Over 250 girls from Southern California and Arizona, representing the senior girls program of Camp Fire Girls, Inc., will hear Dr. Popenoe's address on "Youth Faces a New World" at the all-day meeting at the Owl Rexall Drug Company Auditorium at Beverly and La Cienega.

"Plan for Tomorrow" will be the theme of the conference.

TO OPEN SESSIONS OF YOUTH LEGISLATURE—Edward K. Weaver, President of the SOUTHERN NEGRO YOUTH CONGRESS will open the sessions of the SOUTHERN YOUTH LEGISLATURE meeting in Birmingham, Alabama, April 30, May 1 and 2. Dr. Weaver is Professor of Education at State Teachers College in Montgomery, Ala.

State Musicians' Association Fetes Mabel J. Massengill

The State Association of Negro Musicians honored one of its members, Mabel J. Massengill, Sunday afternoon, with an elaborate reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Elmore, 2156 So. Hobart Boulevard, from 4 to 7 p.m.

Receiving with Mrs. Massengill were: Dr. and Mrs. Squire Russell of Pepperdine College, Mrs. Helen P. Cardell of Highland Park, Dr. Paul Fisher, principal of Jefferson High School, W. H. Richardson of the Birkel Music Company, and a representative from the office of Supervisor Roach, who took pictures.

Mrs. Leola Longress was chairman of the reception committee. She was ably assisted by Mrs. Minnie Albritton Jackson, Mrs. Ever Hudson, Mrs. Alene Brunner, Mrs. Lydia Jones, Mrs. Willa L. Brooks, Mrs. Bessie Woodson, Mrs. Leola Straine and Mrs. Marie Overstreet Jackson.

At the piano was Mrs. Edna Porter and Mr. Robert Flack. Nine year old Nancy Scruggs, voice pupil of Mrs. Massengill, was in good voice as she rendered a soprano solo. Her poise attracted the admiration of her listeners. Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass presented the Association's basket of spring flowers to Mrs. Massengill in a few, well chosen words, commending the brilliant musician for the very fine contribution she has made to the musical development of the community.

The reception was not only in recognition of the fine services of Mrs. Massengill in the church, civic and social organizations of Los Angeles, but also called attention to her recent appointment to membership on the County Music Commission.

Versatile Musicians Spellbind Texans At Collegiate Program

TYLER, TEXAS—A big Texas audience, attracted to the Gus F. Taylor gymnasium auditorium Friday night by Graham Jackson, was literally spellbound by the versatility, dexterity, and showmanship of the famous musical genius. The program which was lengthy never tired the big audience and the crowd was reluctant to let Jackson go, notwithstanding having played numerous request numbers not listed on the program.

"There is nothing like that kind of program anywhere," said one out-of-town visitor who witnessed the program. The artist mystified the audience by his skillful manipulation of the several instruments. He played the piano, the organ and accordion with an ease, skill and precision that cannot be described. If ever a stage or concert artist did take the audience by storm, that artist was Graham Jackson here at Texas college Friday night.

Watts Young Adults Attend So. Calif. YM-YW Workshop

Misses Eula Starr and Shalmir Green, Messrs. Clarence Belle, William Easter and Lloyd Davis from the SLAYACS, South Los Angeles Young Adult Canteen, attended the first Southern California Y.M.C.A.-Y.W.C.A. Co-ed Workshop at Pacific Palisades, April 10 and 11.

Miss Green and Mr. Easter conducted the workshop on Officer Training for the conference. The importance of Good Officers, The Officer's Responsibility, Quality of A Good Officer, Parliamentary Procedure, etc., were some of the sub-topics discussed during the two workshop periods. The workshops on Social and Recreational Activities, Educatiosal Program and Public Affairs, and the Successful Club were attended by the other delegates and immediately plans were under way to use some of the ideas gained with the SLAYAC.

The final session of this Southern California Good Workshop was a business meeting at which time the Southern California Y. M. and Y. W. Good Council was formerly set up. Shalmir Green from the SLAYACS was elected secretary of this group.

Progressive Club To Sponsor Recital Sunday

The Progressive Club of the First A.M.E. Church, in line with the forward march of other clubs in the church, is doing its bit to swell the funds to meet the Conference needs.

Sunday afternoon at 4:30 p.m., the Progressive Club will present in recital, Victor Hugo Green and associates, Jean Burt and George Mallory, pianist at First A.M.E. Church, 801 Towne Avenue.

Rev. Federick D. Jordan, candidate for the Bishopric, is pastor.

SNYC Meets In Alabama

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — Delegates gathering for the 8th conference of the Southern Negro Youth Congress to be held in Birmingham, Alabama, on April 30, May 1 and 2, will hear J. Finley Wilson, Grand Exalted Ruler of the I. B. P. O. E. of W., Z. Alexander Looby, Nashville attorney and Judge Joseph H. Rainey, candidate for Congress.

Mr. Wilson and Judge Rainey will speak on the opening night of the conference. Judge Rainey has been a civic leader in Philadelphia for a number of years. He is a member of the North Philadelphia Civic League and President of the Philadelphia NAACP. He has been a magistrate in the city court of Philadelphia since 1938 and is now a candidate for Congress from the 4th Congressional District.

Attorney Looby who will be a guest speaker on Saturday is a graduate of Howard University and Columbia University. He is a member of the national legal committee of the NAACP and a former head of Omega Psi Phi Fraternity. He conducted the trial in the celebrated Columbia, Tennessee, riot case.

Moranda Smith, assistant regional director of the Tri-State Council of the Food, Tobacco aid Allied Workers of America, CIO, will lead the discussion on the session on economic security.

Miss Smith who has been a leader in the FTA union for a number of years became especially prominent in the labor union last year when she took a leading part in the successful struggle of the tobacco workers in Winston-Salem to win higher wages for 9000 tobacco workers in the R. J. Reynolds plant.

Youth Orchestra at Naborhood Church

What promises to be an outstanding event of the season is an "Hour of Charm" Sunday evening, April 25, 7:30 p.m. at Neighborhood Community Church, 47th Place and San Pedro.

The Hightower Youth Orchestra will be featured in a three-part program — sacred, classical and patriotic, displaying their unusual talents in solos, trios, duets and ensembles. Members of this group range in ages from 4 to 14.

Carl Johnson, director and vocalist, and Edward Grinner, trombonist, were recently awarded scholarships in music. Donald Bohanna was selected this year as the outstanding saxophonist in the all-city-school contest for the Elementary Jr. Orchestra at the Shrine auditorium. All of the youngsters have been highly acclaimed by music critics.

The concert will be sponsored by the Auxiliary of Neighborhood Community Church of which Rev. H. Mansfield Collins is pastor and founder.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By REV. IKE EVANS, D.D.

Subject: Zechariah Pleads for Righteousness; Lesson Text and Outline. Zechariah 1:1-4; 7:8-14; 8:16-17. Motto Text Zachariah 7:9.

(Introduction)

Almost certainly Zachariah was born and bred in or near the city of Babylon. Like Jeremiah and Ezekiel, he was priest as well as prophet. Though seemingly much younger, he began his ministry only two months late than Haggai. He is said to have had much to do with the reorganization of the Temple worship. His book is usually divided into two sections: the first eight chapters occupied mainly with the visions and concerned with the rebuilding of the Temple: the remaining six chapters forecast the messianic kingdom, declaring the overthrow of its foes, the upbiulding of its representative people, and the final bowing before the divine sovereignty.

(Comments)

1. The judgments of God, which those that went before us were under, should be taken as warnings to us not to tread in their steps. They call to repentance, that we may cut off the entail of the curse and get it turned into a blessing. We must not follow the examples of our dear fathers unless they were God's dear children, nor any further than they were dutiful and obedient to him.

2. The weakest must not be thrust to the will because they are weakest. No thanks to men not to deny right to those who are in a capacity to demand it and recover it; but we must, not only for wrath, but also for conscience's sake, give those their own who have not power to force it from us. Or it intimates that that which is but exactness with others is exaction upon the widows and the fatherless; nay, that not relieving and helping them as we ought is, in effect, oppressing them. The desolations of a land are owing to the wickedness of its inhabitants. This comes as our wilful disobedience to the law of God. And the present generation saw how desolate sin had made that pleasant land, and yet would not take warning.

3. We must never tell a lie, but always speak as you think, and as the matter is, to the best of your knowledge: Speak you every man the truth to his neighbour, both in bargain and in common converse; dread every word that looks like a lie. Those that are entrusted with the admiration of public justice must see to it, not only that none be wronged by it, but that those who are wronged be righted by it. It must be a judgment of truth in order to make peace, and making those friends that were at variance, and a judgment of peace as far as is consistent with truth, and no further. Great reverence must be had for an oath, and conscience made of it: Never take a false oath, love no false oath; that is, hate it, dread it, keep at a distance from it. Love not to impose oaths upon others, lest they swear falsely; love not that any should take a false oath for your benefit, and forswear themselves to do you a kindness.

(Comment on the Motto Text)

Magistrates must administer justice impartially, according to the maxims of the law and the merits of the cause, without respect of persons: Judge judgment of truth, and execute it when you have judged it. Neighbours must have a tender concern for one another, and must not only do one another no wrong, but must be ready to do one another all the good offices that lie in their power.

Community Leaders To Participate In Ceremony Sunday

An impressive ceremony will be rendered Sunday, April 25, when the People's Metropolitan Community church, of which Rev. Marion McLaughlin is pastor, breaks ground for the building of their new church at 41st and Main sts. The program, which is scheduled to begin at 4 p.m., will feature many outstanding speakers from our community, civic and professional life. Choirs of various churches will render the music and the clubs of the Laura Slayton Youth Foundation will be honored guests. This spiritual monument is being erected and dedicated to God and the free worship of christianity. The public is invited to attend.

Women's Day at Emanuel AME

Sunday, April 25, has been set aside as Women's Day at Emmanuel A.M.E. church, 52nd and Compton avenue, and a full day's program has been planned.

At 11:00 o'clock, Rev. Salena Jennings, well known minister, will bring the message, and special music will be rendered by the choir. Mrs. Marie Allen-Reynolds will be guest soloist. At 3:30 the message will be given by Rev. Victoria Jackson, a young but inspiring minister of Hamilton M. E. church, and the Evangelist Singers will be featured, with Mrs. Anna Thomas as soloist. At 7:30 those who attend will be well paid for their presence when the message will be given by Mrs. Clara A. Forte, spiritual evangelist of Oklahoma, reputed to be one of the soul stirrers of that state.

The Junior Missionary Girls, under the leadership of Mrs. Pauline Jones, are sponsoring a Silver Tea at the parsonage, 1549 E. 53rd street, from 4 to 7 o'clock, and invite all friends and well-wishers of the church to attend.

Mrs. Callie Simms is the chairman of the day and Rev. W. J. Conquest minister.

Macedonia Baptist Musical Sunday

The pastors and the Benevolent Society of the Macedonia Baptist Church, 114th street and Graham avenue, have planned a big day for music lovers next Sunday, April 25, and cordially invite all lovers of music to come and enjoy the treat.

A special number will be rendered at the 11 a.m. service. At 3 p.m. the Singing Alliance of Los Angeles will be presented. This promises to be a soul-stirring hour of good gospel singing. These artists draw a capacity house wherever they appear, so don't m'-- this at 3 p.m. sharp.

There will be a rare treat in store for all music lovers of the community at 7:45 p.m., when a grandmusical extravaganza will be featured, presenting some of the most outstanding artists of the city. Everyone who hears this will be benefited spiritually and intellectually. There is a cordial welcome for all.

Also I heard the voice of the Lord saying, "Whom shall I send and who will go for us?" Then said I, "Here am I; send me." Isaiah 6:8

REV. F. CAMERON

THE MEMBERS of Ebenezer Baptist church, 4901 Avalon blvd., are giving the pastor a special anniversary program beginning April 25 at 11 a.m. through May 31 this year.

The Rev. H. B. Gantts Entertain at Birthday-Housewarming Party

One of the most beautiful birthday parties and house warming entertainments we have attended during this spring

Rev. H. B. Gantt

was given at the beautiful home of Rev. and Mrs. H. B. Gantt, 2105 S. Raymond, last week.

About 30 of Mrs. Florence Gantt's many friends were present to wish her happy birthday and enjoy the fine program along with the lavishly served refreshments.

Mrs. Florence Gantt

Rev. S. H. Marion, minister at First A.M.E. Zion church, offered prayer and the blessings of God upon this very fine couple and their new home. He also spoke of the great achievements made during their ministerial career.

Some of the most distinguished folk of Los Angeles were present. Among them were: Judge and Mrs. Edward Jefferson and his mother, Mrs. N. E. Jefferson; Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Johnson, one of Los Angeles' leading and pioneering undertakers; Mrs. Ida Henderson and Mrs. McCall of Santa Monica, Calif.; Madame Sul-Ta-Wan, one of our first Negro movie stars of the silent pictures, and her husband; Mrs. India Allen of Minnesota.

Others enjoying the evening were Rev. and Mrs. S. H. Marion, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Lancaster, Mr. and Mrs. S. Blasingale, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Gantt and son, Mr. and Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Maude B. Davidson, Mrs. Laura E. Young, Mrs. Roberta G. Walkins, Mrs. Adele R. Young, Mrs. Mattie Morten, Mrs. Rosanna Smith, and Mrs. Charlsie Parks.

Madam Hightower at Bethel Church

Madam Hightower and her well-known musical group will present a program of music at a special service in Bethel Community church, 2626 South San Pedro street, at 3:30 p.m., Sunday, April 25. A cordial invitation is extended to the public. Rev. Effie Harris is pastor of the church.

McCoy Memorial Radio Hour Receives Hearty Applause And Felicitations

The McCoy Memorial Baptist church, at 802 East 46th street, with Rev. E. A. Anderson, pastor, has been receiving numerous letters, telegrams, telephone calls, and personal contacts each one relating how wonderful the radio hour is and how helpful it has been to them. We are happy indeed that God has made it possible for us to touch the hearts of many listeners both Christians and sinners. It is our object to keep on the air, if God so wills a spiritual intellectual program that will bring Christians back home and help sinners find themselves.

The pastor, Rev. E. A. Anderson and the entire membership of McCoy wishes to thank each and every one for their many kind, encouraging words and prayers And we pledge ourselves to try to present even a better program for God via radio.

You are invited to attend these Sunday morning broadcast. You are also invited to attend our Sunday evening worship at 7:30 p.m. Each Sunday the choir, under the direction of Jules Haywood with Joyce Collins as pianist, presents a musical, bringing special guest artist and selections from the McCoy choir.

We invite you to attend our Saturday evening prayer meetings, each Saturday at 7:30 p.m. If you need special prayer, if you are ill, or have strayed from the fold, come and let us pray for you. This meeting is open to all.

Concerts Here Causes Golden Gate Quartet Reject European Offer

NEW YORK CITY. — Harold Courtois, noted French producer and concert impressario, cabled the Golden Gate Quartet, in care of their New York City office and invited them to tour the European continent under his auspices, this week. The reason for the invitation, he explained briefly, wasn't only his own appreciation of the Quartet's abilities. It seems that a batch of the Golden Gaters' Columbia recordings were shipped to Paris several months ago and the French populace snatched them up eagerly at exhorbitant prices. Mr. Courtois reasoned that this was the perfect time for the famed spiritual singers to visit the continent.

Arlandus Wilson, spokesman for the Golden Gate Quartet, cabled the producer his regrets and explained that their heavy schedule of American concerts made it impossible for them to accept the generous offer.

Community Pays Homage To Va. Church Worker

Mrs. Alice Leftridge, 107 year old resident of Salem, Va., died is the place of her birth April 11, 1948. Her family was among the first settlers of that community and they helped to build Shilo Baptist church there.

Mother Alice, as she was known, was an outstanding religious worker and an upright citizen. When her funeral was held the highest respect was paid to her remains. Her life was long, beautiful, and well spent. Her work will follow her.

She leaves to mourn her passing a daughter, Mrs. Jamie Jones; a sister and two cousins in Virginia; a devoted son, William Leftridge and his wife in Los Angeles.

Gospel Concert At Olivet Baptist Jeff Hi Speakers

Mr. Paul Fisher, principal of Thomas Jefferson High school, and Mr. Arthur Farnham, Boys' Vice Principal, will speak at the Olivet Baptist church, 981 East 35th street, Sunday, April 25, at 6:30 p.m. The topic for discussion is "The Vital Part the PTA, Home, Church and Schools are playing in the curbing of Juvenile Delinquency."

The program is sponsored by the Olivet B. T. U., and the president, Miss Cleopatra Johnson, is inviting all parents and friends in the community to attend. Rev. W. R. Hutchinson, minister.

The Greater New Hope Singers will render a Gospel program at Olivet Baptist, Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. The program is sponsored by the Olivet Matron League on behalf of Miss Christella Perkins, who is a candidate for Queen of Olivet for the year of 1949. The public is invited to attend.

Mattie S. Nelson Tendered Farewell Surprise Wednesday

Mrs. Mattie S. Nelson, first Negro layman ever elected by the Southern California-Arizona Conference and only Negro elected representative from the West Coast to the General Conference, was tendered a "farewell surprise" by Bowen Memorial Methodist church.

On Wednesday, April 14, at 9:30 p.m., a group of persons representing every department of this church gathered at the home of Mrs. Nell McClannahan for this lovely affair. Promptly at 10 p.m. Mrs. Nelson was called by phone to come to the home of her sister. Upon entering the semi-darkened room she found the house full of friends. A brief program followed with music led by Toussant Jennings and Edythe K. Owens presiding at the piano. Two musical numbers were rendered by Amenda Haynes and remarks were made by Mrs. Maude Hinds, Leon Steward and Rev. John C. Bain, minister at Bowen.

At the close of the program Mrs. Myra Rhetta presented the honoree with a lovely cash purse given by the members of Bowen, following which words of appreciation were given by Mrs. Nelson. Refreshments were served and the group left wishing Mrs. Nelson a lovely trip.

Mrs. Nelson will leave Friday, April 23, for Boston, Mass., the seat of the General Conference of the Methodist church, and will return to Los Angeles the latter part of May.

REV. MOORE IN VICTORVILLE CHURCH

Rev. Phillip N. Moore and Mrs. Moore spent last Sunday at the C.M.E. Church in Victorville, where the Zion Travelers, of San Bernardino gave a fine program in the evening. The small church was packed with a crowd of 300.

The Ventura and Oxnard pastor and wife will be the guests of the Zion Travelers this Sunday in San Bernardino. They will appear over the radio station there at 1:30 p.m., and will also appear for the Temple Baptist church. Rev. and Mrs. Moore will be expecting all the old friends to be present at both services.

Child Musicians In Recital

Lincoln Glee Club Hailed at Princeton

Dr. Randall Thompson, eminent American composer, formerly of the faculties of Harvard University, the University of Varginia, and at present Professor of Composition at Princeton University, shared the honors with and gave his warmest praises to the Lincoln University Glee Club in their triumphant concert in the McCarter Theatre of Princeton University on April 8. The Glee Club, under the direction of Henry Booker, sang Dr. Thompson's splendid new work for men's voices, "The Testament of Freedom," before a large and enthusiastic audience.

On the following day the Glee Club was the guest of the Westminster Choir College, and again was acclaimed by the entire student body of the Choir College when they sang in a special assembly in the Choir College Chapel.

The Glee Club, an excellent choral ensemble of 40 male voices, has had a highly successful season singing in Philadelphia, Washington, D. C., and by special invitation at the Du-Pont Estate at Longwood Gardens on Easter Sunday morning.

Christian Science Theme 'Probation after Death'

"As the Father raiseth up the dead, and quickeneth them; even so the Son quickeneth whom he will." This declaration from John will be the Golden Text of the Sunday Lesson-Sermon on "Probation after Death" in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston.

Jesus says in John's Gospel, "Destroy this temple, and in three days I will raise it up. Then said the Jews, Forty and six years was this temple in building, and wilt thou rear it up in three days? But he spake of the temple of his body. When therefore he was risen from the dead, his disciples remembered that he had said this unto them; and they believed the scripture, and the word which Jesus had said." Mark reports, "And they went forth, and preached every where, the Lord working with them, and confirming the word with signs following."

Mary Baker Eddy writes in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures:" "Jesus' unchanged physical condition after what seemed to be death was followed by his exaltation above all material conditions; and this exaltation explained his ascension, and revealed unmistakably a probationary and progressive state beyond the grave. Jesus was 'the way;' that is, he marked the way for all men."

Rev. Harold M. Kingsley has been designated a delegate to the Pacific Regional Confernece of the U.N.E.S.C.O. at San Francisco May 3-15, to explore a basis for "the intellectual and moral solidarity of mankind," and to develop "an understanding of the relationships between local and world problems." Mr. Kingsley is also listed in "Who's Who" for 1948-49. Among the facts stressed are, builder of churches in Detroit, Cleveland, Chicago (the famous Good Shepherd Church) and Los Angeles (organizer of Pilgrim House program and the interracial Church of Christian Fellowship).

Baha'i Lecture Sun.

The Greatness of the Cause of Baha'u'llah is the subject of the lecture to be given by Mr. Willard Hatch at the Sunday afternoon public meeting of the Baha'i World Faith which will be held at their Los Angeles headquarters, 331 South New Hampshire avenue, April 25, at 3 o'clock.

After each great Manifestation from God great powers are released and changes in the world of civilization. The truths, the fundamental spiritual plans, are the solution for the individual's problems today, whether they be religious, social or economic.

Westside C.M.E. Church

The Westside C.M.E. Church, 1480 West Jefferson blvd., feels it was especially blessed last Sunday with the fine sermon preached by the Rev. J. E. Mills, of the San Pedro church founded by Rev. Phillip N. Moore.

Services are held in the Westside Church each Sunday at 11 a.m., with the pastor, Rev. Frank Nelson, and others preaching the sermons. Watch the EAGLE for the new location of this Westside C.M.E. Church.

More than 5,000 young people are expected to attend the annual Los Angeles County Christian Endeavor convention to be held April 30, May 1 and 2.

Thought is the essence of an act, and the stronger element of action; even as steam is more powerful than water, simply because it is more thereal.

Don's Sign Rose Bowl Star Leonard Ford

Michigan Ace 5th Negro On Don's Rooster

Leonard Ford, giant Negro end on the University of Michigan Rose Bowl team, has signed a 1948 contract to play professional football with the Los Angeles Dons of the All-America Football Conference, General Manager Harry Thayer announced today.

Ford a 6-foot 5-inch 210-pound wingman, was a regular with the Wolverines in 1945, '46 and '47. Last season, under Fritz Crisler's two-team system, Ford was used primarily as a defensive end, but in Michigan's 49-0 massacre of U.S.C. in the Rose Bowl he played outstanding ball on both offense and defense and was singled out as one of the top stars of the day.

Ford was eagerly sought by the Detroit Lions of the National Football League, and it was rumored that he was already signed by that club. However, Ford made his decision to play with the Dons after Earl Martineau, former assistant coach at Michigan, joined the Los Angeles coaching staff.

Ford is the second Negro rookie signed by the Dons for 1948 and also joins three Negro veterans: End Ezzrett Anderson, Center John Brown, and Halfback Bert Piggott. The other Negro rookie is Linwood Sexton, speedy halfback from the University of Wichita.

Ford's all-around abilities and physical strength will make him a valuable asset to Coach Jimmy Phelan's 1948 grid machine. With long arms and large hands, Ford is an excellent pass-catcher as well as a tough defensive player. Crisler used the 22 year old Negro on end-around plays where his size and speed make him doubly dangerous.

Kappas Comeback, Down Omegas 51-29; Barksdale Makes 30—Alphas 63, Sigmas 52

Dave Minor - Gene Williams Defensive Stars; Alphas Kappas Battle in "Biggie"

By Stanley Robertson, Eagle Sports Editor

Coming to life at the expense of the Omega Psi Phi's wilting basketball team, the 1947 champion Kappa Alpha Psi basketball team finally hit their stride Saturday night at Loyola High School gym, when they handed the purple-clad Omegas a 51-29 licking in the fifth game of the 1948 Inter-Fraternity Basketball Series.

In the nightcap, Don Barksdale and his league-leading Alpha Phi Alpha mates had to go all-out to turn back a determined Phi Beta Sigma squad, 63-52, in a wild-scoring affair highlighted by the great Barksdale's 10 field goals and 10 free throws for a total of 30 points.

KAPPAS PLAY LIKE CHAMPS

Playing unquestionably their best game since they handed the Alphas a 50-40 shellacking to win the 1947 Inter-Frat championship, the well-balanced Kappa casaba squad set up a fast-breaking offense and a tight man-to-man defense spearheaded by Gene Williams that completely held the Omegas to a standstill.

Starting out as if they were going to lose another game, the Kappas were kept in the game only by the fine play of Glover Samuels, who sank three field goals, and Johnny Randolph, who garnered three field goals and two free throws in the opening portion of the contest. With Ivan Robinson leading the way with 12 points, the Omegas fought the big Crimson tooth and nail all over the court in the first half. At intermission time, the Kappas were leading 17-16.

NO CONTEST

The last half was all Kappa. The Omega offense and defense failed completely. Big Gene Williams looked like an Indian chief guarding his favorite scalp he was on Ivan Robinson so close. The Omegas could only score 13 points in the last half while the Kappas went on a scoring spree, racking up 34 markers.

SIGMAS SURPRISE

The Sigmas' grand basketball team—far from being great—far from being smooth, but with more fire and fight than any team in the league, tried valiantly to stop the winning ways of the Alphas, but just couldn't find a man to cope with the great Don Barksdale and cage savoir faire of player-coach Bill Jones.

From the moment the Sigmas came on the court, you knew they had murder in their eyes. The Blue and White racked up an early lead, but long Don peppered 17 points through the hoop, and with Joe Oliver, Em Chapman and Dave Minor accounting for 8, 2, and 6 points, respectively, the Alphas walked off the court with a 34-26 lead. Dave Minor, living up to his reputation as one of the finest collegiate guards in the country, had to really hustle to keep the Sigmas' great Doug Shaw to 5 points in the first frame.

STRATEGY

In the last half, with the Alphas trying desperately to pile up a lead in order to give the regulars a rest, the Sigmas fought the league leaders hammer and tong right down the line. But the wind of Douglas Shaw, Howard Holt, and Freddie Bluett began to go, and the superior experience and team play of the Alphas began to tell. Chapman sunk 12 and Barksdale sunk 13 in the closing moments to widen the gap between the two teams. With less than three minutes to go, Barksdale was fouled out, but it was too late for the Sigmas to take advantage of the opportunity.

FINALE

This Saturday night, the Kappa-Alpha rivalry will be again renewed. If the Alphas wrap this one up, they'll not only make a play-off game unnecessary, but will end the first undefeated season in series history. If the Kappas win it, and some of the boys in the know are laying odds that they will, and the Sigmas down the Omega, then those two teams will probably face one another for the right to meet the first-round winner Alpha. First game starts at 8 p.m. with the Sigmas meeting the Omegas.

Mitchell, Sims, Evans Lead 7 Man CC Squad To Relays

Fresh from a 70 1/6 and 60 5/6 victory over a strong Compton College tenm Friday night at the Tartar's Ramsaur Stadium, Los Angeles City College's power ladden track squad left Tuesday morning headed for the Drake Relays at Des Moines, Iowa.

Sparked by the piston like legs of Fred Sims who won both sprints and anchored the mile relay team, the Cubs showed too much all around power for the Compton lads. In winning both dashes, Sims equalled the meet record of 9.8 in the century and set a new mark by blazing down the furlong in 21.5. Sims was also the hero of the winning Cub relay team when he put on a great stretch romp to outdistance the Tartars' quarter mile ace Bob Curry by one yard.

Coach Wendell Smith of the Crimson and Blue clad cubs named a seven man squad to make the trip to the famed relays which come off this Friday and Saturday at Des Moines. The athletes making the trip are: Billy Mitchell, brilliant sprinter-hurdler, Leapin' Leonard Evenas, broad jumper from Polytechnic High, Worth Welch, quarter miler; Bob O'Rourke, half miler and relay man, Jaspar Ross, sprinter from Belmont High school and Tom Williams, fleet footed dashman from Jordan High school.

Negro Driver In Big Car Win; Roll Again Sun.

A seven-event program brings back the big, Indianapolis-type autos to Carrell Speedway in Gardena, Sunday, April 25, with time trials billed at 1 p.m. and first race at 2:30 p.m. Last Sunday, the CRA hot-rods took over before 6444 fans. Jimmie Davies won the 25-lap main, followed by Yam Oka and Don Freeland. LeRoy Nooks, lone Negro driver competing, won second place in the heat race for fastest qualifyisg cars.

The big cars return from their junket to Fresno, with Kenny Palmer ruling favorite as the result of his triumph there and his Gardena victory a week previously. Sunday's entries include the No. 2 Riley Special owned by Mel Leighton, veteran Negro mechanic.

Plans are virtually complete for Gardena's inaugural stock car meet of 1948. Only post-war cars are eligible. Several old-time cars from World War I meet in a special event. Slated Sunday, May 2, the Stock duels will be climaxed by a 125-lap main and 60-lap consolation. Three 20-lap heats and a 5-lap trophy dash round out the program.

patton, LaBeach Meet in West Coast Relays May 15

FRESNO.—One of the greatest sprint fields in the 22 year history of the West Coast Relays appeared probable today with the receipt of tentative entries from the University of Oregon and Wayne university in Detroit for the western track classic is Fresno May 15.

Bob Henthorne, Oregon sprinter who has run the 100-yard dash in 9.6 seconds, and Lorenzo Wright, great Wayne university broad jumper and sprinter, announced their intentions to enter the meet to J. Flist Hanner, West Coast Relays director.

Henthorne and Wright add lustre to a sprint field which already includes Mel Patton, U.S.C. co-holder of the world's record for 100 yards at 9.4 seconds, and Lloyd LaBeach, ineligible U.C.L.A. sprinter who ran a 9.4 race at the Long Beach Relays this spring.

Don Smalley from San Jose and Bob Heck from C.O.P., both 9.6 men, and Willie Steele from San Diego, who has run 9.7, are also in the field, as is Don Anderson of California, a potential record breaker. The West Coast Relays will bring this group together for the first time this year.

Coach Flint Hanner's Fresno State College ttrack team will open its 1948 campaign this week when the Bulldogs meet San Diego State on the Ratcliff Stadium track in Fresno Saturday afternoon.

Dillard, Fonville Crack Marks

Lawrence, Kansas—Two world records went down the drain here Saturday afternoon when smooth running Harrison Dillard, the fancy stepping hurdler from Baldwin- Wallace College of Ohio, skimmed over the 120 yard high hurdles in 13.6, and University of Michigan's lanky weight man Charles Fonville tossed the 16-pound shot 58 feet, 4 inches before a large crowd at the annual Kansas relays.

195 pound pre-dental student Fonville, tossed the 16 pound than the recognized record set by Jack Torrance of Louisiana State University at Oslo, Norway in 1934. Torrance's record was 57 feet 1 inch. Fonville's mark was set on his second toss in the qualifying rounds when only a few hundred spectators were in the stands.

Dillard, registering his 54 consective victory, tipped over the high sticks in 13.6 seconds to better by one-tenth of a second the existing world mark held jointly by Forrest Townes in 1936 and Fred Wolcott in 1941. Dillard came back seconds latter to anchor the winning 880 relay team.

Expert Tabs Jersey Joe Over Louis in June Fight

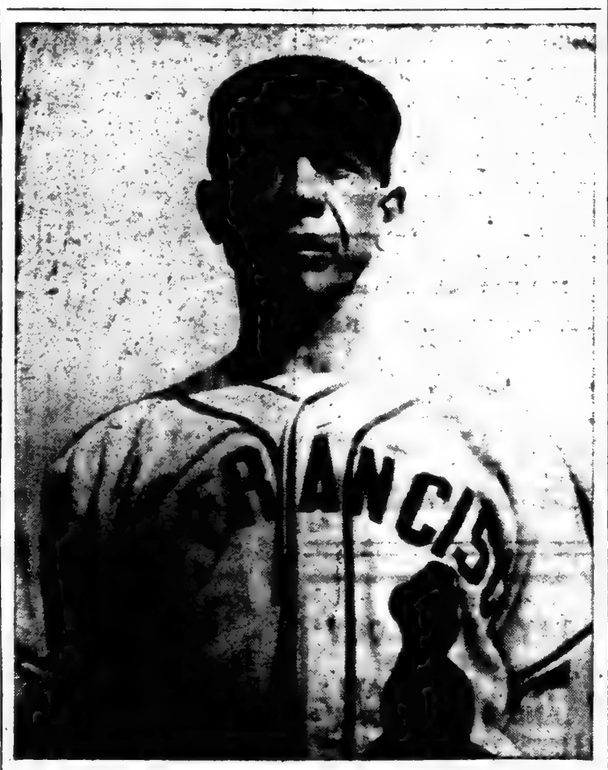
CHICAGO. — Insisting that Jersey Joe Walcott can foil Joe Louis' jab and is also a better infighter, boxing expert Lester Bromberg says in May Negro Digest that the challenger will easily lick the champ in their June rematch.

"Defensively, Walcott is the hardest man to hit in the heavyweight division since Jack Johnson," Bromberg says in the Negro Digest article. "But the most valuable of his assets is the way he foils Joe Louis' jab. And, when you keep Louis from scoring with his straight left, you have taken away 50 per cent of his effectiveness."

Walcott's is fighting is counted on to take off another 25 per cent of Louis' effectiveness, for he uppercuts inside Louis' arms and makes the champ back away. This, Bromberg declares, is what happened in the ninth round of their last fight when Walcott fought his way off the ropes.

According to Bromberg's calculations, all Walcott has to do is beat the 25 per cent of Joe Louis that is left.

McDaniels Wins Tourney; Other Winners Awarded



On Saturday night April 17, awards of trophies to winners and runner-ups in the Annual Tee and Green Tournament which was held on March 5 at the Western Avenue Golf Course were made. The scene of this tribute to winners of five flights of golf was Patriotic Hall.

The winner of "A" flight was Al McDaniels, brother of Jimmy McDaniels who has gained fame on the Tennis Courts of this country. McDaniels and Jerry Peck the runner-up were tied at the end of the regulation 18-holes play but Peck lost to McDaniels in the play-off.

Alex Peoples was the victor in the "B" flight and two strokes behind him for the second spot was Jerry Leftler.

In the "C" flight Haynes who has been called by some the longest ball hitter in these parts was the winner. Jim Dorsey was the runner-up.

"D" flight was copped by Lionel Harris and runner-up to him was Jerry Baldwin.

WAYNE CARR, versatile manager-pitcher of the San Francisco Cubs professional baseball team that meets the Long Beach Rockets, Sunday afternoon, May 2, at Long Beach's Roc Park, is shown above watching the Cubs preping for the Rocket encounter.

Frat Series Impressions — Ike Williams Will "Moider the Bum"
Johnny Bowens of S.C. — Henry Banks and Pepperdine Waves
It Runs in the Ritchey Family — Jordon or Jefferson?

Two weeks ago, the coming Kappa-Alpha game shaped up as a run away for the Don Barksdale lead Alphas, but last Saturday night, the defending champion Kappas played the game that they should have been playing all season . . . There were no individual stars unless it was Gene Williams and his beautiful guarding of Ivan Robinson in the second half . . . But it looked like, and should justly go down in the books as a team victory. . . . Anybody who's got the idea the Alphas have the Series all wrapped up in Black and Gold paper is far from right . . . I have a feeling that the Kappas will rise to the heights Saturday night and spoil the Alpha dream of a perfect season . . . The Crimson has the manpower to do just that . . .

Slightly built but long winded Johnny Bowen, the Lincoln transfere looks like a sure bet to the first Negro to ever run the lapper on Coach Dean Cromwell's Cardinal and Gold University of Southern California track squad . . . Hampered by early season cramps Bowen has run only sparingly, but Saturday afternoon, in the SC-LAAC Duel meet, running his first time on the Coliseum track, Bowen finished a good fourth behind S. C.'s Roland Sink; LAAC Kohl, and SC's Bova as Sink raced to a 4.19.3 . . . Bowen, who's also a fine singer in the school's choir, says that so far, the good Dean has treated him square . . .

23 year old Johnnie Ritchey, the first Negro to play with a Pacific Coast League team is currently in town with the San Diego Padres . . . Rictchey is currently handling the reserve catching duties for the hard slugging border city outfit . . . Ritchey has been alternating behind the plate not because of his lack of ability but because of his lack of experience . . . In baseball, the job of a catcher is one of the most important and requires probably more experience than any other position on the diamond . . . However, the way Ritchey has been hitting the ball, and his fine play behind the plate, I think it won't be long before Ritchey will be the regular backstop for the Padres . . . Speaking of Ritchey, he's not the only promising athlete in his family . . . You who saw last year's San Diego High-Santa Monica High School game for the C.I.F. championship last November in the Coliseum, will undoubtly remember Ted Ritchey, John's younger brother . . . Ted played one of the finest games that day we've ever seen . . . He gallopped for a 32 yard T. D. and was generally in the hair of the Vikings . . . Santa Monica won, but Ritchey and his mates made them go the rough way to win . . . We personality think that game was the finest high school game played locally since the days of the late '30's when the boys really rocked and socked . . . It's rumored that Ted Ritchey may enter UCLA? . . . If he does, along with all C.I.F end from Santa Monica, Ike Jones who's headed for Westwood too. He may become a member of another Washington-Strode, back-end combination . . . hope so . . .

Some of the local betting boys about town are laying good hard green on the line that state lightweight champ Enrique Bolanos will put the stops on world champ Ike Williams when they meet May 25th at Wrigley Field . . . Well, these boys with the long green could be right, but it seems as though they have short memories . . . It was a little less than two years ago that Ike, the ex-Gary clouter now residing in Trenton, New Jersey, sent Enrique to the land of the long sleep in the 8th round here at Wrigley Field . . . Some of the guys are saying that Williams has gone back a lot in two years while Bolanos has come on a great deal . . . Bolanos may have improved, but if what experts like Bill Corum, Don Dunfy, and Arch Ward say is true; that Williams is the most perfect fighting machine in America today, we'll have to string along with the champ . . .

Henry Banks, former star wingman at Jefferson High school, loks like he may become the first Negro to win a berth on Coach Warren Gear's strong Peperdine Football team . . . In Spring practice now being conducted at the Wave institution, Banks has caught the eye of the Peps head man . . . Banks is rough on defense and a whirl wind on offense . . . the Ex-Jeffersonian is out for a end position, and with over 75 men out now not counting a score of lettermen participating in other sports, Banks will have his work cut out for him if he expects to climb abroad that clipper that will carry the Peps all the way to Hawaii this fall . . . if he continues playing the way he has so far, Banks will be abroad when the Blue and Orange sight the land of the pineapples . . .

The eyes of the track world will be on the L.A. Coliseum the night of May 21, for on that night the annual Coliseum Relays will come off . . . Among the highlights of the meet will probably be the Patton-LaBeach duel in the sprints, but the way things are going now, the City High School championships which will be held in conjunction with the Relays will provide just as much, if not more, interest . . . From here, it looks as though it will be a two school fight for the Big Silver Cup . . . Jefferson's Democrats, winners of the trophy more than all the other schools combined, and the Jordon Bulldogs, fast developing as a major threat to the Democrats track supremacy, should battle down the line for the championship . . . Jordon, boasting Ed Crawford, 9.6 and 21.1 sprinter, Bobby Smith, 23 ft. broadjumper, and Fred Thompson ace quarter miler, although beaten by Jeff in an early duel meet, rate a slight choice over the Democrats right now . . . But with guys like Moosie Brooks in the half, Luther Butler in the quarter, and Ed Young, and Jim Howard, in the high jump and broadjump, Jeff won't be easily beaten . . .

Larry Doby, the sensational Cleveland Indian Outfielder, became the first Negro ever to be in the starting line up on opening day in the American League when he was in the right field garden when the Clevelanders opened their season before 70,000 fans . . . Doby, who was disappointing as an infielder last season was kept on with the tribe this year, and in pre-season exhibitions Doby seems to have justified the Clevelanders faith in him, for he batted .345 . . .

The Whiz Kid Basketball Team sponsored by the Medical Pharmacy over on the Westside, won the inter-city championship of Berkeley and Los Angeles Friday night when they downed the Berkeley Esquires, 43-39 at Loyola High School Gym . . . The kids have an amazing team with on amazine record . . . They haven't dropped a contest in more than 35 games . . . We hear they may challenge the winner of the Intra-Frat Series . . . should be a "natural" . . .

Because he'll be out of town six months out of the year, Don Barksdale is going to sell his Record Shop over on Western Avenue . . . To bad Don has to sell, but it should make somebody a real fine business.

Received a letter from some student at Compton City College concerning their effort to raise money to establish a perpuual trophy to be given to an outstanding local athlete in the memory of the late famed former Compton Olympic athlete Cornelius Johnson . . . More about that after we talk to the organization.

Coach Elvin "Ducky" Drake thinks Dave Minor can make the US Olympic team in the hop step and jump . . . He's going to start groaming the versatile Bruin for the posiiont . . . We agree with Drake, Minor could well become America's premier artist in this event . . . With a sore heel, he jumped 23 feet 4 inchs Saturday against Cal, and made 6 feet 3 inches in the high jump . . . pretty good for a guy with a sore heel and who's been training only one week.

Don's Sign Rose Bowl Star Leonard Ford

Michigan Ace 5th Negro On Don's Rooster

Leonard Ford, giant Negro end on the University of Michigan Rose Bowl team, has signed a 1948 contract to play professional football with the Los Angeles Dons of the All-America Football Conference, General Manager Harry Thayer announced today.

Ford a 6-foot 5-inch 210-pound wingman, was a regular with the Wolverines in 1945, '46 and '47. Last season, under Fritz Crisler's two-team system, Ford was used primarily as a defensive end, but in Michigan's 49-0 massacre of U.S.C. in the Rose Bowl he played outstanding ball on both offense and defense and was singled out as one of the top stars of the day.

Ford was eagerly sought by the Detroit Lions of the National Football League, and it was rumored that he was already signed by that club. However, Ford made his decision to play with the Dons after Earl Martineau, former assistant coach at Michigan, joined the Los Angeles coaching staff.

Ford is the second Negro rookie signed by the Dons for 1948 and also joins three Negro veterans: End Ezzrett Anderson, Center John Brown, and Halfback Bert Piggott. The other Negro rookie is Linwood Sexton, speedy halfback from the University of Wichita.

Ford's all-around abilities and physical strength will make him a valuable asset to Coach Jimmy Phelan's 1948 grid machine. With long arms and large hands, Ford is an excellent pass-catcher as well as a tough defensive player. Crisler used the 22 year old Negro on end-around plays where his size and speed make him doubly dangerous.

Kappas Comeback, Down Omegas 51-29; Barksdale Makes 30 — Alphas 63, Sigmas 52

PLOTTING ALPHA DOWNFALL — Shown above mapping strategy for their battle Saturday night against the undefeated League leading Alpha Phi Alpha Basketball Team or Kappa Alpha Psi Basketball Coach A. Dave Minor - Gene Williams Defensive Stars; Alphas Kappas Battle in "Biggie"

By Stanley Robertson, Eagle Sports Editor

Coming to life at the expense of the Omega Psi Phi's wilting basketball team, the 1947 champion Kappa Alpha Psi basketball team finally hit their stride Saturday night at Loyola High School gym, when they handed the purple-clad Omegas a 51-29 licking in the fifth game of the 1948 Inter-Fraternity Basketball Series.

In the nightcap, Don Barksdale and his league-leading Alpha Phi Alpha mates had to go all-out to turn back a determined Phi Beta Sigma squad, 63-52, in a wild-scoring affair highlighted by the great Barksdale's 10 field goals and 10 free throws for a total of 30 points.

KAPPAS PLAY LIKE CHAMPS

Playing unquestionably their best game since they handed the Alphas a 50-40 shellacking to win the 1947 Inter-Frat championship, the well-balanced Kappa casaba squad set up a fast-breaking offense and a tight man-to-man defense spearheaded by Gene Williams that completely held the Omegas to a standstill.

Starting out as if they were going to lose another game, the Kappas were kept in the game only by the fine play of Glover Samuels, who sank three field goals, and Johnny Randolph, who garnered three field goals and two free throws in the opening portion of the contest. With Ivan Robinson leading the way with 12 points, the Omegas fought the big Crimson tooth and nail all over the court in the first half. At intermission time, the Kappas were leading 17-16.

NO CONTEST

The last half was all Kappa. The Omega offense and defense failed completely. Big Gene Williams looked like an Indian chief guarding his favorite scalp he was on Ivan Robinson so close. The Omegas could only score 13 points in the last half while the Kappas went on a scoring spree, racking up 34 markers.

SIGMAS SURPRISE

The Sigmas' grand basketball team—far from being great—far from being smooth, but with more fire and fight than any team in the league, tried valiantly to stop the winning ways of the Alphas, but just couldn't find a man to cope with the great Doh Barksdale and cage savoir faire of player-coach Bill Jones.

From the moment the Sigmas came on the court, you knew they had murder in their eyes. The Blue and White racked up an early lead, but long Don peppered 17 points through the hoop, and with Joe Oliver, Em Chapman and Dave Minor accounting for 8, 2, and 6 points, respectively, the Alphas walked off the court with a 34-26 lead. Dave Minor, living up to his reputation as one of the finest collegiate guards in the country, had to really hustle to keep the Sigmas' great Doug Shaw to 5 points in the first frame.

STRATEGY

In the last half, with the Alphas trying desperately to pile up a lead in order to give the regulars a rest, the Sigmas fought the league leaders hammer and tong right down the line. But the wind of Douglas Shaw, Howard Holt, and Freddie Bluett began to go, and the superior experience and team play of the Alphas began to tell. Chapman sunk 12 and Barksdale sunk 13 in the closing moments to widen the gap between the two teams. With less than three minutes to go, Barksdale was fouled out, but it was too late for the Sigmas to take advantage of the opportunity.

FINALE

This Saturday night, the Kappa-Alpha rivalry will be again renewed. If the Alphas wrap this one up, they'll not only make a play-off game unnecessary, but will end the first undefeated season in series history. If the Kappas win it, and some of the boys in the know are laying odds that they will, and the Sigmas down the Omega, then those two teams will probably face one another for the right to meet the first-round winner Alpha. First game starts at 8 p.m. with the Sigmas meeting the Omegas.

I have a feeling that the Kappas will rise to the heights Saturday night and spoil the Alpha dream of a perfect season . . . The Crimson has the manpower to do just that . . .

Slightly built but long winded Johnny Bowen, the Lincoln transfere looks like a sure bet to the first Negro to ever run the lapper on Coach Dean Cromwell's Cardinal and Gold University of Southern California track squad . . . Hampered by early season cramps Bowen has run only sparingly, but Saturday afternoon, in the SC-LAAC Duel meet, running his first time on the Coliseum track, Bowen finished a good fourth behind S. C.'s Roland Sink, LAAC Kohl, and SC's Bova as Sink raced to a 4.19.3 . . . Bowen, who's also a fine singer in the school's choir, says that so far, the good Dean has treated him square . . .

23 year old Johnnie Ritchey, the first Negro to play with a Pacific Coast League team is currently in town with the San Diego Padres . . . Rictchey is currently handling the reserve catching duties for the hard slugging border city outfit . . . Ritchey has been alternating behind the plate not because of his lack of ability but because of his lack of experience . . . In baseball, the job of a catcher is one of the most important and requires probably more experience than any other position on the diamond . . . However, the way Ritchey has been hitting the ball, and his fine play behind the plate, I think it won't be long before Ritchey will be the regular backstop for the Padres . . . Speaking of Ritchey, he's not the only promising athlete in his family . . . You who saw last year's San Diego High-Santa Monica High School game for the C.I.F. championship last November in the Coliseum, will undoubtly remember Ted Ritchey, John's younger brother . . . Ted played one of the finest games that day we've ever seen . . . He gallopped for a 32 yard T. D. and was generally in the hair of the Vikings . . . Santa Monica won, but Ritchey and his mates made them go the rough way to win . . . We personality think that game was the finest high school game played locally since the days of the late '30's when the boys really rocked and socked . . . It's rumored that Ted Ritchey may enter UCLA? . . . If he does, along with all C.I.F end from Santa Monica, Ike Jones who's headed for Westwood too. He may become a member of another Washington-Strode, back-end combination . . . hope so . . .

Some of the local betting boys about town are laying good hard green on the line that state lightweight champ Enrique Bolanos will put the stops on world champ Ike Williams when they meet May 25th at Wrigley Field . . . Well, these boys with the long green could be right, but it seems as though they have short memories . . . It was a little less than two years ago that Ike, the ex-Gary clouter now residing in Trenton, New Jersey, sent Enrique to the land of the long sleep in the 8th round here at Wrigley Field . . . Some of the guys are saying that Williams has gone back a lot in two years while Bolanos has come on a great deal . . . Bolanos may have improved, but if what experts like Bill Corum, Don Dunfy, and Arch Ward say is true; that Williams is the most perfect fighting machine in America today, we'll have to string along with the champ . . .

Henry Banks, former star wingman at Jefferson High school, loks like he may become the first Negro to win a berth on Coach Warren Gear's strong Peperdine Football team . . . In Spring practice now being conducted at the Wave institution, Banks has caught the eye of the Peps head man . . . Banks is rough on defense and a whirl wind on offense . . . the Ex-Jeffersonian is out for a end position, and with over 75 men out now not counting a score of lettermen participating in other sports, Banks will have his work cut out for him if he expects to climb abroad that clipper that will carry the Peps all the way to Hawaii this fall . . . if he continues playing the way he has so far, Banks will be abroad when the Blue and Orange sight the land of the pineapples . . .

The eyes of the track world will be on the L.A. Coliseum the night of May 21, for on that night the annual Coliseum Relays will come off . . . Among the highlights of the meet will probably be the Patton-LaBeach duel in the sprints, but the way things are going now, the City High School championships which will be held in conjunction with the Relays will provide just as much, if not more, interest . . . From here, it looks as though it will be a two school fight for the Big Silver Cup . . . Jefferson's Democrats, winners of the trophy more than all the other schools combined, and the Jordon Bulldogs, fast developing as a major threat to the Democrats track supremacy, should battle down the line for the championship . . . Jorden, boasting Ed Crawford, 9.6 and 21.1 sprinter, Bobby Smith, 23 ft. broadjumper, and Fred Thompson ace quarter miler, although beaten by Jeff in an early duel meet, rate a slight choice over the Democrats right now . . . But with guys like Moosie Brooks in the half, Luther Butler in the quarter, and Ed Young, and Jim Howard, in the high jump and broadjump, Jeff wor't be easily beaten . . .

Larry Doby, the sensational Cleveland Indian Outfielder, became the first Negro ever to be in the starting line up on opening day in the American League when he was in the right field garden when the Clevelanders opened their season before 70,000 fans . . . Doby, who was disappointing as an infielder last season was kept on with the tribe this year, and in pre-season exhibitions Doby seems to have justified the Clevelanders faith in him, for he batted .345 . . .

The Whiz Kid Basketball Team sponsored by the Medical Pharmacy over on the Westside, won the inter-city championship of Berkeley and Los Angeles Friday night when they downed the Berkeley Esquires, 43-39 at Loyola High School Gym . . . The kids have an amazing team with on amazine record . . . They haven't dropped a contest in more than 35 games . . . We hear they may challenge the winner of the Intra-Frat Series . . . should be a "natural" . . .

Because he'll be out of town six months out of the year, Don Barksdale is going to sell his Record Shop over on Western Avenue . . . To bad Don has to sell, but it should make somebody a real fine business.

Received a letter from some student at Compton City College concerning their effort to raise money to establish a perpuual trophy to be given to an outstanding local athlete in the memory of the late famed former Compton Olympic athlete Cornelius Johnson . . . More about that after we talk to the organization.

Coach Elvin "Ducky" Drake thinks Dave Miner can make the US Olympic team in the hop step and jump . . . He's going to start groaming the versatile Bruin for the posiiont . . . We agree with Drake, Minor could well become America's premier artist in this event . . . With a sore heel, he jumped 23 feet 4 inchs Saturday against Cal, and made 6 feet 3 inches in the high jump . . . pretty good for a guy with a sore heel and who's been training only one week.

Gertrude Gipson's CANDID COMMENTS

My heart and I decided,
To throw you out of our mind.
'Cause when we needed you the most,
You left our love behind!

THE WHOLE TOWN'S TALKING ABOUT:

Pianist Jack LaRue, whose artistry in rhythm is worth writing home about, and the terrific way he has of toying with the ivories. He leaves Monday next for a Carnegie Hall concert with the Kid Ory crew. And wotta band! . . . The way a certain man-about-town has fallen heart-over-heels in luff with a deb young enough to be his dghtr . . . The slugfest (tla Joe Louis-Joe Walcott two in the morning, when two socialad's slugged it out over the affections of a married matron! . . . Bobbie Jean Chasten's Pepodent smile, and how she pleases you with her pleasing personality . . . Those terrific oh-soo-risgay pajama poddies staged by two vedy well known "swishes," that are coining a mint. The locals is in the vicinity of the 77th St. Pleece precient! . . . The flaming torch being toted by a well-known columnist (not who you think) over the unrequieted love affair of a social lovely, who up and married a lad from the Pasadena social coterie . . . The alleged "frame-up" of a popular sportsman by a coupla vice-squadsmen, who swore they "caught him with the goods." He says: "Don't you believe it!" The charming personality of Dorothy Ross, of the Talisman Girls social club . . . The fight the other Tuesday at the Olympic, when everybody loss . . . The return to the local colyumin scene of a famed local colyumist, whose stuff is catching on like love. His initials are Joe Harris. He hasn't returned to the scene, just to the Eagle staff . . . The amazing energy of Bill Smallwood, whose writings makes more sense than anything in the Congressional Record, and the way he dashes hither and yon. He has more energy than a vitimin pill! . . . The lovelife of a femme pen-pusher now trying to drown a torch that has learned to swim. Drinking, dearie, doesn't drown a torch—it only irrigates it!

POME: Have you ever counted sheep at night? . . . Have you been blue as the sky above? . . . You say you've never done these things? . . . Then you've never been in love! . . . Have you wished to God that you were dead . . . when you wanted something you couldn't get? . . . Have you felt a swooning in your head . . . Almost driving you into fits? . . . Do you torch when Duke plays "My Heart Sings," Do you try to count stars above? . . . You say you've never done these things? . . . Then you've never been in love! . . . The whole Town's Talking About: "Scotty," the policeman (and wotta handsome thug-hunter!) and the friendly way he has of "dealing with the police." Other thug-hunters should take a lesson from Scotty, when it comes to treating people like they're human beings! He's tops! ! . . . The friendly personality of Harold Brown, who still happens to be one of the greatest pianist in the Kingdom of swing today. Ace musicians sorta runs in the family. He's Lawrence Brown's bro, and don't tell anyone you haven't heard of Trombonist Lawrence Brown or you'll be listed as a number one loogan! . . . The handsomeness of George Baker, and his Oo-la la smile! . . . Mac Pinkston's recovery from a recent illness, and how the guys and gals prayed for his speedy recovery. He's a swell fello! . . . The way Artie Graves (who dat?) looks in a plaid suit. Like a carbon-copy of John Garfield . . . The way Sherman Williams and his zippy-dee-do-dah crew toys with the rhythms at the club Congo . . . And Roy Priestly's big-time tenor-tooting with the Happy Johnson band at the Cricket club . . . The really very wonderful party Matthew Thompson (he's the liquor-proprietor) staged for the boys and their dolls the other even'g at his Westside home. They say (and you can quote me if you wanna make something out of it) Champaygne flowed like water! Matthew's one of the colyum's most ardent admirers, and we like him a whole-heap-of-a-lot, too! . . . Ginny Robinson's return to show biz, and how she makes with the dance like Ann Miller. T sensash entertainer. Some local nitery oughta "discover" this talented girl. She's Hey-Bob-A-Re-Bop! . . . Watch T-Bone Walker pack 'em into the club when he opens at the Last Word a few days hence, if he isn't already there by the time you read this.

NOTES, NEWS AND NONESENSE:

Couldn't close the column unless I gave due praise to Anita Brown who is devoting so much of her time with a group of people who are called "The Good Samaritan" most of these folks have a physical handicap and are learning to make the best use of what talents they may have, Anita, surely couldn't be given enough praise for such a worthy cause . . . It's the lovely sophisticated atmosphere that bring so many people over to Nelson Creswell's "Cresbar" . . . When pretty Marva Louis and hubby Joe arrived from their trip abroad, beside "the new look" she was wearing direct from Paris, she had a pair of pedigreed French Poodle dogs, Peter and Paul, one black and one white all dolled up in a sporty cockney haircut . . . Cute Blanche Drew looking prettier than ever with the anticipations of soon becoming a mother . . . Liked very much the dancing of Katheryn Dunham and her group in the flicker "Casbah" . . . If you're interested in meeting some of those people you see and read in this paper every week, thn you'll want to attend the 69th Anniversary of this paper on the 30th of this month at the Zion Hill Baptist Church at 8:00 . . . In closing we think we oughta remind you that it's not those great big things that mean so much, it's those little thoughtful things in life that count most.

MACHITA, Latin American bombshell, chanteuse, dancer-use, petite senorita with the dapper Jose Curbello Cuban Rumba band at New York's Club Ebony, is the last word to see.

Hampton's Tunes in Film to be Premiered In New York June 15

Lionel Hampton's "Flying Home" on the Decca label is still the rage of the nation. New recordings of the hit tune by Benny Goodman, Ella Fitzgerald, Arnett Cobbs, a Hampton alumnus, as well as the honor of closing Danny Kaye picture "That's Life" makes "Flying Home" the nation's top hot number. Hampton leads the band in the picture which is expected to rival other Samuel Goldwyn-Danny Kaye specialities in popularity. Latest info is "That's Life" will be premiered around June 15, in New York City.

Also, it was revealed this week that a poll of college campuses found "Flying Home" to be the favorite living room dance tune among coeds.

All this recognition plus the sensational Hollywood announcement that "Flying Home" would supply the background in the finale of "That's Life" is another milestone in the career of the identifying theme which are the call letters of Lionel Hampton around the world.

"Flying Home" conceived by Lionel while he was making a tour of Air Fields in 1940 with Benny Goodman was an immediate hit. Inspiration for the song came when Lionel was watching the fellows waiting for their week-end passes home. A combination of the location—a flying field—and the smiles on the soldiers' faces as they left for their homes resulted in the tune "Flying Home."

Hampton's ability to discern the human emotion expressing happiness accounts for the rhythmic, joyful, enthusiastic, musical cocktail, that makes "Flying Home" a musical ritual.

Proving his versatility as a musician, Hampton's sweet recordings are expected to be solid senders. The Hampton Musical club is a balanced organization prepared for both sweet and hot —or music as you want it.

A demonstration of this Hampton musicianship is found in the overwhelming success of "I Want To Be Loved" which discovered the voice of Roland Burton and gives the "King of the Vibes" a vehicle for the soft and sweet.

HAMP SHOW—At the first Lionel Hampton show over the Mutual Broadcasting system Canada Lee and Timmie Rogers were right there with the 'Hamp.' The program is heard every Saturday afternoon from 2-2:30 p.m. Eastern Standard Time.

THE EDDIE SMITH TRIO, which has just finished a six months engagement at the popular Sully's night club in Pasadena, is now in its third week at the Brass Rail club of Glendale where it is making a record breaking crowd attendance. This entertaining trio, which features Leon Mason on the piano, has been signed for a return engagement at Sully's by popular demand. Eddie Smith sings his original novelties and ariscayes and cleverly handles the tubs.

Orch Leader Says Swing Is Out, Hails Jazz Return

HOLLYWOOD (Negro Press Bureau) — Charlie Barnet, the Wild Man of Jazz, responsible for the United Press story that "swing is dead," sees a rebirth of jazz in Samuel Goldwyn's Technicolor comedy, "A Song Is Born." It is Barnet's contention that swing killed the band business by its lack of variety. The sameness of presentation was responsible for the current band box office depression.

After seeing a preview of the flows Kansas City jazz. The Samba Kings follow Dorsey. The Goodman sextet comes on strong after Buck and Bubbles, and the variety holds your interest. That's our answer," Barnet concluded.

"Mix it up and do it differently from the other guy. Just because Hampton does it one way, with great success, is no reason why we all should do it the same way. It'll wear out its welcome."

How 'Crossfire' Villain Learned About Race-Hate

CHICAGO—My friends advised me not play the race-bigot villian in 'Crossfire' because they thought the picture was too controversial," says Robert Ryan in May Negro Digest, "but I accepted the part because I want to fight the prejudice that hits my Negro friends."

"I hate American fascists," RKO star Ryan continues, "and I have often met them in one way or another. But my first real encounter was through a colored college chum whe became my good friend at Dartmouth."

He had been sheltered at his own home, Ryan admits in the Negro Digest story, and accepted Jim Crow as a matter of course. But when his Negro pal explained to him that he was afraid to speak to a white friend in public without first being spoken to, Ryan's fight against discrimination was on.

"And when you hat a character enough," Ryan continues, "you

Film Director Engaged For Heywood Opus

LOS ANGELES — Columbia studio film director Arthur Dreyfus has been engaged to direct the coast musical comedy production "Carribean Carnival" by producers Donald Heywood and Adolphe Thenstead, at the Belasco theatre for an early showing.

"Carribean Carnival" will use a cast of 35 people exclusive of the music, Mr. Heywood said. He went on, "We are experiencing our greatest difficulties in finding sufficient numbers of well-trained girls for the ballet numbers. The show is being planned for an May 25 opening at the Belasco theatre.

SHARPS 'N FLATS

By Albert McNeil, California Eagle Music Critic

Phillippa Duke Schuyler

Only rarely is one privileged to hear a gifted youthfu whose understanding of the subtleties of pianistic tec are expressed uninhibitedly. Phillippa Schuyler is the po of such an innate musical sense. We emphasize the latent, musical temperament or ability because we firmly blei musical aptitude as a prerequisite to the performance of that is not only beautiful but coherent.

The Prelude, Choral and Fugue of Frank, which made first group, was quite muddled and insecure; the pedalin incorrect and showed the newness of the work in the pianist concert repertoire. However, without question the group was superbly performed. The Prelude in D Minor the proper balance between melodic and rhythmic contou

In Ravel's "Jeux D'eu" or "The Fountain" we felt tha Schuyler reached her zenith of interpretation. The tonal c was warm and delicate; the touch highly polished; the pl exquisite. Unfortunately, the "Spanish Etude" by Thomso lowed the rendition. Its harsh rhythmic chords were mo pleasant; there was entirely too much pedal. Virgil Th with respect to his great musical offerings, could have w this composition from his published works.

The choice of colorful harmonies and chord progr with a complimentary melodic structure akin to the sty Ravel and Debussey lead us to believe that in these com Miss Schuyler fines a medium that is satisfying to her posing urges. The structures were firm, coherent, and al not mature, greatly demonstrated the innate musical se which we have already mentioned.

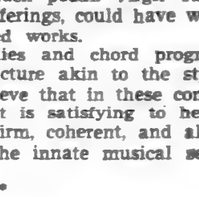
Yvette Snedden



On Sunday evening in the main sanctuary of the Nel hood Community Church, Yvette Snedden, 23 year old s and Atwater Kent Audition Finalist, was presented in re cital: We feel sincerely that Miss Snedden has a treme voice, a great deal of poise and natural ability; however, is a need for serious study before this young lady can a greater successes.

The program planning was unorthodox. It is customa artists to open a program with selected operatic arias, or tions taken from classical or pre-classical or even Ro composers. These selections are generally sung in a f language. We would not voice the criticism but in the li the formality expressed in the physical preparations for th cert, we expected a formal presentation in the best concert s

In Victor Herbert's "Italian Stree Song," we were privi o hear the beautiful upper register and tremndous flexibi the artist. The greater emphasis made on the projection of with fullness and roundness, produced the more pleasing ef

Mozart's "Alleluia" was undoubtedly the highlight evening. It was crisp, clear and well controlled. Miss J Lemons was the encouraging and competent accompanis concert was sponsored by the 194 Club of the Church.

PLATTER CHATTER

It's You or No One is one of the major ballads from the Warners picture, "Romance on the High Seas." With her clear, sweet voice exquisitely framed by a brilliant Frank DeVol arrangement, Margaret Whiting delivers one of the outstanding record performances of her career. Nobody But You is a bright rhythm tune by Margaret White accompanied by the Crew Chiefs.

Put 'Em in a Box is a sparkling novelty song given in the style for which King Cole is famed. While It's the Sentimental Thing To Do is a rhythm ballad performed in the familiar King Cole style, it is new in melody and performance.

Red Norvo's Nine features Benny Carter's number, Hollyridge Drive on Capitol with a strong be-bop flavor. Under a Blanket of Blue is a slow romantic standard which dates back to 1932. This is one of the few really modern versions of this striking melody.

Sarah Vaughan, who has made so many great records during the past two years, topped all her previous achievements last week as she recorded the beautiful "Nature's Boy" for Musicraft with the backing of a mixed vocal choir.

In waxing her first side the recording ban went i fect last December 31, Vaughan also recorded a ful old favorite, "I'm Glad Is You," in the same fash

Cab Calloway, who has been known for his highl vidualistic song present outdoes himself on this Columbia recording, entitle erybody Eats When They To My House," on a jump rhythm. Backing the ar Everybody Eats is a fine o loway record. I Don't St Ghost of a Chance, whic tures tenor saxophonist Berry in a moving, slow in tation of this classic tune.

"DOWN WITH THE NEW LOOK"

I think that I shall never see a pair of knees,
As lovely as a pair of trees.
Indeed, unless the long skirts fall,
I'll never see a knee at all. (selected)

TO THE VICTOR: BELONGS WHAT?

IN WHICH THEY SERVE: As a columnist-reporter I travel, as some might say, like the wind, by day and by night recording the heartbeats of the "big city." . . . Yes, ole' EAGLE EYE himself, finds it quite fascinating observing the antics of the passing parade of humanity and its "designs for living" . . . imaginatively, I see it as a "master painting" of human souls indulging in laughter, misery, pathos, trickery, sympathy, larceny, love and hate . . . but . . . this is part of the world we live in . . . and after all, its not as bad as it sounds . . . people are people, and I love people, don't you? Without the weak, there'd be no appreciation for strength . . . without the strong, there'd be no sympathy for the weak. . . . So, as I sit here, poised over my trusty "remmington," listening to "NATURE BOY" sung as only one Nat "King" Cole can sing it, backed up by Frank DeVol's grand music, I'm prompted to think of the many people who are serving in, and have served in different capacities of our city and community and hardly ever receive any praise-worthy mention . . . so . . . "SMOKE RINGS" doffs a commendable "ringlet" or two in your direction; to the Broadway Dept. store's competent staff of eye-appealing sepia elevator operators, whose personality and courteousness rates a shower of Orchids . . . likewise a salute to those nattily attired gentlemen operators over at the HALL OF JUSTICE, Hall of Records and City Hall for their great unblemished record of service . . . to Judge Walter S. Gates for his many years of unbiased decisions and service in the Courts . . . to CLIFTON'S CAFETERIA for championing the AMERICAN WAY in serving the public without regards to race, creed or color, and not letting the voice of prejudiced, discriminating bigots deter the policy . . . to Disc-jockeys; Jene Norman, Bill Ansen, Hank-theNightwatchman, Hunter Hancock and Carl Bailey for their sincere display of Americanism in plugging and interviewing Negro musicians, bands, etc., on their respective radio programs . . . to Judge Stanley Mosk for his decisions against restrictive covenants in Los Angeles County.

OBSERVATIONS ROUN' TOWN: Recent newly-wed Hazel Crawford tirelesaly handling her exclusive clientele of exclusive buyers with such ease, that her patrons seem to deem it quite pleasureable to spend their money at the S. Urbach Milliners Co. . . . add . . .

Mrs. Crawford has been with the company for several years, and for that period of time less three months she has held the position of Sales manager, a combination of beauty and brains, she knows her business and has made a multitude of friends at her post, it just goes to show that if you have ability you can make the grade. Her list of satisfied customers are spread from Broadway to Beverly Hills. . . . That was Atty. David (Bill) Williams and his charming "frau" table-for-two-ing" at the CRESBAR last sat-dee night . . . the Cresbar is also Nettie Washington's favorite "awf-ter-noon" cocktail rendezvous too, me thinks. . . . VINA'S fine food palace at 37th drive & Western, capably managed by Maxie Thrower is still popular with the "celebrity set" . . . when George (Kunin Furn. Co.) Mosby is in the mood for a fine "filet," that's where you're most likely to find him, eh George! Attractive Ruth Powell back in town after a year's sojourn in staid ole' Boston, looking as fine as ever, she is now dealing in real estate with the Lott Firm (West Side.) . . . IS IT TRUE that the Mantan Morelands are "setting their sights "for another matrimonial legal tiff? . . . add . . . the comedy team of Mantan and Kitti Murry via the stage was veddy short-lived, the partnership was dissolved, Mantan is now breaking in a new partner namely Bud Harris, drawing down $800 per week, on an Eastern theatre engagement . . . ran into Gladys Hampton, wife of Lionel (maestro) Hampton at the CONGO Sunday nite, was here on business (to settle her mother's estate), planed back to New Jersey Monday where the band is presently breakin' another record. . . . THEY SAY: MGM star Caleb Peterson and his lovely better-half Bernice are "spiffin'" . . . Thomas (Sonny) Maddox whom we know as a "right" guy roun' town, saw fit to erect a Kiddy-land Carnival at 53rd and Central some few months ago, and believe me its a fine place for your little boy or girl to enjoy themselves, so why not take them over these nice summer days and let them have some fun. . . . One might not suspect it, but Otis Wynn whom is presently bartending at the Congo cocktail lounge, has a wealth of political experience, a graduate of Addison college of Kentucky and Chicago U, went to the Philippines with McNutt to help supervise food administration, is also a Mason and Elk, the community is overlooking a good prospect in the person of the good brother Wynn. . . . They tell me I missed a veddy "glamorous" time over at Doctor Towles hacienda Sunday moontime, just to say we missed seeing alluring Ruthie, the "docs" niece is enough, oh well, ketchum, next time, mebbee no. . . . Adios Amigos.

Young Composer Featured At Wilshire-Ebell

A sure-fire winner in the musical field is Gilbert Reese, 22-year-old 'cellist, who has the unique distinction of having won every musical contest in which he has participated.

Young Reese, who will be heard in solo recital in the Wilshire Ebell theatre on Wednesday, April 28 at 8:30 under the auspices of Mary Bran, won last years Hollywood Bowu Audition, receiving as his prize a performance with the Hollywood Bowl Orchestra under Bruno Walter's direction. He also won the coveted 1946-47 U. C. L. A. Young Artist contest.

L.A. Painter In One Man Show April 20

Works of great sensitivity to the environment in which an artist finds himself as well as a flexibility in the use of numerous media are reflected in the one-man show of M. Jay Merlin, Los Angeles painter, which opens April 20 at the Sarah Singer Memorial Art Gallery of the Beverly-Fairfax Jewish Community Center, 8008 West Beverly blvd.

The exhibition will be open daily to the public without charge, from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m., and will run until May 5.

Singers Pops In Concert

By Barbara Anderso

Lovely Philippa Duke Schyler, composer-pianist, was presented Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock by the Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity in the Philharmonic auditorium.

Such compositions as Caprices by Scarlatti, Rhapsode in E Flat by Brahms, and other equally delightful were enjoyed by the many who filled the large auditorium.

Miss Schyler not only shows technical ability in interpreting the music of famous composers, but also an ability, unique and such compositions as Manhatten Nocturne (a symphonic poem composed at the age of 12), Rumpelstiltskin (symphonic 13), and Maelstrom (from the scherzo based on Grimm's fairy tale and composed at the age of outstanding, to write herself suite Afternoon at the Library composed at 15 and based on a tale by Edgar Allan Poe.)

Despite her retiring nature, Miss Schyler's originality, ability, and charm combined, won the acclaim of all the Angelenos who came to witness her performance. She graciously responded to many encores and curtain calls.

N.Y. Club Ebony Swingsation Of Gay Broadway

NEW YORK—The new edition of Club Ebony again scores formidable high recognition — admired and favored by the metropolitan critics unanimously.

What makes Club Ebony click? That's the moot question along the gay white way. The real shortage may threaten a brown-out of the world's greatest mazda belt, but it could hardly dim-out or dampen the sparkle of the exotic Club Ebony — rendezvous of smart New Yorkers and cosmopolites from everywhere.

Seasoned promoters, canny entrepeneurs and conservative critics of the top ranks continue to rave and are still in a dither—wondering just what are the secrets of the unusual success of the "miracle" new venture Club Ebony.

Illinois Jacquet To Enlarge Comb To Full-Size or K.

NEW YORK—Illinois Jacquet, the exciting "Dynamo of the Saxophone", this week announced that he will enlarge his present combo into a full-sized orchestra that will include his small band as a special featured unit.

Jacquet's plans call for the organization of a 17-piece band sometime next month.

"Ever since I played with Basie and Hampton, I've always wanted to have a big band," Jacquet revealed. "I'm sure that I can make use of a lot of ideas I have and still retain the spirit of the little band. With the big band, we'll be able to put on our own theater shows instead of just being an act, and on dance dates we can give the people everything they ask for. I'm pretty much excited about the whole thing, and I'm hoping to make the public feel that way too.

Sarah Vaughan, whom the nation's disc-jockeys tagged with the name of "The New Sound," will headline New York's first disc-jockey theatre presentation is a two-week engagement at the Strand theatre on Broadway, openisg May 7.

AVGA Fest

LOS ANGELES (NPS) — Jean Arthur, talented dancer-comedienne and mistress of ceremonies at the popular Bal Tabarin night club in the nearby township of Gardena, looms as a favorite to win selection as delegate to the national convention of the variety actors group known as AVGA, when it convenes in New York next August.

Miss Arthur, who resides at 2257 West 21st street, is reputed to be the best informed Sepia artist on AVGA rules and regulations. She informed newsmen that she was virtually drafted to seek election to the delegation by Hollywood non-Negro members.

LaBeach In SB Relays

SANTA BARBARA—The Track Eyes of the nation will turn this week to Santa Barbara for the annual running of the Santa Barbara Relays this Friday and Saturday.

With UCLA, USC, Los Angeles Athletiet Club, and scores of other track powers entered, several meet records are bound to fall.

In the college relay division, the meet record is certain to fall with Pepperdine's fine four lap team the favorites to better the mark.

The hundred yard dash will however draw the most attention with Lloyd LaBeach, who holds an "unofficial" claim on tieing the worlds record, the prime favorite. SC's Mel Patton, the man who will undoubtedly give LaBeach the most local competition.

Caliente, Old Mexico — Deep Sand, the chunky three-year-old colt by the Nut-Lil to Kic. Showed some of the best three-year-olds at the border course just what speed is, when he romped home by three lengths in the featured attraction of the day called "The Little Rock" at six furlongs. Always close to the leaders, Deep Sand made his bid coming into the home stretch to pass the pacemakers with ease, the time was very good for three-year-olds, 1:12 flat. The winner overlooked in the betting, paid $36.60, $13.20, $3.60 across the board.

The secondary event was won by Mirrow Lake, another long-shot that beat some of the best older sprinters on the grounds. Coming from fourth place at the head of the stretch where Jockey H. Johnson took him to the outside, the son of Mirafol-Farceuse got up in the last stride to nose out Hard Twist and the favored Nitrate. The time was 1:11 3/5 on the lightning fast track. The winner paid $28.40, $12.60, $4.20.

The first mishap in many weeks saw apprentice Jockey Gerald O'Steen suffer a broken left collarbone in falling from The Thinker in the sinth race. The spill happened at the club house turn. Judge George W. Shilling and Judge James Cunningham dealt out a 30-day suspension to Jockey N. Merritt for his ride on Grey Head who finished second in the same race, on a charge of carelessness in permitting his mount to create the jam. The daily-double paid $25.20 when Dynamite, the favorite in the second race, was an easy winner and Wise Vee, second choice, won the third. The nitecap called the Quinela paid its backers of the combination of Gallant One and Andrea Louise who finished in that order, $22.60.

This Sunday General Manager Walter C. Marty announced that the fans will be treated with two big feature events to support the twelve race program. "The Arizona" handicap and "The Oregon" htandicap. "The Arizona" at one mile and the later at one and one-eighth miles. Both for a purse of $1,500. The popular William Collyer, general manager of the greyhound races, announced that the hare and hounds races will open Friday, May 21st for its second season. Some of the best hounds in the country will compete and many new changes for the convenience of the public are in the making. Watch this paper for deails.

MEDICAL ADVICE

Can Piles Be Treated Successfully Without Operation?

Now, here is a question that has been put to me by hundreds and hundreds of patients and there are many angles that bear discussion.

In the first place—what are piles? In the minds of almost ALL lay people, piles is the name given to anything at all that occurs at or near the rectum causing pain, bleeding, or burning or itching. Of course this is NOT true—far from true, and here lies the cause of all the misunderstanding regarding rectal diseases. All sorts of doctors, including internes just out of school as well as naturopaths, chiropractors, masseurs, colonic irrigators and a host of other well-meaning allied professions—all attempt to treat piles.

Patients, therefore, get all sorts of varied results and are often confused, because the results are not happy. Fine and intelligent diagnosis is not made because there are many other ailments of the human body that require the attention of these busy men in the various fields. I am certainly aware of the fact that the patient often thinks he has piles when actually he suffers from an entirely different disease altogether.

Again, the old "cure-all" salve or suppository is used—or massage of the rectum is employed which does no good whatsoever. The patient continues to suffer—or gets temporary relief, only to find that later on, some serious operation must be performed. Had these cases been seen earlier—NO OPERATION MIGHT HAVE BEEN NECESSARY, or at least a very minor one. So—what is often called piles may be—cancer, abscess, fistula, stricture, polyp, ulcer and many other conditions ASSOCIATED with the piles.

Everyone, with few exceptions, has piles, more or less over the age period of thirty, but they are either neglected or not treated unless they become painful or bleed.

It may be understood then, from the above discussion, that piles CAN be treated successfully without operation provided they are seen early enough. The other point worth mentioning is that, very often, the case in question is not one of piles at all, but another disease perhaps more serious. Timidity and pride prevent the patient from going into details concerning his trouble when talking to friends or relatives, and consequently, since the trouble seems to be at or near the rectum—as far as they are concerned, —it is piles!

The poor piles get a very bad reputation because much is blamed on them that should never be.

There are so many false reports, opinions and beliefs regarding the matter of piles, that it is my fervent hope that all, or at least a few of those who read this column, will help me try to install the truth regarding these questions in the minds of those interested or concerned.

I feel very sorry for those people who, because of ignorant and false propaganda, prevent themselves from getting well because they believe these false stories. Such stories as "Don't ever be operated on for piles—you'll never have any more control of th bowel"—or "They always come back and you have to be operated on again and again"—or "Such operations will destroy one's manhood." NONE OF THESE STORIES IS TRUE. They are NEVER true when the patient has sought the attention of the skilled specialist whose work is confined to the field. The whole idea is based upon ignorance, fear and superstition as well as misunderstanding, and there are many who have had the service of the proper type of physician who can testify to this.

The other night—I had a discussion with the Pacific Town Club. These outstanding men in the business and professional world proved to be a delightful and enthusiasitc audience. How grateful am I that there are such groups who can understand a well-meant message and who are in the position to correct many of the evils that confront our race. The evil of improper health advice and propaganda hinders our own progress and happiness. We must try to correct it.

Next time—"A new venereal disease that should be known" "Ate logo" as they say in Brazil, which means "So long."

SENSE OF VALUES

There is folly undescribable in wasting our lives in the pursuit of temporal things. It is necessary and proper for us to work for our daily bread, for God would not give his approval to laziness or thriftlessness. We must always be reminded of the fact that it is important to put "first things first."

That is where we estimate a sense of values . . . placing the proper value and importance on the proper things. Over-estimating the wrong things in our lives, placing them first might lead to trouble and heartaches.

Oftimes we need someone to regulate the scale, to help us value our daily lives and activities properly, why not let Prof. Herman help you find the peace and happiness you desire. Write him today.

F. R. Dear Prof. Herman, just a short note to thank you for the wonderful blessing you sent me. Without your help, I don't know what we would do. I am sending for my book "With God All Things Are Possible," next week.

R. B. Will I be able to make the trip?

ANSWER. Concentrating upon your question I am of the opinion that you wish to make a trip south during your vacation and are wondering if you will be able to complete your plans. It seems that in all probability you will be able to carry out your arrangements for the summer, and enjoy yourself as well.

Y. I. What does the future hold for me?

ANSWER. Your Lucky Stars and Guiding Planet indicate many interesting events and circumstances which may bring about a great change in your life. Write for your Horoscope so that you may be prepared and able to benefit by this change.

WORRIED. Will my daughter come back home?

ANSWER. A careful analysis of your question indicates the fact that your daughter left home in a fit of anger, and you are wondering if she will return. She is already sorry that she lost her temper, and just as soon as she gets enough nerve back, will return, and apologize.

H.B. What is a barcarole?

ANSWER. Properly a musical term for the songs sung by the Venetian gondoliers, and hence a term also for an instrumental or vocal composition written in imitation of them.

CC FAVORED IN JC RELAYS

GLENDALE — The postponed Junior College Relays will take place this Saturday at Glendale City College, it was announced this week by officials of the meet.

20 of the best j.c. spike teams in Southern California have accepted invitations. The meet promises to be a "personal" duel between Los Angeles City College, Compton College, and Phoenix Junior College, odds on favorites to sweep the majority of the events.

Los Angeles City College, led by their array of classy sprinters —Billy Mitchell, Fred Simms, Jeff Sparks—and with Lennard Evans, Bill O'Rourke, and Carl Walden favored to win points in the broadjump, half mile, and high hurdles respectively, look to have a slight edge over the other three.

Ben Barzman, well-known screen writer, credited with such films as "Back to Bataan," "Never Say Goodbye," "Meet the People" and the forthcoming "The Boy With Green Hair," has been signed by Creative Films, Inc., to write English titles for the French film, "La nuit fantastique," starring Fernand Gravey and Micheline Presle, which will be the firm's first release. U. S. title will be "The Fantastic Night."

DOCTOR WARNS ALL WOMEN!

A well known New York physician warns women not to neglect Leukorrhea (the Whites). He says it is one of the most common of all complaints among girls and women of all ages. To relieve the discomforts of the "Whites" in cases not requiring medical attention he recommends douching with Zonite—the clinically tested cleansing douche powder that kills germs wherever they're known to cause trouble. Zonite not only kills on contact many germs hidden on harbouring odors.

Thousands of women use Zonite and praise it highly. You can try it yourself without risking a penny. Order a box of 12 douche powders today. Use 3. If not completely satisfied return unused portion of package and you'll get your money back. SEND NO MONEY. Pay postman $1 plus postage and C.O.D. charges. (3 boxes for $2. You save $1.) Federation of Jewish Welfare Votes To Strike, If Necessary

"A special membership meeting of the Federation of Jewish Welfare Organizations Chapter of the Social Service Employees Union—UOPWA, on Saturday, April 10, authorized their negotiating committee to call a strike against the Federation if further negotiations prove futile and if Federation continues in their refusal to arbitrate the disputed issues," Bernard Lusher, UOPWA Regional Representative announced today.

Further word is awaited from Walter C. Kilbera, Chairman of the Federation negotiating committee and prominent Los Angeles attorney, in regard to the possible resumption of negotiations.

Negotiations for a new contract, which have been prolonged since January, were terminated on April 7 when Federation refused to arbitrate the disputed issues and no agreement could be reached on a wage increase and the Union's request for overtime pay instead of time off, unemployment insurance and other conditions.

Famous Wisteria Vine In Bloom At Banning Park

The famous wisteria vine at Banning Park in Wilmington is again in bloom and is offering a beautiful sight to many visitors, the Los Angeles City Recreation and Park Department has reported.

The great vine, brought to Wilmington 55 years ago by General Phineas Banning, spreads its more than 300 feet of blossoms for a distance of 100 feet near the old Banning residence. Banning Park is between Lecouvreur, Lakme, "M" and "N" Streets in Wilmington. There is no admission charge to see the wisteria blooms.

A New York exporter recently found a market for potatoes in South America. Through ordinary channels he could buy them at $2.55 a hundredweight. But the government was glad to sell them at $1.75 a hundredweight out of its surplus stock, even though the potatoes had been purchased at the support price, of $2.55. Of course, the man bought from the government, and of course, the taxpayers paid the difference. — New York Daily

Lauds Role of L.A.'s Public Health Nurses

Los Angeles' 500 public health nurses make up the "hard backbone" of the city's fight against disease, Dr. George M. Uhl, city health officer said today.

The health official made his statement as part of the local observance of National Public Health Nursing Week, which started Sunday, April 11.

"These home visitors, who teach the sick and their family in proper patient care, are our front line health educators working toward better community health," Dr. Uhl said.

The public health nurse, he pointed out, not only visits the homes of the sick, but also the well in schools and industry to maintain optimum health conditions.

Barksdale Out; May Make Series

NEW YORK—Big Don Barksdale was never better as he was here Saturday afternoon in Madison Square Garden, but the lanky ex-UCLA star and his Oakland Bittner teammates weren't good enough. They fell 2 points short of overtaking the flying Denver Nuggets to win a place in the Olympic trials quarter finals. The Nuggets won 57-55 before a packed house, but were defeated Monday by the tournament champions, the Phillips '66 Oilers.

LOS ANGELES—With the Oakland Bittners out of the Olympic playoffs, speculation was running wild in local basketball circles if Don Barksdale, towering Bittner center and member of the Alpha Phi Alpha frat team that plays the strong Kappa Alpha Psi team Saturday night in the Inter-Fraternity cage "natural," would be on hand to help the Black and Gold? At press time (Wednesday night) Barksdale had not arrived in Los Angeles.

Dons Film Ready

"The Best in Football," 1948 promotional movie of the Los Angeles Dons, is ready for public showings and may be obtained free of charge by any group in Southern California.

Featuring Don Ameche, popular movie star who is president of the Dons, the film is in sound and color, running approximately 25 minutes in length.

Five Don players are making personal appearances with the film at no cost. They are Charlie O'Rourke, All-American quarterback from Boston College; Ben Agajanian, football's greatest place-kicker; Dale Gentry, All-American end from Washington State; Bill Radovich, All-Pro guard from Southern California; and Ray Frankowski, two-year All-American at the University of Washington.

Reservations for the film and speaker may be made by calling Gil Haynes at MAdison 6-2295 or writing the Dons' movie promotion department at 607 S. Hill St., Los Angeles 14.

"The Best in Football" is just what the name implies.

Jeff, Generals Clash At Coliseum in Classic

By La France Matthews
Jeffersonian Sports Editor

The dual track meet between the Washington Generals and the Jefferson Democrats will be held in the Los Angeles Coliseum on Friday, April 9. This meet is expected to draw a large crowd of spectators.

This is going to be one of the outstanding meets in the city and will leave no doubt in the minds of ardent track fans as to who will win the Southern League Championship. The Generals were pre-season dope sheet runners up behind Jefferson in th Southern League final standings.

The Generals have lost their first League meet to Fremont. The Jeff tracksters ran up a lopsided score over the Los Angeles Romans in their opening meet.

In the Dashes Washington boasts of two runners who are hitting 10.2 in the hundred. Although against the Fremonters last week the meet was taken by Fremont in 10.4 s. The Jeffersen track squad has three speedsters who are hitting under 10.2 and could very easily sweep this race.

The Washington team has come up with another fast hurdler who is hitting under 15 flat in the highs. In the lows Hill of Jefferson will give him much trouble for the win spot in this race. Both runners are hitting around the same time.

Another race that will be close and could go either way is the half-mile. Brooks f Jefferson has the fastest time in the city in the event, but Rayburn of Washington is crowding this time.

Bishop Alumni

All Bishop College alumni and former students are urged to contact the Club President—CE. 2-4087 or attend next meeting, Sunday, April 18, 1948 at 4:30 at 1171 E. Santa Barbara Ave., home of Club reporter Doris Austin.

Carver P.T.A.

The regular meeting of Carver P.T.A. will be held in the school auditorium, Tuesday, April 13 at 7:30 p.m. It is the only evening meeting of the year.

Moving pictures and "Travelogue on South America" by Miss Ethel Craig is the outstanding feature of the evening. Music will be furnished by Carver students.

Morgan, Mable Renfroe, Bob Reed, Billy Benfield, William Dyer, Keith Roberts, Russell Brooks, Evelyne Roberts, Ed Sparrow, Louie Farley, Gordon Turner, and many others. Entertainment was rendered by Charles Brown of the Johnny Moore Three Blazers aggregation.

Plans are underway for a private week-end Snow Party to Big Bear Mts. for members only. This outing is to take place the latter part of April. This type of activity is the beginning of a "Douze Friendliness Plan" which will present itself once per month. Each member has been assigned to a specific month to plan some type of outing or entertainment. This trip was planned by prexy Ethelene Gray. The month of May has been assigned to Vivian D. Johnson who will reveal a unique surprise. This type of activity for the girls will tend to promote friendly attitudes and closer cooperation.

Dorothy Calhoun was hostess at the April meeting Sunday, the 11th at which prospective members were entertained and considered for membership.

100 years ago men came West seeking gold from its hills and streams and a new way of life that meant better, freer living for their families.

50 years ago they began to see good prospects in small business enterprises—newspapers, building trades, farms, factories and personal services.

TODAY, throughout the west are monumental evidences of the faith our people had in the new frontier and its leadership of wise and honest men. And there is yet space to grow in, new fields to conquer, more people to serve. CARVER NATIONAL LIFE insurance company offers a golden opportunity for the development of an institution that can take its place among sound, reputable business firms owned and operated by Negroes in the West. You are offered a chance to grow up with it by owning one or more shares of its stock. You can have a voice and a vote in its policy and program at shareholders' meetings. Your certificate of this stock is tangible evidence of your partial ownership in the company. Carver stock has a par value of $10 per share. Stresses Need of Adequate Dental Care For Children

"Adequate dental care for children has not received the attention it deserves." With these words, Charles A. Sweet, D.D.S., San Francisco, sounded a note of warning before the 51st Annual Scientific Meeting of the Southern California State Dental Association.

In session at the Los Angeles Biltmore Hotel, 2000 Southland dentists heard Dr. Sweet declare, "What happens in the mouth of a child is often the foundation for many dental ills of the adult, yet many parents still don't appreciate this fact."

Enlarging on his theme, Sweet continued, "It is just plain common sense to care for the child's mouth. The parents save the cost of large dental fees if children's teeth are cared for regularly and well, society gains because it is faced with fewer health problems, and the child is happier and has a far greater chance for normal growth and development."

Independent Guild Gives Scholarships

To date, the Independent Guild of Independent Church has been responsible for a large number of scholars to continue in the field of higher education. The Guild members, headed by Mrs. Gwendolyn Russell have scholarship as their main objective.

Students now being sponsored by the Guild are: Doris eJan Brackeen, U.S.C. School of Music; Felga Preston, Pepperdine College, and Javqueline Freeze, U.C.L.A.

Any student who feels he or she is qualified for college and lacks the finances to enter, may feel free to contact the Independent Guild and apply for scholarship.

HPA Meets

The meeting of the Home Protective Association which was postponed last Friday because of Good Friday services, will be held this Friday, April 5, at the home of Mrs. Virginia Alexander, 4073 South Central avenue, (upstairs) at 8 p.m.

The H.P.A. was organized to fight restrictive covenant cases, especially that of the Laws family ordered out of their home on East 92nd street, because they are Negroes. The H.P.A. has taken this case through the municipal courts, the county courts, and is now awaiting a decision in the State Supreme Court.

Stork Shower

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Chauncy Shaw, 3525 Seventh Avenue, Sunday, March 21, 1948, paid a signal honor to an impending visit of the stork, with beautiful pre-natal party at the above address. Solly and Dorothy Metoyer, along with Addie Prichett and a few other select friends planned and carried out the affair which resulted in scores of lovely gifts to the expected visitor.

Among friends of the popular young couple who responded to invitations to the affair were included: Mesdames Emma Smith, Beatrice Draper, Betty Martina LaNar, Zora V. Thompson, Eloise Ross, Mary Devore, Gladys Peoples, Clara Payne, Lillian G. Wilson, Opal Bloice.

Dorothy Houston, Hilda Greene, eBatrice Friarson, Martha Ball, Catherine Bass, Grace Dyson, Ruth Frost, Phyllis Daniels and the Misses Lydia Shores, Hazel Powell and Willie B. Brewer. In addition to those present above, who responded with useful presents were: Mrs. Georgette Wynn, Mrs. Creola Banks, Mrs. Coy Williams and Mrs. Florence Westbrooks.

Mrs. Shaw, infanticipating early next month, is the former Wahona Harjo of Bearden, Okla. Early in World War II, she volunteered in the WAAC, reaching the grade of Second Lieutenant. Mr. Shaw is a former Chicagoan. He served with the Navy during the recent war.

Old Pals Mourn Loss Of Member

When the body of Mrs. Lettie Beverly was laid away by the morticians, Smith and Williams recently, the city lost one of its oldest residents, member of the original Shores family.

Her favorite organization was the Old Pal's Club of which she was a member of the Junior Club, Pansy; Senior club Allegro.

She was known as a student of the Sixth Street Grammar School and later a student of Los Angeles High School. She was a member of the Pals' Cheer Committee to which she was Chairman. She spent much of her time visiting the sick and had belonged to all three clubs of the organization.

Lettie will be missed from the future Old Pals' meetings the next which will be held during the month of May.

The Wise Y's Business and Industrial Girl's club is presenting Mrs. Minnie Lomax of a local paper in a book review on the recently published book "Lost Boundaries." Monday evening, April 26. This should especially interest Los Angeles readers since part of this story is laid in Los Angeles and some of the characters are well known here. Guests will be invited to this meeting.

Speak At Youth Confab

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Representative Kenneth B. Keating (R., N.Y.) and Representative John F Kennedy (D. Mass.) were featured speakers at the NAACP's second annual Youth Legislative and Lobbying Conference which opened here yesterday.

The two congressional representatives spoke on current legislative issues to the 150 young men and women from 21 states and the District of Columbia who are gathered here on the campus of Howard University for the four-day conference.

The interracial student groups, community organizations and young people were welcomed to the conference by Dr. Mordecai Johnson, president of the university. The delegates plan to call upon their respective representatives and senators to urge them to vote for President Truman's civil rights proposals as well as for legislation for higher minimum wages, federal aid to education, public housing and other measures on the NAACP legislative program.

Life of Tuskegee's Founder Honored

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, Ala. —"To read again the story of the life of Booker T. Washington . . . is to come in touch with a rare spirit . . . he was undefeated. His life was a triumph of faith. He believed in himself, in God and his fellowmen," stated Dr. Hugh Thompson Kerr, chairman, Alliance of Reformed Churches, Pittsburgh, when he spoke at Tuskegee Institute Sunday at exercises commemorating the life and service of the distinguished Tuskegee educator.

The musical arrangement of the program included "We Are Climbing Jacob's Ladder," and "Listen to the Lambs," by the Tuskegee Choir of 100 voices, under the direction of William L. Dawson.

Following the program, members of the Montgomery-Tuskegee Club placed a wreath on the grave of Tuskegee's founder.

The two-day celebration began Saturday when graduates from several sections of the country assembled and discussed methods of increasing alumni donations in all areas.

Mrs. Sadye Anderson, treasurer of the New York-Tuskegee Club, for and on behalf of that club presented a check for $2000 from the sale of the Carver Seals for the George Washington Carver Memorial Fund.

Mrs. Emma Mayberry of Los Angeles, California, and Mrs. Penelope Lloyd Bailey, of New York City, celebrating the 50th anniversary of their graduation from Tuskegee were presented to the audience and were warmly received. Other members of the Class of 1898 sent greetings.

Youth program At Bowen Features Debate, Huge Choir

Sunday, April 25, the Youth of Bowen Memorial Methodist church (East 36th & Trinity) will have charge of the services for the entire day. At 11 a.m. a youth choir under the direction of Amenda Haynes will bring the music. The services will be presided over by Gladys Dickerson with Robert Goodwin, Richard Washington and Etheldra Stanbrough assisting. The Youth day message will be brought by Chauncey Ross, supt. of the Youth Division.

At the special 7 p.m. Vesper, the 50 voice Youth choir of Phillip's Temple C.M.E. church will be presented also, a non-decision debate—Resolved that going to church is necessary for Christian Discipleship. The affirmative side will be taken by Misses June Brown and Deloras Duty of Phillip's Temple with John Bain and Richard Washington of Bowen taking the negative. Rafus Carter will preside at this service and special guests will be youth from the neighborhood churches and a mixed group representing UCLA. A social hour follows. The public is cordially invited to both of these services. John C. Bain, minister; Gladys Dickerson, Youth counsellor.

Business Women Weds in Yuma

One of the most unique and enjoyable events that transpired socially during the Easter season, was the romantic marriage at Yuma, of Mrs. Lucille Moore, former proprietor of "Lucille's Cafe," to R. D. Swan, and their wedding reception that followed.

Accompanied by the bride-elect's mother, Mrs. Carter, Mrs. Willie B. Bruce RN., and other witnesses, they drove to Yuma on Easter eve, and were united in marriage, and returned here that night. On Easter Sunday more than twenty guests enjoyed the wedding dinner at the residence of the newly-weds, 729 E. 24th street.

Among those present were: the bride's parents Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Carter, Messrs. Robert and Leonard Wade, Mrs. Willie B. Bruce, Mrs. M. B. Hale, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Brooks, Wr. and Mrs. Hines Kennard, Mesdames Addie Kilgore, Mattie Eddings, Fannie Harrison, Irene Baldwin, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Moore, Mssrs. Wallace Bryant, Harry Knight, Theodore Gray, Andrew Taylor, Frank Ingram, Richard Jones, Harry Levette, and others. Mr. Swan is a native of Ardmore Okla., and was one of the thriving community's most popular citizens.

Many beautiful and appropiate presents were received by the couple, and a pleasant afternoon with bridge and other games, wound up the enjoyable celebration.

The total weight of paper currency manufactured by the United States in 1945 was 1,514 tons.

Dr. JOHN HOPE FRANKLIN, author of From Slavery to Freedom, returns to his alma mater as a guest speaker during Fisk university's 19th annual Festival of Music and Art, April 30-May 1. He is professor of history at Howard university and is a trustee of Fisk.

Knitting Class to Be Offered at Youth Center

The YWCA has secured the services of Mrs. Ruth Kimbrough to conduct a knitting class at the Youth Center, 10123 Beach st., on Thursday afternoons beginning at 1:30. While the YWCA's special program interest in the Watts area is on the teen-age and young adult youth, this class is being offered because of the requests of many mothers and housewives for some program activity in which they can participate.

The class is open to any woman or girl interested. The first meeting will be Thursday afternoon, April 1, at 10123 Beach st. Further information can be secured by calling LOgan 1541.

Y-Teen News

Mrs. Fannie Rembert, Y-Teen chairman; Mrs. Eva Holden, Y-Teen representative on the Metropolitan Y-Teen Committee; Miss Jewel Carter and Mrs. C. I. Norman attended the Y-Teen conference at Pepperdine college, March 13, carrying a bus of 40 Y-Teen girls from this area. The success of Watts' participation in this conference was due largely to their splendid spirit of cooperation.

The Y-Teen Nine of Jordan high school enjoyed a real treat when Miss Lucille L. Bonnett, the adviser, carried the club to the Shrine auditorium Sunday, March 14, for a skating party. Other entertaining events are being planned.

Young Adult News

The Watts Slayacs are participating in the workshop sponsored by the Southern California YMCA, YWCA, Co-ed Council at Pacific Palisades April 10-11. The responsibility of organizing and following through on plans for officer training, one of the five discussion groups at this workshop has been assigned to the Slayacs. Miss Shalmir Green was named chairman, and working with her on this committee are Misses Delores Everage, Eula Starr, Georgette Peery and Floreas Williams; Messers. George Razier, Dale West, Brady Jackson, Emile Woods, Clarence Belle, William Easter and James Peters.

Messers. Belle and Peters are especially interested in securing representatives from the Slayacs to attend this workshop.

The Wise Ys, the Monday evening Business and Industrial club with Miss Rheba Bell as president, had as guest speaker Mrs. Frank Travis, chairman, World Fellowship Committee of Southeast Branch YWCA. Mrs. Travis gave a very effective book review in the form of a dramatic presentation on the book, "The Three of Us." The love for all mankind and faith in God was the theme of this book which was in keeping with Holy Week and the Easter season.

The Woodlawn Branch Y.W.C.A. will hold its annual Parent-Daughter Banquet for Y-Teen Club members, Monday, January 26, from 6-9 p.m. at the Clifton's Broadway Cafeteria in the South Seas Room, third floor.

Eula Lee Narcisse, president of the Inter-Club Council, announced that each club will have a table reserved for members and parents. It is expected that at least 200 parents and girls will attend.

The program will consist of numbers presented by members of the various clubs.

Mrs. Alice Lynch, president of the Parents' Council, is working cooperatively with Eva Collins who is a member of the Les Desmoiselle Club and banquet chairman. She is ably assisted by a committee made up of representatives from each club.

Mrs. P. Price Cobbs, Chairman for Work with Teen-Age Girls and the committee are sponsors.

Y-Teen Club Crowns King, Queen

Post holiday activities at Woodlawn got under way with a special canteen sponsored by the second division of Polytechnic. The theme was based on Epiphany. There was Gorlin bread, resolutions and forecasts for the new year.

Tony Sheen was selected as King and Marian Webb as his queen to reign over the festivities of the evening.

JOB CLINIC. As part of the club's program for the year, Poly II will conduct a job clinic for its members and invited guests.

The material to be covered will include a demonstration on "How to Apply for a Job," "How to Secure a Job,' and "How to Hold a Job." Resource people working in the fields of guidance counseling and employment will serve as consultants.

Minnie McClendon is president and Mrs. Anna Brown is adviser for the club.

TRAINING FOR CLUB LEADERS. The annual training course for leaders started on Thursday with a panel discussion with Miss Alice Collins, area coordinator of the Youth Project and chairman. Miss Collins spoke on coming trends toward training for volunteers in the YWCA and also the role of the leaders in the group.

Serving with Miss Collins were individuals eminent in their respective fields. They were: Kay Carpenter, Metropolitan Y-Teen Program Director, who spoke on "Work with Young Girls Toward What Purpose," Mrs. Helen Leibowitz, Jewish Centers, "Resources and Materials and How to Use Them," Mrs. Amelia Haygood, Personal Service Counselor, Metropolitan YWCA, "Counseling Service and How to Use It in Work with Girls."

Twenty-three volunteers, most of whom were new trainees, attended the conference. They were as follows: Mrs. Dunn, Mrs. Beulah Roberson, Mrs. Rosetta Overr, Miss Bette McDonald, Mrs. Clara M. Gatewood, Mrs. Myrtle J. Riley, Miss Kay Carpenter, Mas. Marian Leibowitz, Alice Collins, Mrs. Anna Brown, Joan Smith, Betty Jane Lucas, Miss Pauline James, Mrs. Marilyn W. Famcee Playmakers Prepared For Four-day Drama Confab

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., March 20 The Famcee Playmakers of Florida A & M College are busy preparing to be hosts for the annual meeting of the Southern Association of Dramatics and Speech Arts, to be held April 14-17.

The general theme of the Conference will be "The Negro Educational Theatre in the Post War World." Colleges from all over the south will send delegates. Community theatres, high schools, and interested individuals are eligible for membership. A number of new delegates from these areas are also expected at the meeting.

A four-day festival of plays by member groups will be held in connection with the conference. Among the schools to present plays will be Tennessee State College, Grambling College, Clark College, Fort Valley State College, Fayetteville College and Paine College. Other colleges are sending in the names of the plays they will present daily.

Community Sing

More than 500 children and adults attended the Community Sing at Lafayette Center in Lafayette Jr. High school, 14th and Naomi streets, last Monday night.

Lauretta Butler and her famous Dancing Kiddies gave a "terrific" program after the sing which was greeted by thunderous applause. Harriette Flowers, former Lafayette student, now attending U.C.L.A., acted as master of ceremonies. Miss Flowers is dancing instructor for the Kiddies. Other movie, stage, and screen stars have promised to appear on the program when their time permits.

Many merchants are donating prizes for the Sing each week. Friends and neighbors are invited to come and help sing, and enjoy themselves.

Lafayette Chorus Invites Teenagers To Join Group

Teen-agers in the Alameda-Olympic area are invited to join the city's newest Youth chorus organized for boys and girls in that area, J. Arthur Lewis, coordinator for the Los Angeles Bureau of Music, announced today.

Lewis said the new chorus meets each Monday, 3 p.m., at the Lafayette Junior high school, 1250 S. Naomi street, and is under the direction of Evelyn Burwell who also leads the weekly Lafayette Community sing.

More than 25 Youth choruses have been organized in Los Angeles, Lewis said, and the Lafayette chorus will be given the same opportunities enjoyed by similar groups. Youth choruses, he said, participate in community activities, city-wide music festivals and radio and television programs. There is no charge for any Bureau of Music activity.

The Hot Spring area, in Arkansas, was probably visited by De Soto in 1541.

THERE'S A BARGAIN IN YOUR PLANS!

Gas service costs you less today than in 1939

If you are planning to build today, you naturally expect to pay more for almost everything than you would have paid in 1939. But you have one pleasant surprise ahead. When you specify gas—there is a real bargain in your plans. For gas actually costs you less today than in 1939!

Thanks largely to so many new customers, the cost of gas has stayed low. Additional revenue from the sale of gas to more and more customers has contributed in part to offsetting a steady rise in expenses. New customers help when they happen to live where they can be served by existing facilities.

On the other hand—some new customers add to our operating expenses. And heavily, too. Taking care of thousands of new homes located where gas-main extentions are required to reach them, costs us 2½ to 3 times more than in 1939.

Materials and labor are at an all-time high... and taxes, and payrolls and even the cost of gas in the field—have climbed steadily.

Adding new customers has, of course, increased the demand for gas. So—to provide an additional supply of low-cost gas for this enormously growing area, we participated in one of the largest natural gas projects on record. The mammoth $70 million Texas-California pipeline was constructed from the nearest practical source, some 1,200 miles away, and is now in operation.

• • •

Meeting rising costs... serving more customers... providing more gas... these are our problems—just as managing a household budget is yours. So whether you are planning to build... to buy a home already built... or to remodel your present home ...remember—gas is truly the bargain in your plans!

Urges Us Adopt Vigorous Civil Rights Program

Full support for President Truman's civil rights program was termed essential for American security by Chester Bowles, former head of the Office of Price Administration, speaking last Wednesday at the spring meeting of the New York Chapter of the American Jewish Committee at the Hotel Biltmore in New York.

More than 1,000 members and guests of the chapter also heard Dr. Edward J. Sparling, president of Roosevelt college in Chicago, call for the rebuilding of the structure of American education to further American ideals of equality of opportunity. Irving M. Engel, chairman of the A.J.C. chapter, presided at the meeting, devoted to "Unfinished Business in Our Democracy."

Mr. Bowles, who is chairman of the International Advisory Committee for the United Nations Appeal for Children, upheld the recommendations of the President's Committee on Civil Rights. Dr. Sparling, head of the noted college founded three years ago on the principle of equal education opportunity for all, acclaimed the report of the President's Commission on Higher Education as "history-making."

As long as this country fails to practice full and complete political democracy, "our efforts to provide moral leadership in world councils may prove to be somewhat less than successful," Mr. Bowles warned.

Crowe Leads Comp. Tartars

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. — Bobby Crowe, the first Negro ever to play on the Southwest Missouri State College court, hit the hoop for two buckets with three minutes to go, to enable Compton (Cal.) College, defending champions in the National Junior College Basketball Tournament here, to turn back a strong Arkansas A. and M. team 61-41, Tuesday night.

Crowe, star trackman and gridder, formerly of Gary, Ind., displayed a great all around ability as he led the favorite Tartars on to victory over the razorback outfit. Dan Duich was high point man for the California team with 13 points.

Lectures Commemorate Centennial of Marxism

A series of six lectures commemorating the Centennial of Marxism was announced today by the Communist Party of Los Angeles. Leading California Marxists will speak on six main aspects of Marxism. The lecture series will begin on Monday, April 26, 8 p.m. at the Embassy Auditorium, Assembly Hall, off Grand at Ninth.

The following topics, speakers and dates were announced:

"A Marxist View of American Foreign Policy—Past and Present," George Lohr, Foreign Editor, "Daily People's World, on Monday, April 26. "The Contribution of Marxism to the American Labor Movement, Archie Brown, leading Communist unionist, on Monday, May 10. "The Answer to America's Economic Problems—Keynes or Marx?", Celeste Strack, Educational Director, Communist Party of California, on Monday, May 17. 'Marxism and the Sciences", Nemmy Sparks, Chairman, Communist Party of Los Angeles, on Monday, May 24. "Marxism and the Negro People," Pettis Perry, Chairman, National Group Commission, Communist Party of Los Angeles, on Monday, May 31. "Marxism and the American Form of Government," William Schneiderman, Chairman, Communist Party of California, on Monday, June 7.

VENICE NOTES

The Gilbert Preachers and Singers will again thrill the hearts of gospel lovers at the First Baptist church of Venice Friday evening, April 16, at 8 o'clock.

The tea given by the Pastor's Aid Society at the home of Mrs. Ola Kirby last Sunday was a grand success. Mrs. Charles Kern received hostess prizes for registering the highest number of guests.

The Culver Palms Camp Fire Girls held their birthday council fire in Culver City a few Sundays ago. Their theme, "Hello, world," was beautifully dramatized. Dolores Wilson portrayed a little Dutch girl, and Carole Jean Evans wore a Spanish costume. Carole Jean and Dolores were awarded Woodgatherer's rank, and Miriam Jo Evans and Albertha Porter the Trail Seeker's rank.

Little Marie Bursey received a $50 talent scholarship from the Children's Guild in Hollywood, and she is now taking voice culture under their direction.

Little Barbara Ann Kirby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ola Kirby, has received many talent prizes and has now a leading role in a film, "Mr. Stork," which is at present under production.

Tune in station KOWL, 1260 on your dial, for the Christian Fellowship service under the direction of Rev. L. D. Revoal, minister of the First Baptist church, Venice, 9:30 to 10 a.m. each Sunday.

San Jacinto Relays To Wiley April 17

MARSHALL, Texas—The eight annual San Jacinto Relays will be staged at Wiley Field here on Saturday, April 17. In connection with the Wiley College annual show there will be a Singles Tennis Tournament. These two features are expected to attract a large field from all over the South and the Mid-West. Last year more than two hundred and fifty athletes representing fifteen colleges took part in the big show and an even larger representation is expecting for this year's event.

William R. Mackay Wins Defense Plea In Assault

William Ray MacKay, 240 No. Bonnie Brae, arrested January 18 on charges of assault with a deadly weapon, was at liberty Friday, April 9, following an appearance before Superior Court Judge Walter S. Gates in Dept. 45.

MacKay, a member of a prominent West Temple district family, became innocently involved in a neighborhood feud which culminated in a fight between 2 men with Mackay in the role of a peacemaker.

Julius M. Washington, 234½ No. Bonnie Brae, one of the two injured persons, struck Lester L. Bertrand, 217 No. Bonnie Brae, in the mouth as an aftermath of bad feeling between the two, when the latter spoke to him while seated in the neighborhood Bonnie Bee Cafe. Washington had warned Bertrand never to speak to him.

When struck, Bertrand was seated beside MacKay. MacKay intervened to separate the two men. Washington left the scene. Later he accosted Bertrand in the company of MacKay and the fight was renewed. This time MacKay became embroiled in the feud when Willie Bell Holliway, a girl friend of Washington, rushed into the melee wielding a beer bottle. MacKay said he was down and Bertrand rendered hors de combat when the double attack hit him.

Atty. Everette M. Porter, who presented MacKay's defense, argued stoutly before the court held without a jury, that there was more than ample evidence produced, that his client acted in self defense. The cnurt agreed, and dismissed the charges.

Mckay is a cement finisher in the employ of the city government. He was a former independent contractor. For several years he served as Trustee of Wesley Methodist church.

Jewish Center Presents 'It Can't Happen Here'

Sinclair Lewis' "It Can't Happen Here" will be presented by the Actor's Workshop of the Beverly-Fairfax Jewish Community Center on Saturday and Sunday, April 17 and 18, 8:30 p.m., at the LeConte unior high school, 1316 Bronson Ave. The play is under the direction of Paul Gurev.

Based on Lewis' famous novel, the play dramatizes what could happen to this country if fascism were to appear here. Although written several years ago, when the rising tide of fascism in Europe threatened to take root in this country, the play has a timeliness today which is unnerving.

In the cast are many of the players who received acclaim for their presentation of Clifford Odets' "Paradise Lost," the Workshop's previous production. Eydney Litwack of the Actor's Lab is cast as Doremus Jessup, liberal New England newspaper editor; Shirley Davis will portray Lorinda Pike, society editor of Doremus' paper, and his friend; Verlea Bercutt, Eleanor Cohen, Maurice Karp, Edward J. Berman, Leonard Weksler, Penrod Cohen, Hope Emanuel, Sam Rosen, Bill Parvenda, Sidney Morris, Lou Lesser, Zolla Ulanoff, Martin Bolhower, Marshall Tennin are other members of the cast.

Opens Toy Loan Library At the LaFayette Center

The Lafayette Center Toy Loan Library, which is located at Lafayette junior high school, is now open and anxious to serve children between the ages of 2 and 12. The Toy lending room is open each Tuesday afternoon from 3:00 until 5:00 p.m. and each Saturday morning from 9:30 a.m. until 1:30 p.m. The Toyrarian is Mrs. Dorothy Pope, and the Chairman is Mrs. Enola L. Chism.

Toys are loaned free of charge to children for weekly periods or longer. There is a wide variety of toys and games from which to choose, and parents are always welcome at the center which is located at 14th st. and Hooper ave.

Douglas, Javits Force Action on Housing Bill

Proponents of federal housing legislation were cheered today by the announcement that 114 signatures were attached to Discharge Petition No. 6, which would force the Taft-Ellender-Wagner, long range housing bill, introduced in the House by Congresswoman Helen Gahagan Douglas and Congressman Javits of New York, out of Committee.

Congresswoman Douglas, sponsor of the petition, today said:

"I am hopeful we will have the necessary number of signatures by the time the Senate passes the Taft-Ellender-Wagner Bill, which I am informed will take place in the next ten days. It will then be possible to bring the issue of adequate housing for America to the Floor for discussion and action by Members of the House without Committee veto preventing that opportunity."

Thelma Carpenter, pint-sized singing beauty, parted ways with her distinguished pianist Garland Wilson during her layoff here since her Apolla date two weeks ago. Basie returns after a six-month absence in the west to his stomping grounds, the Apollo, with the "One o'Clock Jump."

L. Stark Announces Candidacy for 17th Congressional Dist.

Louis Stark, chairman of the 46th Assembly District Democratic County Committee, has announced his candidacy for nomination in the June 1 primaries for Congressman from the 17th Congressional district on the Democratic ticket.

Mr. Stark is a buyer for farmer-consumer co-op markets in the Los Angeles area. He is a World War II veteran, opposes universal military training, and is for the policies of Roosevelt and Wallace.

69TH MILESTONE CELEBRATIO OBSERVED AT 8:00 P. M. FRIDA

WITH COMMANDER THOMAS WOODS, of the 92nd Buffalo Post, No. 532, American Legion, presiding, Postmaster Michael D. Fanning was cited as the most outstanding American of 1947 for his democratic attitude in making postal appointments. Special ceremonies for the award were held Tuesday evening in Patriotic Hall. Shown in picture are the 14 Negro appointees: Jene Robinson, C. C. Scott, Lee J. Hicks, James Moore, Buell Thomas, Leslie Scott, Ronald Soucey, Bert Seeley, Wm. T. Jones, Alva Garrott, and Robert Garrott. J. S. Hubert, Thomas C. Smith and Alfonso Murdock, Legionnaires, are also shown above. (See story on page 2).

STRIKE AT SEARS IN SANTA MONICA GAINS MOMENTUM

Frank Barnes, chairman of the United Committee to End Job Discrimination at Sears in Santa Monica, reports this week that some progress is definitely being made.

The Friday night protest picket line has grown steadily as more and more organizations have sent representatives to join ie, Barnes states. Sears' attempt to have an illegal ordinance passed in Santa Monica to disrupt this demonstration resulted in new aroused community forces coming to the aid of the fight. Customers leaving Sears have begun in considerable numbers to sign the petition pledging not to patronize Sears until jim crow is gone.

Although feelers have been put out by the company in the hope of reaching a settlement, through the offer of menial positions to Negro men and women, with maximum community support the United Committee feels that Sears can be persuaded to settle on the only admissible basis—the complete ending of job discrimination, hiring people on the basis of ability not color.

This is a chance to strike a basic blow for democracy. All interested citizens are asked to do what they can to cooperate.

Federal Jury Frees 2 Admitted Drug Violators

LOS ANGELES, (NPB)—The dignified atmosphere of Federal Judge, Pierson M. Hall's Courtroom here, Wednesday, April 21, was suddenly charged with electrifying excitement and deep emotionalism, as the many spectators watched with awe the jury that had just heard final arguments in a narcotic trial involving defendants. HELEN DAVID and JESSE ASHLEY, both of 2914 Kenwood Avenue, filed into their jury box and the foreman read a curt "NOT GUILTY."

Inconsistent to Plea

Hardly anyone in the Courtroom expected to hear such a verdict, except perhaps, the defense Counsel, WALTER L. GORDON, JR. At least, it was expected by the government prose-

LATL Drivers Give Autoette To Friend

Sylvester Thomas today received a birthday gift from 450 employees of the Los Angeles Transit Lines. For his 51st birthday he received an autoette. This is a three-wheeled affair run by battery and capable of making 12 miles an hour and cruising some 30 miles.

Thomas adopted the boys of the division last September. Day after day he has hobbled from his home at 1913 Adair to the bus division on 16th Street, pushing an ice cream wagon.

One corner of the train room has been given over to his chair

The fact that only 12 congressmen voted to bar Jim Crow in the WACS, WAVES and woman marines last week "is further proof that we need to elect to Congress candidates supported by Henry Wallace and his new party," Mrs. Elinor Gimbel, national chairman of Women for Wallace, declared in New York.

On The Sidewalk

By C. A. B.

I am reminded of the words of Thomas Huxley, "Before fact, sit down as a little child."

What are the facts?

These are the facts:

We must not falter now. We dare not lose our way now. Our great achievement of building friendship, born out of this terrible war, must live. It must be strengthened and further built upon now—for the new day dawns.

The only limit to our realization of tomorrow will be our doubts of today. Let us move forward with strong and active faith.

We fught two wars to win a free world. When we thought the battle was won we woke up to find that the struggle had but begun.

THE conquest of Hitler's fascist Germany was the greatest testimony to the universal genius of mankind. It foreshadowed a new world where democracy reigned supreme.

Surely we will not falter now! Surely we will not turn our backs now! Not if we hold fast to the facts as verified by tragic experience.

* * *

TODAY we see the government of the United States of America appropriating billions of dollars to breathe new life into those very decadent governments which lent their support to our enemies during the war. We foresaw, a few years ago, the danger of fascism arising. Today—we see it brazenly out in the open, attacking all things which make for unity and peace.

We are witnessing loyalty tests by the government

—both local and federal:

The investigation of the ten Hollywood writers:

The grilling of Dr. Condon, eminent atomic scientist:

The invasion of democratic meetings:

The humiliating experience of a young Jewish speaker in Pasadena who was pelted with spoiled tomatoes and rotten eggs:

The refusal by junior college students to let a Negro newspaper woman speak:

The activities of the Jack-Tenney committee in our own state, infringing upon the legal rights of the citizens:

The drastic efforts of conservative Idaho democrats to throw Glenn Taylor out of the party because he has the courage to think for himself:

With this new attack on freedom of thought the greatest sufferers are the Negro and Jewish people. This is the scene today—

WE see the government of the United States of America appropriating billions of dollars for the Marshall Plan, to aid that portion of Europe which is willing to obey the edicts of "Big Business' both in America and Great Britain: who are willing, in other words, to become the political tools of these two imperialistic giants.

All of these things, of course, have repercussons at home. Today, if we do not think according to the rules set down by the Un-American Activities Committee, we are haled into court and made to answer for the sin of thinking for ourselves.

One of the most important of the four freedoms—freedom of speech—has been denied to some of our most intelligent, foremost leaders, such as Langston Hughes and Paul Robeson, who have been refused the use of such auditoriums as the Olympic and Shrine in recent months.

Not only freedom of speech but in some instances, freedom of movement is being suppressed. This is a serious threat to our democracy at home. Everything that would make for the free world which Wendell Willkie, Roi Ottley and others called for, is being strenuously attacked.

The Negro press, too, has come within range of the fire, so much so that only a few have not been subsidized by Big Business, outstanding among these being the Black Dispatch in Oklahoma City, Okla. Because of the choking of the press, the most articulate voice of the people, men and women are being more and more enslaved by giant industries and political forces which refuse to allow them to think for themselves.

ONE of the outstanding efforts to crush freedom of speech was the Taft-Hartley slave labor bill, which has disturbed the unity and coherence of the labor movement. Since the passage of this bill there have been many strikes in the labor unions, with the result that many of its members are holding out for what the big industries and bosses have insisted upon calling "communism." The truth of the situation, however, we know, is not so much "communism' as it is the matter of denying to the rank and file of the American population freedom of thought, which is their greatest possession and source of strength.

Now as I write what I think as a free, American newspaperwoman, we are very rare human beings.

Most of the people in the world do not have the right to speak their minds freely, or to listen to others do so: I tell you that we in America are swiftly approaching that state of affairs.

Yes, even in our America there are whole states where the freedom to write what I would write to you now would be denied, and where you could not read, even if you wanted to. This is a serious thing. It threatens you and your home, me and mine. But most of all it threatens the ultimate victory of this democratic nation of ours over the fascist controlled countries of the world.

The men who hate our freedom and seek to change it into slavery are very busy. Each day they meet and plot and scheme. Very subtly they inject their philosophies into our thinking, and if we are not alert and steadfast, we will soon find our thoughts and decisions controlled by a small group of world dictators.

WE must learn to think for ourselves. We must fight to the last ounce of our strength to maintain that freedom. In the name of crisis, facts are withheld, time is denied, hysteria is whipped up. But let us use our heads.

Once a president of the United States faced the dissolution of the Union itself—a real crisis. The president, Abraham Lincoln said: "My countrymen, one and all. Think calmly and well upon this subject. If there be an object to hurry any of you in hot haste to a step which you would never take deliberately, that object will be frustrated by taking time: but no good can be frustrated by it."

We, too, must think calmly and well—now—upon the problems before us.

Let us think clearly. The welfare of all people is our concern. Famine anywhere endangers plenty everywhere. Progress anywhere helps progress everywhere.

In weariness and confusion many Americans have abandoned political action but they must return. Their country needs them. Americans of all parties, all faiths, all creeds, must now speak out in one great voice for peace and freedom.

Of all that goes on in the world today which is contrkary to our ideals for progress and peace, by far the greatest danger to the surival of our democracy is the malicious campaign of hate which is spreading like wildfire throughout the land. This destructive force is even greater than the loudly healded force of atomic energy so lately held as the most deadly threat to civilization.

SO we say again, that this is a moment of great decision. We must ferret out the enemies of peace wherever they exist.

Today's man of destiny, the fearless Henry Wallace, people's choice for president, in a recent speech rightly declared:

"America is our country. Because we love America, because we want America to be free and at peace in a world free and at peace, we say:

No imperialist adventures!
Support the United Nations!
Millions to feed the hungry!
Not one cent to arm tyranny!

UNITED PUBLIC WORKERS PRESENT NON-DISCRIMINATION BILL

Officials of the United Public Workers of America, CIO, this week presented to the White House a petition bearing the signatures of almost 20,000 "silver" employes of the Panama Canal Zone. The petition requested abolition of the jimcrow silver-gold system of discrimination and called for immediate wage increases. The union delegation consisted of Abram Flaxer, president; Thomas Richardson, vice-president ,and Arthur Stein, acting secretary-treasurer.

The so-called "silver" workers are West Indian Negroes, natives of the various Latin American countries, Indians and Hindus. They are referred to as "silver" employes to differentiate them from the white United States citizens who are known as "gold" employes. The jimcrow silver-gold system of discrimination from which they are petitioning for relief is a formal United States government-sponsored pattern of racial discrimination which operates in all sections of life in the Panama Canal Zone. The average wage paid "silver" employes is less than $16 a week; and many of them make as little as $9 per week. Living costs in the Canal Zone are only slightly lower than here in the United States.

Woman Who Slew One of Two Husbands Freed

By LAWRENCE F. LaMAR

LOS ANGELES, (NPB).—Tall and attractive 24-year-old Vidalia Kelley was at liberty Monday, after a brief appearance in the courtroom of Superior Judge Thomas L. Ambrose sitting as presiding judge of the Master Calendar of the Criminal Division of the Superior Court, on charges of murder.

Mrs. Kelley, an admitted slayer of her second husband, from whom she had received a Texas divorce in January of this year, made her courtroom appearance on the arm of her legal counsel, Everette M. Porter. Atty. Porter sprang a surprise, when instead of entering a formal plea, he elected to seek an outright dismissal of charges against his client by attacking the lack of evidence the prosecution hoped to make out a case of murder.

Atty. Porter recited the state's charges against Mrs. Kelley at length before making reference to a portion of the Penal Code requiring the support of certain evidence woefully lacking to support a cause of action.

On April 9, Mrs. Kelley was brought into a preliminary court to be examined concerning the shooting to death of Herbert Miller, a divorced second husband of hers. Municipal Judge Joseph Chambers, believed evidence adduced at the hearing was sufficient to hold her for trial. She was ordered bound over to Superior Court.

It was revealed during that hearing, that Mrs. Kelley had been married three times. Once to the man she killed and twice to her present husband, in whose home, 227 E. 52nd street, she lives. Testimony disclosed that the deceased Miller married Mrs. Kelley shortly after she had divorced her first husband. The marriage failed and Mrs. Kelley secured a divorce in Texas in January. Subsequently, she again married her first husband, Lionel Kelley.

Just before the remarriage took place, it was stated, Miller, employed as a postal employe, began to woo the woman anew. Mrs. Kelley consented to try again to live together. But, after nine days gave up the experiment. She moved into the household of her present husband.

Miller is said to have sought the return of a radio Mrs. Kelley took when she left him. He went to the Kelley residence considerably angered. In his insistence to gain entrance to the place, he assertedly broke down a door. Once inside, the argument continued, ending with Mrs. Kelley firing a bullet into her former husband's body.

Judge Ambrose, acting on the motion of Atty. Porter, dismissed the action against Mrs. Kelley.

Housing Petitions File Tuesday

First filing of Housing Initiative petitions with county clerks throughout the state is scheduled for next Tuesday, May 4, Rt. Rev. Msgr. Thomas J. O'Dwyer, chairman, announced this week.

The filing date climaxes one phase of the mammoth campaign for 205,000 signatures to place a home-building measure for 100,000 low and middle income rental units on the ballot in November.

Beginning Wednesday, May 5, volunteer circulators will be asked to carry supplemental petitions for a period of four weeks.

"The additional signatures we can obtain in this supplementary period will be ehe deciding factor in our petition campaign," Msgr. O'Dwyer declared. "We cannot afford now to waste the tremendous work that has already been devoted to this drive."

New petitions may be obtained at Housing Initiative headquarters, 307 South Hill Street.

Fanning Cited as Outstanding American of 1947 in L.A.

On Tuesday evening, April 27, the 92nd Buffalo Post of the American Legion, No. 532, with Commander Thomas Woods presiding, cited Postmaster Michael D. Fanning as the outstanding American of 1947, in Los Angeles, because of the democratic attitude he has displayed in making postal appointments.

The ceremony took place at Patriotic Hall, 18th and Figueroa Streets, with the 14 outstanding appointments he had among Negro personnel made present. They stood in line with him to receive the citation. They were: Jene L. Robinson, C. C. Scott, Lee J. Hicks, Jas. C. Moore, Buell A. Thomas, Leslie E. Scott, Ronald D. Soucey, Bert R. Seeley, William T. Jones, Alva C. Garrott, Robert W. Garrott, J. S. Hubert, Past Commander, Blue Devils Post No. 368, Thomas C. Smith and Alfonso Murdock.

C. C. Scott, of "K" station, and Alva Garrott, of Watts area station, are the first Negroes to be appointed superintendents in charge of their particular stations.

Mrs. Charlotta Bass, of the California Eagle, was present, and it was recalled how she, in association with Charles Dodge, began the movement to have more Negroes elevated to promotion jobs in the postal service. It was during the time of Postmistress Mary Briggs that Mrs. Bass and Mr. Dodge, without help from anyone else, collected some 300,000 names and presented them on a petition to Mrs. Briggs. This work which was started by them, however, was culminated only when Michael Fanning came into office.

In his remarks, Postmaster Fanning stated that one-third of the employees in the Los Angeles department are Negroes, and 70% of them veterans. He stated, also, that 90% of the persons in line for appointment through civil service in the San Francisco area, are Negroes. This is a notable record.

Said Fanning, "In America we have good folks and bad folks. If we have average intelligence, we know what side of the fence we are on."

California Eagle employees, past and present, are making their reservations and expect to be on hand. Mrs. Idell Bateman, one of the oldest employees, will give a history of the paper and Mr. Wm. Bowers will give a background of J. J. Neimore, the man who founded the California Eagle. Mrs. Anglin will speak as an early neighbor of the Eagle. Miss Idell Bateman will speak on the paper's past, and Miss Jessie Mae Brown, society editor, will tell of future plans of the paper. There will be many other outstanding numbers on the program.

Preceeding the program, a delicious dinner will be served in the dining hall.

Many community leaders have already made reservations to attend, among the first being Attorney Thos. L. Griffith, president of the N.A.A.C.P., Attorney Curtis C. Taylor, John McTurnin, and a group from the Progressive Citizens of America.

For further information and details concerning this event, you are urged to telephone the California Eagle office, ADams 9770, without further delay.

Federal Jury

cutor, who had already secured admissions of Narcotic Case violations from the accused pair and had every reason to believe the government had won its case. For a moment, all was quiet, allowing mingled feelings to run throughout the Courtroom.

Judge Breaks Silence

The jurors waited tensely, expectantly in their jury box for Judge Hall to dismiss the government's case against the two defendants. "CASE DISMISSED," came words to break the silence. But, Judge Hall was not through. In his dictum to the jury following its "NOT GUILTY" verdict, the jurist excoriated it with the words: "I have been practicing law since 1916. In all my years as a defense lawyer, as a prosecutor and as a judge, I have never seen such a verdict, and will never understand it."

Agent Made Purchases

It developed during the trial, that Miss Davis and Ashley were arrested by Federal Officers from the Treasury Department last March 12, in their home, 2914 Kenwood. Agent Oscar W. Polcuch on the stand, told how he first contacted the defendants last Febraury 13, through a confidential informant, and made purchases of tins of marihuana on three different occasions at amounts of $40.00 each trip. This fact was admitted by both defendants.

Charge Entrapment

Atty. Walter L. Gordon, Jr., representing the two defendants, permitted the government's prosecutors to put what many considered "dangerous evidence" in the record, without once challenging it. When he arose from the defense Counsel table, he immediately began to cross-examine the arresting officer regarding the method he employed in making the narcotic purchases leading to the arrest. It was from answers drawn from the witness that Atty. Gordon was enabled to later convince the jury that entrapment was used in order to induce the defendants to commit crimes they would not otherwise have committed.

Informant Sets Stage

From his own witnesses on the stand, Atty. Gordon drew a word picture of circumstances leading to the arrest of the pair. It developed that the informant had previously attended a birthday party at the defendant's home and thus gained their confidence. The defendants admitted they operated an "after hours" spot, where persons could be served liquor after the legal closing hours here. The informant brought Agent Polcuch for his first contact. The state was set for the first purchase the next day, February 14.

Further Inducement

Agent Polcuch was introduced to the defendants as a "big shot" gambler from Reno. He told the two young defendants that the "big shot" was going to open a large gambling spot at Long Beach. He also told them the "big shot" was trying to "make" a Hollywood woman who was addicted to the use of marihuana, and would see to it that they would be given the kitchen concession in the gambling spot if they aided him in keeping her well supplied.

"....Not Into Temptation"

Atty. Gordon in summarizing his defense to the jury, painted a picture of "these two young people in their home, minding their own business," and an officer of the law invading that home with attractive offers which would, if obtained, afford a fine opportunity to make an honest living. The lawyer's pleading must have had the effect of the response portion of the Lord's Prayer," Lead us not into temptation..... upon the jurors.

Just before concluding the defense argument to the jury, Attorney Gordon asked defendant Ashley if the officer who made purchases smoked any of the stuff. His ready answer, "yes" proved a sensation. Another sensation was given the Court when it was revealed Treasury Department officials were seeking to obtain taxes from the pair for sale of the marihuana, which was proved they never owned, or sold. It was proven they merely acted as agents for the purchaser which they were induced to do.

BLOOD PRESSURE
PARALYSIS — APOPLEXY

Don't be discouraged. Read what this famous doctor says:

"HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE should only be determined with an examination by a competent physician. If the pressure registers above 140 at any age, it should be considered positive evidence of high blood pressure which is brought about either by hypertension of the arteries, as in gout or rheumatism, excessive mental strain or worry, or is due to hardening of the arteries."

"Hardening of the arteries may be only a thickening of the arterial walls or may be due to deposits of lime on the inside of the arteries. I have never had a case under my observation and control where the pressure was not reduced to the normal by my method. The thickening of the walls or deposits on the walls is caused in every case by a toxic state of the blood."

"LOW BLOOD PRESSURE is the condition which precedes tuberculosis, diabetes, cancer and all disorders where there is great enervation. In every case low blood pressure and enervation precede the above mentioned diseases, and are not caused by them. With low blood pressure, the arteries become flabby and relaxed, and the muscle tissues of the body are found to be in a similar state. Every cause which is weakening to the body may be responsible for the production of low blood pressure."

"The cure consists of building up the blood stream and developing all the functional powers of the body. The extreme weakness will be gradually overcome."

Dr. Chas. A. Tyrell, M.D., eminent physician, says:

"The most rational and practical manner of dealing with this . . . breeding place of disease is to wash it out. With me, it has passed beyond the theoretical stage, for I have in my office fully 15,000 letters from grateful patients who have used this process, under my direction, with the most astounding results; scarcely a disease known to humanity, but has been relieved, and in ninety-five per cent of the cases, cures effected, while tens of thousands of gratifying messages have reached me from time to time; nor is the testimony in its favor confined to the laity, for hundreds of physicians (including some of the most prominent authorities) testify to the wonderful beneficial results achieved by its use."

Daniel C. Munro, M.D., says: "If I were to write the story of all the cases in which colonic irrigations seem to lift the patient from the very jaws of death, it would fill volumes."

Wallace Returns to Gilmore Stadium to Speak May 16 on 'American Peace Program'

Henry A. Wallace will return to Los Angeles Sunday, May 16, to speak to the people of Southern California from the Gilmore Stadium.

The new party's Presidential candidate will speak on "An American Program for Peace," almost a year to the day of his last appearance here which drew an overflow crowd of 28,000 supporters. Wallace's address will be the first here since he assumed leadership of the nationwide movement to form a new party, and will precede the party's first national convention which has been set for July 24-25, in Philadelphia.

Since Wallace's last tour of California in May, 1947, his supporters gathered almost half a million signatures to qualify the Independent Progressive Party for a place on the ballot.

The IPP and the Progressive Citizens of America, which first endorsed Wallace's independent candidacy, are sponsoring the May 16 rally, supported by trade unions, churches, students and community organizations, and the entire Wallace movement in Los Angeles.

"The American traditions of free speech and free assembly, and historic opposition to saber-rattling militarism and devastating wasr profitable to a handful will keynote the occasion," said Mrs. Ruth Slade, coordinator of the rally. "That is why it will take place on May 16, 'I am an American day,' the day set aside for the observance of American ideals."

Predict Assembly Victory For Leon M. Giles

Overwhelming support was predicted this week for Leon Mansfield Giles, candidate on the Republican and Democratic tickets for Assembly in the 62nd District. Early predictions of his victory by both laymen and professional groups of the district has resulted in a spirited campaign in which both Republicans and Democrats are highly enthused.

Giles, a Certified Pubic Accountant, has lived in the district for 11 years, during which time he has been prominent in civic and fraternal affairs. As president of the Eastside Chamber of Commerce he fought to integrate Negroes and other minority groups into the National Defense Program, and his efforts contributed to the employment of Negroes in defense plants and other industries. He extended praiseworthy service in the Selective Service System, O.P.A. Board and founded the California Military Affairs Committee which aided in the expansion of National Guard to include Negroes.

Thoroughly experienced as a businessman, Giles has held executive positions with two multimillionaire insurance corporations. Before coming to Los Angeles he served as Home Office Manager of the Afro-American Life Insurance Company and Assistant Agency Director and Field Auditor of the Atlanta Life Insurance Company. Endorsements for his candidacy have been made by the 62nd Republican Assembly 62nd Republican County Central Committee, the Negro Voters League and hundreds of Democrats.

Closely allied with religious and fraternal groups, Giles is a member of the St. Phillips Episcopal Church; Past Exalted Ruler of the Elks; a 32nd degree Mason; a Royal Arch Mason and Knight Templar.

What is now the state of Maine was the first American region to build a church.

Governing Members Of "Y.M." In Annual Meeting

The Branch Governing members of the YMCA at 28th Street gathered on April 19 for their annual meeting. They enjoyed dinner served by the "Y" Cooperative, listened to reports, were entertained with vocal numbers by Miss Louise Meza, Soloratura soprano and Mr. William D. Valentine, basso. Paul R. Williams, noted architect, was the guest speaker who chose for his topic, "Changing Times" and suggested to the Governing members many practical ways by which the local "Y" should change to keep in step with the times.

At this meeting nominations were approved of Board members and officers to be appointed by the President of the YMCA to serve the local branch.

H. A. Howard of the Broadway Federal Savings and Loan Association, for many years chairman of the "Y" Membership Committee, was nominated for appointment as Board chairman.

Informative Police Radio Programs Weekly

The interest of the Los Angeles Police Department in advising the public of crime deterrents does not end with Crime Prevention Week, rather, it continues throughout the year with regular radio programs over several local stations.

"Crime can be prevented if the public will cooperate with police by observing simple precautionary measures," stated Chief of Police, C. B. Horrall, today, as he thanked Los Angeles citizens for their interest in Crime Prevention Week.

Citizens may learn what they can do to prevent crime by listening to these regularly scheduled police radio broadcasts:

KHJ, Saturdays, 9:15 a.m.

KHJ, Thursdays, 7 p.m.

KKLA-FM, Thursdays, 8:45 p.m.

UCTU for Capper Local Option Bill

Working hard to place the Capper Local Option Bill on the ballot next November, the quarterly meeting of the Peterson, Jones, Green Round Table W.C.T.U., held at the Faithful Central Baptist Church, last Thursday, discussed this measure and others intended to defeat the liquor traffic which is wrecking the homes of so many people.

If this bill becomes law, it was pointed out, the control of the liquor traffic will be in the hands of the people. The large attendance and responsive spirit at the meeting bespoke the awareness of the community to the need of such measures.

Mrs. Esther B. Isaacs, president of the organization, presided at the meeting. Luncheon was served in the Church dining room. Mrs. Isaacs will attend the A.M.E. General Conference in Kansas City.

Husband Asks Wife for Alimony

The usual order in divorce proceedings was reversed on Tuesday of last week when Tasker Sullivan, 321 E. 42nd Place, filed a cross-complaint against his wife, Ada B. Sullivan asking for alimony, support and Attorney's fees. The action came as a result of a divorce action which Mrs. Sullivan had filed against her husband last week charging cruelty. Mr. Sullivan immediately engaged the services of Attorney Curtis C. Taylor who filed a bristling cross-complaint to his wife's action and demanded that she support him and pay his counsel fees. He charged that Mrs. Sullivan has complete control over the community property which has considerable income and takes complete charge of all the money as well as earning a high salary; and that he is unemployed due to illness. Mrs. Sullivan has been cited to appear in Dept. 8 of the Superior Court and show cause why she should not be required to contribute to her husband's support and to pay his counsel fees.

Only a Few Days Left To Turn In Petitions

"Turn in your housing petitions—every signature counts!"

Directors of the Housing Initiative campaign have sent out this urgent appeal to some 4500 volunteer petition circulators in the Los Angeles area, with only a few days remaining before the April 26 deadline.

"Even if petitions are not completely filled, circulators should have them notarized and mail or deliver them to Housing Initiative headquarters, 307 South Hill Street, by Monday," Los Angeles campaign director Mary Rosenfield declared.

She also urged that every circulator devote several hours before the Monday deadline to securing additional signatures.

"If every volunteer will do his share of street corner and neighborhood work during this final weekend, we can be assured of victory," the director said. Circulators should call MIchigan 6597 for work assignments.

Chairman of the campaign for 205,000 signatures to place the measure for 100,000 homes on the ballot is the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Thomas J. O'Dwyer.

BOARD OF EDUCATION IS ASKED TO REAFFIRM STAND ON DISCRIMINATION

Dr. Sanford Goldner, president of the American Jewish Labor Council and member of the Provision Committee to Combat Discrimination in the Los Angeles District School System, this week issued a letter to the effect that discriminatory information had been uncovered as contained in the files of the district school. Discovered were such statements as:

". . . I should like to ask for a Caucasian teacher." "Could the personnel department be advised that the Russian Jewish teachers is not a 'morale builder' when placed in a school with Negro teachers . . ." "Please do not send me any more Jewish teachers . . ."

In view of the previous statements of the Board of Education that it does not discriminate in the hiring or placing of teachers or personnel, the organization is requesting that the Board publicly reaffirm its policy in this regard and that it explain how it has in the past and how it intends in the future to implement this policy.

T. Thumb Train Has Birthday

Hundreds of people attended the giant birthday party Saturday, April 17, of Griffith Park's mighty miniature train. It was really a two-fold event, for not only was the Tom Thumb of the railroads a year old, but a brand new station just completed, was opened at the same time. Presiding over this double event was C. Tony Pereira, president of the Los Angeles Recreation and Parks Commission, assisted by George Hjelte, general manager of the Department of Recreation and Parks, and Gilbert L. Skutt, Superintendent of Parks.

Kenny Baker, singing star, of stage, screen and radio, and his three children bought the first tickets sold from the new station, and rode the mighty midget several times.

Youngsters and oldsters alike were impressed by the huge birthday cake atop the station, and found it difficult to believe that the train was already a year old.

'Y' Delegation Attends Conference

A delegation of eight from Twenty-Eighth Street Branch YMCA attended the Sixteenth Annual Conference of the Southern California Inter-YMCA Program Council in Pomona last Saturday. This conference plans programs of competition and cooperation among the YMCAs in Southern California on an annual basis. The local delegation included Rev. M. F. Mitchell, C. B. Venerable, Paul Boehm, Walter L. Hutcherson, Charles D. Brown, Clifton V. Horne, Emory L. Cain and Harold S. Prince.

CALL FOR ORDINANCE TO HALT MUTILIATION OF U. S. FLAG

An ordinance to halt the mutilation of the United States flag was adopted unanimously by the City Council on Friday, April 23, under the motion of Councilman Kenneth Hahn who declared that he was shocked that there was at the present time no law prohibiting the mutilation of the flag of the United States.

As evidence Hahn displayed previously a number of pennants found strung across a used car lot, which were made up by cutting up war surplus American flags. Some people in the eastern part of the United States were buying up surplus flags and cutting them into pennants, selling them for about $7.00 a 50-foot string to be used by used car dealers and others to advertise their business.

This is a shocking desecration of our national flag and Councilman Hahn said it had to stop. The Councilman explained to the City Council that while it is the custom of the people to protect and revere the American flag, there were no laws on the books to prevent anyone from mutilating the flag. His brother, Assemblyman Gordon R. Hahn, on the last day of Legislature before it adjourned in March, introduced a similar resolution, banning not only the mutilation of the United States flag but also the California State flag.

DR. CHAN'S NEW REMEDY IS SCIENTIFICALLY FORMULATED TO COMBAT THE DISTRESSING SYMPTOMS OF GAS, BELCHING, BLOATING, VOMITING, HEARTBURN, INDIGESTION, FULLNESS AND PAIN AFTER MEALS.

Natural health giving herbs have been used in China for thousands of years to rid the human body of toxic matters which hinders the function of practically all the organs of the body. They are known to relieve ailments that have been slow to respond to other forms of treatment.

THE BIBLE STATES HERBS WERE PUT INTO THE GROUND AS AN AID TO MAINTAIN AND RESTORE HEALTH—CAN THERE BE A BETTER AUTHORITY OR RECOMMENDATION?

So regain health nature's way which is slow but sure. Try our pure Chinese herbs for natural results. Feel once again the vim, vigor, vitality of a normal functioning body. Why live just a half a life when nature intended you to have a full, rich, healthy, enjoyable existence free from aches and pain. When other methods fail do not give up hope of getting well. Your case may respond to herbs when everything else fails. Why continue to suffer when others are regaining health daily. A fair trial will convince the most skeptic unbeliever.

The Mayor of Central Avenue Speaks

As far as I know, the Rev. K. L. Buford, whose profession is Administering the Holy Word seems to be a man of good character and sound mind. He has a duty and an obligation to fulfill to his congregation as a Preacher. I am sure that this is a full time job if his intentions are that of a man who has been consecrated in the Holy Spirit and is sincere with an earnestness to do the job that he has been ordained to do.

Now we realize that it is the duty of such a man to go out into the highways and the hedges and gather unto the Fold, men of all walks of life, but is it reasonably correct to believe that it is not the Christian duty of such a man to be, or should I say, "to allow himself to be conned into a personal relationship with one who has the record of a racketeer?" Should such a man become the "Stepping Stone" for a character for the sage of "publicity"? The people, I am sure, would like to know if you, Rev., are to be ensnared by the wiles of such a "character" as that of one "Eddie Smith," whose record you have my permission to check with the files of the Chicago Police for your own satisfaction; or would you rather ride for what is sure to be a very "definite" fall, because of this shady association?

Now as for Dr. Foster E. Driver, who has endorsed the Rev. K. L. Buford for "Mayor of Central Avenue," I take this space to admonish him that in his eagerness to gather some cheap publicity unto himself, has not taken the time to think, or to investigate the program of the present Mayor of Central Avenue. I believe had Dr. Foster E. Driver taken the time to do so, he would have found that the present Mayor of the "Avenue" has worked quietly and conscientiously to establish a higher standard of moral and a better relation between groups of people on the "Avenue." In fact, Mayor Mosby has recently gathered together some of the Eastside's leading and most reputable Citizens to participate on a committee Panel known as the "Mayor of Central Avenue's Committee for Eastside Betterment." This plan has already been laid before the official body of our City Government for approval.

Now if these persons about whom I have spoken will take inventory of their plight as to Eastside Politics, I heartily believe they will retire to their normal activities of the administering of the gospel, and of pharmacy, respectively, and allow the present Mayor of Central Avenue to carry on the progressive program he has planned in his own way, and prove his capabilities by doing the job that has been entrusted to him by the people of this community.

NAACP CONTINUES FIGHT FOR RIGHT TO FRANCHISE

NEW YORK — Having engineered the wrecking of the South Carolina scheme to perpetuate the white primary, attorneys for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People this week prepared a similar fate for the Alabama and Mississippi plans which seek to continue the disfranchisement of Negro citizens through discriminatory registration practices.

The Alabama plan, embodied in the Boswell Amendment, faces an early test in the United States District Court in Birmingham. Arthur D. Shores, Birmingham attorney and member of the NAACP legal committee, in association with Thurgood Marshall, NAACP special counsel, will challenge the Alabama law in the Federal Court.

Action of the United States Supreme Court on April 19 upholding the decision of lower courts in banning the South Carolina deal spells "the end of the white primary and destroys all hopes of the white supremacists to exclude Negroes from voting regardless of the ingenious methods used," Marshall asserted.

"The NAACP pledges its entire resources to continue this fight until all qualified Negroes throughout the country are freely granted the right to vote."

Observe Seventh Annual "Holiday On Wings"

Contra Costa County's Buchana Field will be swarming with planes May 1-2 as 2000 private aircraft from all over the Pacific Coast join in the Seventh Annual "L. A. Holiday on Wings."

Sponsored by the Los Angeles Junior Chamber of Commerce, the Holiday on Wings already has attracted pilots from such faraway points as Centralia, Wash., and Reno, Nev., according to flight chairman Slosson Viau.

Many of Hollywood's leading figures will make the hop as well as participate in the entertainment programs planned for Saturday evening and Sunday morning.

Harrisburg Widow Makes Bequest To Lincoln

Mrs. Marion B. Thomas of Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, who died recently left to Lincoln University one-half interest in a trust fund of $8,700. The deceased was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hines of Mount Joy, Pennsylvania, and the wife of Joseph Thomas, the first Negro undertaker in Harrisburg, who died some years ago.

Mrs. Thomas and her husband became interested in Lincoln University through the pastors of the Capital Street Presbyterian church who were graduates of the college and seminary of Lincoln. Before Mr. Thomas died he asked his wife to maintain their mutual interest in Lincoln and he directed that at her death she should make a bequest to the University.

CIO Protests Cicado Killing On Picket Line

CHICAGO, Ill. — Indignant members of the CIO under the chairmanship of Michael Mann, CIO Regional Director, met last week to plan action against the brutal killing of Santo Cicardo on the picket line before the Armour Soap Works at 31st Street. Cicardo was a member of UPWA Local 100. He was run over and killed by a truck forcing its way through the picket line.

Michael Mann stated, "The CIO is not going to stand idly by while our members are being killed on the picket line. We will mobilize and support the striking packinghouse workers in this attempt by the packers to destroy their union and prevent them from getting a decent income."

More than 60 representatives of all CIO Internationals in the area as well as State and City Council representatives were present.

The CIO representatives set up a permanent CIO Committee with Michael Mann as chairman.

Immediate plans of the Committee were to send a delegation to Police Commissioner Prendergast protesting the action of Capt. George Barnes in charge of the Labor Detail, and urging his removal from that position. Spokesmen from the UPWA pointed out that police had, in many instances, given protection to strike breakers who carried knives and guns.

In addition, a delegation was scheduled to call on Mayor Kennelly protesting police behavior as one of supporting the packing companies in their efforts to break the strike with a back-to-work movement.

Owners And Agents, Attention!

All owners and agents are advised that the Post Office Department will receive to and including May 10, 1948, proposals for furnishing space for Station "K" of the Los Angeles post office under a lease for a term of years from December 9, 1948.

Space desired is 8,000 square feet but the right is reserved to consider proposals on either substantially less or more space. Either existing buildings or new construction will be considered. The preferred location is in the general vicinity of Central and E. Vernon aves., but the right is reserved to consider other property.

Other things being equal, strong consideration will be given to property available to good street car transportation and to property having a substantial loading area for trucks in the rear. All interested persons should immediately contact W. H. Switzer, Office Inspector, Room 701, Federal Building, for further particulars.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Philip Murray, president of the CIO, has indorsed a resolution adopted by the Workers Defense League's national executive board calling for formation of a commission to combat slave labor throughout the World.

The resolution, adopted in connection with the WDL's February 28 luncheon conference on "Forced Labor World Menace to Freedom," asserted that the WDL "will join with labor organizations already in the field and with others of like principles in assembling a Commission of Inquiry to probe the extent and depth of this monstrous resurrection of injustice and denial of human dignity."

Three Negro Grads Win Scholarship

WHEELING, W. Va., April 29 (Special)—Three members of the first class to be graduated from Blessed Martin High School have been awarded, for scholastic exscholarships, it has been ancellence, full four-year college nousced. The class consists of five boys and two girls.

Winners of the scholarships are: Norman Edward Campbell, who has received a four-year scholarship to De Paul University, Chicago; Launbural W. Spriggs, a four-year scholarship to Duquesne University, Pittsburgh; and William A. Galloway, a four-year scholarship to Notre Dame University, South Bend, Indiana.

The scholarships were awarded for scholastic standing by "Catholic Scholarships for Negroes, Inc.," of Springfield, Mass., an organization intended to assist financially Negro Catholic young people to secure college education. The scholarships are established through the voluntary contributions of isterested Catholics, and are awarded after competitive examinations. Inasmuch as the organization, recently established, has as yet relatively few scholarships at its disposal, the record of the Blessed Martin graduates in winning three of them is considered exceptional.

Nashville Sportsman Club Leader Honored

NASHVILLE, Tenn.—Dr. Ernest F. Alleyne, prominent gynecologist and obstetrician, who is soon to leave Nashville for Los Angeles, to occupy the $40,000 Clinic Building which he has just completed, was honored at the April 21 meeting of the Nashville Sporktsmen's club, by the presentation of a gold loving cup. In addition, he was given a lifetime paid-up membership in the organization.

The main speaker, Dr. W. E. Pannell, the new president, called attention to the many services which Dr. Alleyne had rendered the club, during his tenure as president, from its incorporation in 1945, until his departure in 1948. He noted how the club had risen under Dr. Alleyne's leadership, in that short time, to the top position in that field. Dr. Pannell stated that the organization would still insist that Dr. Alleyne remain in his office if he was going to be in the city, and that if he should decide not to leave, even now, he would resign in his favor.

OFFICE OPENING

The opening of the new offices of Dr. Seymour H. Kaufman was held on Sunday afternoon from 12 noon until 6 p.m.

Refreshments and music were featured throughout the affair, with a special radio broadcast directly from the office.

Delivery of LA Phone Directory Exchange Starts

Delivery of 675,000 copies of the new Los Angeles telephone directory will be started today as The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company continues the second round of the new five-directory plan that divides the entire metropolitan area into five divisions, with a separate directory for each.

According to E. S. Ricker, manager of the telephone company, the new three-pound, three ounce, 1,200-page directory will replace the August, 1947, book and add 78 more pages and about 40,000 more listings. The last issue contained 1,112 pages and about 480,000 listings.

In the nine months between directories the Los Angeles exchange has grown from 706,000 to 755,000 telephones.

This directory is the third to be delivered in the metropolitan area in the 1948 series. The first two were delivered for the Western and Northwestern sections. The Southern and Northeastern directories will follow in June and July, respectively.

SYLVESTER THOMAS received one of the biggest surprises of his life when, on Monday afternoon, he received a birthday gift of an autoette from 450 employees of the Los Angeles Transit Lines. (See story).

CIVIL RIGHTS LEGISLATION URGED BY RABBIS

ST. LOUIS—The Jewish Congregations have introduced a three point program for the support of Civil Rights. The program was advocated by Rabbi Roland B. Gettelsohn of Rockville Centre, Long Island, New York, at the opening session of the Institute on Judaism and Civil Rights.

Dr. Geytelsohn, a member of President's Civil-Rights Commission, urged that first the pulpit should relate civil liberties to basic religious principles, and then point out violations of them.

His next point dealt with the formation in every congregation of an action committee, consisting of laymen, who will translate the pulpit exhortations to civil liberties into specific action.

As to his next point, he urged the organization of a joint interfaith civil liberties committees for synagogues, and churches to serve as the voices of prohetic religion, Judaism and Christianity together.

The two-day institute was sponsored by the Commission on Justice and Peace of the Central Conference of American Rabbis. It is aimed at relating the teachings of Judaism to the civil rights of all men.

Dr. Julius Mark, chairman of the commission, presided at the opening meeting at Temple Israel. Dr. Mark is a rabbi from Nashville, Tenn. He says: "It is most important today that we Americans examine ourselves, our society, our law, not only to see that every man possesses the privileges and rights of our free society, but of first importance that we are each individually, accepting and sharing the responsibilities from which these rights stem. Rabbi Maurice N Eisendrath of Cincinnati, president of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, said that no synagogue could meet today's crisis if it failed to offer a program of social and moral action.

Noted British Poet Visits Spelman College

Atlanta, Georgia, April 21—(Special)—Stephen Spender, noted British poet, was at Spelman College on Saturday as a guest of the English faculty.

In the lounge of the Bessie Strong Residence Hall, Mr. Spender met informally with approximately 60 students majoring in English and members of the combined English departments of the Atlanta University System, to read and discuss a number of his poems.

A poet of the oppressed, Mr. Spender is regarded as one of the important British literary men of our day. He has written and published several volumes of poetry which are concerned with social struggle and injustice.

At the present time, Mr. Spender is teaching on the faculty of Sarah Lawrence College in Bronxville, New York.

The United States produces about twenty-eight per cent of the world's total salt output.

The castor oil plant is native to India, but is now widely distributed in all tropical regions.

Check Gas Outlets For Safety

A gas explosion wrecked the home of John T. Samuel, 4324 Brunswick Avenue last Thursday morning. Gas escaping from a wall outlet was ignited by the pilot light on the kitchen stove. Fortunately no one was home at the time. Apparently the gas had been shut off by the valve on the portable heater rather than at the wall outlet and, unknowingly, the flexible rubber tubing had been pulled loose from this connection.

To prevent a similar occurrence in your own home have your portable heaters permanently connected with meta piping. Contro the fow of gas at al times with the valve on the wall outlet.

KITZINGHEN BASIC TRAINING CENTER, Germany — Major Ralph P. Ward, Los Angeles, will direct a special recreation center which has been established at Kitzingen.

These recreational facilities will be used by approximately 1200 troops. They include post exchange, bowling alley, snack bar, lounge, library, craft room, basketball courts, roller skating rink, photography shop, boxing ring, and a post theater.

RELIGIOUS LEADERS REPORT FROM WASHINGTON

Pasadena, Calif. — More than 125 representatives from 12 Protestant denominations and 20 States met in Washington, D.C. early in April to consider programs of action to avert war and revitalize the will to peace. The revised draft of the 9-point recommendations made by this group has just been received by the Southern California office of the American Friends Service Committee in Pasadena.

Dr. George Hill, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Pasadena, who was called to Washington to represent this area, has just returned. While admitting the full gravity of the moment, Dr. Hill returned from Washington with the conviction that war need not be either imminent or inevitable. The situation, he believes, is intensified by the fears of the American people and complicated by the lack of accurate information.

1920's. Later, as director of studies for the Julius Rosenwald foundation, he helped to place in 11 Southern counties libraries which are open to citizens of all races.

An advisor to President Roosevelt during the New Deal, he initiated the now famous "Report on the Economic Conditions of the South," written by a Southern advisory group to the National Economic Council.

As adviser os race relations to Secretary of Interior Harold Ickes, he won a long battle to place Negro officers in CCC camps.

28TH STREET SCHOOL ANSWERS CHARGES

Due to charges of discrimination made on the principal at Twenty Eighth Street School, members of the faculty wish to make the following statement:

We, the undersigned, consider the Twenty Eighth Street School to be a true example of "democracy in practice." This school, situated in an area which includes five or more different races in its enrollment of over a thousand children, has a mixed faculty in both the upper and lower school. Any statements concerning discrimination by school personnel have been made because of misinterpretation of facts.

We cordially invite the community to visit our school in order to become acquainted with its organization and faculty.

Widowers Make Wonderful Husbands

A man who has made one wife happy is often a much better bet than one who is untried, according to the May Journal of Living. He has already been through the martial training period, which in many cases includes a handy knowledge of putting away his own things, dusting and even cooking.

A widower can generally be expected to be more cooperative and understanding than a bachelor. He's already learned to adjust his personality to another's.

Every Chance to Make Good!

The day the kid was born, his mother and I made a promise that he would have all the education he could take, to give him every chance to get to the top. Of course, most parents feel this way. And barring accident or early death they intend to give them a better chance.

But me, I'm making sure about my kid's future with Life insurance. My Golden State Mutual agent has made up a savings plan that has taken the chance out of my kid's future. If I live, I won't have to worry about having the money for his education. If I'm gone, the kid won't have to worry either.

Let a Golden State Mutual agent show you what Life insurance can do for you . . . in the safest way!

NATIONAL NEGRO INSURANCE WEEK. May 10-15 is the best time to look over your plans for the future and make sure your insurance is in line with the increased cost of living.

Remember: Your Golden State Mutual policies create money pools that flow back into your community in jobs, services and trade.

THE CALIFORNIA EAGLE

Negro Crime - Why?

An article, "Memo for D. A." by Eleanor Lake in a recent edition of The Survey, supports the contention which The California EAGLE has always made. That given the same educational opportunities, the same economic security, there will be absolutely no difference between the Negro and the white man because of race, color, or any of those other impediments that keep not only the Negro but members of other minority groups, in that class known as the "lower brackets."

Edmond C. Brown, district attorney for San Francisco, had facts collected concerning the Negro population in S. F. and he came up with this conclusion:

"Almost the entire problem of Negro crime in San Francisco can be traced to economic causes."

Bad housing, bad jobs, unemployment," the report goes on to say, "lay at the root of the restlessness, the violence, and the petty crimes on the police blotter. True, lack of education and the breakdown of the secure religious atmosphere of their rural background, may be presumed to have something to do with it, too. But simple lack of economic opportunity—a standing reproach to the white people in the community—loomed like a dark, reproachful shadow back of the statistics.

"It was easy to discern this shadow back of the first statistic—that Negroes 3% of all the entries on the crime sheet. The Negro population, though it was only 5% of the total, had actually increased by 800% in 7 years! This amazing fact meant that the Negroes were hard hit by housing stortages in their restricted areas, hard hit by the inevitable fears and resentments of the poorer white people near by, and specially hard hit by the keen competition for the minority of jobs open to Negroes.

"It also meant, as a sudden increase like this always does, that a lot of the Negroes coming into San Francisco were the restless, roving type, many of them deported indiscriminately by worker-hungry war industries, and left floating after the war; many of them drawn by stories of easy money.

"Again, this sudden influx of uprooted and shifting people produced a disproportionate number of arrests in the "Vagrancy" category, which is designed to allow the police to hold people for investigation . . . Even more striking, a far higher proportion of the Negroes than of the whites were "held for bail." The 1947 figures showed that only 31% of the white people arrested under the "Vagrancy—$1000 Bail law" were held for bail, while 73% of the Negroes were.

Another interesting point turned up —and an ironic one—was that the Negro's racial isolation and poverty make him more likely to be arrested than the white man guilty of the same offense.

"The Negro offender is easier to concentrate upon, easier to arrest," says the report. Horse-and-buggy operations, the petty operations of the poor, put the Negro in a much more vulnerable position that the big scale white operators of the same crimes.

The Negro arrested for prostitution, vagrancy, gambling, or on a narcotics charge, seems to know no smart dodgers or avoiding future trouble, seems to know no way of breaking out of his unhappy life to find a new one. The very offense for which Negroes most generally appear in court show, too, that economic stresses account for much of their problem. Though many white people might find alcoholic amnesis the only answer to the sort of housing and living conditions into which Negroes have been forced, this apparently is not their form to escape.

Rape, again, did not show up in the statistics as notably a Negro crime. In other less serious offenses like traffic violations, and infractions of city ordinances on health and fire, Negroes actually produced fewer cases than the same number of white residents.

But in crimes which could turn a penny for the criminal the Negro rate was out of all proportion with the white rate. Studying the cases that came before him, one judge remarked that he felt much of the crime was a direct reaction to the Negro's frustration in trying to compete with white men in the economy they dominated.

Most Negro crime in San Francisco, the report states, emanates from the huddled, cramped houses in the "Fillmore Area." Here people with no ties of blood or marriage are thrown into the same houses; families are separated; rents have soared on dilapidated shacks; there are few places to have fun; and nearby stores charge as much as the traffic will bear. Fillmore, instead of parks and playgrounds, and decent theatres and dance halls, has gambling dens, narcotic operators, and every kind of tawdry juke joint and bawdy house.

In another Negro district—Hunter's Point—housing is less degrading, decent recreation easier to find. "It is no accident," says the report, "that Hunter's Point shows up far less often on the police blotter than Fillmore."

Good public housing, concludes the report, would do more to redirect the wayward minority of Negroes in San Francisco than any other single thing. Another thing that would help is a fair employment policy. "There is shows that though Negroes are 5% of pathos in the simple statistic which San Franciscans today, they are 30% of the San Francisco unemployed. Insecurity blows like a cold wind on their necks. They have fewer job opportunities, are the first to be discharged in layoffs, the last to be promoted."

This is the condition that obtains, according to the report submitted to District Attorney Brown, in San Francisco. A similar investigation would reveal the same statistics in Los Angeles. In New York. In Chicago. In every city of the United States, North or South.

The solution to this disgraceful condition, of course, must be found in our government. In ourselves. In the men we elect to office who form our government. We must have more Edmund C. Browns for district attorney. We must have men like him from the president in the White House all down the line.

This means, of course, from Henry Wallace on down to the humblest official in the smallest precinct, we must have men and women who are interested in people, not in the money they get for their office. Men and women who care. Men and women who will work for the betterment of the people in the community they serve. Such a solution alone can solve the problem not only of the Negro, but of every member of every other minority group.

Billions for Greece, Not One Cent For Mississippi

We heard over the radio the other morning that the United States government is planning to send soldiers to Greece to fight guerrillas there—the Greek patriots, in other words.

The United States government also spent some $6,000,000,000 in Italy to influence the Italian voters to vote as the Big Industrialists of America wanted them to.

All these billions of dollars to produce a government thousands of miles away according to our liking.

But how about Mississippi? And the other states of the Deep South? How about the lynchings there? The racial uprisings? The lives snuffed out in demonstrations the most un-American anyone can well imagine?

When any protest is made in this respect, there is never any money to investigate these crimes. No soldiers are ever sent to quell the "guerrillas" killing men in Mississippi or South Carolina.

How long are we American taxpayers going to submit to these injustices? How long will we give and keep on giving billions of dollars of our money to Greece, and Italy, and all those other foreign nations, and not demand one cent for our own self defense?

We could easily raise that old cry: Billions for defense. Not one cent for bribery. Why don't we?

Reeking With Lies

A thing that foists itself on an unsuspecting public as a newspaper is a stinking little sheet called "L.A. Fire and Police Protective League News."

This so-called newspaper makes it appearance this week with this sort of blast—"League Exposes Red Plot."

Under this caption a story described by the writer as "two tragic incidents" and claimed to be a police record, is fraught with falsehoods. It is impossible to trace a scintilla of truth in it.

Our American Legion Posts have Americanism Committees. According to Bro. Smith's statement at Postmaster Mike Fanning's citation for good American practices in making postal appointments, the duties of these Americanism Committees should not only extoll the efforts made by organizations and individuals for the perpetuation and advancement of democracy, but should likewise overthrow agencies—such as newspapers that seek to destroy the unity and good relationships within our borders.

We say, again and again, that certain organizations, individuals and newborn newspapers in our community are doing everything within their power to destroy the foundation of our democracy.

The article names certain persons and organizations as Communists and Communist front organizations.

Some of the persons and organizations named are pioneer builders in this city and community. They, no doubt, have given and sacrificed more for the protection and security of our national life than their accusers.

If our Police Department is in any way responsible for this scandalous "L. A. Fire and Police Protective League" news, we challenge it to prove certain statements made therein. To loosely accuse loyal American citizens of being subversive is a pattern, if followed in the manner it has started, that will provoke dissention and diversion in our ranks and among our people.

We have always said and we say again—that the Tenney Un-American Activities Committee is a blot on our political escutcheon.

Mr. Tenney has never investigated the un-American practice of establishing living restrictions against Negroes, Jews and Orientals in the State and cities. We contend that such practices is un-American. Nor has Mr. Tenney ever uttered a word of protest against Ku Klux Klan activities. Again on this score we observe that the Tenney Committee is silent.

We have never said, nor do we say now, that all policemen in our Police Department are brutal or unfair, but certainly there have been cases of abuse and mal-practice of justice on a racial and color basis in our Police Department. We do not hesitate to state that the Keyes-Salcedo Case is one of them.

If this paper is an organ of the police—we ask why is it necessary for the department to use such a sly, filthy method to expose the enemies of good government.

The police have the mechanics with which to fight the enemies of our democracy. The organizations and individuals attacked by this L.A. News have only their past records upon which to defend their loyalty and their good American status.

THINGS I SEE

By Marian Inglewood

"On the eighteenth of April in '75 —"

And 173 years after that ride of Paul Revere, honored today as one of the heroes who drove a foreign foe from American soil, there was another 18th of April in a little country, something like 6000 miles from the seat of government of the great United States of America which Paul Revere helped to found.

It was the most momentous 18th of April ever, folks said. It was a day which could change the history of the world. Which could bring sorrow and destruction or peace and plenty.

Now instead of letting the people of that little country—Italy decide for themselves what they wanted and how they were to get it, by voting unmolested in their world-shattering election of April 18, we, now become the richest and most powerful nation in the world, deliberately interjected our power and our might into their affairs and told them to vote as we said. Or else.

Paul Revere rode through the night "to every Middlesex village and farm" to warn "the country folk to be up and to arm."

But theirs was a more tangible foe than the people of Italy fought. There were red-coated soldiers with muskets. They carried fire and death in their hands. They were easy to see. It was easy to understand that those red-coated soldiers of England were the enemies of the colonists of America.

But when billions of dollars — we sent something like $2,000,000,000 to Italy to influence its people's votes — come seeping into the country, when insiduous propaganda percolated into their minds suggesting it would be better if they did so and so, when even their spiritual advote a certain way or be in danger of hell-fire — that's an altogether different proposition.

"The wonder," said radio commentator Cecil Brown, "is not that the people of Italy voted anti-Communist. But that so many — more than 6,000,000 — voted for the Democratic Front. Not all of these were Communists. They were simply men and women who were sick and tired of the poverty they had been enduring for years, and wanted to try another system that promised more food and clothing and homes."

On another 18th of April — that was in 1906 — an earthquake and fire almost destroyed San Francisco. The water mains were snapped by the quake and the firemen had no water to fight the fire. They started dynamiting. It was four days and three nights before they won the victory. Almost four square miles, 512 blocks of the heart of the city, were demolished. About 700 lives were lost, and more than 200,000 were made homeless.

But the people of San Francisco started rebuilding their city at once. So successful was this rebuilding that it has been called "an epic of modern times." In the last World War, "London officials, looking forward to the postwar reconstruction of London, applied in 1941 to the authorities of San Francisco for guidance in their plans."

After that first notable April 18 in American history, 1775, the battles of Lexington and Concord were fought. They are considered "the first battles of the Revolution between the British troops and the minute men of the colonists. There was no true battle, but the skirmishes have become famous in history as showing the pluck and determination of the Americans, for they drove a British column back to Boston with heavy loss."

This 18th of April, 1948, the outcome of whose election in Italy is so satisfactory to the Big Industrialists of America, to the Pope, and to the Fascists and pro-Fascists the world over — what will it bring forth for the next day? Will it mark the beginning of another war, as the ride of Paul Revere presaged?

Or will it be followed by an era of reconstruction? Of the building of homes for those who have been living in hovels? Of work for those who have no employment? Of food for those who have gone hungry?

It can be. It better be. Commentators everywhere, taking courage now that this particular battle of the polls has been won, are predicting dire happenings, revolution even, if conditions in Europe are not improved. If the hungry are not fed, the homeless given homes, and the ragged clothed.

STORIES FROM THE WORKINGMAN'S BOOK by Marian Inglewood — a splendid gift for Mother on Mother's Day. The STORIES are taken from the Bible, the Workingman's Book, and interpreted from the point of view of the worker. For sale at the office of The California Eagle, 4071 South Central avenue. Proceeds from their sale are used to fight restrictive covenants, especially the case of the Laws family, ordered out of their home because they are Negroes.

BOOKS & AUTHORS

"Fire" by George R. Stewart, author of the unusual and popular novel "Storm," is an intensely dramatic story of Spitcat, a 10,000 acre fire in a California forest. It is a breath-taking account from the moment the lightning starts a match-size blaze in a pine tree until hundreds of men are desperately fighting it. There is a love story which is incidental though full of humor, tragedy and triumph, but the fire is the real hero, threatening to destroy the entire forest. It is another unusual and original story by a writer who has always followed an uncharted course.

"Lost Boundaries" by W. L. White is a true story of Dr. Johnson and his family who lived in a small New England town. When he tried to enlist during the war the authorities discovered that he had Negro blood and refused to accept him. He then told his family that they were Negroes. They had not known that they were passing as white and this is the account of how the news affected them. Albert who was just about to enter college was the one most shocked. After a real breakdown he decided to travel about the country and see what it meant to be a Negro in a white man's world. His experiences are told in a gripping manner by this well-known writer.

"Foundations of Reading Instruction with Emphasis on Differentiated Guidance" by Emmett Albert Betts, a psychology teacher, is a textbook for use in teachers' colleges. There are photographs of school activities which have been included to demonstrate for the inexperienced teacher many of the procedures given. The problems of the elementary school teacher are the central theme, such as how to identify and provide for individual needs in a given situation. The points brought out point to personality development as one of the major goals of education in a democracy. This is especially useful for anyone who teaches the young children.

Visit your neighborhood library for these and many other popular books. Helen Hunt Jackson Branch, 2330 Naomi Avenue; Vernon Branch, 4504 South Central Avenue. Hours: Monday through Friday from 1:00 to 9:00 p.m. and Saturday from 9:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m.

"How to Keep Happily Married" by Joseph L. Fox, a practising attorney in the field of domestic relations and divorce, is designed to reduce the evils of divorce by using preventive measures. The author analyzes the causes which lead to marital discord and finds that sexual maladjustment is the main source of breakups. He feels that our educational system is to blame for the great ignorance of the most elemental knowledge of physiology and sex questions. He also discusses other causes and suggests remedies. Careful reading of this book should be of great help to anyone contemplating marriage.

"Personality of a House" is a new edition of this title by Emily Post, well-known authority on etiquette and the daughter of an architect. The sub-title of the book is "The Blue Book of Home Charm" and it shows how to make any type of home express your own personality, in architecture, color schemes, furnishings and accessories. There are many illustrations, black and white sketches, plans, and a color chart.

"The Marriage of Claudia" by Rose Franken is a continuation of the other Claudia stories. In this book Claudia and David sell their farm, become the parents of a third boy and bring comfort and warmth into the life of a motherless girl. Then they face courageously the fact that David has developed the dread disease of tuberculosis. Essentially this is the story of things that may happen to any American family, including ordinary events, emergencies, joys and sorrows. It is a wholesome story told with humor and understanding.

"Your Career in Show Business" by Paul Denis gives all the inside information as well as a complete and up-to-date picture of the show business as a whole. It takes up performers, business men, writers, stage interpreters, technical workers and financiers. The author is young and understands the problems of those just breaking in. He is a native New Yorker and has had varied experiences writing for well-known magazines, covering night-clubs, vaudeville, drama, and is now the New York Post's radio and television editor. The book is well illustrated by photographs and should be a great help for anyone thinking of going into any type of show business.

"They Make Me Laugh: A Collection of Stories and Anecdotes About the Greats and Also Rans in Sports" by Sam Molen, one of the leading sports commentators, is presented in a humorous style. There are behind the scene visits with Jim Thorpe and intimate stories about Gabby Street; there are quips of Casey Stengel and Dizzy Dean and anecdotes of heroes and clowns from the sports world. It is an entertaining book for anyone who is interested in figures in the field of sports.

"The Art of Detection" by Jacob Fisher is a primer for the investigator, lawyer, credit manager, personnel director, or anyone seeking information regarding the techniques of private investigation. The author has had seventeen years of experience along this line. For several years he was a lawyer, then an investigator for the United States government. During his years of Army criminal investigation he organized and directed a school for training officers in this field. Under identification he includes fingerprinting, methods of shadowing, finding of missing persons, and the ways of investigating applicants for positions of trust. From practical incidents and anecdotes he amplifies his explanations.

W. J. Wheaton Says

"In the gettin' up morning I'll be there." Being quite hungry we did not wait 'till Mary Ann had finished her song, but as we had caught the savory odor of her delicious cooking we were eager t sample it. There was hardly a word spoken, and Mary Ann sensing our need of refreshing food rather than conversation, wisely, deferred her questions. When we had surfeited our ravenous hunger, and gave a sigh of satisfaction, Mary Ann gave a nod of approval, and proceeded to remove the debris, caused by our devastation of fried chicken, and every thing that goes with it. "Where's your grand-daughter?" We asked. "Her and some of her school girl friends went to hear some great fiddle player at the oprey house; I guess they'll be here shortly, one of the girls said he was marvelous." Don't you know that I believe that the child is going to like music, and I heard one of the children say, "Why Ann, that's what the girls call her, you sing out o' this world! There they come now;" said Mary Ann, "and I baked a cake and got some ice cream; I certainly like to have them children 'round." she said. Don't you know that they's real smart, 'en they say's some funny things and asks some funny questions: But all them questions got some sense to 'em. That little Syrian girl. She's got the prettiest, flashing, black eyes . . . little Mary Ann says she knows more about Syrian people than the teacher; 'en spoke right out when the teacher said something that wasn't right 'bout her folk. Here they come! Chattering like a bunch of Magpies they came bouncing in. They gave me no mind, but rushed to Mary Ann, and each tried to be first to embrace her. There was a concert as they tried to tell her about the "marvelous fiddler." When their enthusiasm had subsided, Mary said, "Ain't you'all going say 'Good Evening' to the gentleman." We believe that we had not before been noticed. "Good Evening," they said in concert. When they had finished the repast set for them by Mary Ann, they retired to the front room, as Mary Ann called it, for the usual pre-class consultation. "You know him best Ann, you ask him." we heard one of the girls say. All right; she said, and we wondered, and with apprehension, what ordeal we had to go through. It came: Roxey, the girls called her, we were puzzled to define her racial or national origin; Blonde, blue eyed, and aquiline featured, and vivacious mannered. "We've been discussing people, and some of us claim that where one lives, or reared, makes a difference. For instance: My parents don't like our next door neighbors because they are Roman Catholics, and Rosetta and me are the greatest of friends. Rosettas parents don't like the Cohens, because they're Jews, and most of them don't like Matsuda or Ann, because Mat's Japanese and Ann's Negro. And: Believe me! all of us, think that Ann, and her grandmother, are tops." What do you think? By this time they had all gathered around me: Even Mary Ann had drawn up her chair. The lines of Rudyard Kipling came to me, "Julia O'Grady and the Colonels lady are sisters under the skin." We quoted them. Then Mary said, "Don't you think that bringing up has a lot to do with it?" Yes we said: We believe if those parents would become better acquainted, they would discover some good quality in their neighbor. It is not knowing one that makes the difference between friendships and hatreds. Here is living example: You girls: We can readily define the rest, but you Rosetta; we are somewhat puzzled; "My parents are Georgians, it's a part of Russia, but my grandparents came to America before this present Russian government and my parents are Americans, but some how or other they have been inoculated with racial likes and dislikes, so common to people that don't know. I've almost persuaded my mother to have us girls to a party at our house: Her objections heretofore, to be honest, has been Ann and Mat. I know that when she meets them she will wonder why she formed her dislike. We ventured to agree. We agreed also that invironment had a deal to do with it and that it was not confined to what we term; caucasian. Negroes too have their prejudices, and racial dislikes. We know a family who has injected the virus in their young boy by not allowing him to play with the boys in the same block. What if they do fight? That's the boys priviledge; white or black. They're getting acquainted. Know your neighbor; is a good motto. If the parents of our budding youth would cease to inject the virus of racial supremacy in the minds of the children, and teach them that character . . . not color nor race . . . are the fundamentals of a successful career. You girls, we said, are building a stable foundation, and whether or not you are aware of it, you are exemplyfing the true spirit of democracy before your classmates. Soon or late the principles you represent will take root and democracy in truth, the democracy for which the world yearns; will become a fact. You girls are the leaven in the barrel of meal. Keep your friendships alive, gather others into your circle. Mary Ann will always welcome you. By and by; your own parents will become interested, and the heaven will begin to work. Get acquainted; Know one another, and misunderstandings, caused through ignorance, will disappear as the mist before the morning sun or the dew from the grass. "or the five dollar bill at the grocery mans," said Mary Ann. Let's form a club for democracy, said Rosetta: All in favor say I, carried.

Land of the Free — Sometimes

The following article—and others which will appear in later editions of The California Eagle —deal with the report of the President's Committee on Civil Rights. "To Secure These Rights," which is being published in its entirety in the EAGLE. Credit for the illustrations is given to Bernard Seaman.

It was in Detroit before the War, in the days when the shadow of Hitler had already fallen over much of Europe. A Negro woman walked to an election booth, shoulder to shoulder with the white woman who employed her.

"You know," the white woman said optimistically, "this is wonderful, our going to vote this way, you and I. It couldn't happen in Germany."

"No," her colored companion agreed, "and it couldn't happen in Alabama."

Labor leaders, spokesmen for minority groups, and other liberals—all have long known that in America there is a wide gulf between the ideal and the fact of equality. They have pointed out over and over again that large portions of our population are deprived of civil liberties, that there are entire areas of our country where constitutional rights are ignored.

However, something new—and important—has been added: our government has at last recognized the problem. More than a year ago President Truman created a Committee on Civil Rights to study violations of civil liberties and to recommend ways to correct the abuses.

Members of the Committee came from all walks of life. They included the president of a big corporation, officials of the AFL and CIO, the presidents of two universities, church leaders, prominent attorneys, social workers, authors. Their findings — a report of more than 50,000 words —has been published under the title, "To Secure These Rights," a phrase taken from one of our priceless American documents.

"Man is endowed by his Creator with certain inalienable rights," says the Declaration of Independence. "Among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. To secure these rights, governments are instituted among men."

In Washington, the Nation's Capital, symbol to all the world of human freedom and equality—Marian Anderson, the great contralto singer was barred from Constitution Hall because her skin was dark—barred by the daughters of the American Revolution!

In Washington, the Nation's Capital, South-bound trains go Jim Crow—Negroes must change to separate cars.

In Washington, the Nation's Capital, a Negro cannot eat in a downtown restaurant, go to a downtown theater, sleep in a downtown hotel.

In Washington, the Nation's Capital, even the young are not immune from the seeds of bigotry! In the annual marbles tournament there are separate contests for black and white youngsters. The white child who wins is automatically City Champion; the colored boy is runner-up.

To those who, ostrich-like, can see no wrong in American life, the Committee replies that "the American ideal still awaits complete realization." In this series of articles highlights of the Committee's testimony will be presented.

You will hear from witnesses who lost their "inalienable rights" . . . Jews, Negroes, Indians, minority groups of all sorts. These are the forgotten ones in whose behalf the Committee's report was made. It is to them that our consciences must pay heed.

We might even call as witness, could he still speak, the man who, in the words of the Committee, "was arrested on a charge of stealing a tire, taken to the courthouse, beaten by three officers until his head was a bloody pulp, and then dragged unconscious through the streets to the jail where he was thrown, dying, to the floor."

ECONOMIC COLLAPSE THREATENS VIRGIN ISLANDS, REPORT SAYS

NEW YORK—A deliberate and cruel plan by the Republican-controlled House Ways and Means Committee to starve the native inhabitants of our possessions, the Virgin Islands of the United States, while making use of American taxpayers' money to feed Europe, is contained in a recent story released by the American Virgin Islands Civic Association with headquarters located at 217 W. 125th St.

It is generally believed by the 12,000 or more natives who reside on the mainland that this sinister move is intended to embarrass President Truman who recently visited the islands because of his appointment of their first Negro Governor whose usefulness they seek to destroy according to Ashley L. Totten, President of the Association.

With annual appropriations cut to the bone, states Trotten, the Virgin Islanders are asking Congress for the return of the internal revenue tax on goods produced in the Virgin Islands and shipped to continental United States. Puerto Rico and Hawaii enjoyed this tax through a period of years. The Philippines collected it until they were given their independence recently. The question therefore is, why should the Virgin Islands be excluded?

The report of the Virgin Islands' Governor states:

"On Thursday, April 8, the Ways and Means Committee of the House of Representatives voted to 'lay on the table' the proposed legislation to return to the Government of the Virgin Islands the internal revenue taxes on liquors produced in the Virgin Islands and shipped to the continental United States. Ordinarily, such a vote means that a committee will give no further consideration to a bill and it will not come before the House for a vote. However, it is still within the power of the Committee to take the bill from the table and report it out to the House."

The humanitarian side of the treatment by our House Ways and Means Committee in shelving this Bill is a matter that the voters of this nation must give consideralbe thought.

Natives on the mainland who are organized with a view toward possible return to the land of their birth consider the shelving of this Bill another blunder and setback to their hopes, yarnings and aspirations. They will never be reconciled to that political strategy which places hardships in the homes of the rest of their kin for political benefits.

THE ACTORS' LAB is happy to announce the inauguration of a popular price policy for a series of workshop productions during the summer season. The first of these to be presented is Lillian Hellman's "nAother Part of the Forest," directed by Mervin Williams, opening May 5 at the Musart Theatre, Pico and Figueroa. Scheduled for six performances only, through May 9, there will be a matinee Saturday afternoon, May 8, at 2:30.

Golden State Mutual Life Sets New Quota

A quota of $2,000,000 in new Life Insurance business has been accepted by the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Company as its share of the $20,000,000 national one-week goal set by the National Negro Insurance Association to be written during National Negro Insurance Week, May 10 to 15 by the 55 member companies of the group.

To spur the attainment of this amount which is a 20 per cent increase over that set for 1947, the NNIA is offering 240 personalized cowhide zipper brief cases to member company agents as prizes; and is also conducting an advertising campaign contest between its companies for the best series of display copy to be placed during the period from March 15 to May 8.

Competition within the various agency staffs of the Golden State Mutual will be waged to determine which men score the highest sales during the week.

Regarding the advertising contest, Golden State Mutual is entering its series of five layouts which are currently being reproduced in local and national newspapers.

The NNIA conceived National Negro Insurance Week several years ago as a means to dramatize the phenomenal progress made by Negro insurance companies in the past quarter of a century. Some idea of this growth is evidenced in the financial report made at the Association's last convention when a total of $850,000,000 of insurance in force was listed as being held by 4 million policyholders. Also, a total of more than $82,000,000 in assets is named by the Association members.

POTPOURRI

New York's Communist controlled American Labor Party cast 400,000 votes in 1944—all of them for Roosevelt, yet Roosevelt only carried the state by 317,000. This year, the ALP which has already sent 2 members to the House of Representatives, is supporting Wallace. It doesn't take an expert to figure out Truman's chances in New York, the indispensable electoral state.

Martin McManus, Republican candidate for Congress in the 14th District, speaking before the Sunday Morning Breakfast Club at Clifton's Cafeteria, let it be known in no uncertain terms that he is for Universal Military Training.

Kenneth Hahn, Councilman, 8th District, ever alert for the welfare of the people he serves, young and old, offered a resolution in the City Council last week, asking that the Department of Recreation and Parks build fire rings along Playa del Rey beaches. These are for all citizens of Los Angeles, of course, but especially for "young people's groups who like to enjoy wienie bakes, campfires, and other similar activities."

Incidentally, Mr. Hahn is the youngest member of the City Council.

On March 17, 1948 President Truman called attention to Russia's "abuse of the veto," having "vetoed 21 proposals for action in a little over two years." The President should know—during that same period he used his veto 43 times.

When the Republican Convention opens on June 21, it will be the fifth time in history that Philadelphia has played host. The Quaker City was the scene of the 1856, 1872, 1900, and 1940 party conventions.

The biggest story of the year will doubtless be the national political conventions to be held in Philadelphia, beginning with the Republican convention June 21. They will mark television's debut in the convention field.

The Democratic convention will also be held in Philadelphia in July, and the Independent Progressive Party will follow later in July.

Neither the Republicans nor the Democrats know whom they will nominate for president of the United States, but the IPP is solid behind Henry Wallace.

Says Edgar Snow, author of many books on the Far East, and Associate Editor of the Saturday Evening Post: "There is nothing more stupid on the record of our foreign policy than present American support for the dictatorship of Chiang Kai-shek, in his war against the Chinese people."

The average peasant in Chiang's area, according to statistics, gives up two-thirds of his crop in rents and taxes. It is only fair to assume, therefore, that he is likely to try some other system if he gets an opportunity.

Richard A. Ibanez, Hollywood attorney, this week announced his candidacy for Judge of the Superior Court of Los Angeles County.

Charging that recent years have found the courts being used as an instrument for the convenience of the privileged few, Ibanez denounced such examples as restrictive covenants, unfair injunctions against labor, and the recent fatal shooting of Augustin Salcido, 17 year old Mexican-American youth, by police officer William Keyes.

"The killing of the Salcido youth by a policeman," said Ibanez, "could only happen here because the racial and other minorities have been unable to obtain proper redress through our civil or criminal courts against the discriminatory practices of police and others."

If elected, Ibanez pledged to "administer the law with a judicial respect for the rights af all people, regardless of race, creed or income."

A crudely made cross was burned in front of the conference hall where the Alabama Student Council was holding a three-day conference attended by educators and students from various white and Negro colleges in Alabama.

Aubrey Williams, former administrator of the NYA under President Roosevelt, was one of the speakers at the Conference. His son, Morrison, a student at the University of Alabama, presented a series of resolutions condemning poll taxes, discrimination, restrictive covenants, and asking for a Federal FEPC, a Federal anti-lynching law, and that the voting age be reduced to 18 years.

The proposal of A. Philip Randolph that Negro inductees in any future military draft practice non-violent civil disobedience, a la Mahatma Gandhi, has thrown the Senate Armed Forces Committee into a veritable dither of fear. Randolph's proposal was based upon discrimination in the armed forces.

"If we can't fight on equal terms, we'll not fight at all," is his dictum.

Action to encourage passing of the Tidelands Bill, S. 1988, to reaffirm California's ownership of her tidelands will be a first order of business at the California Real Estate Association meeting, May 1 at Hoberg, Lake County, Fred B. Mitchell of San Diego, association president, said.

Trail Blazers:

Fred Norman

By PHYLLIS SCOTT

This week Fred Norman returns to New York. He is going back to his wife, his home, and serious work. This, his sixth trip to the celebrated vacation spot, is interesting and beautiful enough but New York will always be home. And he's pretty anxious to get back.

"I've always avoided publicity," he confided, speaking of the interview. "It seems strange . . . after six years," still unbelieving. Norman, born in Florida and educated in Washington, D. C., got his start with orchestra leader Claude Hopkins. After graduation from Harvard University he went to New York to branch out professionally in music. He played the trombone and arranged with the Hopkins band for about six years. And then he stopped to devote his full time to arranging and writing.

The musical architect behind the great names in music was coming into his own. When the Big Break came arrangements for Gene Krupa, Benny Goodman, Artie Shaw, Ben Bernie, Al Goodman, Raymond Paige, Tommy Dorsey, and presently Charlie Spivak, who last week completed an engagement at the Hollywood Paladium, followed.

In 1945 he came to Hollywood to do some musical arrangements with Calvin Jackson for the MGM picture, "Thrill of A Romance." He followed it with "Swing Parade" starring Connie Boswell and a musical short for Universal studios featuring Charlie Spivak. And now he's returning home.

In the beginning he did a lot of ghost writing for other arrangers. One of his 'house' arrangements for Raymond Paige landed him a permanent job as staff writer with CBS in New York. During that time he collaborated with Jack Smith, Mark

Warnow for the Hit Parade, and aptly handled other stellar radio shows.

With modesty he made gainful strides. But Norman, who comes by his ability naturally, spent long hours in the Congressional Library devouring the annals of music to back his achievements.

In his opinion success is not impossible, especially if one works for it. Good things last. It may take a while for them to come to the front but if they're good others will know it.

"I don't like to magnify the race angle, although it's there. But it has been my experience that if you can deliver your work will be accepted." Norman is a stout adherent to the psychology of encouragement, which he believes is a fundamental requisite in helping to realize our greatest possibilities.

He can never forget the encouragement Henry Grant and Mary McCleod Bethune have offered him in his present undertaking. In speaking of the renowned leader Norman said "Mrs. Bethune has been like a second mother . . . just wonderful." He advises young artists to never become satisfied . . . always make room for improvement. In that way high standards can be maintained.

Professionally he is affiliated with ASCAP, American Society of Musical Arrangers, chairman of Dance Band Arrangers in New York, and is a regular contributor to the NAACP, Y.M.C.A. of Brooklyn, and Urban League. And his spouse, Lucille Norman noted clubwoman, was recently appointed administrative secretary to the Harlem Division of the American Cancer Society.

Norman—noted arranger, composer, writer, gentleman—has profound admiration for those artists who make it the hard way. Inclined to a more serious vein, he works hard himself. Although he loves the legitimate theatre, he is more enthusiastic about music than any other art form. The genial host who prefers intimate circles to large crowds, is greatly respected by men of his profession and music fans alike.

Ties are the Weapons

By PAUL FRENCH

The savage and growing attacks against labor, the injunctions, police brutality, and Taft-Hartley repressions, coming together with the rising propaganda for war, show that Henry Wallace was correct when he said: "The great menace to American freedom does not come from abroad, but from home-grown fascism."

War and fascism go hand in hand. And if the war-makers succeed, the coming war will bring NO WAR PROSPERITY for American labor, but rather all the brutal repressions and conditions of fascism.

Not one day nor one hour passes, but that the vast propaganda machine of Wall Street imperialism cooks up some new falsehood, or its diplomatic and military puppets invent some new provocation against the Soviet Union.

The impression given by this propaganda, is that the Soviet Union is the one "looking for trouble," while American generals and diplomats are sighing for peace, and America is utterly helpless, with only a few old rowboats for a navy, only a corporal's guard in the army, and an air force with "no planes." Nothing could be more false than this war propaganda.

Last year, it was "flying saucers." This year, there are "mysterious submarines" everywhere, "Communist revolts" in Latin America, "Russian planes" over Alaska, "Communist menaces" in Italy, Finland, Scandinavia and way points, the constant scaring of people with fantastic tales of "danger from the enemy—Russia," and such absurd forgeries as "Protocol M."

About three months ago, big headlines told you about "Protocol M." It was supposed to be a hair-raising document captured from "Soviet agents" in Germany, giving detailed plans for strikes and revolts by German workers, just to cause American occupational forces there trouble. Secretary Marshall solemnly declared that it was genuine and very alarming.

However, on April 19, in the London House of Commons, Minister of State Hector McNeil officially was forced to admit that "Protocol M" was a forgery, written up by some unnamed German, who doubtless got a neat price for selling it as a genuine "Moscow plot." Headlines in the Los Angeles Times sold you the lie three months ago. The exposure of the lie was printed obscurely in The Times of April 20, on page nine.

There was a revolt in Colombia. But that it was a "Communist" revolt is another big lie. Yet Secretary Marshall, who was finding his pompous arrogance a failure in impressing even reactionary Latin American diplomats, solemnly declared it was a "Communist" revolt, though every sensible person knows that it was merely the justified uprising of starving and politically oppressed masses, when suddenly angered by the assassination of Colombia's "Henry Wallace," one Jorge E. Gaitan. But Marshall's lie aids war plans.

And those "submarines" which excited people keep seeing in the Pacific: though the most careful search by the navy cannot find any—in the first place, the Pacific ocean is NOT the private property of Uncle Sam, and any nation has a perfect right to send submarines there, though it appears none really did. A further curious thing about those "submarines," supposed to be "Soviet" ones, is that the people who "saw" them all talk about seeing their "periscopes." Yet, it is known that Soviet submarines are built on the "Snorkel" plan, and USE NO PERISCOPES, using instead almost invisible canvas "breathers," which do not stick out of the water.

Thus go these daily and hourly lies, invented to whip up "war talk" and war feeling against the Soviet Union, war talk that poisons every breath. Yet, the most responsible correspondents report there is no war talk in the Soviet Union, no war talk at all!

Robert Magidoff, American correspondent in Moscow, and certainly no friend of "the Russians," since he was expelled from the U.S.S.R. after his secretary furnished documents to the Soviet government proving that he was serving as a spy to get military information for America, said on arriving in Germany (April 21) that he "heard little war talk in Russia."

Eddy Gilmore, Associated Press man, returning to Moscow after visiting in New York, reported last month that he found "nobody talking about war" in Moscow. Howard K. Smith, CBS correspondent in Europe, also reported last month that most of the war talk there "comes from the United States." He went on to say that there are "no Russians" in Greece, but there ARE American troops in Greece; that there are no Russians in Italy, but there ARE American warships in every big port in Italy.

Smith added: "It is rather hard to make anyone in Europe believe that the Russians are on the aggressive against them, when there are no Russians around to do any aggressing."

Even the unusually stupid Manchester Boddy of the Los Angeles Daily News reports from Washington that the general conclusion of all intelligent people there is that "Russia is not planning a military attack against the western powers." (News, April 23.) However, Mr. Boddy is fascinated with the current carbon copy of Hitler fascism, that it is the Heaven-endowed mission of America to prevent the people of any nation anywhere from exercising their democratic right to vote for Communists if they want to.

Therefore, under this new Hitlerism of the Washington-London Axis, America outrageously stuck its nose, and fist, into the affairs of "independent" Italy, and prevented a really democratic election. On April 21, the United Press reported from Washington that, under a "Secret Project X," America spent $4,000,000 in the Italian elections "for political purposes."

Ambassador James Dunn went about Italy making campaign speeches against the People's Democratic Front candidates. Bribery, threats and promises were used to distort and corrupt electoral democracy. In spite of all this, the People's Front increased its vote from 27 to 31 per cent of the total vote, while the biggest reactionary party, the Christian Democrats, got only 47 per cent of the total vote, and rules as a minority party.

The Italian election shows how dangerous it is for Americans to delude themselves with the idea that reaction will accept defeat of Wallace is elected this November in this country. It also shows that, if he is not elected, the Wall Street-military-fascists will use their elector victory to justify a savage regime of reactionary-fascist terror against labor and the people.

Unless, of course, a strong anti-war and anti-fascist people's movement is built up meanwhile—a movement strong enough to resist terror, even if Wallace is defeated, and strong enough to enforce his promise of peace and democracy if he is elected.

Republic Pix Chief Wins Legion Scroll

HOLLYWOOD—American Legion Post No. 8, mother post of Los Angeles County, this week honored Republic Pictures and its president, Mr. Herbert J. Yates, by sponsoring Republic-Americana night, at which time Edward C. Stodel, Commander of the post, presented a scroll inrecognition of Republic's contribution to Americana throughout the 13 years of its picture-making history.

Lt. Col. Franklyn Adreon, U.S.M.C. Reserve, a Republic producer, accepted the scroll for Mr. Yates, who was in New York and unable to be present at the meeting. The scroll reads as follows:

"The Los Angeles Post No. 8, American Legion, presents this citation to Herbert J. Yates, President of Republic Pictures, in recognition of his proven loyalty as an American citizen as exemplified by his sponsorship through the years of motion pictures conceived and dedicated to the great American story. By in recognition of Republic's conof the building of our great country he has created a permanent tribute to the courage and fortitude of our early pioneers and a living pattern to our presen generation to constantly guard our dearly won principles of justice, freedom, and democracy."

World Trade Week Observance Set For May 16-22

Mel H. Buether, chairman of the publicity committee for Los Angeles' World Trade Week observance May 16-22, yesterday named a group of local public relations, advertising and business representatives to assist in publicizing activities scheduled for the annual event.

World Trade Week for 1948, with the slogan, "World Trade Makes Good Neighbors," will point up the vital importance of international commerce and shipping, Buether said. Through an extensive program of events during the week and publicity in the press, radio, libraries and city schools, he added, every resident of the Los Angeles area will be shown how world trade affects his income, his every-day living and his economic future.

Working with Buether and his vice-chairman, Alex Swan, will be leaders of major World Trade Week activities, including General Chairman Alfred E. Hopkins, Lawrence D. Pritchard, chairman of the World Trade Conference May 17 and 18, and Stanley C. Lagerlof, who will direct Harbor Day events, May 22, for the Los Angeles Junior Chamber of Commerce.

NEGRO FILMS

Documentary films entitled "The Negro Soldier" and "The Negro Farmer" will be shown at the Los Angeles County Museum in Exposition Park, Sunday, May 2 at 3 p.m. Music will be supplied by the choir of Tuskegee Institute.

UNITED STATES REVERSAL ON PALESTINE TRAGIC MISTAKE

According to Congresswoman Helen Gahagan Douglas, reporting from Washington, the reversal of the position of the United States Government with respect to Palestine was a tragic mistake which is now beginning to bring the adverse consequences that should have been foreseeable.

However, there is an intelligent and constructive program which can still be adopted and which should have the full support of the United States, says Mrs. Douglas. This would include:

First, the immediate establishment of trusteeship in Jerusalem in accordance with the decision of the United Nations on November 29, 1947. The Holy City must be saved from destruction. A truce could be achieved between the Jews and the Arabs within that city without prejudice to the solution for the rest of the country.

Secondly, the United Nations should immediately send a Border Commission to Palestine to report on the invasion of that country by adjacent states which are members of the United Nations and other sovereignties. The conflict to date has been seriously aggravated by the invasion of uninformed, armed and identifiable forces from other countries. This must not be allowed to persist. Unless these nations cease their invasion and withdraw their present forces they should be punished by economic and other sanctions. A respectable and dignified and representative Border Commission can provide the United Nations and the world with essential facts which can in turn provide the basis for sanctions against such violators of peace.

Thirdly, the United States should lift the Arms Ehbargo and provide the arms for defense pruposes. These arms can be supplied through the United Nations Commission on Palestine in order to assure that they will be used for defense and not aggression.

Postmaster Fanning To Be Honored at Testimonial Banquet

A testimonial banquet in appreciation of Honorable Michael D. Fanning, Postmaster of Los Angeles will be held Sunday, May 16, 1948 at the beautiful Rodger Young Auditorium, 936 West Washington Boulevard. Dinner will be served at 3:30 p.m.

In recognition of Honorable Fanning's fairness and friendleness to minority groups, a composite array of Negro organizations, namely: The National Alliance of Postal Employees (Los Angeles Branch O,) The Los Angeles Branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, Saint Odilia's Church, Pacific Town Club, California State Association of Colored Women, Inc., Ben J. Bowie American Legion Post No. 228, West View Hospital Women's Guild, Golden West Lodge No. 86, I.B.P.O.E. of W. Citizens' Committee of Los Angeles, Five and Over Charity Club, Postal "32" Club and the Social Men of Letters.

Honorable Fanning received his appointment as Postmaster of Los Angeles on March 14, 1946. To date, he has appointed eight Negroes to supervisorial positions in the Los Angeles Post Office System. His predecessors in office, from 1885 to 1946 had only appointed three Negroes to supervisorial positions.

The Los Angeles Postmaster has received numerous honorary citations, plaques and scrools from various American Legion Posts, Catholic Societies and other civic organizations, having been cited for his contribution to the community of better race relations and understanding.

As principal speaker at the national convention of The National Alliance of Postal Employees, held at Cleveland, Ohio, during August, 1947, Honorable Fanning delivered the mose outstanding and forthright speeches in the annals of the organization's history.

Also acknowledging the good deeds of Postmaster Fanning will be the following honored guests:

Most Reverend Bishop Timothy Manning, Chancellor of the Archdiocese of Los Angeles; Rabbi Max Nussbaum of The Temple of Israel, Hollywood; Reverend Clayton D. Russell, Pastor of The Independent Church of Christ, and Attorney Daniel G. Marshall.

George S. Mouton, general chairman of the Fanning Banquet committee, who is also president of District Ten, National Alliance of Postal Employees announced that the bulk of the tickets for the banquet has been placed in the h ands of various organizations hereinbefore mentioned. The active members of the Fanning Banquet committee from whom tickets can be purchased are: Mrs. Gertrude Reese Hicks, Dr. H. C. Hudson, Mr. Lorenzo Bowdoin, Mrs. Esther T. Greenly, Mr. Leslie E. Scott, Mr. Marion D. Walker, Mr. Al Hassan, Mrs. Ethel V. Gray, Mr. Tillman B. Thomas, Mr. Sydney Williston, Mr. Jesse L. Robinson, Mrs. Irene D. Bradford, Mr. Claude G. McDonald, Mr. J. Howard Scott, Mr. William Cook, Mr. Robert Summerise, Mr. William H. Smith and Reverend Patrick J. Shine, S.M.A., treasurer.

For the convenience of the general public of those unaffiliated with any of the sponsoring organizations, tickets may be purchased at the following places: St. Odilia's Rectory, 53rd Street at Hooper Avenue, West Coast Public Service, 4233 South Central Avenue and the Medical Pharmacy, 3112 South Western Avenue. Price per plate: $3.00. The deadline for reservations will be Monday, May 10 at 7 p.m. However, the sale of tickets is progressing rapidly and a sell-out is predicted before the established deadline for reservations. First come, first served.

The cocktail bar at the Rodger Young Auditorium will open at 2 p.m. for those desiring cocktails or refreshments before dinner on Sunday, May 16. Parking is free in the rear of the Auditorium.

Complete entertainment arrangements had not been made at press time. Mr. George Comfort, talented singer has consented to render a few numbers.

The affair will be non-sectarian, non-political and non-profit. The motivating spirit of the banquet is a display of appreciation to Postmaster Fanning for his contribution to the community.

Jewish State Needs Strong Public Opinion Support—Bittleman

Alexander Bittleman, addressing some 2000 people at Embassy Auditorium last Saturday night, told the audience who were the friends and enemies of the Jewish people. Blasting the American policy in Palestine, Bittleman said that the trouble stems from the neighboring states of Syria, Lebanon, and Egypt.

"If the Security Council had passed a resolution ordering the Arab bands from neighboring states to desist from interfering the Palestine situation could be greatly alleviated. But the American government is in full sympathy with the British government in inciting the Arabs against the organization of Jewish state."

Convinced that public opinion could be aroused to maintain a Jewish state, he believes this might be one of the strongest methods of barring the partition of Palestine. In a statement to clarify the position Jewry has taken in regards to allegiance to their own respective countries.

Bittleman said that the primary interest of all Jews lies in the problems of their own country. However, all Jews have three common interests which bind them together. Fascism, they fell, is their main enemy. Nothing is more abhorent, more menacing, more dangerous to them. Anti-semitism is another enemy but the creation of a Jewish state is probably the strongest common aspiration.

The Communist leader and fiery victim of the administration's campaign of terror said "I am going to fight my deportation to the last ditch." This arrest is an act of intimidation and terrorization against everyone combatting Truman doctrine. "I feel very confident that people won't let this happen because this is part of the whole struggle to crush civil liberties."

The banana is the staple food of the natives in many of the Pacific islands.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Mrs. Charlotta Bass, Editor
CALIFORNIA EAGLE
Los Angeles 11, California

Dear Mrs. Bass:

I find it difficult to tell you how much I enjoyed your speech at the Avalon Christian Church on Sunday evening, April 25. I have never heard a more timely speech on the problems that are confronting us today. I think when I say that your speech was enjoyable I voice the opinion of the entire group present.

"Thought Control" is one of the major problems that we are confronted with today. We dare not say what we think. We, as Americans, have always took freedom of speech for granted, but now there are organizations that are trying to suppress that freedom and still more they are trying to control our thoughts. I think you, as one of our leading citizens of Los Angeles, has joined in the fight to keep this freedom that we fought two wars to save. Guns and bullets can kill the body; but "Thought Control" can kill the soul.

We need strong men and women who are not afraid and will give us the facts by the way of the Negro press. I think the CALIFORNIA EAGLE is doing a wonderful job in keeping us properly informed and has always been a progressive paper.

As a student and a future leader of the city I wish to commend you personally on such philanthropical work that you are doing for the betterment of our community, city, state, and nation; and may you have many more years of success in presenting the facts to our people.

Very truly yours,
(MR.) CLEOPHUS BOWIE

The following is one of the many heart-breaking letters that keep pouring into the office of The California Eagle almost daily:

Dear Mrs. Bass:

I need some help. They are trying to run me out of my home. I have tried all I could to get help, but I have not got any. No one of my own people have had their foot in this house this year. I never see them. I am tired of being run over, and no one to help me.

It has been going on a long time. Now they are putting up signs For Sale. I have been trying to come up there, but I can't leave home. I am afraid they may burn it down. I will tell you all when I see you. They are not trying to stop it, but what can I do when my own people run over me and don't come around me? I won't write any more, because my heart is heavy this morning.

Mrs. Pauline Goodwin,
San Diego.

Little Rock, Ark.

Editor, California Eagle:

This will inform you that I have been here all week in the service of the Arkansas Baptist college in their Religious Emphasis Week. The work is very interesting and it is worthwhile to serve curious and enthusiastic students if one has a message. I am quite happy in this service and the students show many signs of deep and abiding interest and appreciation.

"I REMEMBER MAMA"

RKO presents Irene Dunne, Barbara Bel Geddes, Oscar Homolka, Phillip Dorn, Edgar Bergen in a warm-hearted drama.

Irene gathers the family as she distributed husband Dorn's weekly salary; once more they don't have to touch their bank account. Homolka, the uncle is at his deathbed and reveals that Barbara O'Neil, the housekeeper is his legal wife.

Cousin Ellen Corby finds no objection from the family and marries Edgar Bergen. The family is happy, but for Barbara, who aspires to be a writer with little success. Irene goes to Florence Bates, an author and finds the problem answered.

Barbara has a story accepted, a story about her family. Irene then reveals that they never had a bank account at all.

Inside Hollywood

By IRWIN ALLEN

Now we've heard everything! M-G-M has told Margaret O'Brien to reduce. Believe it or not, this brilliant ten-year-old actress must lose ten pounds. It's the ten pounds she picked up with a big appetite during the four months since she completed "The Unfinished Dance." And she has until next month to drop the weight. She begins "East River" then. When I ran across Margaret and her youthful mother, Gladys, in the commissary at luncheon, Margaret was eating rice instead of potatoes and her mother had moved the bread out of reach. The little star looked wonderful, but mother pointed out that the camera makes a person look about ten pounds heavier than she actually is. Then she added: "Margaret might look a little plump on the screen as she is now."

IRWIN ALLEN

Midgets, who have worked in pictures for years, but were unable to make a good living at it, have finally found a way to get year-'round Hollywood employment. Nine of them banded together as a group within the Screen Extras' Guild and will act as stand-ins for children. The plan began a month ago. That was when Midget Billy Curtis took the first job as stand-in for a youngster in the Evelyn Keyes-Glenn Ford starrer at Columbia, "The mating of Millie." The plan worked so well that all nine midgets are now at work. Use of a midget as stand-in for a child saves the salary of the stand-in's mother, who invariably is hired, too. It also saves hiring a teacher, which is a state requirement in the case of child actors.

Midgets can also work eight hours or more a day, whereas children are permitted to work for four hours at the most. Then, too, the midgets can double in difficult stunts for the moppet actors.

The average age of the midgets is between 35 and 40 years. The average weight is from fifty to sixty pounds, and average height, three feet two inches to four feet. Earnings will be from 15 dollars and 56 cents a day, which is an extra's wage, to about one hundred dollars, depending on the stunts they are asked to do.

On the Sets

With LUIS ROSADO

There are some screen directors who sometimes find it easier to act a scene for the actors under his guidance, than just explaining it. However, sometimes, this trick also plays some unforseen situations to those involved. One of such incidents happened the other day when I visited a set at Twentieth Century-Fox studio, in which that old "mirror, mirror on the wall" legend threw Director Robert Siodmak for a temporary loss of Victor Mature's profile.

LUIS ROSADO

Siodmak was directing Vic and Richard Conte in the suspenseful personality drama, "The Chair for Martin Rome," and he was using a gimmick in a department store scene that confused him as much as it is expected to intrigue audiences.

The "gimmick" — which at a seven hundred ($700) dollars purchase price deserves a fancier title—is a sample of a new kind of glass development known as "FBI Mirror." It came in very handy in counter-espionage work during the war, and was first used on celluloid in "House on 92nd Street."

The glass appeared to be an ordinary mirror on one side, but it is actually transparent when viewed from the opposite side. Siodmak and his crew at the studio were using it to advantage of the suspense element in the picture.

Conte, who had just escaped from jail, had gone to a department store to enlist aid from Shelly Winters, his sales-girl sweetheart, and Copper Mature, who expected him to show up there, was watching from the darkened room used by store detectives to spot shop-lifters.

Siodmak was very pleased about obtaining the "FBI Mirror," and he happily explained its use to every visitor on the set. That made him sound like an expert—but when it came to shooting the scene, he fooled even himself.

For effect, Siodmak had set up the camera behind the transparent side of the mirror, and was shooting through it to get a scene of Mature encountering Conte. He could see his actors perfectly, but all they could see was a reflection of themselves.

That's where Siodmak forgot himself. As Mature started to walk toward Conte in the store interior, Siodmak waved his arms frantically, and muttered, "No, no! Slower, Vic, like this."

Then the director who likes to describe himself as being as big a ham as any star, goes into an ambulatory illustration. Vic, of course, couldn't see him, and continued to walk exactly the same way. Siodmak began to shout, and as Vic heard him, he stopped, puzzled.

"See, Vic," Siodmak repeated. "Like this. Now try it again."

Vic, obviously, didn't see. And he had to come way around the set, sidestepping the deceptive mirror, to explain to Siodmak that he was not practicing insubordination, after all.

While everyone on the "Chair for Martin Rome" set had a good laugh at the expense of the good-natured director, Siodmak promised to remember. But he still couldn't resist demonstrating his desired actions to actors who couldn't see what he was doing. In fact, he kept forgetting himself all morning, after repeated promises not to.

The company broke for lunch, and Siodmak was exhausted as he said to me, "Never again, will I be so clever to use this glass stuff. I'm so clever I make a fool of myself!"

QUIZ BOX

Q—Ruth Sweeney, Chicago, Ill.:: "Which was Barbara Hale's first picture? What is her next picture or is she making one now? I'm wondering if she and her husband, Bill Williams, will be in another picture together soon."

A.—Barbara Hale made her screen debut in "Higher and Higher" playing opposite Frank Sinatra. Her next picture to be released is "The Window," and she is now working in "The Boy With Green Hair," at RKO. As to her making another picture with her husband, Bill Williams, there have been no definite plans made, however, you never can tell.

Leslie Brooks could be a standout on any chorus line, but there were other ideas on the gorgeous and curvacious blonde. She wanted to be an actress, though some directors didn't seem certain she could act. Columbia thought differently and rightly so.

"SITTING PRETTY"

Twentieth Century-Fox presents one of the funniest comedies to be released this year featuring Robert Young, Maureen O'Hara, Clifton Webb with Richard Hayden, Louise Allbritton, Willard Robertson and John Russell.

Here is one comedy that you can take the entire family and from the oldest to the youngest you will leave the theatre with a chuckle.

Robert Young, an attorney, and his wife, Maureen O'Hara, have trouble in securing a maid so she advertises for a baby sitter and runs an ad in the local paper. Here is where the laughs begin, yes, Lynn Belevedere (Clifton Webb) applies for the position by letter and after several telegrams are exchanged it is agreed that Lynn has secured the position. On arrival it is a man and not a maid as they thought and from here on the laughs are so fast that it is almost impossible to get all the dialogue. Everything that comes up, Clifton Webb has a ready remedy for it. As the community is small there is a busy body, Willard Robertson, who is the gossiper and is always starting rumors about every one in the community, this gives our hero Clifton an idea and not until the end of the picture does the community know what he has been doing while employed as a "baby sitter."

"THE BIG CLOCK"

Paramount presents Ray Milland, Charles Laughton, Maureen O'Sullivan, George Macready, Rita Johnson, Elsa Lancaster and Dan Tobin.

Mystery readers have "The Big Clock" way up high in a special niche as one of the select thrillers of recent years, and the rumble you hear is the advance of the approval the shiver fanatics give after they view their favorite transferred to celluloid.

And it isn't easy to get an okay from those rabid fans.

This is a class job and whodunit making. It gets under way quickly, and it rolls, with accelerating, cummulative pace and tension, but smoothly, not with the contrived jerkiness and false twists of the usual screen thriller.

Ray Milland, editor, is a super-schrewd dynamo when turned loose on a crime. Charles Laughton, publishing tycoon, has murdered his mistress, and as a means of keeping in closest contact with the search for the unknown killer, and also muddying the waters possibly, assigns Milland and all his resources to the trail. There are reasons for Milland working under wraps, yet he is caught in the web of his own skill. One-by-one certain things are discovered, inexorably danger to Milland is increased. Incident piles upon incident as the search for the killer, actually being paid for by the murderer, moves to the inevitable climax of Laughton's exposure.

Ray Milland's unique talents of smart, suave, he-man believeability, are at their best in a role that must carry the heavy load of the picture's interest. Laughten's tricky publisher will fill the bill for the novel's readers. Maureen O'Sullivan's charm and unassuming trouping are an asset. George Macready, Laughton's adviser, registers strongly.

Gal About Hollywood

By MARGARET MORTON McKAY

Every Academy Award time in Hollywood brings on a rush of nominations for acting, directing, producing, song-writing and other creative arts in the motion picture industry, but somehow the designers who dress the stars are passed by and receive no accolade.. How this important spoke of the wheel has come to be left out of the recognized glories, I don't know. A great deal of the atmosphere and mood of the picture is established by the wardrobe designers. The star's beauty and reality, as far as appearance is concerned, is strongly controlled by the designer. The designer's imaginative ideas are copied throughout the country by other designers and local dressmakers. They set more than half the styles of America! Yet Hollywood has not officially recognized their contribution to the picture.

Margaret McKay

I checked this point, unofficially, with the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences. They have no Award for this very definite art as yet, but hope to in the near future.

As a fashion writer and observer, I'd like to pick my choice for an Academy Award—if there was an Award! If I've missed any of your preferences, drop me a note and I'll print some of them!

For number one position the embroidered satin Oscar goes (in the Best Dressed Modern Wardrobe Picture division) to Orry Kelly for his all-around smart, wearable ensembles designed for Merle Oberon in "Night Song," an RKO-Radio picture. The outstanding new touch was a fresh floral bouquet worn in the chignon of Miss Oberon's hair with an off-shoulder blue velvet evening dress.

Runners-up include Edith Head's gowns for Barbara Stanwyck in "The Other Love," an Enterprise picture with particular bow to an Oriental embroidered evening dress; Oleg Cassini's versatile, lady-like wardrobe for Joan Leslie in "Repeat Performance," an Eagle-Lion picture, with special notice for the turquoise velvet hostess robe trimmed with a mink collar; Elois Jenssen's wardrobe for Lucille Ball in Columbia's 'Lured.' Miss Jenssen, incidentaly, is Hollywood's youngest designer at 23. Highlight of the excellent, young wardrobe was a plaid vest suit with top-coat interlined in plaid.

In the costume division, the best picture wardrobe, to my mind, was Rene Hubert's fine work on "Forever Amber," a 20th Century-Fox film. Not only did he create Linda Darnell's exciting clothes, but each and every costume you saw in the picture. These costumes contributed greatly to establishing the authenticity of the period. High point, to me, was the green and white striped taffeta Miss Darnell wore in one high scene.

Runner-up in the costume films was Orry Kelly's gowns for Joan Fontaine in "Ivy," Universal-International picture. The white broadcloth suit with tiny jacket and full skirt that Miss Fontaine wore in the scene at the races was indeed a trend toward the "New Look" suits this year and the current revival of white suits.

Of course Technicolor and Cinecolor contribute a great deal to "selling" the beauty of clothes, so eventually if the Academy does make such awards they will have to work out four divisions: black and white modern, black and white costume, and Technicolor modern, costume. Black and white clothes can hardly compete with color.

Jeanette MacDonald's wardrobe in "Three Daring Daughters," created by Irene, is a 1948 picture, and will be a strong contender among my selections next year. If the Academy doesn't set up this award by next Award time, we'll run a poll right in this column and ask you fashion-wise readers to name your choices. How about it?

REEL ONE: PREVIEW FLIGHT! ● ● ●

This was written while gazing over Texas, viewed from 23 thousand feet in the air aboard the Special Preview Flight of the new and modified American Airlines DC-6. SOME view! All about me are newspaper reporters and one other Hollywood reporter. Jimmy Starr. Flight was arranged by Ken Frogley, publicity director of the American Airlines, under the watchful eyes of President Fred Damon and Board Chairman C. R. Smith. Flight began in Hollywood Thursday morning from Metropolitan Airport. Destination: New York. Stopovers at Dallas where everyone aboard was made an Honorary Texas Sheriff . . . pause overnight at Ardmore, Oklahoma where the American Airlines Training Center is located.

GEORGE FISHER

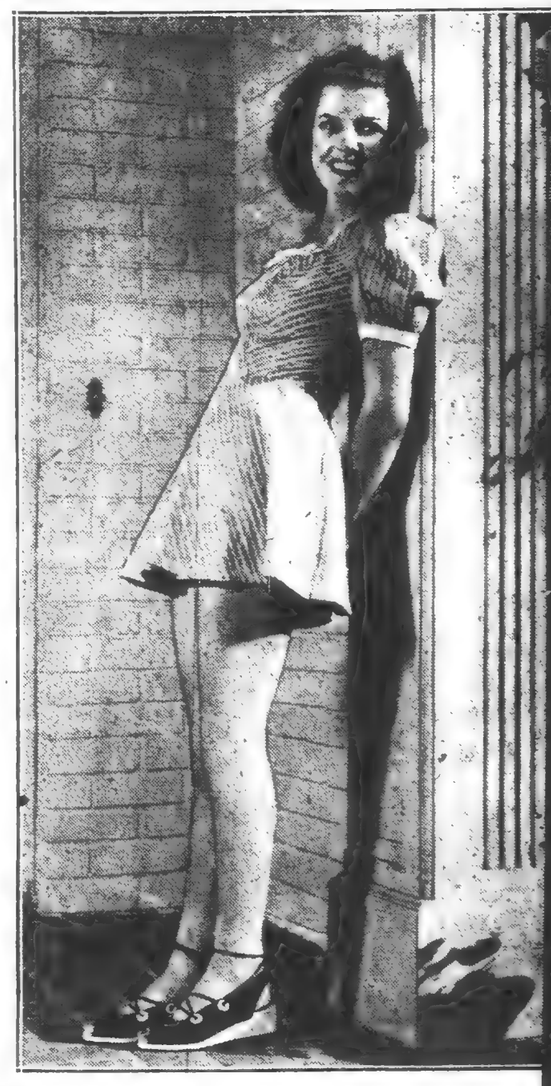
REEL TWO: NEW YORK, WHAT-A-TOWN! ● ● ●

Dropping out of the sky in the big DC-6 Friday, at five-thirty p.m., we were all rushed to the swank Park Hotel, where cocktail party got under way at once in the White and Gold Room, followed by an evening in the Persian Room to hear Hildegarde. Sandwiched in between saw "Command Decision" starring Paul Kelly and sat next to Harriet Parsons, who is in New York to attend the opening of her new film: "I Remember Mama." Kelly is great and the play is a Broadway hit. Still later: Toots Shors for dinner (supper), talked to George Stevens, Milton Berle, Herb (20 Questions) Polesie, Jerry Lester (at the Copacabana), Paul Douglas, Earl Wilson, Leonard Lyons, Hal Wallis, Don (The Sheriff) Briggs and Bill Treadwell, Fawcett Publications Chief. Still later: With Treadwell, Jimmy Starr, Ken Frogley and Jack Egan, went to Eddie Condon's in the Village, ran into Jackie Gleason and Adrian Rollini.

REEL THREE: HOLLYWOOD BOUND ● ● ●

Saturday in New York: Lunch at Toots Shors, and the rest of the afternoon at Vosson's and 21 Club—just meeting old friends. Back on the DC-6 at five-thirty p.m. and arrive in Hollywood at three-thirty a.m. Stewardesses: Wanda and Mary were wonderful, and played recordings all the way back while those who weren't tired enough danced. Ruth Elder, famed aviatrix, who went on the trip, sat at the controls for an hour. Dilyus Jones, daughter of Idwal Jones, and reporter for the San Francisco Examiner was a bright addition to the party—and about the hand-ing, everyone agreed it was the best press junket in ten years. The flight was smooth—nary a bump. So when you're in a hurry to fly anywhere in the world in comfort and safety, take my word and go DC-6. (I got back, didn't I)? Thanks to C. R. Smith, Rex Smith, Fred Damon and especially to Ken Frogley for all the fun.

REEL FOUR: HOLLYWOOD WHISPERS ● ● ●



Spotted Jimmy Durante in the CBS lobby—a streamlined Durante. Jimmy's been taking stream-lined treatments at Ruth Perin's Contour Studios in Beverly Hills, and is a walking ad for the place. He's the only male customer, at that.

Carmen Lopez, one of my favorite nightclub dancers (she wowed them from Mexico City to New York) is headlining in still another part of the world: Honolulu. The fiery dancer, who cavorts like Argentenita, is at the South Seas Club on the Island. Her costumes have won first prizes in Mexico City, New York, San Francisco and Los Angeles—they are sensational. Carmen brought six new costumes to Honolulu—my one regret is that I am still in Hollywood! And if you listen to my weekly Armed Forces Radio Service Programs in Hololulu, Carmen, you'll hear this same plug on the air—and I mean every word of it, too, honey!

REEL FIVE: BEHIND THE SCENES IN HOLLYWOOD ● ●

Right around the corner from my apartment (I am happy to note) is Longshires Restaurant. It has just been taken over by two clever lads who brought fame and customers to the now very famous Old Virginia Steak House in South Pasadena. Pat Mitchell will actively manage Longshires, which is one of the prettiest spots in the Miracle Mile of Wilshire Boulevard.

Bill Thomas, former infantry captain, now at the Veterans Hospital for a checkup, is happy his Nina Bara is back in Hollywood from her Mexican film jaunt. She's beautiful, and now adorns his hospital bedside thus cheering everyone thereabouts.

Hollywood is speculating whether or not Ann Sheridan is marr to Steve Hannagan. The concensus of opinion, that they are. An says no. Her next is "Good Sam" for RKO on loanout from Warn Here's hoping its a better venture than loanout "Winter Carniv

BROADWAY FEDERAL SAVINGS PASSES ONE MILLION

Achievement of $1,000,000 in assets was proudly announced last Friday night by the Broadway Federal Savings and Loan Association of this city at a dinner meeting held at Alena's Tea Room, 295 South Western Avenue.

H. A. Howard is president and general manager of this second Federal savings and loan association owned and operated by Negroes anywhere in the country. He made the formal announcement before members of the board of directors, officers and employees of the association, and to a small group of civic leaders who attended the dinner, that this goal had been accomplished in a little over 15 months after the doors of the institution had opened on January 11, 1947.

Present also to witness the report was Mr. Frank Noon, Manager of the Local Branch of the Home Loan Bank of San Francisco, with which Broadway Federal is affiliated. Mr. Noon praised the association and its officers for the determination they have shown and the business acumen exhibited in the first and most difficult year of such enterprises."

Mr. Howard beamed as he reeled off a few figures which revealed the soundness of Broadway Federal, and the volume of loans it has made to date to home owners. "The association now has 1,092 members," he said, "and we are working hard to double that number in the 12 months ahead. If we do, and we will, two million dollars in assets will be assured."

Others who participated in the program and guests were: Dr. H. Claude Hudson, Master of Ceremonies, Robert Bonnet, Jr., Attorney David W. Williams, M. Earl Grant, Robert Gibson, Michael W. Loan Association Reaches Million In Assets

LOS ANGELES, April 29—Achievement of $1,000,000 in assets was proudly announced last Friday night by the Broadway Federal Savings and Loan Association of this city at a dinner meeting held at Alena's Tea Room, 2915 South Western.

Cubs Favored In JC Meet

Coach Wendell Smith's highly-regarded Los Angeles City College track squad, sparked by sprinters Fred Sims and Bill Mitchell, rules as a slight favorite to capture top honors in the Western States Conference cinder finals Friday night (tomorrow) at the Los Angeles Coliseum.

Undefeated in conference and junior college competition, and boasting an excellent mile relay team which displayed its prowess in a dual meet against Compton College and placed third in the Drake Relays, the Cub outfit should encounter its stiffest opposition in Compton. These two squads are expected to far outdistance their nearest rivals in the quest for the team title.

For individual honors, Los Angeles fans point to the excellent performances of the aforementioned Sims and Mitchell, as two sprint candidates with fine clockings for their events throughout the past season. Sims, Smith's ace dash man, has been timed in 9.8 for the 100 and holds the Cub school record for the 220, having stopped watches in 21.2. Teammate Mitchell excels in the quarter mile and 220-yard low hurdle events.

Cubs Out for Third Win

Six members of the 1948 state champion Los Angeles City College gym team entrain today for State College, Pa., where they will compete in the National AAU bymnastics meet to be held on the campus of Pennsylvania State College Saturday evening.

Paced by rope-climber Garvin Smith, holder of the unofficial world's record of 4.2s for the 25-foot rope, the Cubs will be out to capture their third consecutive win in as many weeks of competition. Two weeks ago the local squad ran away with top honors in the Western States Conference finals. Last weekend they swept to a first place in the Southern Pacific AAU competition held on the home floor.

Baseball Trotters Prep for Opener; Plan Road Trip

DALLAS, TEX.—(Special)—At peak after a satisfying spring training seige, the crack Harlem Globetrotters Baseball team, managed by Paul Hardy, is ready for a series of games with Satchel Paige's City All-Stars.

Hardy again has the Globetrotters hustling and playing in the manner that won them national acclaim last year, when they won rating as the best full-time traveling novelty aggregation in the nation. Their 1947 record listed 77 victories and 38 defeats. Included were 35 wins against 18 defeats in a tour with the House of David team from Benton Harbor, Mich., that stamped the Trotters as America's best barnstormers.

SUGAR ROBINSON IN BED WITH FLU

Chicago, Ill. (CNS)—Suffering from an attack of influenza, Ray Sugar Robinson was ordered to bed by his physicians and his much discussed bout with Georgie Abrams cancelled for April 21st. A substitute had to be picked from among Tommy Yarosz of Pittsburgh, O'Neil Bell of Detroit and Artv Levine also from Pittsburgh. The Robinson and Abrams bout had been scheduled for ten rounds.

White Hope Legend Hit by Magazine

CHICAGO—The "white hope" legend which recists began when Jack Johnson won the heavyweight title in 1910 is dead according to a current magazine article by sports dopester Lew Byrer who insists that America has finally progressed to the point of judging athletes on ability rather than color.

"The world has really progressed," Byrer states. "Joe Louis has announced his retirement after his June rematch with Joe Walcott, and I've yet to hear a voice crying in the wilderness for a 'white hope.'

"In fact, I queried some white youngsters and not out of three even know what a 'white hope' is."

When Johnson licked Willard for the heavyweight crown, though, Byrer continues fully sober, men were appalled at the notion of a Negro becoming world champion. Folks started combing the hinterlands for a "white hope" to restore the prestige of the white race.

"But sport fans are beginning to take excellence in Negro athletes as a matter of course," the writer declares. The 'white hope' legend is dead, and rightly so.

"May it rest—forever!"

Vira Paxton To Lecture

The Desire of all Nations Shall Come is the subject of the lecture to be given by Mrs. Vira J. Paxton at the public meeting of the Baha'i World Faith to be held at their Los Angeles headquarters, 331 South New Hampshire Avenue, on Sunday afternoon, May 2, at three o'clock.

In the writings of Shoghi Effendi, Guardian of the Baha'i Faith, we find the following: "For Baha'u'llah, we should readily recognize, has not only imbued mankind with a new and regenerating spirit. He has clearly and specifically laid down a set of laws, established definite institutions, and provided for the essentials of a Divine Economy, destined to be a pattern for future society.

Mexican Film To Be Shown

The Mexican film, "The Wave," will be shown at the Beverly-Fairfax Jewish Community Center, 8008 Beverly Boulevard, on Saturday evening, May 1st. This will be the first film of a series of four, which will be shown at the Center on the first Saturday of each month.

"The Wave" is a dramatized documentary of life among the fishermen in Alvarado, Vera Cruz. The earnings of these men were so meager that they could not afford proper medical care for their children. When one young man loses his child from diseases, he induces his fellow-workers to strike for better wages. In the ensuing period, strikebreakers are called in and finally the strike leader is killed. This tragedy ultimately unites the two factions.

The film was produced by Paul Strand for the Ministry of Fine Arts, Department of Education, Mexico. Music by Sylvestre Revueltas. Among the other films to be shown is "The Oppenheim Family," Russian production based on the famous novel by Feuchtwanger.

West Coast Relays

Another record breaking field is in prospect for the 22nd Annual West Coast Relays May 15th in Fresno's Ratcliff Stadium as early entries begin pouring into the office of J. Flint Hanner, West Coast Relays Director.

Hanner this week predicted that the total entries would exceed last year's record field of 1,306 contestants. Many individual threats to world, American, and West Coast Relays records are numbered among the entrants, many of whom are also leading candidates for the United State Olympic team.

The long-standing Relays record of 14.2 seconds in the high hurdles will be under fire from a strong field which includes Craig Dixon of U.C.L.A., two-time Relays champion, who has run 14.1, and Downing McKee and Darrel Krietz of Stanford, who have been approaching the 14.2 mark this year. McKee and Krietz took first and second in the junior college hurdle race in last year's Relays.

Other stellar hurdlers will be Lou Futrell and Dick Attlesey of U.S.C., Merle Martin of Fresno State, Ted Rademaker of California, Jack Passey of San Jose, and Jack Kaiser of San Diego.

England Sparks Shaw Win Over A. and T. Aggies

land turned in his third conference win Wednesday afternoon as the Shaw Bears walloped the A. and T. Aggies 11-4 on the Chavis Park diamond. England, who went the route for the locals, limited the visitors to 6 hits as he kept his hurling record clean for the season. Hubert Simmons, who started on the mound for the Aggies, was relieved in the eighth after giving up 11 hits. Ernest Canada took over in the disastrous eighth, which saw the Bears collect 5 hits and 4 runs off the two twirlers.

BANKHEAD AT NASHUA CLUB

BULLETIN — Nashua, N. H. (CNS)—The question as to where Dan Bankhead had disappeared since the Spring training days of the Dodgers was announced here Saturday when Dan Bankhead signed in with Nashua, of the New England League, Class B. Dan was sent by Brooklyn's Montreal farm for more training. But he is still subject to a 24 hour recall to Montreal.

Nashua Club officials say that the 26 year old right-hander will draw major league salary.

Dr. Ellis Toney-Winifred Allen Take Marriage Vows in Beautiful Ceremony at the Allen Residence

Before family members and a group of very close friends, Cherry Winifred Allen, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo E. Allen of West 29 street, became the bride of Dr. Ellis Toney Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. Ellis Toney Sr., of Oxford, North Carolina. The beautiful ceremony was held at the home of the bride's parents promptly at 3:30 p.m., Sunday, April 25, with the Rev. Mansfield Collins, of the Neighborhood Church officiating.

The living room of the Allen residence was transformed into a bower of beautiful white flowers, tapering candles, fern, and before the hearth, a sacred alter was formed. Preceeding the ceremony, Mr. James Morriston Patton, sang the wedding hymns, "Through the Years," and "Oh Perfect Love." He was accompanied by Mrs. Luvenia Nash at the piano, who also played the wedding march.

Wearing a gown of delicate blue satin, Marian Allen, served her sister as maid of honor. She carried a very striking bouquet of delicate pink Antnurium. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father was beautifully gowned in Ivory Duchess satin, featuring a scalloped Chantilly lace yoke with long sleeves. Her veil, of illusion tulle finger tip length, was held in place by a wreath of seed pearl and orange blossoms. The gown was the artistic work of Mrs. Capitola Green. The veil was made by modiste Annette Taylor. The bride's exquisite bouquet was a dainty arrangement of Stephonotis, and Lillies of the Valley surrounding a huge white orchid. Dr. Wallace Moore served the bridegroom as best man.

Promptly at 5:00 p.m. the wedding reception was held, with some 400 friends of the family attending. In the receiving line with the newlyweds were. Dr. and Mrs. Ellis Edwin Toney Sr., Mrs. Toney wearing a stunning dinner length gray crepe gown with orchid corsage; Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Allen, Mrs. Allen wearing a dusk pink crepe formal gown with orchid corsage.

The hostesses dressed in formal gowns of pastel shades included Mmes. Myrtle Williams, Georgia Tymony, Pearl Williams, Capitola Green, Jennie Rice, Moscelyn Williams, Blanch Crouch, Edna Smith Irene Bieze, Nettie Jones, Lillian Sweeney, Bessie Brown, Alma Crouch, Melvina Allen, Louise Crouch, Hattie Brown, Barbara Faulkner, Marcela Miller, Consuelo Roberts, Zerelda Seeley and Misses Gloria Crouch, Jewell Lockett, Gloria Bunch, Jessie Mae Brown and Paulette Coleman.

During the latter part of the reception, which lasted from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. the handsome young couple left on their honeymoon amid a shower of rice and best wishes. The bride's traveling suit was a light gray stripped wool tailored, complete with French brown straw hat and shoes. After May 15, Dr. and Mrs. Ellis Toney Jr., will be at home to friends in their newly built South Los Angeles residence.

The bride attended Los Angeles City College and is a member of the Crop 'N' Tail Riding Club and the Playtimer Bridge club. She also held a membership in the Iota Phi Lambda Business sorority pledge club. Her husband, a graduate of the Howard University Medical School, is the only race doctor studying psychiatry at the Sawtelle Hospital. He is a member of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity.

Dr. and Mrs. Ellis Toney, Sr., who flew to Los Angeles from N. C. especially to attend the ceremony departed by plane for their home on Monday evening.

During the reception hours, a long distance call from Kansas City Missouri, brought congratulations to the popular young couple from the bride's aunt, Mrs. Goldie Elliott.

WHAT'S DOING IN THE SOCIAL SET

By JESSIE MAE BROWN

In case this column indicates I'm not my usual scintillating self (!!!), you'll know the pace of the last week-end has definitely overtaken me. The early afternoon of Saturday, the Alpha Gamma Chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha met at the home of Ysabel Gray and completed plans for a Post-game invitation party, to be given Saturday May 1, at Alpha Bowling Club, following the Playoff game of the season. All the greeks have been invited to attend. In fact, the various groups received the following little jingle bidding them fare——

We're looking for you
On the First of May
Not a dime nor a dollar
You'll have to pay.
Music smooth and with some
Bop, at AKA's Post Game Hop
There'll be lots of fun
From 9 'til 1
At Alpha Bowling Club———

By the way, May 15, is the date scheduled by the Inter-frat council for the big Trophy Dance. Hadda Brooks will do the honors of awarding the trophies. According to basketball chatter. Outstanding player awards are being vied for by the following: Lowell Steward and Gene Williams of Kappa Alpha Psi; Don Barksdale and Emerson Chapman of Alpha Phi Alpha; Shaw and Bluett of Phi Beta Sigma; Ralph Kaufman and ? of Omega Psi Phi. Now the above listing may not be correct but that's the way this feminine scribe heard it. The Trophy dance is suppose to be quite the thing so all collegiates and collegians are expected to be present . . . As a side liner, took note of Edwin Sneed's frat pin last Saturday night, believe me it is a beautiful thing. Aside from the usual pearl-diamond combination, his Kappa insignia has a few other precious jewels. Am quite sure many a coed would like to wear it . . .

IN PASSING

In touching on the affairs that held sway last Saturday, the Crop 'N' Tails had quite a time of it at the Elks Hall. Western and English saddles added to the atmosphere of the Barn Dance. Among the dancers wearing the proper attire were, Lula and Dynamite Bendy, Norma and Eddy Green, Philippa and Ivan Houston, Clyde Grimes, back from Cal in Berkeley and Fay Hopkins. Lan Donia James was twoing it with Joe Henderson. Speaking of the name Joe, Jose Saunders is back from another quick jaunt to N. Y., he was with Dorothy Bass, of course. Catherine and Wimpy Stanaslaus, whom we haven't seen out in ages, wore the blue jeans and plaid shirts in a very fancy manner, while Shirley Rakestraw and many another wore sport attire and had quite an enjoyable time. By the way, police officer, Julius Brown, doffed the uniform for the affair and escorted his lovely wife Violet to the Barn Dance of the season. . . .

Camille and George Cannady opened the doors to their beautiful home around 9 p.m. and they stayed open until 6 a.m. the next morning. Giving everybody invited a chance to make the various other affairs taking place, as well as their party honoring legislative candidate Frances Williams. Actors, actresses, entertainers from the Lab and other well known places of dramatic study were much in evidence. Camille, who is currently playing in Declaration, received in a hostess gown that caught the admiring eye of many a guest. . . .

The Negro Congress party at Dorothy Nicholas' home was another well attended gathering. Mong the many outstanding guests was the very charming Miss from Memphis who carries the title of "Spirit of Cotton." The beautiful 18 year old deb was chaperoned by a well known Medic from that part of the country and found the Nicholas party to be quite Hollywoodish. By the way, a reception for the young Miss was held at the Clark Hotel on Sunday afternoon. Her complete wardrobe was the latest in cotton. Believe me, each item was fashion news, as Julian Dempsy would say. . . .

Mr. and Mrs. Marion Wildy have returned from Honolulu, where they have resided since 1940. Mrs. Grace Cazenaze played

Cavalrette Members Help Mrs. Athelene Jones Celebrate

One never knows what is going to happen over at 3084 San Marino street. However, one may be sure it will be something interesting. The lovely home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Carter was opened Thursday evening April 22, to the Cavalrette Federated and Social Club Inc., for their regular meeting and a birthday party for the hostess.

Athelene Jones, avery interesting personality from Tulsa Oklahoma, and local corresponding secretary for the Calif. State Federated Women was the hostess and birthday honoree.

American Beauty roses were used throughout the home. The table was beautifully arranged with the roses as center piece. Promptly at 8:30 the members found their places and enjoyed a very tasty dinner. Pictures of the group were taken by Mr. Jesse Smith.

Following the dinner hour, a brief club session was held and plans were made for the annual Garden Tea and Fashion Review to be given as the home of Dr. and Mrs. Frank Zetar. Due to the absence of president, Mrs. Jackie Moore, Mrs. Mayme Carter presided. The club sent a telegram to its president, wishing her a speedy recovery from her illness.

At eleven p.m., the meeting adjourned and a birthday celebration held sway. Husbands and escorts joined the Cavalrette members in wishing Athelene many happy returns of the day. Of the many lovely gifts received by the honoree, one of the outstanding came from her husband, Mr. John Jones, when he announced the purchasing of their new home at 3021 12th avenue. Mrs. Esther Greenley, club advisor, made fitting remarks in behalf of the club.

Among those present were, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Ivie, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel McFadden, Miss Delyshine Faye, Mr. Barney Small, Mr. and Mrs. A. Ross, Mrs. Benester Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. F. McJunkins, Mrs. Edna Driver, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Carter, Miss Sara E. Agnew, Mr. W. Austin, club advisor, Mrs. Esther Greenley, Mr. and Mrs. John Jones and honorary member, Mrs. Beatrice League.

TRIPLE FOUR club members are camerviewed with their two guest hostesses at the smart fashion tea given as an introductory affair by the club on Sunday. Barbara Yancy of Poly High Wins Iota Phi Lambda Business Week Typing Contest

The National Business Week program of Iota Phi Lambda Sorority was a definite step forward for the local Alpha Phi Chapter, when it held its first Business Week program on April 17, at the Polytechnic High School, with two outstanding events.

At 6:30 p.m. a typewriting contest was held under the capable leadership of Mrs. Edna L. Crain, charter member of the chapter and contest chairman. Assisting with the contest were, Mrs. W. McGuire, head of the Commercial department of Polytechnic High School; Mrs. M. Collins, head of Commercial Department of Jefferson High School; Mrs. N. Forney, President of the Foreny Business College, and Iota Phi Lambda members, Evelyn Brown, Edith Price, Odell Rhodes, Jewell Lockett, Wylene Jones, Charlotte Preston, Gladys Stafford, Jessie Mae Brown and Frankye Osborne.

21 applications for the typing contest were answered by girls in the senior Commercial class of Jordan High, Jefferson High, Polytechnic High and Manual Arts. Winner of the contest displaying speed and efficiency, was Barbara Yancey, senior student of Polytechnic High School. The Iota Phi Lambda Sorority presented her with a beautiful bronze placque.

The lecture part of the program held in the "Little Theatre," of the Polytechnic High School, was opened with a welcoming address by Marion B. Jackson, president of the Alpha Phi Chapter. Speakers for the evening included, Mrs. Helen Hodge, Personnel Manager of the Golden State Insurance Company; Atty. Martha Jefferson, Mr. James W. Introduction of Saddle Pals Club Benefits F.E.P.C.

Sunday afternoon April 25th, marked the signal entry of the SADDLE PALS Athletic and Social Club into Los Angeles realm of social life. This club group composed of some of Angel town's most charming young women made its debut amid a select list of invited guest, given at the home of Mrs. Maxine Thompson, the Club's President at 3687-2nd Ave.

A unique impromptu program by talented guest of this fine occasion, proved highly entertaining and was heartily received by the gathering. One of the high lights of the program was the vocalizing of little Toni Harper the nine-year old wonder singer of radio, stage and screen accompanied by pianist Eddie Beal.

War Perkins renown Radio commentator and recording executive, in his own inimitable manner handled the introductory of the members of the club after giving a brief summary of intentions and future program of the Saddle Pals Athletic and Social Club. The charming members were introduced as follows: Maxine Thompson, Pres., Angela Ratliff, Vice-Pres., Olivia Daliet, Rec. Sec., Rosalia DePrade, Fin. Sec., Dorothy Yates, Treas., Odalie B. Barthe, Cor. Sec., Helen Powell, Sgt.-at-Arms, Dorothy Weaver, Cha, Gladys Johnson, Critic, May Pierson, Bus. Man. . . . members: Edith Clayborne, Myrtle Jones, Camille Littlefield and Joyce Stevens.

Deborah Chapter Annual Breakfast Slated May 2

The work of the Deborah Chapter reflects the cooperation of the membership with the Worthy Matron, Mrs. Myrtle Broach. The following is a brief summary of the different activities of the chapter.

On March 15-16, the Matron put on a rummage sale that proved very successful. March 26, Deborah Chapter was hostess to the various chapters of Los Angeles and had as its guest, Grand Worthy Lecturer of the Golden State Grand Chapter. O.E.S. Mrs. Geraldine O'Conner on her annual visit. For the occasion, the hall was decorted with an array of flowers. The theme of the lecturers speech was "The Eternal Power of Love." Three corsages were presented to her by various members of the chapters. Mrs. La-Julia Shaw gave the welcome address, and a floral tribute was presented by Deborah Chapter.

Solos were rendered by Mrs. Strickland and Mrs. Margaret Pett before the evening climaxed with dinner.

On May 2, Deborah Chapter will hold its annual Breakfast from 8:30 to 3 p.m. at the Eastside Settlement House, 1219 E. Adams Blvd. The public is invited to attend.

Social Meeting Of Golondrinas Held Monthly

Welcomed back to the membership of Las Golondrinas Girls club at its recent meeting was Miss Pearl Reavee. The meeting, which included several changes of bridge was held at the home of Miss Myrtle Littles, 1049 E. 57 Street.

The brief business session included a vote of thanks to the public for its recent support of the club breakfast held at the home of President, Evelyn Gratts, of 202 Westlake. At the close of the business, the regular social held sway.

Five and Over Hostess Musical On Sunday

The Five and Over Charity Club's music department cordially invites the public to attend its Spring Musical on Sunday, May 2, at 8th and Towne Ave., on the 2nd Floor of the Youth Center.

Featured artists will be Lillian Moore, contralto; Stanley B. O'Connor, accompanist and others.

From 4 to 7 p.m., Mrs. Ruth Butler, chairman and Mrs. Mabel V. Gray, president, will join the Five and Over Charity Club members in greeting the public.

West View Groundbreaking To be Impressive Affair

On Sunday, May 23rd at 3:00 p.m., ground-breaking ceremonies for the construction of the initial 50-bed unit of West View Hospital will be held on the proposed site on Main Street between 53rd and 54th.

An impressive list of national, state and local civic officials, including Honorable Helen Gahagan Douglas, Sheriff Biscailuz, Supervisor John Anson Ford, Councilman Kenneth Hahn, Monsignor Thomas J. O'Dwyer, and Dr. Rufus Von Kleinsmid, president of the University of Southern California, have already indicated their intention of being present for the occasion.

A gala stage presentation featuring the top names of stage, screen and radio is planned with such stars as Jimmy Durante, Phil Brite, Martha Tilton, Beryl Davis, the Starlighters, and Marco Ritz, the Cuban piano sensation recently featured at Ciro's, taking part. Many more have promised to give their names before the date of the ground-breaking.

One of the feature events of the day will be the premiere presentation of an original musical composition written especially for the West View Hospital by one of the members of the Board of Directors, Dr. Thomas Roy Peyton. This composition, titled "West View March," will be sung for the first time at the ground-breaking ceremony by one of the nation's top screen and radio stars.

Music for the occasion is to be furnished by the famous Westlake College orchestra under the direction of Mr. Jack Stearns, who will act as musical director for the entire proceedings.

Gertrude Chrisman Returns Home From Stay in Mexico

After more than a year of delightful residence and good will tours of Mexico during which she visited many former pupils, Miss E. Gertrude Chrisman has returned to the USA and is at home with her family, at 150 E. 47th place.

A delightful reunion was enjoyed by the family in San Diego at the home of Mrs. Cassie Patterson at 2862 Ocean View blvd., family and friends motoring down to welcome Miss Chrisman home.

Mexico is, from a far, viewing witht great concern, not only the foreign policy of the United States of America, says Miss Chrisman, but also the manner in which we are working out the great problem of race relations. The presidents and student bodies of their great colleges and universities are keeping abreast of trends in this crisis in our national life as delineated in our current best sellers.

Miss Chrisman saw to it that a copy of the California EAGLE and other fine publications were available to the delegates of the Unesco where nearly every country in the world had a representative so that they might know how Mrs. C. Bass and other militant women and men are carrying out a program for peace and for a finer and better world.

Mrs. Nancy J. Warner Given Farewell Courtesy Preceeding Trip to Methodist Conference

Circle No. 1, of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Holman Methodist Church, met at the residence of Mrs. Georgia Horton, the chairman, 1536 W. 37th street, last Thursday and a very interesting meeting was held.

Spiritual fellowship was conducted by Mrs. Minnie Lindsay. Music by Mrs. Drucilla Bryant. Greetings were brought by Mmes. Bessie Simon, Gertie Lee, Willie May Banks, Annie Kennedy, Gertrude Johnson, Bessie Burke and Birdie Wilson. The out-of-town guest was Mrs. Louise Anderson of Chicago, Ill.

Mrs. Nancy J. Warner, wife of the late Rev. William Albert Warner, was the honored guest at the meeting. Mrs. Warner was a missionary in Africa for 24 years. She was stationed in Liberia, and did an excellent job of missionary work. Mrs. Edith Gales, the honoree's daughter, who was born and reared in Africa, entertained the guests by singing an African song in the native tongue. Mrs. Warner talked of her experiences in Liberia in a most interesting manner.

On Friday, April 23, Mrs. Warner left for Boston, Mass., where she will attend the General Conference of the Methodist Church.

Mrs. Warenr's friends gave her a nice contribution in appreciation, to help her on her trip. Assisting Mrs. Horton were hostesses: Mmes. Jettie Harper, Gardenia Hill, Octavia Meza, Ada Crawford, and Anna M. Patterson.

Others attending were: Mmes. Claudia Whitmore, Cora Sweeney, Beatrice Cassell, Julia Hite, Ida Matson, Leona Collier, Dannie Mae King, Flora Moses, Mary Williams, Sue Garner, Harriet Estarge, Lela Ray, Laura Bethea and Misses Louise Horton and Ethel Bruington.

FIRST VISIT: Little Cornelius Harvey Walker, eleven month old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Walker will meet his great grandmother, Mrs. Sarah Bell, of Houston Texas, for the first time. Accompanied by his grandmother, Mrs. Mary Ethel Williams, the little gentleman will entrain for Houston on May 3. A three months vacation will be enjoyed.

Vacation Plans Told at Meeting of Y Donnas

Club De Sol Teras E Donnas met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Ladd, 1777 E. 115th street, recently. Aside from the regular business session, the women enjoyed listening to summer vacation plans made by several members. The president, Mrs. L. Hill, will soon leave the city for points in Oklahoma. Mrs. R. Cooper is prepared to spend a few weeks in Hot Springs, Arkansas. Mmes. J. Ladd and G. Hughes will leave by plane for Honolulu.

A report on the flower entry by E Donnas in the Pasadena show, was given by Mrs. Bea Perry. The floral piece was arranged by Mrs. P. Williams.

Before the meeting adjourned, the hostess served a turkey dinner and the group enjoyed several changes of bridge.

Zeta Auxiliary Gives Scholarship

The Zeta Phi Beta Auxiliary met the first Sunday in the month at the home of Mrs. Alma Heard, with Mrs. Grace Hemphill co-hostess. Mrs. Lulu Evans presided.

The chairman of the fellowship breakfast committee, Mrs. Gladys Wallace, gave a brief report on the affair to be given early in June. The secretary, Mrs. Fedora Prather, reported that correspondence is still being received congratulating the auxiliary on the rapid strides it has made since its reorganization, especially on the presentation of a scholarship during finer womanhood week.

The next meeting will be held on May 2, at the home of Mrs. Azalea Jones, 700 East 51st street with Mrs. Hattie Jordan co-hostess.

Mrs. Herbert Sheen Honoree At Surprise 'Stork' Shower

The South Arlington Manse of Dr. and Mrs. W. W. Davis was the setting of a surprise "Stork Shower" on April 22, honoring Mrs. Herbert A. Sheen, a considerably new comer to Los Angeles.

Co-hostesses for the smart affair were Mmes. Anna Ree Reid, Emily Portwig and Eloise Davis. The appointed table was gaily decorated with a pink and white cradle, guarded by two storks. Tiny pink and blue booties marked places for the smartly dressed matrons in attendance. Baby gifts of every description were opened by the proud honoree, who is the wife of Dr. Herbert A. Sheen.

Guests at the affair included Mmes. Marjorie McPherson, Laura Harwell, Glenna Hayes, Josephine Brown, Margaret Rene, Isadore Brown, Lois Carr, Bessie Miller, Evelyn Griffin, Susan Cooley, Everill Harwell, Helen Garland, Rosa Cobbs, Bernice Pillow, Jewel Jackson, Wylma Windsor, Elizabeth Armstrong, Marzella Johnson, Anne Smith, Mamie Jackson, Georgia Hardiman, Jane Hudson, Aurelia Huncutt, Fannie Benjamin, Clara Webb, Rosa Davis, Norma Williams, Lilly Fields, Eugene Browning and daughter, Miss Shelly Browning of Grand Rapids, Michigan.

The new addition to the Sheen family is expected sometime in May.

Mrs. Blanche Carter Addresses Group at Kingdom Baptist

The 20-point program of the Women's Convention of the Western Baptist State Convention was discussed by Mrs. Blanche Carter, president of the Western Baptist State Convention, at a meeting held last Sunday at 3 p.m. in the Kingdom Baptist Church.

Mrs. Carter pointed out that although this program might seem a large agenda for a small mission, but that as many drops of water make the mighty ocean, so many Christians are needed to carry out the work, and the many committees in each church carrying on the activities will condense the work into one whole. Mrs. Carter also commended the young people on their discussion on how to evangelize the world. Evangelism, she said, is the theme of the year.

Mrs. Buchanan is president of the Mission. Mrs. Calhoun acted as mistress of ceremonies. Rev. A. Wendall Ross, pastor of the church, should feel encouraged, Mrs. Carter said, on having such a fine group of young people preparing themselves to cope with the world situation today.

Mrs. Vivian Mitchell and Mrs. Cordelia Boone have returned from Waco, Texas, where they went to the bedside of their sick mother. They left her very much improved.

HERE AND THERE

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Toney Sr., who flew to L. A. for the marriage of their son and popular Winifred Allen, were honored by Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Allen on Wednesday evening with a dinner party. Members of the Allen family and the group of senior hostesses were also guest listed. At the Sunday wedding reception, Marian Allen caught her sister's bouquet. . . .

Its wonderful the way the public has gone all out in supporting the Wilfandel project. Am quite sure you many club members will agree the Angel City needs a modern up-to-date club house. Continue with your support to the Wilfandels and this Club house business will become a reality. In Mid-May the popularity contest will be over and Miss Wilfandel will be crowned. . . .

There couldn't be a happier person in the world today, than Billy Farrington, unless its the whole Brown family, to which Yours Truly is a member. Reason for all the excitement is the arrival of little Miss Stephanie Farrington, who weighed in at 8 lbs. on Tuesday evening at Queen of Angels Hospital. The mother is the former Rebecca Jean Brown . . . by the way, the Victor Rideau's son, Vic Jr., is now two weeks old . . . Congratulations are in order for Frances and Victor, Becky and Billy. . . .

A PROGRESSIVE NEWSPAPER FOR ON-RISEN PROGRESSIVE PEOPLE

Ten Cents

Raisin' Cain

By CARL L. CAIN

After some centuries, England has decided to abolish the death penalty from the nation's judiciary system. The action came last week and, to say the least, many people were stunned to know that it had come—even at this time.

Through the course of time people have been executed for crimes of all types from robbery to murder. It has not always been murder, or the taking of another individual's life to provoke the death sentence. Far from it; in America today, people are dying for less offensive—although more morally offensive—than murder.

It is imposible to say exactly who first sentenced a man to die for a crime. It is equally unknown who first died by execution for a crime. But many people have died for crimes, from the time of mankind's first beginnings to the present day. People will go on dying for crimes in the years to come, if steps such as England has made aren't taken. But it is known that the judicial systems of the centuries have been very strict. At one time in France, while Louis the XIV and other rulers were in power, the price of human lives was not as much as the price of the black bread many of the people had to eat. Anyone who looked toward the sky—who plotted or even talked of freedom—found himself in a serious position. Often the royal soldiers led that person to the guillotine.

The guillotine was an interesting method of execution. It consisted of a shaft or tower-like structure. Situated in the middle of two beams was a heavy knife that dropped suddenly down upon the neck of the victim. Clean cut. The hangman's noose is not, by any means, an unknown method of execution. During the fourteenth to the nineteenth centuries in Europe there was something of a demand for people who would operate these two instruments of death.

The death penalty is not completely unknown in America. For we have not abolished it, although we are supposed to be the most progressive nation in the world. And in our own history, we have a long list of hangings and electrocutions. Until the time of Benjamin Franklin—who invented the electric chair—we depended almost solely upon tree and rope as a means of putting our victims to death, as ghastly and horrible as it all seems. Often mobs have led the frightened prisoner from jail and ended his life with the suddenness of death by shooting. In the last several years, the state of California has made use of the system of cyanide and the gas chamber to "completely balance the scales of justice." They say the gas chamber is painless—but on one has ever lived through an execution to confirm that belief.

For many reasons, America should eliminate the death penalty in the justice system without hesitation. In the beginning, many cases reveal that persons are convicted on circumstantial evidence and given the death penalty. There is only technical proof that he committed the crime of which the public accuses the arrested man. In other words, no one saw it happen, and the accused must weigh his own words against the evidence of circumstance.

Twelve people decide whether or not a man is guilty of a crime. Because these twelve people make a decision, that conclusion is not necessarily correct. Many cases stand to prove that innocent men have died for crimes, and many more have gone to prison, which they did not commit. And in the cases where the man is guilty, legal murder is just as much a crime as illegal murder. Two deaths have never—and will never—make one life.

Other improvements should be made in our system of justice. One of these striking points is the separation of a child from the mother because she has been found guilty of ill treatment and cruelty. Now human beings do make mistakes; regardless of how cruel a mothe ifs to her child, I don't think any case is so severe that she should not ever be allowed to see the child again. A good example of such a case was enacted in reality a few days ago in Los Angeles. The decision of the judge was most heartless.

Our southern court system has a very poor record. It is seldom that people, especially Negroes there, are put to death for "criminal assault." Nine out of every ten cases, in a rough estimation, are completely false, and the tenth case is most likely the effect of a second thought on the part of the accuser. Such cases in that part of our country are not the only examples. Boys are sentenced to long and hard prison terms for slight offenses, mob justice is not uncommon, and the courts ignore the Constitution and the Bill of Rights in their cases against Negroes.

Even in the twentieth century, our court system in America is quite faulty. Many trials are not fo rthe purpose of promoting justice, but for the purpose of testing the ability between attorneys. Too many honestly intended convictions are later proved incorrect—after the victim of the judge's sentence has served from one to twenty years in prison. In the Sleepy Lagoon case, for example, we learn from a reliable source that some of the accused youths spent two years in prison before being exonorated. That is not justice; neither are the actions of many courts in other decisions. Police brutality is not justice. And too, because of our system of trial by jury, we get the false idea that justice is always done.

The first step our country should take is to abolish the death penalty. We must fight police brutality. The cruel menaces to American citizens under the southern judiciary system must be stopped forever. Only then can the people of our nation respect and hold high the standards of democracy, freedom and protection as set forth by the American Constitution and the Bill of Rights.

Animals Get Better Food Breaks Than People, Nutritionist Declares

Farm animals and city pets do far better when it comes to eating a balanced diet than do their owners, according to Victor H. Lindlahr, noted food authrity.

"Tens of thousands of farmers know all about feeding farm animals but don't know how to feed themselves," says Lindlahr in the May Journal of Living. "City folks plan a balanced diet for the dog and cat and buy special food for the canary and the goldfish. They're willing to acknowledge that a balanced diet means everything to an animal or a bird, but pay no attention to their own needs."

Lindlahr holds mothers partly responsible for poor family nutrition. "Millions of mothers are super-careful about giving babies plenty of milk and vegetables—but for themselves and Papa, even the still-growing teen-agers, any old meal will do."

Lads and Dads Observe Boy's Week PTA Prize Winners;

Boys' Day in recreation, opening Boys' Week on Saturday, May 1, will be observed at all Los Angeles City Recreation and Park Department playgrounds and centers with special events including father and son social gatherings and athletic contests to which all lads and dads are invited.

In addition to the featured events on May 1, municipal playgrounds will offer many father and son programs throughout Boys' Week, May 1 to 7. Among the events will be father and son softball games and basketball games; and father and son "feeds" and programs.

May Festivals In City Play-Grounds, Fri.

More than 60 spring festivals, the largest series of its kind ever presented by the City Recreation and Park Department, will be held at Los Angeles playgrounds and recreation centers this year, with the Maytime programs scheduled to start Friday, April 30, and continue to the end of next month.

The festivals will dramatize early California history and the part played by the different peoples in the settlement and development of the state. May queens will rule over the festivities which will present youngsters in costumed Maypole dances, music and pantomime.

These festivals will be free, with all residents of the district surrounding each playground invited to come to the gala events.

Here are some of the festivals scheduled from April 30 to May 8:

Tuesday, May 4-Ross Snyder Playground, 1501 East 41st Street, "Festival of the Maypole," 5 p.m.

Wednesday, May 5-Ramona Gardens, 2830 Lancaster Avenue, Cinco de Mayo Festival and Carnival," 4 p.m.

Thursday, May 6-Poplar Playground, 2630 Pepper Avenue, "When the Sun Stayed in Bed," 3 p.m.

Friday, May 7-Central Playground, 1357 East 22nd Street, "Festival of the Maypole," 4:15 p.m.; Everygreen Playground, 2839 East Fourth Street, "California Welcomes the Spring," 1 p.m.

Handbook of Adult Education

NEW YORK—(G)—The Handbook of Adult Education in the United States, edited by Mary L. Ely, will be published May 1 by the Institute of Adult Education, Teachers College, Columbia University.

Over two years in the making, the 1948 Handbook is the first comprehensive inventory of adult education in this country since 1936. Since that time adult education has, of course, grown by leaps and bounds. The new Handbook represents the collective effort of several hundred workers in adult education.

Fifteen separate groupings of areas of activity—from Vocational Efficiency to Media and Methods—are analyzed by fifty different individauls, each a veteran worker in his own field.

A second section of the book, closely correlated with the articles by means of cross-references, consists of a classified and annotated list of agencies involved in the education of adults.

With a comprehensive index the 500 page cloth-bound book sells for five dollars. Advance orders are now being accepted.

Program at Ebell Club Entertains Many

Singing Across America will be the theme for the afternoon program for children to be given by Arts and Artists, Inc. in the Wilshire-Ebell theatre, 8th and Lucerne streets, next Sunday, May 2, at 2:30 p.m. It will present the songs and dances of our forefathers as they built America.

This program will be part of the "Events for Children" in the ighways and Byways to Music. Dr. Leonard Walker, eminent conductor, will direct the event.

SENSATIONAL—Children of Moses Choral Ensemble will be in California after June 15.

CANCER SOCIETY OFFICER—Mrs. Lucile Norman, wife of the noted Broadway composer-arranger, Fred Norman, was last week appointed administrative secretary of the Harlem division of the New York Cancer Committee of the American Cancer Society. A trained nurse, Mrs. Norman is a graduate of Kansas City General Hospital in Missouri, post graduate in public health and social service from Cook County Hospital in Chicago, and a Wayne university graduate in public health. Mrs. Norman recently returned to New York after an extensive visit with relatives and friends in Los Angeles.

Open Negro College Fund Drive

"Totalitarianism will not thrive where opportunity is equal," stated President Harry S. Truman in a letter supporting the fifth annual appeal of the United Negro College Fund released today by William E. Cotter, national campaign chairman. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., is chairman of the National Council of the fund which has just opened its nation-wide campaign for $1,400,000 to aid 32 private Negro colleges.

Schools Overlook Needs of Gifted Children

Los Angeles, Calif. (G)—"In developing curricula, schools usually overlook the needs of gifted students."

So writes Byrn H. Atkinson, coordinator for veterans affairs and instructor in subject A (English) at the University of California at Los Angeles, presenting the school administrator and the gifted student in a recent issue of the "California Journal of Secondary Education."

"In California," writes Atkinson, "the Education Code has 34 sections pertaining to the slow, handicapped, or otherwise deficient child, but none pertaining to the superior child."

He lists the Romans, followed by the Turks, as apparently the first people to give special training to gifted students. By the 19th Century, however, the idea was largely abanodoned.

With individual difference again recognized, various plans have been advanced for special treatment of gifted children. Basic administrative techniques, says Atkinson, are flexibility in curriculum class size, and selection of teachers. Final resolutio nof the problem, he concludes, lies in the administrator's ability to make adjustments within the organization of a school system run for children of medium ability.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By REV. IKE EVANS, D.D.

Subject: Nehemiah Rebuilds Jerusalem, Lesson Text and Outline, Nehemiah 4:1-6, 13-14, 21-23; 6:15-16. Motto Text. Nehemiah 4.6.

(Introduction)

Though born in Peria, Nehemiah must have been of the tribe of Judah. In the opening scene of his book he is seen filling a most responsible position as cup bearer to King Artaverves in the royal palace of Shushan. A young man of intellectual ability and personal attraction, he was a favorite at court. At the same time, he was loyal to the interests of his own nation, for he led a company of exiles back to Judah, served a dozen years as their efficient governor, and wrought several reforms. It was after four months of anxiety and prayer that he obtained permission from the king to go to Jerusalem and rebuild its walls He was given authority to obtain aid from the neighboring nations. Furnished with a military escort, he made the journey along the most direct route and with the least peril. It took them about four months to make the arduous trip, ending probably in June, 444 B.C. Before disclosing his mission, he took a midnight ride about the city and investigated the situation. Then he summoned the Jewish authorities and assumed control of affairs. Immediately they began rebuilding the walls of the defenseless city.

(Comments)

1. Many a good work has been thus looked upon with contempt by the proud and haughty scorners. Nehemiah's humble and devout address to God when he heard of these reflections. He had notice brought him of what they said. It is probable that they themselves sent him a message to this purport, to discourage him, hoping to jeer him out of his attempt; but he did not answer these fools according to their folly; he did not upbraid them with their weakness, but looked up to God by prayer. God's people have often been a despised people, and loaded with contempt. God does, and will, hear all the slights that are put upon his people, and it is their comfort that he does so and a good reason why they should be as though they were deaf. Those that cast contempt on God's people do but prepare everlasting shame for themselves. It is a sin from which sinners are seldom recovered. Doubtless Nehemiah had reason to think the hearts of those sinners were desperately hardened, so that they would never repent of it, else he would never repent of it, else he would not have prayed that it might never be blotted out.

The reason he gives is not, they have abused us, but they have provoked thee, and that before the builders, to whom, it is likely, they sent a spiteful message. We should be angry at the malice of persecutors, not because it is abusive to us, but because it is offensive to God; and on that we may ground an expectation that God will appear against it.

2. In the lower places he places guards behind the wall, that they might annoy the enemy over it, as a breast-work; but in the higher places where the wall was raised to its full height, he set them upon it, that from the top of it they might throw down stones or darts upon the heads of the assailants; he set them after their families, that mutual assistance. He observed even the nobles and rulers themselves, as well as the rest of the people to be in a great consternation upon the intelligence that was brought them and ready to conclude that they were all undone, by which their hands were weaken both for work and war, and therefore he endeavours to silence their fears. Those that with an eye of faith see the church's God to be great and terrible will see the church's enemies to be mean and despicable. The reigning fear of God is the best antidote against the ensnaring fear of man.

3. The labourers in Christ's building should be ready to unite against a common foe. The inhabitants of the village were ordered to lodge within Jerusalem, with their servants, not only that they might be the nearer to their work in the morning, but that they might b ready to help in case of an attack in the night. The strength of a city lies more in its hands than in its walls; secure them, and God's blessing upon them, and be secure. We ought to be always upon our guard against our spiritual enemies, not only while it is light, but when it is dark, for they are the rulers of the darkness of this world. Good work is likely to go on successfully when those that labour in it thus make a business of it.

4. A great deal of work may be done in a little time if we would set about it in earnest and keep close to it. When the enemies heard that the wall was finished before they thought it was well begun, and when they doubted not but to put a stop to it, they were much cast down in their own eyes. They were ashamed their own confidence that they should cause the work to cease; they were crest-fallen upon the disappointment. They encied the prosperity and success of the Jews, grieved to see the walls of Jerusalem built, while it may be the kings of Persia had not permitted them thus to fortify the cities of Samaria. They despaired of ever doing them the mischief they designed them, of bringing them down and making a prey of them and well they might, for they percieved, by the wonderful success, that the work was wrought of God. To conclude that, if it were of God, it was to no purpose to think of opposing it; it wouuld certainly prevail and be victorious.

(Comment on the Motto Text)

They made such good speed that in a little time they had run up the wall to half its height, for the people had a mind to work; their hearts were upon it, and they would have it forwarded. Good work goes on well when people have a mind to it. The reproaches of enemies should rather quicken us to our duty than drive us from it.

Rev. Toney Greets Eagle Birthday

Rev. Charles M. Toney, field secretary of the Los Angeles district association of the Western Baptist Convention, sends greetings.

He has been very busy for several months, is the reason why he has not been in The California Eagle office or in the paper. He very recently was asked to conduct the anniversary services of the Great Abyssinian Baptist church, Rev. L. D. Stevens, pastor and past president of the Great Baptist Ministers' Union of Los Angeles.

Rev. Toney is still serving hard under America's great pastor, Rev. Dr. A. C. Capers, pastor of the Faithful Central Baptist church, E. 40th pl. and Paloma ave. Faithful Central Baptist came out on top last Sunday at the 11 a.m. service. The pastor could scarcely get the people to leave after he had preached his great sermon.

Jurisdiction California, Inc., will be in charge of the foundationstone laying of the "Grace Haven." a 15 room residence for members and friends of the Grace Memorial Church of God In Christ, 4544 Compton Avenue, 3 p.m. Sun., May 2.

This historic affair marks the first accomplishment of the Grace Memorial church which is promoting community interest as well as spiritual development.

The public is invited. Rev. W. J. Taylor is pastor.

Dr. Hair Honored

JACKSON, Miss. — Dr. J. W. Hair, presiding elder of the Jackson district of the East Mississippi Conference, was given an elaborate testimonial dinner in the Pearl Street A.M.E. church here last week. Dr. Hair is a candidate for the bishopry at the forthcoming general conference.

Appreciation Service to Close

May 2nd marks the close of another "Service of Appreciation" by Rev. Bernard O. Byrd, pastor of the New Hope Baptist Church, who has successfully and fruitfully maintained efficiency and unity among the membership of the church for the past two years. The people of New Hope give thanks to God for His blessings.

Rev. Bernard O. Byrd

For all that God in Mercy send —For health and children, home and friends;

For comfort in the time of need,

For every kindly word or deed,

For happy thoughts and holy talk,

For guidance in our daily walk.

The Pacific Baptist Association, Rev. D. C. Austin and congregation, will be in charge Thursday night, April 29.

Friday, New Hope Church night, all members and friends will hold a "special appreciation service," with Mrs. Alberta Harrison, program chairlady.

Rev. H. B. Charles of Long Beach, will preach the "Appreciation Sermon" on Sunday, May 2, at 3 p.m., closing the three days of special tribute. Members of Rev. Charles' church will accompany him to New Hope.

Gilbert Singers To Give Program

The Gilbert Gospel Preachers and Singers will again be presented by Rev. Hattie M. Crooms Tuesday evening, May 4, at 9:30 o'clock in the church, on the corner of 114th and Compton sts., of which the Rev. G. J. Dickson is pastor.

This promises to be a grand service. "If your Christian battery is run down, come and let the Holy Ghost regulate your generator with the word of God while the sparkplugs of love ignite your heart until your soul starts humming the songs of Zion. Then go up the King's highway rejoicing. Come early. Come praying."

"Make a joyful noise unto the Lord."

Western State Convention, Santa Monica. Rev. J. D. Gordan delivered the morning message, and at the close of the morning service, a presentation was made to Rev. Harris by the representative queen of the Cotton Parade of Memphis, Tenn., and the Los Angeles Tribune.

The anniversary sermon was delivered by Dr. C. C. Adams, of Philadelphia, Pa., secretary of the Foreign Mission Board of the National Baptist Convention, Inc. At the close of the evening service, other presentations were made by each auxiliary of the church, and a lovely donation was presented from Connor Johnson and employees.

The chairman of the deacon board, F. W. Perkins, and the chairman of the trustee board and the business manager, Mr. James Hale, do appreciate the hospitality of the members and friends who have helped to make this 20th anniversary a huge success. All pray that God's blessings may rest upon Rev. and Mrs. Grant Harris and the membership of the Zion Hill Baptist Church and friends, for the whole-hearted cooperation they have shown.

Children Choir Group

SENSATIONAL—The Children of Moses Choral Ensemble are now booking their 1948 season and will be in the state of California after June 15. Christian Science Topic 'EverlastingPunishment'

The Golden Text of the Sunday Lesson-Sermon on "Everlasting Punishment" in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, is from the Psalms: "Evil shall slay the wicked: and they that hat the righteous shall be desolate. The Lord redeemeth the soul of his servants: and none of them that trust in him shall be desolate."

In his second epistle Peter writes, "Grace and peace be multiplied unto you through the knowledge of God, and of Jesus our Lord, . . . that by these ye might be partakers of the divine nature, . . . giving all diligence, add to your faith virtue; and to virtue knowledge; And to knowledge temperance; and to temperance patience; and to patience godliness; And to godliness brotherly kindness; and to brotherly kindness charity. For if these things be in you, and abound, they make you that ye shall neither be barren nor unfruitful in the knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ."

In "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" Mary Baker Eddy says, "The purpose and motive to live aright can be gained now. This point won, you have started as you should. You have begun at the numeration-table of Christian Science, and nothing but wrong intention can hinder your advancement. Working and praying with true motives, your Father will open the way."

Antioch Church News

PHOENIX, Arizona — The Antioch Baptist Church reports a wonderful time during Easter week. The Central District Association's Board convened on Good Friday, and elected executive officers for the different departments.

The Good Friday service began at 12 o'clock, noon, with President Miner inn charge. There were 7 sermons by 7 different ministers. The Board met again at 3:15 and closed at Saturday noon. "Everyone says it was the best Good Friday services they have witnessed in Phoenix," says the report.

The Resurrection service was held Sunday morning at 5 a.m. Sunday School was held at 9:45 a.m., and at 11:30 the pastor of Antioch Baptist, Rev. R. N. Holt, gave a blackboard demonstration to a packed house on the subject, "God Forbid that I Should Glory Save in the Cross of Jesus Christ." There were two additions to the church at this service. After the offering a beautiful baby girl was blessed by Rev. Holt.

In the afternoon the congregation went to the "Hole in the Rock," in the desert near Phoenix, and hid Easter eggs for the children. They all had a "wonderful time."

The B.T.U. meeting was omitted in the evening, because everyone was so tired, but at 7:30 the president of the Starlight Band brought a very enjoyable program. Two more additions were made to the church.

All those who had been ill are much improved, and are able to be up and about. A baptizing service will be held this Sunday.

FRUITAGE

It is very rare to find ground which produces nothisg. If it is not covered with flowers, fruit trees, and grains, it produces briars and pines. —Bruyere

The fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance; against such there is no law.——Galatians 5:22, 23

Dr. Davis to Be Speaker

Dr. Frank Davis, formerly Associate professor of psychology at U.C.L.A., speaks Wednesday, May 5 at 8:30 p.m. in the first of a series of lectures entitled, "Sex and the World Today." Dr. Davis' subject will be "An Analysis of the Kinsey Report—The Social Aspects of Sex."

These lectures are being offered by the Soto-Michigan Jewish Community Center in cooperation with the Boyle Heights Chapter of A.V.C. and will take place in the upper hall of the Straus auditorium, 215 N. Soto street.

There are four lectures in the series, each held on consecutive Wednesdays in May at 8:30 p.m. Other speakers include Mrs. Leni Stouman, R. N.; J. Albert Torribio, Public Health Educator, and Dr. Walter Briehl, psychiatrist.

For information on tickets, call AN. 13118.

Attention!!

Calling all members of First Baptist church back home again. Calling all friends to come and help us to help others. Calling those who are bereaved and despondent and those who know not Jesus, in the pardon of their sins, to come and let us reason together. Come, for all things are now ready. Come thou with us and we will do thee good. First Baptist church is yet calling and informing those who chance this way, who have been salvaged out of the wreck of sin, that our services are for the general public and begin promptly in Sunday school with the morning service at 11 a.m.; night service at 7:30 p.m.

Last Sunday was a high day, beginning with Sunday school. The morning service was well attended with the scripture subject, "A Few Days." Four persons came to the Lord.

If you are hungry and wish to be fed, come to the house of bread, 9401 Zamora, and we will do thee good. Rev. A. Monton, pastor.

Human merit or demerit will find its proper level. Divinity alone solves the problem of humanity, and that in God's own time. "By their fruits ye shall know them."

First A.M.E. Church in Building Drive

The First A.M.E. Zion church which was almost completely wrecked in the explosion of the O'Connor plant on East Pico blvd. last spring, is staging a drive to meet all expenses—and they were heavy—in repairing the church and parsonage. The estimated damage was something like $20,000. Some of that has been paid, but about $17,000 is still needed.

Rev. S. H. Marion, pastor of the church, whose residence is at 1217 Paloma st., Los Angeles 21, asks you to write or to call him, RI. 9993, and he will gladly come and get your contribution. Make your checks payable to First A.M.E. Zion Church. The hope to have the full amount raised by Sunday, May 2, as the general conference meets in Louisville, Ky., May 5, and Rev. Marion, who is a delegate to the conference, wants to report all bills paid.

"After 65 years of faithful labors to help the Negro population to be worthy, steady, religiously-minded citizens of our great city, we suddenly found our church home and parsonage reduced to partial ruins and unusable because of the catastrophe for which we were not responsible," say the A.M.E. Zion members.

All citizens of Los Angeles should surely help them in this drive.

Lytell Cleared in Ring Death of Youth

Milwaukee, Wis.—Districk Attorney William McCauley this week cleared Boxer Bert Lytell of any blame for the death of 19 year old Lightweight contender Jackie Darthard, here Thursday nigh in a scheduled 10 round bout.

The Districk Attorney said that the death was accidental and that no inquest wuld be made into the death of the promising young fighter.

"The death can be charged to hard luck and is just one of those things," McCauley said.

Mrs. Mary Darthard, who rushed from her home in Kansas City when she learned that her son had been injured, told Lytell that everyone knew it was not his fault.

"It must have been the will of God," the mother told Lytell, "don't let it ruin your life."

Lytell is very well known on the Pacific Coast where he made his home in Oakland. Latest reports were that he would fight a benefit for the family of the dead youth in the near future.

Young Darthard was tabbed as one of the more promising of the crop of young fighters and was being groomed for a crack at Ike William's Lightweight title.

Patterson Leads Pepperdine Relay to Win In Drake Relays; Dillard Ties Mark

DES MOINES, Iowa—The 30th running of the Drake Relays ended in a blaze of glory here Saturday afternoon, as 15,000 wildly cheering fans watched 3 college records go by the boards and one be tide.

The cause of much of the hoarse voices of the fans was Harrison Dillard, the smooth running timber topper from Baldwin-Wallace College of Ohio. On Friday night, pushed on by a surprisingly strong half mile relay team from Los Angeles City College, Dillard anchored the winning Baldwin-Wallace half mile relay team that established a new meet record for the event.

The smooth stepper came back Saturday night to tie his own Drake high hurdle record of 14.1 when he registered his 55 consective victory in the timber event. He was chased to the wire by Bill Porter, the flying Northwestern star who was the last man to beat Dillard, almost a year ago in the Los Angeles Coliseum Relays.

Pepperdine College of Los Angeles, paced by the blistering anchor lap run by Lavert Patterson, former Jefferson High School (LA) star, won the 2 mile relay in the college division.

One of the most exciting races of the entire meet was the college mile relay. The event was won by Loyola University of Chicago, but not after strong competition from Pepperdine, Los Angeles City College and Compton, who finished that order.

Jackie Injured

NEW YORK—"Yes, Jackie is still overweight, but that hasn't got anything to do with his benching. He's injured one of his shoulders and there's no telling when he'll be back as a regular second sacker," were the words of Leo "The Lip" Durocher, manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

"Although Robbie's out for a couple of days, I'm hoping he'll be back in uniform before long," continued the Dodger boss. "After looking over our early season record, you can well see why I want Jackie Robinson back in there regularly."

Omegas Win; Teams Meet In Finale

By Stanley Robertson, Eagle Sports Editor

Displaying one of the sharpest and well coordinated offenses ever seen in the 16 year history of the Inter-Fraternity Basketball, the Alpha Phi Alpha Basketball team rolled over a fighting Kappa Alpha Psi cage team 61-43 Saturday Night At Loyola High School Gym to win the 1948 Inter-Frat Championship before a frenzied overflow crowd.

In the opening game of the double bill, the Omegas downed the Sigmas 47-40, to throw the remaining three teams in a three way tie for second place.

To Much D. B.

Lead by the 29 points of US Olympic cage great Don Barksdale, and with Dave Minor, Emerson Chapman, and Bill Jones on hand to make the defeat complete, the Alphas began rolling from the opening gun. Sticking to their successful fast breaking offense, the Black and Gold rolled up an 18-3 lead over the Crimson before they knew what was happening.

But with Glover Samuels, Lowell Stewart, and Gene Williams hitting the mark for the Kappas, the Big Crimson came roaring back to make the game a contest. The Kappas only trailed by 5 points—22-17 at the half.

It just wasn't in the cards for the ever fighting Kappas to rope the rampaging Alphas. With Barksdale, Chapman Minor, Jones and company going on a scoring spree to rack up 39 points in the last half, the Kappas came apart at the seems and were never in serious contention after the opening moments of the last half.

In the final analysis, it was just to much Don Barksdale with a dash of Em Chapman and Dave Minor thrown in for the Kappas. But the victory, and the success of the Alpha Team justly belongs to Bill Jones, the fine player coach.

Omegas Outplay Sigmas

In a exciting but sloppily played game, the Omegas came from behind to knock off the Sigmas 47-40, to throw the runner up spot in a three way tie.

The game was mared by countless fouls and sloppy ball handing but nevertheless was one of the series most exciting until the last minutes of the game when the Omegas began to forge away from the wilting and listless Sigmas. If it had not again been for the trusty right arm of Doug Shaw, the Sigmas sterling forward, the game would have been a rout for the Omegas. The Sigmas just seemed to lack the fire and fight Saturdday night that has been so typical of their hustling ball club in the past games.

In the end, it was the back board control and better passing of the Omegas that was the difference between the two.

Grudge Battle

Saturday night, although the Series has officially ended, two of the most exciting games yet to be played shape up. Trying desperately and with all stops and restraints off, the Kappas will try for the third time to bring the '48 Champion Alpha Squad to its knees. If you've seen either one of the Alpha-Kappa Pier 6'ers, and you take into consideration that the boys will be playing with no "pressure" on them; only the desire to win, this game looks like it may be the most exciting yet.

In the first game, the Sigmas and the Omegas meet in the "rubber" match of their newly originated "grudge" battles. The boys will be out to win a perpetual trophy which I understand will be awarded each year to the winner of the Omega-Sigma Series. With this as an incentative, the sky will be the limit. First game starts at 8 p.m.

ONE MAN FIRING SQUAD is battlin' Darnell Carter, who is making quite a rep in local listic circles as one of the best young Lightweight boxing prospects seen around these parts in ages. Carter recently returned from Honolulu where he soundly trounced the Island champ over the 10-round route. Managed by Leonard McLain and James "Buddy" Garcia, Carter is slated for a spot on the Olympic card in the near future. He packs dynamite in both mitts!

BILLY ANDERSON REGGIE PEARMAN RELAY STANDOUTS

PHILADELPHIA — Long-striding Reggie Pearman came roaring out of the gathering gloom at Franklin Field here Saturday afternoon, to lead his New York university mile relay team to a one-yard victory in the finale of the 54th running of the Penn Relays before 35,000 screaming fans.

The stretch running bespectacled Olympic middle distance candidate put on one of the wildest romps seen in the long history of the relays as he came from behind to overtake the flying John Barten of Michigan by one yard, scarcely inches from the tape. Pearmen was clocked in 47.9 for his anchoring quarter mile. Seton Hall, with Stan Thignen anchoring, finished three yards behind second place Michigan. The time was 3:15.5.

Other highlights of the relays were: The 24 feet 7¾-inch winning leap in the broad jump registered by Wayne university's Lorenzo Wright. The classy sprinting of former Dorsey (Los Angeles) high school athlete and son of radio comedian Eddie (Rochester) Anderson, Billy Anderson, as he led the Lockland, Tex., air base quarter-mile relay team to victory. The great winning mile relay run by Morgan State in the "B" division of the invitational college mile relay, and the 9.7 100-yard run by former University of Pittsburgh star Lt. Bill Carter, also of the strong Lockwood, Tex., air base.

Bolen Bests McKenley

BOULDER, Colo.—A spine-tingling 440-yard race between two Olympic candidates here Saturday, saved the Colorado Relays from complete mediocrity, as rain and snow drove the meet indoors.

The 440, run between Dave Bolen, former Southern university and University of Colorado middle distance star and Herb McKenley, the long-legged Jamaican who holds the world's record for the quarter mile, was won by Bolen who bested McKenley by one stride.

ON THE TURF

— Geo. A. Ramsey

CALIENTE, Old Mexico — In "The Arizona" handicap, featured attraction at Caliente last Sunday, Bonomo, the son of Zuncho-Bon Eva bred by the California Polytechnic Institute revenged his defeat of two weeks ago by soundly beating the best three year olds at the track in the fast time of 1:11 4/5 for the six furlong sprint. It was a blistering battle for the first quarter mile but after that it was only Boncho. Going around the far turn he was six lengths in front with the rest of the field dizzy chasing him. Altho at the sixteenth pole his jockey F. Rodriguez had to go to a mild drive to stave off the bold challenge of Deep Sand who defeated him two weeks ago. Horsemen are now wondering if the husky Boncho will carry his speed over a distance of ground, if he does he will be the best three year old seen at the border course since Leadman. Who was a very fast horse. In the secondary event Jijabujay owned by J. D. Ranch and coupled with Paljuan layed close to the leaders on the outside most of the way took command at the eight's pole to score by a half length's. Paying in the mutuels as second choice $8.60 for two. The time for the mile and eight's, was 1:52 3/5. The daily-double combination of Top Tar winner of the second race and Wave High a first starter paid $99.00. While the quniela backers received $6.80 when the two choices finished one-two. The attendance was about six thousand and balmy weather prevailed. General Manager Walter C. Marty has arranged two outstanding features to support the twelve race program this Sunday. The featured event will be "The Dia Del Trabajo" at six furlongs for three year olds and upwards. The secondary will be "The Guadlajara" at one and one-sixteenth miles. These two attraction will bring the best horses on the grounds in competition and the fans are sure to enjoy two thrilling and exciting races. Some for the best greyhounds in the country have arrived at Caliente for the 1948 season which starts May 21st. Popular General Manager William Collyer has arrived from Arizona to supervise the new last minutes details. A vast improvement have been made for it's second season and lovers of the hare and hounds races will be able to get closer to the track. Watch this paper for the opening add and the vents to follow for the greatest nite sport at Caliente.

Lions Down Staters

LINCOLN, Penn.—Touching Hopson for eight hits including a 1 run double by McCray in the third inning, the Lincoln Lions took a 6-2 victory over the baseball team from Delaware State College here last week.

Walter Brooks, fireball right hander from Washington, D. C., did the tossing for Lincoln, giving up 6 sparsely placed blows.

Gambling Bips Skeegie

GAMBLING, La. (Special)—Fireball Mack Hall, Grambling's big ineffable right-hander, exposing his arm to the second taste of enemy fire, performed admirably here Friday afternoon, holding Tuskegee's harried athletes to six hits to post a well-earned 3-2 victory over the Alabama nine.

Bear Netters Cuff Lions

LINCOLN, Pa.—The Lincoln tennis players dropped a meet to the Morgan Bears here today by the score of 7-2.

Co-Captain Louis Chippey won Lincoln's only single match over Lee, 6-0, 4-6, and 10-8. He also combined forces with Hilton Davis to defeat the combination of Johnson and Coleman 6-2 and 6-4 in the doubles.

Should Don Barksdale Be Allowed To Play in the Inter-Frat League?
The Amazing Mr. Anderson
Can Lloyd LaBeach Best Patton?
"Do I know Minor"!—Woodden
CC Sprinters Impress at Drake?

By Stanley Robertson, Eagle Sports

Oh how short is the memory of man.

It seems only yesterday instead of a year ago that the Kappa Alpha Psi's crackerjack basketball team registered one of the biggest upsets in local sports history when they knocked over the heavily favored Barksdale, Minor, Chapman lead Alpha Phi Alpha team to win the 1947 Inter Fraternity Basketball Series.

Yes, it was a great day for the wearers of the Diamond. The perrennial Scrollers danced and shouted long into the night.

The "Kappa Spirit" was high and back slapping and congratulations the order of the day.

"Hadn't the underrated Kappa team beaten what most experts were calling the finest team ever to play in the Frat Series?" Hadn't unsung Gene Williams, Lowell Stewart and Wilbur Ashford played the highly publicized Dave Minor, Don Barksdale and Emerson Chapman to a stand still?"

Yes, its was truely a great day for the Big Crimson and Cream when they won the '47 Frat Crown.

But time, like the memories of men swiftly pass.

IT's the Spring of 1948 now, and time again for the Frat Basketball Series to open. Things are the same as they were in '47, excepting that the shoe has changed feet; the Kappas being defending champs, are the favorites.

With lots of luck and depending on Dave Minor and Em Chapman, the Alphas squeeze by the Omegas and Sigmas without Barksdale, who is absent, playing in New York with the Oakland Bittners.

Then the night of the first Alpha-Kappa game arrives, and sparked by Chapman's 20 points and Barsdale's (who has just returned from the East) 16 points, the Alphas down the Kappas, thus winning the first round robin play.

After that, it's never in doubt. With Barksdale, Minor, Chapman and company displaying a lighting offense, the Alphas are never in serious trouble.

The 1948 Inter-Fraternity Series ends with the Alphas routing their traditional Kappa rivals to win the '48 championship. At last! this "dream team" that was so highly regarded in '47 has paid off.

At last! the Alphas can point to their basketball team without making excuses for "what happened in '47?" As it was one year earlier for the Kappas, it's really a great day for the wearers of the Black and Gold.

But wait a minute! Something seems wrong. Some of the other boys are saying: "Is it fair to let Don Barksdale play for the Alphas?" "After all, he is an AAU star and a member of the Olympic Team. I bet the Alphas wouldn't have won without him."

Yes, when at about 10:45 p.m. on the night of April 24, 1948, the Alphas walked off the court at Loyola high school, victors in the 1948 Los Angeles Inter Fraternity Basketball Series, these, and many more things were being said by some of the people.

The psychology of the crowd pulling for the underdog in an athletic contest is an amazing and interesting study.

How different the reaction was almost a year ago when the underdog rose up to knock over the favorite. How different were the things being said following that 50-40 pasting the Kappas handed the Alphas last year.

How many people said after the '47 game:

"It isn't fair to let Don Barksdale play for the Alphas?"
"After all, he's an All-American Center from UCLA?"

How many said that?

Oh how short is the memory of man.

HERE AND THERE . . . Lloyd LaBeach, the inelegible jet like sprinter out UCLA way, is able to play one sport at Westwood . . . It seems that LaBeach can participate on the Bruin's Cricket squad, but being in the Extension division of the University, he's inelegible to take part in a major sport like track . . . The Jamican lad is a fine cricket player by the way . . . to bad LaBeach isn't elegible for track this spring . . . With him in the sprints and broadjump, the Westwooders might hand Coach Dean Cromwell's SC Trojans their first duel meet defeat since the two schools have been meeting . . . The other day in practice, LaBeach defeated the Bruins Olympic hurdle prospect Craig Dixon in a 23.1 220 low hurdle race . . . He's also jumped over 24 feet in the broadjump and over 6 feet in the high jump.

The long legged sprinter who'll run for Pannama in the coming Olympics, lives and sleeps for the day he'll meet Mel Patton . . . he won't have to wait much longer, May 15 at the Fresno Relays will be their first meeting . . . Local fans will see the two hook up May 21 at the Coliseum Relays.

Lavert Pattterson, the ex-Jefferson High School half miler who anchored the Pepperdine two mile relay team to victory in the Drake Relays, is the 880 twin of another Jefferson grad who's doing fair to middlin' on the tracks of the country . . . Mal Whitfield, who teamed with Patterson to give the Demos two of the finest half milers ever seen in prep ranks several years back, is currently running for Ohio State University, and is doing quite well thank you . . . With Whitfield running down in the very low 1.50's and Patterson only a fraction slower than that, it would really be a blistering race if these two prep 880 twins could hook up . . . Maybe the Coliseum Relay may be the place.

Billy Anderson, the son of Jack Benny's man Tuesday, Eddie (Rochester) Anderson, could probably outrun one of his dads illustracious race nags . . . Anderson attended Dorsey High School here, but because of scholastic difficulties, he didn't have a chance to show his athletic wares, but in various AAU and open meets around town, he was clocked in 9.7 for the century and under 21s for the furlong . . . he also has a jump of over 23 feet in the broad jump to his credit . . . Anderson enlisted in the Army last year and was sent to Texas where he has been sparking the Lockwood Army Air Base thinclads . . . He anchored the Lockwood 440 yard relay to victory in the Penn Relays last Saturday, but that's only minor compared to what he has done . . Believe it or not, Anderson has been clocked in 9.5 for the century, 20.6 for the 220, 14.1 for the high hurdles, and has broadjumped over 24 feet . . . this is confirmed by an Associate Press dispatch . . . If it's true, and having seen Anderson in action, I'm inclined to believe it, (well, almost all of it) Mel Patton, LaBeach, Dillard, and a few other guys may have some sleepless nights before London Olympics this summer.

I wonder if there's truth to the rumor veteran ABC sport Director Harry Wisner is spreading around that Fritz Chrisler will become head Football Coach and Athletic Director at UCLA in 1949?.

When asked whether he knew Dave Minor or not, John Woodden, great high school coach in Indiana and former coach of Indiana State Teachers College who arrived this week to take over as head casaba mentor out UCLA way, Woodden replied:

"How can I ever forget the guy!"

"I remember we (the high school club I was coaching then) were playing Froebel High of Gary for the state championship several years back. On that Froebel team was a guy named Dave Minor. With less than seconds to go the game was knotted at 35 all, but Mr. Minor sunk one from center court to give Froebel the victory and the state crown" . . . When asked if te thought Minor would play his final year of college ball with the Bruins, Woodden replied: "I don't know! I hope so."

The eastern scribes at the Drake Relays were very much impressed with Los Angeles City College's two sprinters, Billy Mitchell and Fred Sims . . . The sporting gentry claim Sims made Baldwin-Wallace's great Harrison Dillard really get up and go to beat him on the last lap of the half mile college relay . . . Baldwin-Wallace was pushed to a record in this event by the Cubs who placed second.

Minor Sets Meet Mark

Five meet records and one school record fell Saturday afternoon on Westwood's Spaulding Field, when Coach Ducky Drake's UCLA spike squad rolled to a 103⅓-27⅓ victory over a weak Occidental track squad.

The one-sided meet, highlighted by the 24 feet ¾-inch leap of Bruin Dave Minor, and the 21.1 furlong victory of Craig Dixon, was regarded as a warm-up for the Westwooders PCC dual meet with a strong Stanford squad this Saturday at Palo Alto.

Minor, recording the best jump of his entire track career, set the new meet mark on his next to last try. Ernie Lightner, former local prep star, placed second to Dixon in both sprints.

NOTES FROM A NEWSGIRL'S NOTEBOOK

The "Spirit" is here, not the spirit you're thinking about, we're talkin' about pretty Dorothy Lewis, "The Spirit of Cotton," she is the eighteen year old bundle of feminine lovliness who recently was crowned the Queen, and will reign on her throne, when she returns to Memphis for the mammoth Jubilee, with her is the charming Mrs. Vinson, wife of Dr. Vinson of Memphis, who was the originator of "The Spirit of Cotton" for Negroes . . . By the time of this print, shapely Gerry "Jeannie" Clark has recuperated from the surprise birthday party, sis, Libby gave for her, can't remember when I've seen so much food at one time and everything to drink from Acme to Champagne . . . Dottie Williams is recuperating again, only this time it's from an overdose of Spring Fever. Spring Fever, in case you're in the dark, is the mental anguish a gal goes through when the man she loves has called it quits . . . How many Mayors of Central Ave do have anyway, understand that the NEW Mayor of Central Ave is a Dr. L. K. Buford (to which an innocent bystander remarks SO WHAT?) . . . Aha! our Bro. Randolph says "A generation ago the girls never thought of doing the things they do nowadays. That's why they didn't do them" . . . Curvacious Marie Bryant creating a sensation out at Billy Berg's with her terrfie torso hurling . . . With the great "Gip" one of the greatest writers I know, back at his typewriter again, and the scribblings of Joe Harris, you EAGLE readers will be getting the treat of your lives, don't worry Candid Comment's will remain until I wish to do otherwise . . . One of our main reasons for liking Suzette Harbin is cause "she lets her light shine without throwin the spot on herself" . . . SUDDEN THAWT: If I can't enjoy what I have now, wonder if I'd be happier with more . . . Ed "Jonesy" Jones can't decide what woman wants to sit and ride with him in his new Hudson, he says: "the woman must be a 'honey' brown" . . . Monte Hawley and the rest of the cast still talkin about the "smelly" deal they all got with the latest Louie Jordon flicker . . . Sure hated the may that Ave drug store clerk in the 25 hundred block talked to that very elderly lady who came in to purchase something t'other even'g, just goes to prove that some people have no respect for age unless its' bottled.

DANGLING THREADS FROM MY BLUE DRESS:

The lovely home of starlet Dottie Dandridge was crowded with members and friends of the Los Angeles Negro Congress during the week-end . . . If New Jersey (my home town) has anything else as fine as Larry Hill, then I wanta go home (put that pistol down Margie—you can have him!) . . . Nadine Cole, cute as cute can be in a lovely hat with flowers hanging down to here, over at the beautiful home of Camille Cannady, who was stunning in a lounging coat, when she had friends over to help boost Frances Williams, candidate for the 67th district . . . If I were a man and owned a hat, I would certainly tip it to the two Mrs. Williams who are the founders of such worthwhile organization as the Wilfindel . . . Mr. and Mrs. Chuck Anderson, she's the Cresbar waitress "Tila" showing so much enthusiasm at the Alpha Kappa game Saturday last . . . Simply c-r-a-z-y about the recording of Jake Porters combo dabled "Hey Little Brownie" . . . Never cared so much for gold until I saw that million dollar smile of Larry Gordon . . . Handsome Jimmie Turner, of the west side, says if there is anything in Heaven to equal the lovliness of Charlotte McNair, then he's ready to go now" . . . which reminds us of Reve, my three year old daughter, who asked, "Mommy, if a bear should swallow me, I'd die wouldn't I?", to which I replied, "I'm afraid so Punkin." "And would I go to Heaven?" . . . "Yes Reve, why do you ask?" "Well, wouldn't the bear have to go too?" . . . Understand the management of the Club Congo will sponsor a contest "Queen of Los Angeles" with the winner getting a round trip to Catalina . . . Aha, sportsman J. B. Brown say's "It's better to give than to lend and it costs about the same" . . . Angel City swingdom raving about the band of Sherman Williams, those cats really rock with rhythm . . . Places is where Clarence Samuels singing ain't going anywhere else but . . . Jacquire Vacquero's heart, regardless of what you may hear from dopes woh simply won't mind their own business, belongs to a San Diego beauty . . . The music of Jay McShann causing discussion on the stem, discussing the new style of the combo . . . Juanita Miller, wife of Atty. Loren Miller, recuperating in the Queen of Angels hospital under the expert care of her physician, Dr. J. W. Johnson, young NEGRO doctor recently admitted to the staff of the Queen of Angels, here's that orchid to a great M.D. who is being recognized by all races for his outstanding work in Internal Medicine . . .The Mom of Rose Jones (wife of the late Richard "Jonesy" Jones of the Ellington crew) quite ill in the hospital, hear that a nephew has wired a coupla thousand to aid in the recovery . . . When "Sister" Lillian Cumber got up in my church Sunday morning and said "First of all" Pastor, members and friends, I want you to know, that, I know I'm a Christian, she got the attention of the whole church, Lil said that was one way to "get the attention of her audience" . . . Aha, Velma Rameriez, newly wed, said "she's positive that a tourniquet and a wedding ring have the same meaning, cause they both stop your circulation"! . . . Lela Mae Gipson (no kin to this writer) and Anderson Phillips "told it to the preacher" Sunday last, the preacher being the popular Clayton Russell . . . Her perpetual ability to smile widely at everyone is why Ruth Mars is one of the angel city's most beloved socialovelies . . . All of the press on hand Sunday afternoon in the Yacht room of the Clark Hotel with Lillian Cumber as hostess to greet and meet Dorothy Lewis "Spirit of Cotton" . . . In closing we wanta remind you of the fact that "Happiness is a perfume you cannot pour on others without getting a few drops on yourself."

CHIC CHICK CLICKS as lovely stylist MARY LOUISE packs 'em in nitely at a swank San Diego nitery. Under the personal management of General Artists Corporation, Miss Thomas (that's the doll's last name) is in line for a Lena Horne build-up. Her singing is like something out of a beautiful dream, and she'll no doubt zoom across the musical horizon in a blaze of glory. Cute, too, eh fellows?

Final Philharmonic Concert

Alfred Wallenstein and the Los Angeles Philharmonic Symphony were given a rousing farewell last Thursday evening in Philharmonic Auditorium. Despite the competition from the Metropolitan Opera presentation in Shrine Auditorium, the downtown concert hall was filled to capacity.

Included in this final concert of the season was the exhilarating Concerto for Orchestra No. 24 by George Frederick Handel, known popularly as "The Water Music." Beethoven's "Pastoral" Symphony was the major work of the evening. The performance of this work was bright; the interpretation intelligently planned. Scriabine's "Divine Poem," of exciting proportions, brought the concert to a conclusion. This work is of monumental structure, replete with gigantic sonorities. It was magnicently set forth by an orchestral group which now ranks with the best in the nation. Los Angeles should be proud of a conductor as genuine, sincere, and thorough as Alfred Wallenstein. We are still tingling over the superb presentation of Brahm's "Requiem".

GI Chorus at Wilshire Ebell

With an introduction by Motion Picture Actor Robert Ryan, the American GI Chorus gave its concert at the Wilshire Ebell Theatre on last Saturday night. The group was under the direction of John Scharzwalder. The program was varied and consisted primarily of Choral Composition, Vocal and Piano solos.

This group, although small in numbers, sang enthusiastically and vigorously. It was obvious that there was sincere satisfaction in these renditions. Many of the finer qualities of intonation, shading, and vocal blending were lacking. Most effectively was the old favorite Malotte's "Lords Prayer" and Gretchanninoff's "Credo".

William Valentine, Winner

It is with pleasure that we announce the decision of the Los Angeles Bureau of Music's Annual Vocal Contest. After elimination of 300 young men and women, William Valentine 20, became the first place winner in the boys vocal division. Judges: Richard Bonelli, Stella Roman, and Lauritz Melchoir, all Metropolitan Opera stars, considered his singing of "Infelice" from Verdi's "Ernani" worthy of the first place prize of a $500 musical scholarship. The finals were held in the Mayor's Reception Room, City Hall. Mr. Valentine will compete for the final awards in the Atwater Kent Musical Scholarship this week.

"And They Lynched Him"

The cantata, "And They Lynched Him on a Tree" by the distinguished composer, William Grant Still, will be presented by the Cathedral Choir of the People's Independent Church of Christ and the St. Francis Singers of the First Baptist Church, in the early part of June. Assisting the combined white and Negro choirs will be the symphony orchestra of the Los Angeles City College.

This work deals with the lynching of a Negro by a white mob. They sing together, get into their cars and drive away . . . Darkness falls on the road and the woods. Then slowly the Negroes come out from hiding to find the body of their friend. Among them is the man's mother . . . The Negro chorus joins her and they retell the story of the man's life . . . as they all sing together the white voices join the Negroes', and the song becomes strong in its impartial protest against mob lawlessness and pleads for a new tolerance to wipe this shadow of injustice off the land. The performance will be co-directed by John Burke, and Albert McNeil.

"Sacred Hour With the Stars"

An unusual musical presentation bearing the title above will be presented in the People's Independent Church of Christ main auditorium on Sunday afternoon, May 16th at 4:40 p.m. Scheduled to appear are: Marietta Canty, Madonna White, Jeon Juniel, Glenn Eddy Dudley, General White, Edith Owens, Roy Glenn, Warren Coleman, Duke Williams, Lenora Dunlap and Jay Lofton-Lynn are the co-chairmen.

In Memory to Tom

Turning on the radio at 6 a.m. Wednesday I was shocked to hear of the sudden passing of Tom Breneman, of "Breakfast in Hollywood" fame. I couldn't help shedding tears, for it was felt so keenly, as last year he honered me as "The Good Neighbor" on his radio program, and sent me the Good Neighbor orchid for giving, at that time, over 2,500 hours of entertaining our war wounded for the American Red Cross.

With the orchid, he sent a personal card saying, "To a Good Neighbor from Tom Breneman." He brought so much happiness and joy to everyone. One will never forget his infectious laughter.

Tom Breneman was a real humanitarian. In final tribute, I say: "Many orchids to you, Tom!" He lived. He laughed. He understood. Eternal rest grand unto him O Lord, and let perpetual light shine upon him, AMEN.

EVELYN P. BURWELL.

Queen To Be Picked At Congo Dance

The first annual May Day Ballerina dance will be staged Sunday afternoon, May 2, at the beautiful Club Congo, with festivities getting under way promptly at 3 p.m. Sherman Williams and his band will furnish music for the ball and the girl wearing the most beautiful ballerina outfit will be chosen as Queen of the Ball, and given a round-trip ticket to Catalina Island.

CONTESTANTS WILL be picked from the audience and judges Leonard McClain, J. T. Gipson, Lillian Cumber, Lawrence LaMarr and Maggie Hathaway will decide the winner.

In addition to the ball, there will be dancing and other entertainment by various guest artists. Jay McShann will be on hand with his newest blues discovery, Jimmy Smith, plus other steller stars of stage, screen and radio. Jimmie Weatherspoon will also be among those present, and will sing his latest recording, "Ain't Nobody's Business What I Do."

The ballerina ball promises to be a wonderful affair, and doors open at 3 p.m., with dancing and the selection of a "Queen of the Ball" being the highlight of the afternoon.

Being at liberty since recently closing a smash engagement at the Downbeat club, Johnny Otis moves his combo into Paul Rubin's Cricket Club in May. No definite date has been announced for the crew's opening.

Ork Plays to Packed House On Opening Nite

By JT GIPSON

Nearly everybody and his brother, as the saying goes, turned out last week at the Congo club to give a rousing Angel City welcome to Sherman Williams and his band. And what a band!

At the show caught by this reviewer, Williams and his boys had the guys and gals applauding for more. The show itself rates an A-plus. We might also add that in all our years of covering the night club beat from Harlem to Hollywood, we have never witnessed such zip and enthusiasm as displayed by the acts in the current Congo show. From the band's opening number to the finale, each act gave out with everything in their repertorial books. A comedian named Jazz-bo clicked for almost constant laughs. This personable lad can stack up against the best, and gets a fine rating. The customers greatly approved this performer's work.

Iona Wade is a likeable fem singer of blues songs. Miss Wade is a chocolate-colored lass with a pleasant voice and a natural, easy-singing style. While her warbling is in no way comparable to Sarah Vaughn or Billie Holiday (whose warbling is?), her efforts on blues, such as "Fine Brown Frame" (her special arrangement) make her very likeable and nice to take.

There's an "exotic" dancer in the show whose name I can't

WALKER WOWS 'EM as the popular T-Bone solidly sends the guys and gals nightly at the Tappers Inn, a Richmond, Calif., nitery. The Bone closes a smash engagement there May 3rd, after which he returns to the local nite life scene for a May 7th opening at the Last Word. Following his Last Word engagement, T-Bone and his orchestra move into the swank New Orleans club, San Francisco, for an indefinite stay. His style of blues-singing and guitar-playing has been described by California critics as being: "The hottes thing since the San Francisco Fire!"

It's Nice Work If You Can Get It, Ed Almost Had It

NEW YORK—Eddie Vinson, popular orchestra leader knows how it feels to be a millionaire, temporarily. For two days last week he was one! But the bubble burst when it developed that he wasn't the Edward Vinson that they thought he was.

It all happened when the Surrogate's Court went searching for a retired curb market broker, who amassed a fortune in the grain market. Seems that the elder Vinson passed away leaving a nephew, one Edward Vinson, as sole heir. In searching for the nephew, they somehow found the Brooklyn address of Eddie and felt that he was the man for whom they were looking.

Two days later there came a letter of profuse apologies from the executors of the Vinson estate. The news was taken in philosophical stride. Commented Mr. Cleanhead: "Oh well, it was fun being rich while it lasted. Look at all the things we bought with the money."

ON THE BRONZEVILLE SCENE: Things are to all over—particularly in the nitery belt. The Bistro ons in these parts were fiendishly counting their rubl few months ago; but it's a different tale at this junct

AT THIS WRITING I could name four taverns that are on the block and could be had practically for the asking (altho you'll have to do some tall dickering on the likker licenses) . . . AND IF TIMES don't get better soon there'll be more sin dens to add to the list. . . . In short, the holiday of the "time and a half for everytime" period is of ancient vintage, and it's no longer a case of the customer humbling himself to the folks who run the bistros . . . INSTEAD, it's a case of the nitery moguls currying to the customer's favor. Times do change, don't they? . . . CEELLE BURKE and his band (recently closed at the Congo club) are at liberty. Which is another way of saying out of a job. . . . SPOTTED THE Jay McShann crew at club DOWNBEAT and found the combo refreshing as well as musically solid, a situation enhanced more than somewhat by JAY'S piano styling. Seemed like old times bending an ear to the soothing piano-pounding of Jay McShann, who still remains my fave on the instrument. . . . MONTE EASTER (his trumpet and his band), continues to get promising nods from club operators, but so far he has received nary a nibble. THE CLUB COPS are asleep with their eyes wide open! . . . AN ODE TO "I AM AN AMERICAN DAY"

We black-Americans are bored with pretty speeches
T'would be far better to rid the American scene of prejudiced leeches.
It's time to perpetuate rather than mar "I AM AN AMERICAN Day,
Seems a little late to call it a holiday.

EVERYTHING GOES:

T'was a bigger show (well, almost) outside Lana Turner's Bel-Air mansion than inside during her "merging" ceremonies to millionaire Bob Topping Tuesday afternoon . . . add . . . heard among the crowd: So she says this time's FOR KEEPS, wanna bet!! . . . such commotion, a coupla new-photographers lost their cameras in the struggle . . . one buxom "blonde" got slightly "wigged," tried vainly to attract a "moovie" director's attention by pullin' faintin' spells . . . the second time she tried it nobody bothered to assist her, hence she "absorbed" the shock posterior-ly and a wiser girl was she!! . . . T'was really news-to-me; finding out about our favorite pal Tena Quarles getting "hitched" to ex-professional pig-skinner "Chuck" Anderson, here's wishing her many years of happiness and may they all be little "football players" . . . W. Winchell really "scorched" the policy of our American "FASCIST IN PATRIOT'S CLOTHING" on his last Sunday's broadcast . . . it's about time somebody exposed this "hit and run" drama carried on by this country's "masqueraders" who get all of their devilment done and then holler "COMMUNIST," it's become a pet "scapegoat" . . . the Nation's slick "propagandists" have just about over-sported themselves . . . look for a startling "uncoverage" in the REUTHER CASE!! . . . An eastside Minister has associated himself with a veddy shady "bed-fellow," in what might turn out to be one of those "CLOAK and DAGGER" episodes, all for the sake of some cheap publicity, the kerricter involved has a record from here to CHICAGO, and it ain't good!! Louis (CALVACADE) Sobol opines via his column that; he doesn't know what class to put Lena Horne in, referring to sultry-styled torch-singers, well I can answer that ole' boy, she's in the "LUSCIOUS" class . . . I wish I knew the date of PEGLER'S birthday, I'd like to send him a "mirror," so he could frighten himself to death! . . . from the style of his talk, Jersey Joe Walcott is beginning to feel just like the rest of the "boobs" who had a "lucky" night in a previous fight with Champ Joe Louis, because Walcott knows he's in for a BAD evening, come that warm "date in June" at Yankee Staduim . . . One of the finest "installation" parties I've ever witnessed was given by the SADDLE PALS Athletic and Social Club, as charming a group of femmes to be found in ANGLE TOWN, the beautiful home of lovely Mrs. Maxine Thompson (pres. of the Club) was the scene of this uniquely swellegant affair . . . recording "biggie" Perkins handled the introductory . . . among the gay celebrants it was easy to note the attractive pressure of personably lovely Josephine Jackson, the hair-stylist supreme at "Melonees" beauty haven . . . When one says; Oliva Dallet is cute as a "bug's ear," boy-y-y they mean a c-u-t-e bug!!! . . . Suave Jimmie Powell one of the sweller swain-about-town can be tabbed as the "fella" who introduced the NEW look in cravats, it's called the "ARTISTE" real sharp too . . . my man Bob Bridges played his part well throughout the evening as that of LOCHINVAR!! . . . Any guy whose ever glanced at "Angelic" Gerry Madison, knows what I mean when I say "Heavenly body" . . . I ran into a fella the other nite over at 35th and Western, and boy, was he "mad," all because he had just consumed three full orders of Barbecue at GLENN'S barbecue palace, and he couldn't get another order, but after all there were other customers too, naturally I had to try some of that fine "hickory-flavored ribs, and now, I'm mad, too, because I couldn't get another order, but I want to thank Glenn Willingham, the genial owner of the place for saving me at least one order . . . The new show at the CONGO is tops, a new name in musical circles to be reckoned with is definitely SHERMAN WILLIAMS, his band is "real WENT" . . . aside to JazzBo Williams, he's one of the zaniest comedians on stage today, his antics can always command undivided Audience attention.

JazzBo has had a very successful career in show biz, having played such spots as Club DeLisa (Chicago), Roseland Ballroom (N. Y.), the "three Sixes" club (Detroit) and the SWING club (Oakland), at present, layin' 'em in the aisles at the CONGO . . . Dorothy Donegan Breaks Ciro Contract For Chicago Date

Dorothy Donegan's sudden departure from the Angel City nite life scene has caused quite a bit of talk. In the first place, she was set for an indefinite run at the ultra swank Ciro's Nitery on the famed Sunset Strip, but failed to "show up" on opening nite.

In a telephone conversation with Bert Gervis, Miss Donegan's personal manager, it was learned that the popular star who rose to fame swinging the classics ala Hazel Scott, definitely did not walk out on her Ciros contract, as rumored, but that an okey was given by the Ciros management for Dorothy to accept a more lucrative contract at the Sky Club, Chicago, where it is stated, she will receive "$50.00 more per week than she could have made at Ciro's." Those are her manager's quotes. As the late Alfred E. Smith would say: "Let's look at the record."

Miss Donegan, following an engagement at Cafe Society, San Francisco, was signed to appear at Ciro's. At the last minute her manager realized she could make "450.00 more per week" by accepting another engagement, so therefore cancelled out the Ciro's date. Promises are made to be broken, but not contracts. That is, if an entertainer expects to sail stratospheric heights in the theatrical profession.

Miss Donegan has been around quite some time, and can just about name her price for an engagement in any nite club or theatre, but Miss Donegan hasn't as yet reached the stage where she is literally big enough to walk out on dates for other engagements merely for a few extra paltry dollars.

"Dorothy is now appearing at the Sky Club in Chicago," her manager told an EAGLE reporter, "and will return to California at a later date providing she can make the kind of money we expect for her act."

When Miss Donegan flew down from San Francisco to appear at Ciro's, she as well as her manager knew the kind of money she would make. Why, then, didn't Miss Donegan's and the club proprietor reach some kind of salary agreement instead of the alleged "Queen of The Classics" packing bags and baggage and treking off to Chicago for a more lucrative date?

That's the $64 question, and other Hollywood nite spot owners are waiting for an answer before signing Dorothy Donegan to a future contract.

Ork Packs House

pronounce, much less spell. She's a hip-hurler from way back, and her act could be called "nawdy," unless you didn't know what the word class meant.

Sherman Williams' band highlighted the piano stylings of "Skippy" Brooks, who also sings the blues. In Brooks, Williams has a valuable piece of property. Ork also includes bounce, swing, Be-bop (with that terrific trumpeter, Chas. Gillum!) and pop tunes in their repertoire. Their playing is easy on the ears, too, and makes conversation while dancing possible. Instrumentation consists of Piano, Drums, Tenor, Alto, Bass, Trumpet and vocalist.

Frances Neely, a former chorus girl, has blossomed out on her own as a single, and she is tops in taps. Nice looking. Good dancer. Swell personality, and has an act that's crowded with class.

Only flaw in what otherwise would have been a perfect show is a dancer who bills himself simply as "WILDCAT." This kid has talent, and can dance rings around anything in town today. But his risqay songs are n.s.g. He has a parody on "A Tisket A-Tasket" that should-a stood in bed. Much too risqay for the type of clientele Bill and Leon Heflin are playing hosts to nightly.

And then, there's Ray Wheaton, who M.C's the show in big-time fashion. He has a velvet voice, and had the gals (and even a coupla hardened night-club reporters) swooning over his style of toying with a ballad.

All in all, it's a swell new show at the Congo club.

It's tops.

At least it'll do until something better comes along.

British Overseas Airways Appoints African Manager

TAKORADI, Gold Coast (ANP) —The British Overseas Airways corporation has appointed J. A. D. Ruhle, who was senior African member of the organization's staff here, station superintendent. This is the first time an African has headed a station in Gold Coast. E. J. Bruno-Claston who formerly headed an office in Freetown is now station manager in Benin City, Nigeria.

"ANNIE" TO ANGEL CITY

According to Esvan Mosby, genial host at Club Downbeat, plans are underway to bring the singsational Annie Laurie to the popular Central avenue club. If the deal jells, she will be featured along with the Paul Gayten trio. No definite date has been set.

Negro Leaders To Stop Paying Taxes For Jim Crow Army

WASHINGTON (ANP) — The proposed civil disobedience movement got a shot in the arm this week when five prominent Negro leaders pledged themselves to discontinue the payment of taxes to support the racially segregated armed services, the production of atom bombs and the current armament race. They were George M. Houser, co-secretary, racial-industrial department, Fellowship of Reconciliation; James Peck, labor journalist; Igal Roodenko, horticulturist; Bayard Rustin, co-secretary racial industrial department, Fellowship of Reconciliation; and William Worthy, Jr., acting director, Congress of Racial equality.

While A. Philip Randolph was in Houston, these citizens met in his office Wednesday and announced to the American people and the government that they would refuse to pay additional taxes, 75 percent of which go toward the maintenance of an even bigger jim crow military establishment.

GEECHIE SMITH, Tulsa, Oklahoma's gift to California swing fans, is playing nitely at the Stockade Club, local Eastside spot. Geechie is a trumpeter of no mean ability, and his Capitol recording of "T-Town Blues" is now a collectors item.

Mural Movie

"Murals, Techniques and Problems" will be the topic of a talk to be given by Guy Embrey, mural painter and assistant to Anton Refrigier, at the Soto-Michigan Jewish Community Center, Thursday evening, May 13. Admission is free. On display will be drawings and sketches of a proposed mural for the newly-built lounge of the center, designed by young adult members of the center's art classes.

It Can Happen Here

Opening at the Masque Theatre this week is the three-act play, "Jessica, Daughter of Shylock," written by Dr. Leon Pritcher and directed by Michael Mark.

The motive for the play is taken from Dr. Pritcher's original drama, "Jessica,——" while it has a flavor of Shakespeare's "Merchant of Venice."

This "Jessica, Daughter of Shylock," now playing at 2509 Wilshire blvd., is a live, moving portrayal of what happened in Germany under Hitler, yesterday, and what can happen here today. Our world can become a free world but greed and avarice can so submerge the hearts and minds of the capitalists that it can become a slave state.

Shylock, in this case, is a vivid portrayal of wealth's determination to guide th edestiny of all the nations of the earth. Jessica is symbolic of Wall Street in the United States versus the Peoples of the World, particularly the minority groups in Czechoslovakia, France, Italy, Greece and even Palestine.

Jessica is a warning to all those who insist on a two-class order of world citizenry, the few representing the wealth of the world controlling, while the seething masses cringe and cower, crying for relief from poverty and persecution at the hands of the rulers.

See "Jessica" and arrive at your own conclusion as to the world's need today. The answer to "Jessica" is a definite practice and adherence to the Four Freedoms.

"Draws Crowds Everywhere!"

Maxine Sullivan

Her first big-time appearance, at New York's famous 52nd Street Onyx Club, catapulted petite Maxine Sullivan to overnight fame. For it was there that she introduced the now almost-legendary swing version of "Loch Lomond." Since then, her soft voice and lilting style have won her an army of devoted fans wherever she has appeared. Such old favorites as "Annie Laurie," and "Loch Lomond" have found new popularity through Maxine Sullivan's delightful artistry.

PEOPLE IN A DEMOCRACY

(Note: The following column was contributed by Abraham Rede, a man who has been vitally interested in the problems of minority groups for many years.)

We, of all people in a Democracy, try valiantly to convince the world that the wars we are in, epitomize the hymn, "As He died to make men holy (Jesus Christ), let us die to make men free."

But do we?

Jefferson said, "All men are created equal." How right he was, as I will tell you later. But a few illiterate whites think he is wrong. They must be the babies born of the devil. Or else they just weren't born. They just sprouted up like bad weeds in the garden of the world. And verily they are some Americans that most Americans can do without. They, in other words, are the white illiterates that just think work and honest labor weren't meant for them.

Lincoln said: "The United States nor any other nation cannot exist half slave and half free."

Well, Rankin and Bilbo never would think so. They are what their names imply—Rank and Bilious.

A Civil War was fought, but the Negro Man was released from his bonds only theoretically. He is as much a slave, and more so today, than he ever was before. Why? Because the white demagogues see to it that they remain in bondage through every conniving despicable law that they can think up in their warped minds.

Let's see how Mr. Colored Man stacks up in the South, and you will have a vague idea of what I mean. Pay a poll tax to vote. Taxation and no voice in the government. That, let me remind you, is what our Thirteen Original Colonies fought a Revolution for.

Also, get this into your noodles. The Negro Man was brought to these shores in chains, put on the block, and sold like cattle by the ancestors of the very men who now expect to tell the great American public how to handle the Negro population. They are all so d——d corrupt that would a Colored Man stoop so low as to consent, they would banish him from this great country forever.

The Jim Crow laws should not only be repealed, but there should be a law to punish any man who practices them.

As to the discrimination that is practiced by illiterate whites, mostly in the South, they might get a taste of their own medicine. But of course you just couldn't expect a man like Rankin or Bilbo to learn anything. They are as hackneyed and dumb as an old carp.

Let me use a little comparison between white and black. Are both human? Yes. Are both average in intelligence? Yes. Are both called on to defend their country? Yes. Do both want to make this country great? Do both want to raise their families and give them all that their labor will bestow on them? Yes. Are they God-fearing, upright people? Yes.

Then, if all that is true, why the h——l are the people tolerating such characters as Rankin, Bilbo, and others of their ilk, plus the KKK and other discriminating rabble.

Every time the United States went to war, they never found the Negro lacking in any use of patriotism. But why don't Congress and the President show some acknowledgment? There are 14,000,000 Negroes in the United States, a mighty formidable minority, and for the good whites to see only the criminal pursuits of a few rotten members, is a crime of the most ignoble magnitude.

This is not a mistake. This is an out and out crime that is a blot on the flag and the people of the United States. And mind you, Russia is making capital of it. Need we look for a new slogan in case of war? We most certainly have a very dirty house to clean up ourselves before we try to show the rest of the world how to run theirs. If we are prejudiced at home, we sure can't fight prejudice abroad, and our Government is not fooling anyone outside.

The Negro is not alone. The Jew does not fare much better, although it's a little harder for the average white louse to be able to get as much discrimination in regards to the Jew. But it's there. It's there. If you actually would like to be enlightened, here is something revealing.

The world started from the Biblical brothers, Ham, Shem, and Jepath. So after all is said and one, according to the Bible, we are all brothers under the skin. What is the white man afraid of, that a few renegades try to sway them to commit such criminal approaches to their Negro brothers? (1) Loss of superiority? (2) Disintergration of the white race? (3) Assimilation?

The Colored Man wants to be treated only as a human being, and to live in peace and respect toward all mankind. It is a pretty rotten situation when 13 Southern states, such as they are, can flaunt the laws of this land against 35.

Do we need another Civil War to teach them to respect the laws of the land? It's a pretty flimsy subterfuge.

Let's make laws that have teeth in them. And then really go out and enforce them, even if it again should take the militia to do it. Furthermore when you have a leader, get behind him or her to the hilt. You have lots of them. Use them.

When you back up your leaders, you exert your power and you will get somewhere. To heck with being passive. It never paid off. As far as Communism is concerned—they are all phony cries, and never do mean you.

The day of lazy, no good whites is over. They will have to learn to plant cotton, or pay a living wage to do it. Even the white Christians can't stomach this—loused up, bandied, truthless, all rotten laws that Jim Crow has stood for all these years. It is the rottenest crime ever perpetrated by all mankind.

Mr. Colored Man, in closing let me say to you: get your feet on the ground and out of the sky, any make living things realities. You don't know what Heaven is like, because you or I haven't been there. So why wait until you are dead?

It's no use to have hell on earth, as we are usually. According to the Bible, three score and ten years is our life time. So let's live like we were given God's right to live, and make this as close to Heaven on earth as we can.

So that with a little extra exertion you can say: I am a citizen with all the rights and liberties of the Greatest Country on Earth, the United States of America.

1st Aid Classes Slated By Local Health Center

What would you do if someone passed out or hurt himself before your eyes?

If you don't have a ready answer to that one, then you're a logical student for a new series of free first aid classes starting at the Southeast District Health Center at 49th and Avalon.

That was the sentiment of a city health department announcement this week offering classes that will be held on Tuesday and Friday mornings from 9 to 11:30, with new pupils accepted until April 27.

The classes will be taught by Nathalie Bucknall, health department coordinator and instructor for the American Red Cross, and no charge is made for attending, health officials said.

BSCP Demand Jim Crow Go

"Secretary of National Defense James V. Forrestal's conference this week with prominent Negro citizens will result in an intensification of the civil disobedience program of A. Philip Randolph and Grant Reynolds if that conference fails to produce immediate plans to completely eliminate Jim-Crow in all of the armed services," it was announced today at the headquarters of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters.

"Forrestal could do the cause of democracy and national defense more good if instead he called the army, navy and air corps brass together and instructed them to forthwith eliminate a dual armed service based on color.

"It makes no difference what Negro leaders Forrestal confers with as long as the result is the elimination of segregation in the armed services. Enough conferences have been held on this subject; the Brotherhood feels that direct action is needed now. This we hope will be the intent and the result of the Forrestal conference."

No Biz In Show Biz So Jones Turns Barber

Luke Jones, who made musical history in and around Los Angeles as one of the top saxophonists on the musical totem pole, has deserted the theatrical profession to open a first class tonsorial parlor in the Watts area.

Jones, who started his musical career back in the twenties with the late Leon Hereford band, has played just about every smart nite spot in the California nitery belt, and turned down offers with Lionel Hampton, Lucky Millinder and Tiny Bradshaw because of the strenuous one-nighters. He prefers to remain on the Coast.

When asked by an EAGLE reporter whether or not he will remain out of the music profession permanently, Jones stated: "Nope, I just want to open a barber shop."

And that, as the saying goes, is that.

THRIFTY TESTS—When the Ice-Capade Sundae was created it was first offered to the cast for approval. Star Bobby Specht surrounded by starlets Mary Lela Wood, Helen Davidson and Pat Matthews go to work on a chore they endorsed as "Delicious."

Thrifty Sponsors Photo Night at Ice-Capade Show

Camera enthusiasts are circling Monday, May 3, on their calendars with heavy red crayons and are getting that "squint through the range finder" look after hearing about the cash and camera equipment prizes offered by Thrifty Drug stores for the best photographs taken at Ice-Capades that night.

With stars like Donna Atwood, Bobby Specht, Eric Waite, The Old Smoothies and a long list of others to shoot at, there should be a roar of clicking shutters almost loud enough to drown out the music and a brilliance of flash bulbs that threatens to make the Bikini blasts look like cigarettes glowing in the dark.

Shooting for the 120 prizes will be amateurs who will be treated with professional courtesy. Although shots may be taken throughout the entire show of production numbers which feature the precision Ice-Ca-Pets, the highlight of the evening will come after the show when the rink will belong to the lens-clickers and the stars will be the models.

Complete information concerning this contest is available at all Thrifty Drug Store Photographic Supply counters.

A highly palatable impression was made on this drug chain when one of its more creative employees concocted an Ice-Capade Sundae which met with such instantaneous approval that it has been included on the Thrifty Fountain menus.

The sundae was tested right at rinkside on the entire cast and their unanimous applause for the delicacy has been echoed by the patrons of the stores who have tried it.

Charles Marion Ford Elected to Sigma XI

Tuskeegee Institute, Ala., April 29, 1948—Charles Marion Ford, research Fellow in Bacteriology and Veterinary Science at the University of Wisconsin, Madison, has recently been elected to membership in Sigma Xi, a national society for the promotios of scientific research. Mr. Ford, on leave from Tuskegee Institute, for advance study, has been invited to become a member of ehe Wisconsin Chapter of the society which is located on the campus of the University of Wisconsin.

Mr. Ford has made a noteworthy record since he has been at the University, participating in numerous campus study groups. On May 12, 1948, he will present a paper before the Society of American Bacteriologists in their 48th General Meeting which will be held in Minneapolis, Minsesota. His recent article, published in the Journal of Bacteriology, was widely read and caused much favorable comment in scientific circles. Mr. Ford is especially interested in the use of penicillin in animal diseases.

He will rejoin the Tuskegee faculty in September, 1948.

HERALDING the beginning of the summer entertainment season, the Telephone Hour will feature five distinguished concert artists during its May broadcasts, it was announced this week by E. S. Tom Brenneman Dies Suddenly

Thomas "Tom" Brenneman, originator of the "Breakfast in Hollywood" radio show, and credited with developing man of the outstanding stars of stage, screen and radio, died at his home early Wednesday morning from a heart attack. He was 46.

Brenneman, whose daily air show was a household favorite, had been ill only a few days before his death but continued to broadcast his daily program to a vast radio audience.

Tom, as he was affectionately known by his many friends and admirers, was ordered by his physician only last month to take a short vacation. He spent a few weeks in Arizona, after which he returned to his famed Hollywood restaurant, from which his program emulated, and resumed his activities.

Known in the profession as a tireless worker, Tom was always on the go. He wrote and supervised his own program, and also hedl down the job of running the town of Encino, California, where he was Mayor.

His last official act as master of ceremonies on the Tom Breneman radio show, was the raising of funds for television sets for the disabled veterans at Sawtelle. Tom was always willing and ready to help anyone. He loved people. And people loved Tom.

A few days before his passing, Miss Gertrude Kugel, telephone operator at the American Broadcasting Company, asked Tom to help raise funds for the patients at Sawtelle. Each day following his regular show, he kept his audience in the studio and took up a collection for the hospitalized vets of World War No. 2. The day before he died he had raised $104.57, and the total he collected during the few days of soliciting from his studio audience was $1,526.76. Thanks to Tom Breneman, the patients at Sawtelle can now enjoy entertainment via television sets presented by him.

Breneman had served as master of ceremonies over the radio program for the past nine years.

Besides his wife, former stage star, Billie Dunn, Breneman leaves a daughter, Gloria, 19, and a son, Tom Breneman jr., 14. Both live at home, 4906 Encino Ave., Encino, Calif. Other survivors are two brothers, Carl and Mark, two sisters who reside in Waynesboro, Pa., and a mother, Mrs. Ida Smith.

WITH THE EIGHTH ARMY IN OSAKA, JAPAN.—Pfc. Frederick Shaw, of 1820 Elder street, Duarte, Calif., has recently returned from a rest leave which he spent at the Patterson Club, Inuyama, Japan. Pfc. Shaw is a member of 291st Army Band, a part of the 24th Infantry, now stationed at Gifu, a part of the 25th Infantry (Tropic Lightning) Division, commanded by Maj. Gen. Charles L. Mullins Jr.

Pfc. Shaw is one of the many servicemen in Japan who are taking advantage of the opportunity to see more of the country and at the same time get a well-earned rest.

Pfc. Shaw entered the army in January, 1946, and received his basic training at Camp Lee, Va. He departed for overseas duty in September, 1946, and since arrival in Japan has served with 291st Army Band.

Before entering the service Pfc. Shaw attended Monrovia-Arcadia Duarte high school.

THE PROGRESSIVE CLUB of First A.M.E. Church presented Victor Hugo Greene, concert baritone, with Catherine Burt and Paul Frank at the piano and Gaynelle Miles on the harp, on Sunday afternoon to a very fine audience. Mr. W. D. Fisher, president of W. D. Fisher & Son, Inc., introduced Mr. Greene, who also had as his guests, part of the cast of "13 Park Lane," appearing at Hollytown Theatre, N. Hampshire street and Hollywood boulevard. Mrs. J. Andrews, wife of the producer, was also present. Mr. Greene is the only race man appearing with the cast.

Elaborate Coronation Rite To End Wilfandel Contest

Thursday, May 6, at 8:30 in the evening, the Wilfandel Club will crown "Miss Wilfandel of 1948," in a mammoth coronation ceremony. The program is to be one of the most unique affairs of the season," says Miss Freita Shaw, who is program chairman. Miss Shaw is assisted by Mmes. Evelyn Harris and Leontyne King.

These past six weeks have been filled with the activities of the club members who were sponsoring debutantes in the popularity contest. The Wilfandelains are grateful and appreciative of the response the group has received from the public, and this coronation program offers to the public the Wilfandels "thank you" for its fine support.

The club members are certain the many club women and civic minded persons of the community will be proud of the club house that will be erected from the proceeds of the various benefit affairs. The edifice will be at the disposal of all worthwhile club activities. Contrary to the general idea that the club house will be confined to Wilfandel members only.

The Wilfandel club organized three years ago by Mrs. Fannie Williams, who is club sponsor and advisor, stresses finer womanhood. Through the fine counsel of Mrs. Williams and the presiding of Mrs. Paul R. Williams, the 50 members, who represent some of the most outstanding women of our community, are certain to school.

put over a highly successful program.

The Coronation of the Wilfandel Queen will take place in the auditorium of the Polytechnic High School, and is open to the public.

Among those taking part on program will be Jessie Coles Grayson, William DeValentine, Johnie McCray, L. A. Bureau of Music Scholarship contest final list; the well known Euterpians, George Comfort, J. W. Sanford, the Watts Youth and Young Adult Choirs and many others.

Loan Association President Reviews Its Accomplishments At Million Dollar Dinner

Ladies and gentlemen, April 15, 1948, will go down as a historical date in the annals of the Broadway Federal Savings and Loan Association of Los Angeles. At the close of business on that day—just a bit over fifteen months after we had opened the doors of our two-story, stucco building in the business section of the city—our assets crossed the million dollar mark. We have the word of officials of the Federal Home Loan Bank, which governs our activities, that this was indeed a remarkable record.

Just how we did it goes back three years when I attended the opening of the enlarged escrow department of the Security First National Bank of Los Angeles. Officials of the bank invited me to pose with them for a photograph. We were awaiting the photographer when I first observed the long lines of customers, mostly Negroes, waiting their turn. All of the tellers were white. I was prompted to inquire of the assistant manager the percentage of business done with Negroes. He estimated that as of the previous year, about 80% of the branch's business was transacted with Negroes.

Another white friend, representative of a building and loan association in the Los Angeles area, was standing near. I asked him about the requirements for organizing a savings and loan association. "Approximately $200,000," he answered, and added, "You are thinking about something, aren't you?" My reply was that there was a considerable number of persons patronizing this particular bank without enjoying any of the opportunities for employment, and that I believed something should be done about it. Impressed, he offered to do what he could to help.

About mid-April of 1945, I solicited the aid of the president of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce gor guidance in starting a Federal savings and loan association. He paved the way, and shortly thereafter, a committee of interested persons joined me in a discussion of the problem with an officer of the Federal Home Loan Bank in Los Angeles.

It seems that in 1933 Congress enacted a law enabled any group of people, who chose to do so, to form a savings and loan association, with the assurance that the Federal Government would protect individual investors in these institutions against loss up to $5000.00. The purpose of the law was, and is, to make it possible for average low-income persons to save and to be able to borrow money specifically for purposes of improving, modernizing, or refinancing their own homes.

We explained that an association was desired by us because, is so seemed, the economic circumstance of Negroes suggested that initiative in the field of finance might be a sound approach toward self-help. Indeed, we viewed the moment opportune for such an attempt. We were told how the system functions, and advised on rules and regulations for establishing an association. Backed by the interest of some fifty-five civic-minded citizens, our application was filed a month later with the Federal Home Loan Bank Board. Time passed, and we were informed that our application had been denied.

In preparation for an appeal to Washington, we called upon the various California legislators in the Nation's Capitol for their assistance. Several of them personally approached the bank. Representative Helen Gahagan Douglas was particularly cooperative. After some delay, a rehearing was held in Los Angeles a little more than a year after the filing of our application, and in about thirty days our application was approved.

You would be interested to know that at the time, there were approximately twenty savings and loan associations of one kind or another in the Los Angeles area, but owned by whites. It was not until we had cited the difficulties faced by Negroes in securing loans from these institutions that we were able to make any progress with the Federal Bank Board. Had we known earlier that the Board would have been amenable to such an approach, we would certainly have offered it at the outset.

Given the go-ahead signal, we then set out to raise $150,000 in capital stock, and $7,500.00 as a guarantee to investors against any loss. These subscriptions had to be spread among not less than 150 persons. Within twenty-five days, MIND YOU, subscriptions amounting to $200,000 from among 236 persons had been secured. The Broadway Federal Savings and Loan Association of Los Angeles received its charter in November, 1946, and thereby came into being.

Meanwhile, eight members of the Association purchased the building we still occupy, remodeled it and turned it over to the Association without any incumbrance whatsoever. We opened the doors for business on January 11, 1947, and in six weeks the Association was out of the red and doing a profitable business.

Please tolerate a few round figures since they, better than anything else, should give you some idea of the rapid progress we of Broadway began to make. In less than six months, assets had amounted to over $370,000. We were able to pay all investors three per cent dividends for the first six months and to set aside over $2,000 as undivided profit. Further, in my report to the first annual meeting of the Association, I was able to announce, as President and General Manager, that operations in our first full year had resulted in the establishment of assets of over $762,000. And if I may say again—and proudly—Broadway Federal reached the million dollar mark in its assets on April 15.

What did all this mean in terms of the community, you might well ask. After all, we did say that Broadway Federal was founded to meet a specific community need. Apart from the purely thrift aspects of our work, it is our purpose to enable our membership to deal with their housing problems by making available to them adequate credit.

During 1947, we aided 134 families in the Metropolitan area of Los Angeles to buy, build, repair or modernize a house of their own. Our lending volume amounted to more than $590,000. If you are at all familiar with Los Angeles, you must know that the substantial population increase occasioned by war activity precipitated one of the most critical housing situations to be found anywhere in America. Especially acute was this among Negroes. The effects have continued to the present.

In terms of employment, we began with two persons and today have a staff of six, whose salaries range from $165.00 to $300.00 per month. Needless to say, the number of employees will rise as business increases.

From a purely fiscal point of view, we are in an enviable position with regard to the Home Loan Bank of San Francisco. Not within a year have we had to ask for any advance money from the bank, but rather, have reduced our obligation.

An interesting sidelight on our activities is the fact that we have been able to attract a substantial number of private investors from along the Atlantic Seaboard, in the Great Lakes Area, and in the South. Some 74% of these out-of-town accounts are held by whites and amount to over a quarter of a million dollars. The attraction, undoubtedly, is the higher rate of interest which we pay compared to that available in many other sections of the country.

Sometime ago, a white individual asked the local Home Loan Bank Board for the names of three associations among which he could evenly invest $15,000. Broadway Federal, although one of the last Associations to come into the Los Angeles district, was recommended and the investor placed $5,000 with us.

More recently, the Title Insurance & Trust Company of Los Angeles, one of the largest such institutions in America, dispatched a check to us by messenger. An accompanying memorandum stated that their Board of Directors had decided that Broadway Federal is an institution with which they wish to do business.

To assure us proper contact and access to all the information and services normally available through co-operative effort, we have identified ourselves officially and formally with five different organizations, both private and governmental, interested in banking and real estate. We realized long ago that an isolationist policy, whether in our personal habits or in our business conduct, could only impair our growth.

There are so many more things I could tell about Broadway Federal Savings and Loan Association that would provide you with incentive for furthering your own interests in this field. Another Negro institution, founded over 12 years ago in the midwest for some reason had been unable to lift its assets over a million dollars. Noting our tremendous rise, their officers inquired how we did it. In a spirit of co-operation, we told them and today they, too, have now raced beyond a million dollars in assets.

Now, friends, I have no doubt but that successful businesses can be, and are being, conducted in many fields. Negroes in the main are showing a certain adeptness as restauranters, bar and grill owners, beauticians, barbers, grocers, and in a few other service trades. I honor those men and women who, with courage and small capital, overcame tremendous obstacles to give us, as a group, a toe-hold in business. I admire also those in insurance who are our business tycoons.

It is my own determination, however, to stick in the field of finance. Today, my interest is a savings and loan association. I might add at this point that I hope to see established one day soon a league comprising the 29 savings and loan associations, both Federal and State, owned and operated by Negroes. But tomorrow my attention will probably turn to the creation of a commercial bank.

As any Negro who has gone into business will readily tell you, his first and foremost problem was raising enough money to start. This one central problem was repeatedly cited by speaker after speaker at the Third Conference of the Negro in Business, sponsored annually by the United States Department of Commerce.

Moreover, one does not have to be a religious reader of the business section of the newspaper to know that the world of finance, if I may put it modestly, is an important influence in our national life. If the lenders of money have the power generally attributed to them, I am convinced that a significant approach to the solution of our own problem lies in the area of banking and finance. I believe that those of you who are interested in savings and loan association work will have your own interest in banking thoroughly set by this experience. It may be that among you are individuals who share my hope and dream.

As for Broadway Federal, we are undoubtedly going to move right ahead. Our sights are set high; our determination is unyielding; our energy is expendable, and our success shall be great.

NEGRO INSURANCE ASSOCIATION DECLARES MAY 10-15 NEGRO INSURANCE WEEK

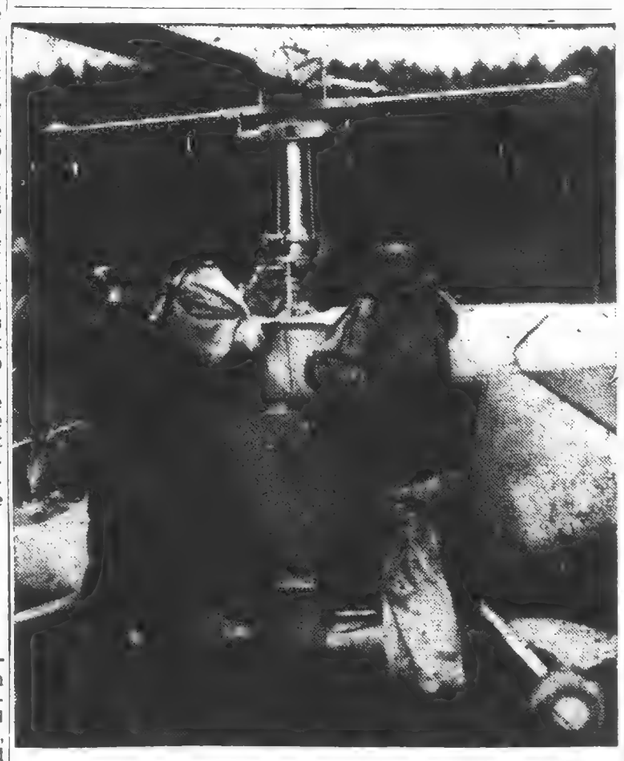
CLEVELAND, O.— (ANP)— The week of May 10-15 has been declared National Negro Insurance week by the National Negro Insurance association, Pres. M. C. Clarke announced this week. He also announced that the NNIA has named April 15—June 30 as the Security Bond Loan Drive effort of the organization.

GROUNDBREAKING: Picutred above is the architect's drawing of the proposed West View Hospital to be erected on Main Street, between 53rd and 54th streets. On Sunday, May 23rd, 3 p.m., ground-breaking ceremony for construction of the initial 50-bed unit of the hospital will be held on the site. This initial unit will be the basement and ground floor of the building pictured. As sufficient funds are available, additional units will be constructed until the full 300-bed capacity is reached. (See story).

Issues Vital to S. Central Covered

South Central Coordinating Council met Tuesday. Present were important people in this community among whom were Mr. Frank White representing the Elks, the principals of schools Dr. Fisher, Mrs. Bessie Burke, Mr. Clarence Axtelle, and from P.T.A. 49th Street School Mrs. Mary Curl, Dr. G. D. B. Gordon, Mr. Fisher of the mortuary and Mr. Locket of Federal employment office. Mr. Wilfred R. Wilson, supervisor of the division of Apprenticeship Standards of California, spoke of the success of "Joint Appreniceship Training in Big Industries Today." He said it is "Industrial Democracy Applied." However the startling and disturbing fact is that the journeymen and craftsmen of the South Central Area are giving the plan no co-operation. Mr. Wilson said the existing barriers to Negroes in employment in skilled industries and businesses will break down if and when they apply they can show a record of training and experience which this program affords. He pointed out that the businesses, trades, contractors in building, plumbing, electrical, and roofing and the auto-mechanics who operate shops in this area owe it to us to set up this program among us as their appreciation for our patronage and in interest of the economic fact that over $90,000 a year would circulate through this program to these industries and the community. Mr. Locket of the Federal Employment Office said at this point that he has hundreds of young men and women on his last who live in this area who are looking for apprentice training in journalism, mechanics, electricity, business, etc., and need the opening up of this opportunity right where they live and trade. Mr. Wilson is trying to get the trades, and businesses to open up in this area but the usual answer has been, "what are we going to get out of it." Golden State has entered this program to some extent. A committee is appointed to assist Mr. Wilson in contacting our businesses and tradesmen and we hope to have them at our May 27th meeting at the Central Ave. Library at 8:00 p.m. to hear the request of our young men for such opportunity.

Second speaker was Mr. J. P. Inglis of County Supervisor's Roach office. He told of the Board of Education Special Service Division's program of opening the Schools in communities for recreation to youth and the entire family after school hours and in summer. He pointed out that the Board of Education lacks sufficient funds to do the extensive job needed. That the State Legislature is being asked for some $25,000,000 to put in this program and if we want the benefits of this program we should get behind our assemblyman and councilman and put pressure on to get it. In our area which was built before Recreation became an interest, there are no available play space or grounds for expansion of the Recreation and Parks program. We need to have our schools opened more than most areas because of this fact. But they stand closed and padlocked while our children play in the street. Two schools will be opened, in our community this summer, but this is but the beginning. The Coordinating Council appointed a committee to set up a program for this area this summer. The principals present offered help. Mrs. Allen of the Y.W.C.A. is chairman. They are going to follow through on this to get the two schools most needed. We have a promise of a general coordinator for this program from the Youth Project, Miss Collins representative, who will give full time to direct it. Cooperation of the agencies will make this program a success and such has been pledged.



Iowa Packinghouse Workers To Arbitrate

Ralph Helstein, president, United Packinghouse Workers of America, CIO, yesterday accepted the proposal by the Iowa Farm Bureau that the packinghouse workers' strike be settled by arbitration.

In a letter to E. Howard Hill, president of the Iowa Farm Bureau, Halstein pointed out that the union "with due consideration to the requirements of the public interest" had previously offered to arbitrate its dispute with the major meat packing companies.

Hill suggested that "the packers and the union involved in the strike each choose a representative to serve on an arbitration board and let these individuals choose a third person. Let this committee of three, after a complete and thorough study, recommend a settlement and then both parties abide by the recommendation."

Helstein replied: "The method of arbitration proposed by you in your communication of April 19 would be acceptable to us and we are perfectly willing to name the union representative to such a tribunal upon receiving advice that the packers had made a similar commitment."

PLANTING FORESTS BY AIR . . . Forests are being planted by helicopter now. First job of this kind was undertaken recently by a west coast paper manufacturing company when 2,640 acres of the company's tree farms in Washington and Oregon were seeded from the air with five species of native forest trees.

Collegians Hear Famed Educator

Dr. Herbert B. Alexander, professor of sociology at Los Angeles City College, and Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, editor and publisher of the California Eagle, were the featured speakers for the Collegians of Los Angeles City College, last Sunday evening, at the Avalon Christian Center, 43rd st. and Avalon blvd.

This representative young college group was treated to a wealth of information, as Dr. Alexander, for many years outstanding in the field of sociological and biological research, outlined the world situation with a clarity and knowledge rarely possessed by any individual.

Dr. Alexander, who has done much research on minorities, particularly the Negro, stated that the Negro today has the greatest opportunity he has ever had to take his rightful place in society. For the first time the various political parties are taking cognizance of his strength and bidding for his support. The fact that Henry Wallace has come out with his "one-world" program on a platform suited to the need of minorities, especially the Negroes, makes the competition for the Negroes' support of political parties and candidates even more valuable.

In discussing the world situation, with a view to the war scare now being whipped up, Dr. Alexander stated that there was no need to believe or fear that Russia wants to go to war with the United States or anyone else. This present war scare is unfounded. Russia, and the several countries of Europe, all possessing their own way of life, religion and politics, ask only to be left alone to work out their own destinies.

Speaking on thought control, Mrs. Bass gave a brief summary of the incidents involving the ban on free speech, as practiced against Averill Berman and herself, recently, when their separately scheduled appearances were cancelled and they were refused the right to appear as previously requested.

She also discussed the role of the Negro press today, stating, unfortunately, that there were only two or three Negro newspapers who had managed to keep themselves free from the dictates of Wall Street and Big Business.

Dr. Gilbert's Wife to Address Mass Meet

The Los Angeles branch, NAACP, will present Mrs. Ralph Gilbert, of Savannah, Ga., in a public mass meeting at Independent church, 18th and Paloma sts., Sunday afternoon, May 2, at 3:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Gilbert, who is the wife of Dr. Ralph Gilbert of Savannah, is the executive director of the Georgia NAACP, and is now making a national tour of all the branches. She is a young woman of outstanding ability and a brilliant speaker. Her story of the civic activities of the Negro in Georgia will be of interest to all. The national office in New York is particularly anxious that all NAACP members hear Mrs. Gilbert's accounts of the advancements the Negro is making in the deep South.

Music will be furnished by the Girls' Glee Club of Jefferson High School, under the direction of Mrs. Mildred Heideman.

Mrs. Betty Graves Reyneau, nationally famous artist, will be guest of honor and make a brief talk at this meeting. She is the artist responsible for the famous collection of pictures of outstanding Americans of Negro origin, now in display.

Mrs. McKnight, official lecturer for the Harmon Foundation art exhibit, will also speak.

The public is urged to come out Sunday afternoon and hear these women of distinction who will bring messages of great importance to the women and the public in general.

It is estimated that Americans, on the average, eat more than eighteen pounds of candy each year.

HONESTY

We have all heard the saying that "Honesty is the best Policy," and for our own good we should follow it. We should cultivate honesty in everything we do and say in our youth, for as we grow older it becomes harder to break habits we have been practicing especially those that are harmful.

If we teach the children to be honest in little things, it will be easier for them to cope with the larger matters which they will have to face in life.

W. H. W. Will they sell the house?

Answer. After giving your question careful thought and consideration I am of the opinion that the house your girl friend lives in may be sold in the very near future. I therefore advise her to try and find other living quarters as soon as she can.

* * *

A. B. S. Will I marry soon?

Answer. Your Lucky Stars and Guiding Planet indicate marriage with the next few months. The man that has asked you to marry him, seems to be the lucky fellow.

* * *

Mrs. X. My husband is unfaithful to me. Will he ever make a change and do better?

Answer. Concentrating upon your question, I am of the opinion that I may be able to help you find peace and contentment in your home again, if you will write in for a private reply. The column does not afford adequate space that is why I suggest your doing so.

B. W. W. I will be very grateful to you if you will help me with this problem. I am a constant reader of your column and have noticed how much good you have done for others. Will I be successful in the business I have in mind?

Answer. My Psycho-Mentalist Crystal reveals many interesting events taking place in your life that will bring you much pleasure. By all means continue making plans for the venture you have in mind, I am sure you will not regret it.

P. C. Will this man and I get married soon? Will I receive my child from my family. Does my future look successful?

Answer. Only one question is answered in the column due to the limited ambunt of space. If you will write in for a private reply I shall be more than glad to help you.

Anti-Defamation League Holds 35th Anniversary

Future security and welfare of American racial, religious and national minority groups and how these may be achieved will be the main discussion at the 35th anniversary meeting of the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith in Los Angeles, May 5 to 7.

More than 500 delegates from every state in the United States and most Canadian provinces will meet at the Ambassador Hotel to reexamine on a nationwide scale the status of bigotry in America.

Inaugurated at the conference will be the first annual presentation of ADL silver medallions to prominent Americans who have made "distinguished contributions toward enrichment of America's democratic legacy." Five such awards will be made.

Three ADL national commissioners from California are assisting Mendel Silberberg, noted Los Angeles attorney, as co-chairmen of the West Coast Regional Committee which will host the conference. They are Jesse H. Steinhart and Jefferson E. Peyser of San Francisco, and I. B. Benjamin of Los Angeles.

Shaw Places Grads

RALEIGH, N. C.—Shaw University placed 61 members of the class of 1947 in teaching positions, 94% of the students who expressed any interest in such positions. The largest number of teachers were placed in North Carolina, with Georgia ranking next. Dr. Nelson H. Harris is director of the Bureau of Appointments.

MRS. BETHUNE PROPOSES MEMORIAL TO FORWARD MARCH OF WOMEN

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Mrs. Mary McLeod Bethune, president of the National Council of Negro Women, today announced the opening of a national drive for the establishment of a Memorial to the Forward March of Women.

In her statement to the press, Mrs. Bethune said, "All my life I have wanted to see here in Washington, a building for all women in which offices, reception rooms and concert hall facilities will be adequate, beautiful, and dignified. Our Memorial will be open to the women of all races and will afford facilities ranking with those of any organization in Washington. In it, the women of our land may feel free to meet, to bring their guests without apoligies, explanations and hesitancy. In it, only ehe spirit of prejudice and intolerance will be barred.

During my life, God has granted me much achievement and opportunity. It has been my struggle to use these gifts unselfishly and with great prespective. In these final years of my life I dare to work for the dream of a Memorial for all women because the time has come for it, and it is a cause worth every sacrifice.

The Executive Committee of the National Council of Negro Women met at its Vermont Avenue headquarters this week and gave Mrs. Bethune its sanction for the drive for the Memorial.

ANNOUNCEMENT
This is your last opportunity to register to vote. Mrs. Virginia Alexander, registrar deputy, will be on duty in the Eagle office Thursday from 8 A.M. to 10 .M.
